Jefferson Senior High School Graduates of 1939:

Roanoke's whole Community—civic, industrial, professional, religious, and cultural—greet you, the citizens of tomorrow, on your Commencement. As you join with the procession of Jefferson graduates, now 7,500 strong, who are giving leadership to their Community, Roanoke is definitely counting on this as being for you also a real beginning of useful lives.

Often in your school activities, you have given evidence of your Community consciousness, and have made contributions to civic projects. In preparing your classroom assignments you have, from time to time, very properly used your Community as a laboratory, acquainting yourselves with the practical operations of her everyday life.

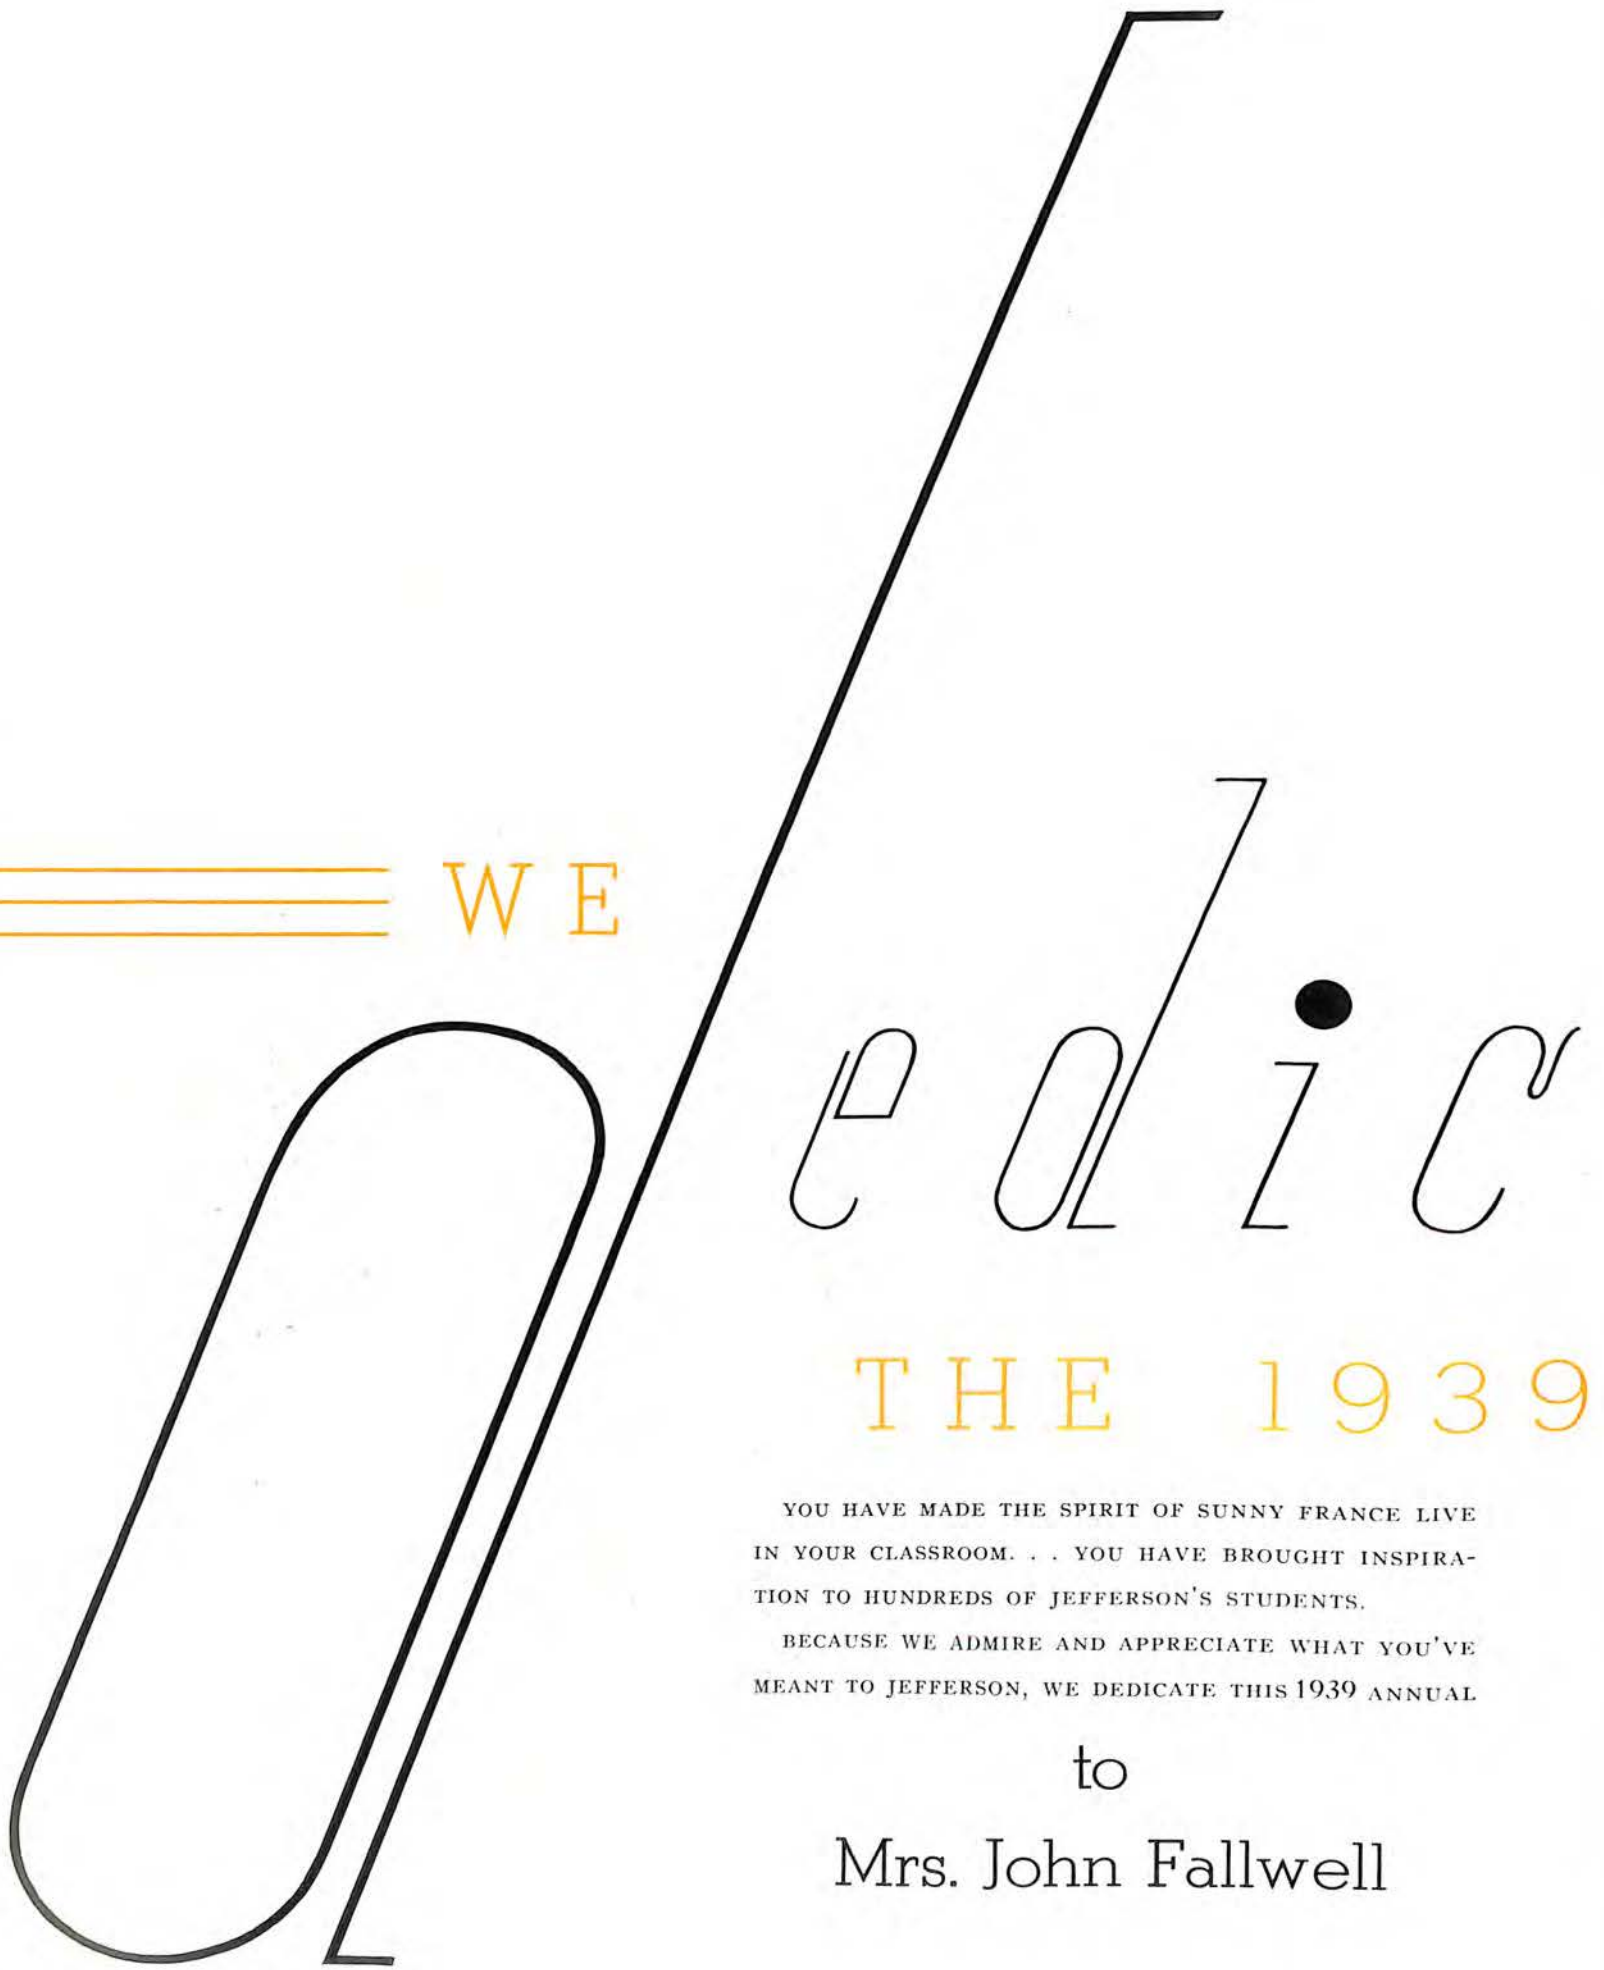

As you step from your carefree, happy school days into what should be no less enjoyable days of self-expression and self-sustaining labors, may your school experiences fulfill their every promise. May your youthful ideals, as fostered by your school, prove to be among your richest assets.

Roanoke is proud of you, her high school graduates. She looks to you, its future citizens, to build for us even a finer Community of tomorrow.

D. E. McQUILKIN,
Superintendent Roanoke City Public Schools.

FOREWORD

In this, the World's Fair year, we the class of 1939, are doubly conscious of being a part of "The World of Tomorrow."

In the modernism of this year's annual, in the vividness of its color, and in the symmetry of its pages, the staff has tried to bring you a suggestion of this memorable year. Like Janus we look both forward and backward recording our work, achievements, and interests at Jefferson while at the same time anticipating our part in the community at large.

The "Acorn" staff wishes you, Class of 1939, happiness and success in "The World of Tomorrow."

In Our Archives

One morning in September, 1928, many shy but expectant six-year-olds proudly entered the portals of Roanoke's elementary schools, where, soon adjusting themselves to their new environment, they spent seven happy years.

In the fall of 1935, these groups were introduced into the Freshman year of high school. Two years later we entered Jefferson High School as members of the Junior Class. Here, under Student Government supervision, we were organized, and Kay Blanding was chosen as our president. Miss Matthews, Mr. Persinger, Mr. Craft, and Mr. Platt became faculty advisers.

On December 3d the class witnessed the adoption of the Creed of our School in an impressive ceremony.

That spring we began the organization for our senior year, and our vision of a successful year was strengthened by the election of Wellford Hobbie as President of Student Government.

September 8th found us back at Jefferson as seniors, but not at all dignified as we had expected. The first highlight of this memorable year was the election of Beverly Fitzpatrick as our president. The faculty advisers chosen were Miss Smithey, Miss Moore, Miss Lukens, Miss Stalker, and Mr. Persinger, who have served us so faithfully by their aid and advice.

October 31st to November 4th marked the period of a most successful Citizenship Campaign in Jefferson, the "Triple C" Campaign, with Frances Minter as chairman.

Our Class was well represented in journalistic activities with Mary Vaughan Heazel as editor of the Jefferson News and Barton Morris as editor of the ACORN.

On December 9th Jefferson footlights flashed on the first play of the year, "The Admirable Crichton."

When the new year came, many of us resolved to bring up our grades. On January 10th, to show we meant business, our class initiated the Honor Study Hall, which has proved most successful.

The entire class mourned the passing of Miss Mary L. Goode on January 21st. She had been a faithful teacher and guide to many of us in our studies, and we heard the news of her passing with sorrow.

Suddenly, midterm exams were upon us. After wading through those, we saw the Jefferson quintet capture the Western District championship, and heard with pride that Jim Bear, the captain of our football team, was chosen for the all-state eleven.

At Columbia University, in the Press Association, the Jefferson News, L'Echo de Roanoke, and the ACORN all won first places. Upon hearing this our class beamed with pride. Soon we were to learn another thrilling bit of news, for Peggy Hurt, our representative for the D. A. R. Convention, was chosen for the trip to Washington as state representative.

On the floor of the gym on April 1st, our class waltzed to the music of the N. B. C. Collegians at our Senior dance.

The music department returned from the State Music Festival in Richmond, April 22d, bringing home eight superior ratings.

Black faces adorned our stage April 28th and 29th when "Ebony Escapades" became the second foot-light number of the year.

Our "red-letter" Senior Day was May 5th, which began with the Senior Assembly. Then, laying aside our caps and gowns, we were off to Lakeside for wholesome frolic, and later to the theaters for free movies.

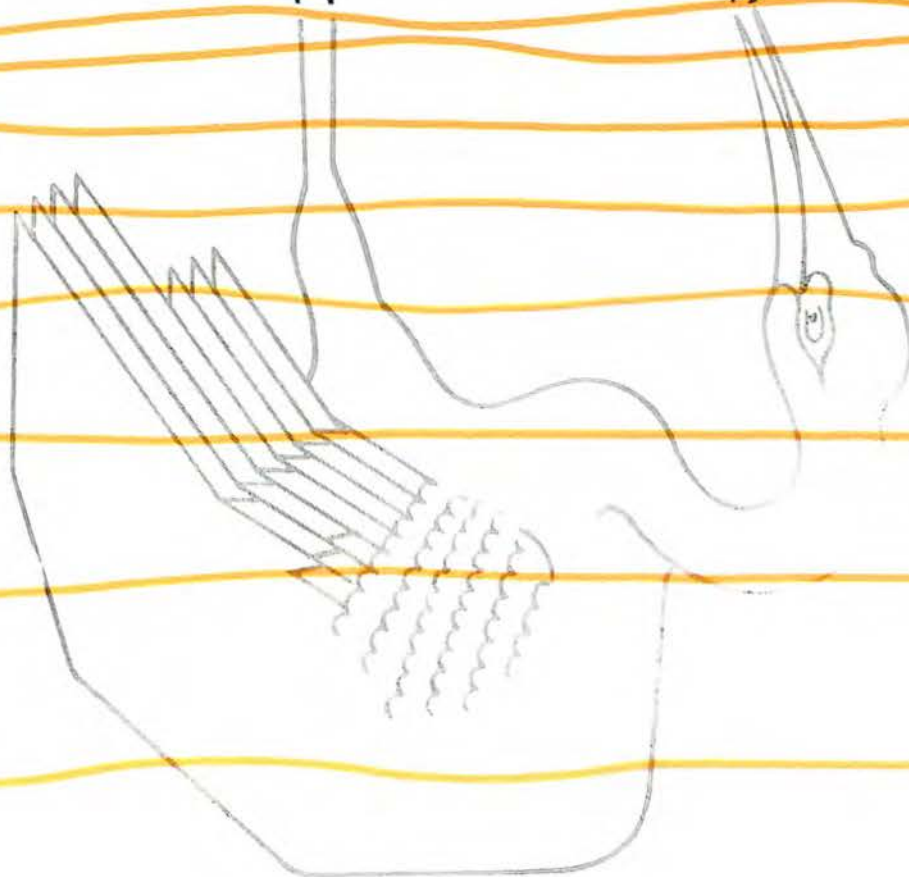

"Spooks," our senior play, presented on May 19th, became the grand finale of the year's stage productions.

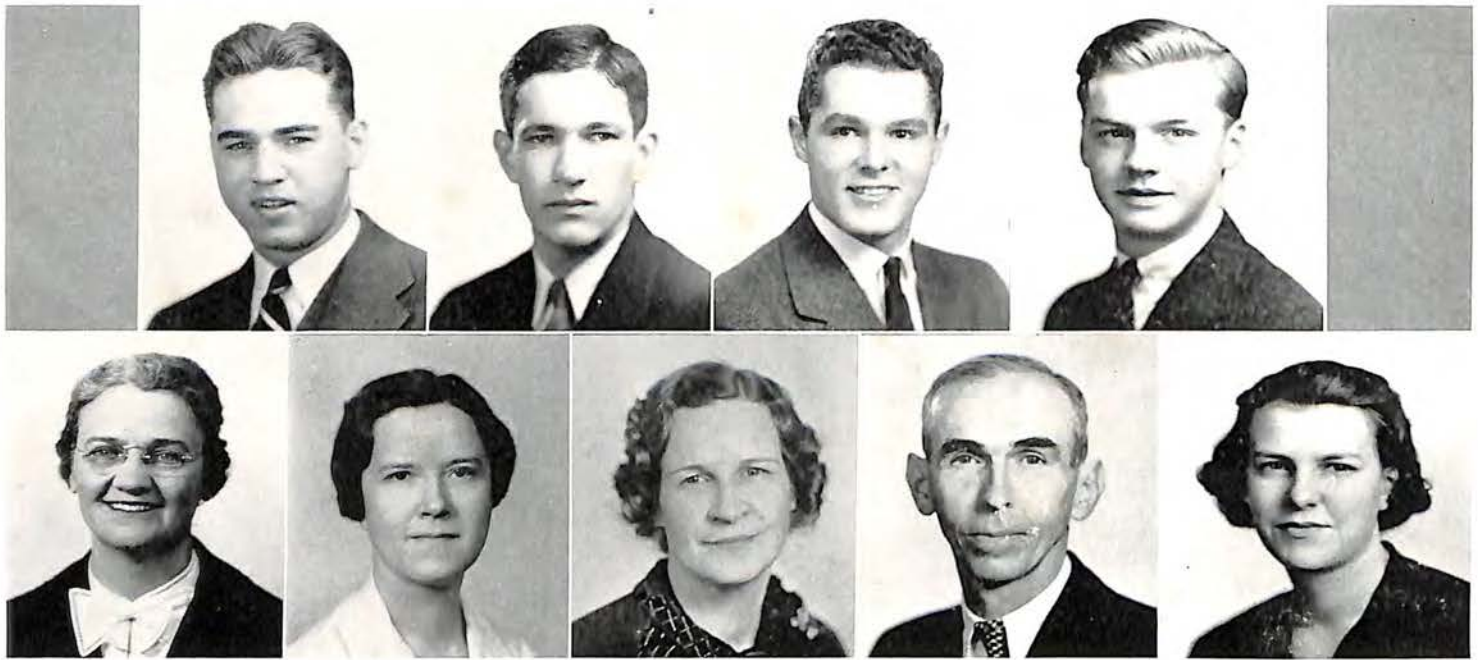

Passing through the final exams with more or less ease, we came to June 8th—Commencement—a day which will live long in the heart of every Senior. Other dates we may forget, but nothing will dim the memory of that night when each of us received his diploma as a member of the Senior Class of '39.

Student Government

Student Government activities for the past year will long be remembered for their variety.

The peak of this year's achievements was the founding of an honor study hall for the spring semester. The newly furnished cafeteria was opened to all students who willingly signed a pledge to act on their honor during the period. To every pupil in Jefferson, this project has offered a chance during a free period to study in school without any disturbing elements.

Because each semester a large number of students enter Jefferson High School for the first time, an orientation program was planned to acquaint them with the school's clubs, its customs, the building itself, and with the student government.

One week of each semester was devoted to an extensive campaign for "better citizenship." Most students will recall the "C. C. C. campaign," meaning cooperation, cleanliness, and courtesy.

HOBBIE

Prefect Council

After delegates had returned from the Fifth State Student Government Convention at Manassas, Va., a city-wide meeting of student government was planned and held at Jefferson High. Here the activities of the past year and plans for the future were considered in a round-table discussion.

The most enjoyable parts of Student Government activities have been the school dances, one at Christmas, under the sponsorship of Student Government, a second near Easter, under the direction of the Senior Class, and the third, during graduation week—the Junior-Senior Prom.

Besides these activities there were many minor ones. Among the number may be mentioned enforcement of the point system, revision of the fire drills, regulated traffic on the stairs, and the holding of elections.

The Literary Team

The Literary Team began its season with the district meet at Lynchburg on April 14. The debating teams were made up of Thomas Clay, Robert Lufburrow, and Bettie Kues on the affirmative; and Bill Lyon, Marshall Fishwick, and Kathryn Ann Jones on the negative. These defeated both the Lynchburg teams and thereby won the right to participate in the annual state meet of the Virginia Athletic and Literary League in Charlottesville, on May 12 and 13.

A number of students were sent to the district meet at Danville on April 28 to represent Jefferson. These representatives were Mary Grady Ayers and Howard Shaw, public speakers; Evelyn Main and Herbert Cooper, readers, and Lois Harp, speller.

Of these, Mary Grady Ayers, Howard Shaw, Evelyn Main, and Lois Harp advanced to the state meet at Charlottesville.

A one-act play, "The Birthday of the Infanta," was also sent to Charlottesville. The cast of this included Sally Falls, Sandy Thames, Stanley Benton, Calvin Simmons, Cecile Marshall, Bill Finney, Randall Jones, and Phil Smythe. The assistant director of the play was Jo Woodahl, and the technician was John Ridgeway.

A poem, "The Desert," by James Payne, and a short story, "To a Little Girl with Braids," by Betty Lee Bryant, were also sent to the University of Virginia as literary entries in poetry and short story writing.

National Honor Society

The Jefferson Chapter of the National Honor Society was established last year to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and to encourage the development of character.

The membership requirements are the same as last year with the exception of one change. To give students coming to Jefferson in their senior year a chance to become members, the clause requiring at least one year in this school has been dropped. Now, any high junior or senior, who has a scholarship average of "G" with no failures and who has a minimum number of points on activities, is eligible for membership.

The reading contest was the outstanding project of the organization this year. A prize was awarded to the student—not a member of the Honor Society—who made the best report on books read by May 15.

There are forty-nine members.

The officers are:

President	ZURNA McCLAUGHERTY
Vice President	MARY GRADY AYERS
Secretary	HOWARD SHAW
Treasurer	JEANNETTE WADE
Advisors	{ NANCY LUKENS LELIA STALKER ROBERT PLATT

The Speech Department

One of the most interesting and educational departments at Jefferson is the Speech Department. This department includes special classes for debating, reading, spelling, public speaking and dramatics. These classes organize teams to compete in various literary meets, and a play is sent to Charlottesville for the State contest. The outcome, in general, has been very successful for Jefferson.

The Dramatic Department, itself, includes expression, stagecraft, and play production. In expression, the training of the speaking voice is emphasized; in stagecraft, the production of plays, and finally, the direction of plays, in play production. The stage crew, made up of students, headed by John Ridgeway and Harold Brooks, and supervised by Mr. Bass, has worked very hard on all productions this year.

Plays presented throughout the year include the following: Two assembly plays, "The Sweet Meat Game," and "Why the Chimes Rang," the major production, "Admirable Crichton," and the Senior play, "Spooks." "Why the Chimes Rang," the Christmas assembly, was selected the best assembly of the year.

These plays have been presented by the students with the aid of the faculty and under the direction of Miss Frances Reeves, acting head of the department.

The Christmas Assembly Play, "Why the Chimes Rang"

"The Admirable Crichton"

The first major production of the year was "The Admirable Crichton," by Sir James Barrie. We owe this splendid performance to Miss Frances Reeves, Speech Department head, and Margaret Abbitt, student director.

This play, being presented in four acts and requiring three different stage settings, gave our competent stage crew much work. Much praise is due them for the marvelous lighting effects and scenery. On the whole, the play was a great success.

Latin

The Junior Classical League is a high school and college organization sponsored by the American Classical League.

"Its members covenant to hand on the torch of classical civilization in the modern world. They believe an acquaintance with the civilization of Greece and Rome will help them understand and appraise this world of today which is indebted to ancient civilization in its governments, laws, literatures, languages and art."

There are no dues in this club. When one joins, he is a member ever after. The only expense attached to membership is thirty cents, the purchase price of a league pin.

This spring the club is sponsoring a broadcast and a picnic. Early in the fall they engaged Dr. R. V. D. Macgoffin, internationally known archaeologist, for a lecture and perhaps a broadcast.

The officers of this club are:

President.....KATHRYN ANN JONES

Vice President.....JEWELL TURNER

Secretary.....REBECCA COOK

Roanoke Roman

Other extra-curricular activities of the department are the publishing of the Roanoke Roman, a Latin-English newspaper of which Betsy Jennings is editor-in-chief, and the annual participating in the state-wide Latin Tournament, to which a restricted number of students are sent. This year Jefferson's representatives were: Paul Stonesifer, Mary Grady Ayers, Bobby Hurt, and Robert Ayers. An exhibit of students' work forms a part of this tournament. Roanoke's exhibit has won first place whenever entered.

Fleur-de-Lys

The activities of the Fleur-de-Lys have been widely extended this year. Under the leadership of Mary Louise Roberts and an efficient associate staff, the prestige of this organization has increased greatly. The first definite act of the club was the successful launching of a membership drive terminating in a soiree francaise at the home of Flora Huff.

The outstanding theme of this year's organization was the offering of monograms in the shape of Fleurs-de-Lys, awarded according to a system of credits given for activities in the French Department. This was something entirely new to the French Club. It has been received with a great deal of enthusiasm and has met with much success.

Late in the winter the club sponsored a "scavenger hunt," uniquely French, for the enjoyment of the members and their friends.

There has been an increased membership this session, which probably may be attributed to the definite effort made early in the year to obtain members. A renewed interest has been shown in the club by French students. The French Club's enthusiasm has spread throughout the entire school, and its activities as a school organization are becoming steadily better known.

L'Echo de Roanoke

L'Echo de Roanoke has engaged in many of the literary activities in the school, in the state and in the nation, and with the cooperation of the Fleur-de-Lys, it has received a number of honors. Honorable mention was given it at the Southern Interscholastic Press Association Convention at Lexington, November 4th-5th, and late in the winter it received a first-place rating at the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Convention at Columbia University in New York. This was an improvement over the second-place scoring of the previous year. The paper is still aspiring to go higher, despite heavy competition.

Billy Yost, who was editor this year, and Mrs. Fallwell, advisor, directed the publishing and editing of the French publication, while the students of the whole school, as well as the French department, have given their heartiest co-operation in its production.

The Band

The year of 1938-1939 has been one of numerous successes for the Jefferson High School Band. First among the many activities came the football games with the musicians serving as an inspiration to the team and the students. At every game the instrument-bearers were present.

On November 12 the band escorted the football team and cheering section to Petersburg.

These by no means ended the activities during the football season, for parades, radio broadcasts, and pep meetings played a big part.

Our band attended the Southwest Virginia Musical Festival, held in Radford on March 25, which was a very colorful and interesting experience for music lovers. The Jefferson Band also went to Winchester to the Apple Blossom Festival, where they received a high rating.

Mr. Byrley is director of the band and is assisted by Harold Woodson as captain. Harold Woodson and Price Hurst received superior rating at the State Musical Festival held in Richmond in April.

The Music Department

Great progress has been made again this year by the Music Department under the leadership of Mr. Robert M. Griffey.

At the Music Festival held at Richmond in April, the A Cappella Choir won one of the highest ratings in the State. Last year at the Festival, Jefferson won two superior and three excellent ratings; this year, eight superior and two excellent ratings.

As a result of the magazine campaign, the music groups were able to obtain robes. These are effectively designed maroon and ivory robes, which add greatly to the appearance and self-confidence of the choir.

Annual Easter Music was again presented this year. This program has gained one of the largest attendances of any musical presentation, and is anticipated eagerly by the public of Roanoke.

The choir also gave a Spring Concert in March which took the place of the annual operetta. Some of the choir's best talent appeared in the minstrel in a lighter vein. The chorus was composed wholly of members of the music department under the direction of Mr. Griffey.

With practice and hard work, the music department has reached a high standard which it hopes to retain.

Jeffersonian Literary Society

The Jeffersonian Literary Society followed this year its usual plan of encouraging literary and social activities. A magazine, The Flurry, proved to be equal to the highest expectations of the members. The annual Barn Dance was held in October in conjunction with the M. W. L. S. Many members of the Debating and Public Speaking Teams are on roll, and contribute greatly to our programs. To the J. L. S. of next year we pass on the pleasant memories of this year, and best wishes for a most successful year in 1939-40.

Martha Washington Literary Society

The Martha Washington Literary Society develops its members along literary lines. Literary tryouts are written or oral. The society is interested in debating, public speaking, reading, writing of short stories and verse, and music. The membership of the club this year is ninety.

The members contribute to the Virginia Literary and Athletic League in Charlottesville. This year the society will be represented by Betty Kues and Kathryn Ann Jones.

Social events included a membership tea, barn dance with the Jeffersonian Literary Society, and a spring hike.

The Girls' Club

For years the Girls' Club has been the largest club of its kind in Jefferson High School. Its membership has been composed of the finest of high school girls. The purpose of the organization has been to find and give the best.

Sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. with Helen Lewis as president, Miss Elizabeth Conwell as Girl Reserve Secretary, and Miss Nellie Smithey as faculty advisor, the Girls' Club has had a most eventful year.

Installation was held at the First Baptist Church with all the Girl Reserves in the city attending and, as usual, this was a very inspiring and impressive service.

The annual setting-up conference was held at Camp Tree Top, to which went the officers and members of the cabinet for the year. The social calendar opened with the tea for the new members and was followed closely by a football luncheon in the midst of the football season.

There are certain activities in the Girls' Club that have become almost tradition. Among them, the banquet held with the Hi-Y Club each year, the Mother-Father-Daughter Banquet, and the Faculty Banquet; but none are quite so anticipated as the Sweetheart Banquet in the spring.

This year the Jefferson Girls' Club, together with the other Girl Reserves of Roanoke, sponsored a circus in which many of our members participated.

On Thanksgiving and Christmas, baskets and toys were given and the club has worked in close contact with the City Welfare Department and the Red Cross throughout the year.

MISS SMITHEY

LEWIS

Those who have previously taken part in the week-end at Camp Tree Top in the spring, look forward to it through the year as a delightful, but sad repetition of past years—while those who have never experienced it await it with anticipation, for it is a most inspiring time.

The Easter assembly was arranged by the devotional chairman and given by the members in the school auditorium on Thursday before the Easter holidays. This service showed the efforts of each girl to live up to the ideals of the club.

As so many of our members are returning to Jefferson next fall, we are anticipating a most significant year.

The Senior Hi-Y

The '38-'39 session of the Senior Hi-Y has enjoyed a very successful year under the effective sponsorship of Mr. Platt. The club membership has greatly surpassed the number of members of last year, the total number of members this session being fifty.

The fall programs were most inspirational and also educational, being planned and participated in by the club members and visiting speakers. Other very interesting features of the fall programs were the Father's Banquet and the delivery of the Christmas baskets from the school.

As the spring term turned up, there also came the District Conference at Danville, which the local Hi-Y attended. A few weeks later there was given the Mother's Banquet, and this was followed by the annual Truth Conference and a very unusual program for Ladies' Night at Camp Johnson.

The Senior Hi-Y is given credit for full cooperation with the Student Government and the faculty. A special effort has been made in keeping the cafeteria clean by appointing a committee to look after this project.

The officers of the Senior Hi-Y for the fall and spring terms were as follows:

FALL		SPRING
MALLARY BINNS	President	JACK WESTON
BILL WILLIAMS	Vice President	JIMMY HUTCHINSON
TOMMY LEE	Secretary	TOMMY LEE
JACK WESTON	Treasurer	BOBBY HURT
JIMMY HUTCHINSON	Corresponding Secretary	JOHN FORMAN

The Junior Hi-Y

Progress has been the keynote of the Junior Hi-Y during the '38-'39 season!

Success has been the achievement of these Jefferson Sophomores and Juniors in their undertakings.

A hayride started the year off with a bang, and things have been happening ever since. The club helped the needy at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Several Hi-Y boys attended the state convention at Danville, Va. An early spring activity was the overnight trip and initiation at Camp Johnson. Dancing entered the program as a diversion early in March.

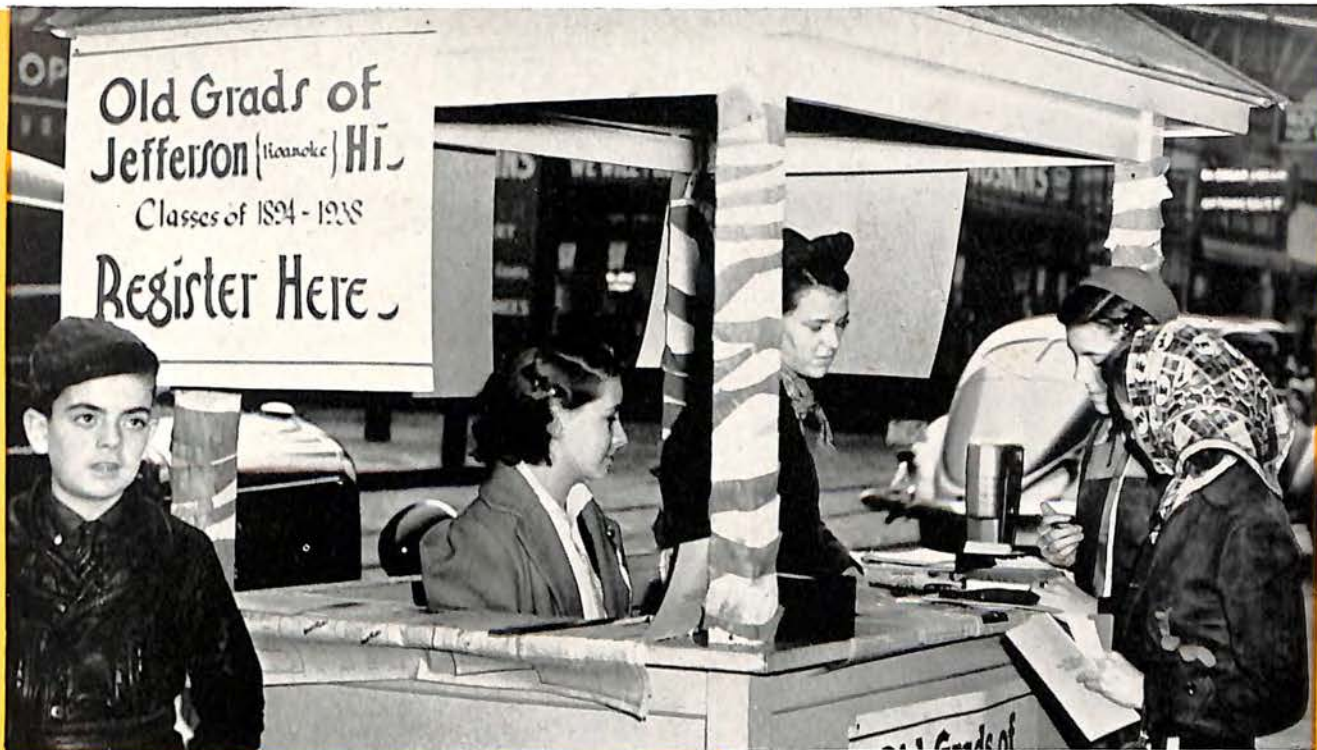

Truth Conference Night was a high point on the Seniors' program, and should prove invaluable to the members; the social peak came when Camp Johnson became temporary home of a Ladies' Night crowd.

As a Christian organization, the Junior Hi-Y has a definite aim of character development and physical, mental, and moral improvement. Guest speakers have been secured throughout the year to stress these points.

Competent leadership has been instrumental in the carrying out of the program. Marshall Fishwick and Herbert Richardson acted as presidents, and received able support from other officers and cabinet members.

A. D. Hurt was the club's faculty adviser.

FOOTBALL

The 1938 version of the Magician Football team had only a fair record this year, winning 3, losing 4, and tying 2. The Magicians seemed to be inconsistent in their play but they lost only to good teams, including Petersburg and Glass, by very close scores.

The team had a tough opener in Maury, of Norfolk, but they played fine ball and wound up in a 0-0 tie with the invaders. Many say that had they played later in the season, the Jeffs would have won.

1938

After running easily through a weak Radford team, who although not in the class with the Magicians, played grand ball, the boys played a hard game and tied Greensboro, N. C., state champs. Losing by a safety to John Marshall in the toughest game of the season, the team then drubbed a rough Durham, N. C., team, 18-6. Going down to Richmond a favorite over the Tee jay team, the boys received their greatest setback of the year, losing 18-6 to this bunch.

Next, they revenged last year's defeat by taking the Salem boys in stride, and the following week lost to Petersburg, 14-6, in a game featured by Jimmy Moynihan's sensational 80-yard run-back of the opening kickoff.

The team's last game was on Old Grad's Day, which was spoiled by rain. Outplaying a strong Hilltopper eleven from Lynchburg during most of the game, on a muddy field, the boys seemed to lack the scoring punch, and ended up on the worse end of a 6-2 score.

Climaxing the season, Captain Jim Bear was named guard on the

COACH A. D. HURT

The 1938-1939 basket ball team was perhaps the best athletic team Jefferson had this year. The men of the hardwood marched through to the Western District Championship with comparative ease.

The Magicians beat Salem, Danville, Lynchburg, each twice, and had beaten Hampton in midseason at home. But when they traveled to the coast town to play the Eastern District champs in the play-off, they lost a tough battle to the sea-coast boys, who then went on to capture the state crown.

Although Coach Hurt admitted the boys had played better in previous encounters, he said he had no alibis to offer because "a truly great team is great when it needs to be most."

Our captain and center, Rex Mitchell, copped state high scoring honors and was named on the all-state quint; our ball-handling wizard, Jesse Boston, was named on the second team and lacked only one vote of making the first squad.

The '38-'39 edition of hardwood Magicians was truly a great team. Incidentally, they owe a lot of their success to a great sport and coach, "Hunk" Hurt.

COACH CRAFT

Records have fallen as this year's crack track team, under the tutelage of Coach S. I. Craft, has gone through their tough schedule with but one defeat—that coming from the ever-strong Woodberry Forest team.

Magician cindermen showed their strength when they missed winning the Duke Interscholastic meet by the slight margin of one-half of a point. Their crowning achievement, however, came when they handed John Marshall a 67-50 defeat, the first defeat in a dual meet that the Richmond school has ever taken.

Our well balanced team gained a hard-earned victory over High—the first in six years.

We've had a track team this year of which Jefferson will long Glass be proud.

The Schedule through May 6th:

MANAGER MUNDY

Jefferson's baseball team is a little green this year and weak in the battery department, but it is constantly improving. Though some losses were suffered during the term because of "Old Man Grades," the team has measured up well, and before the end of the term, should be a fine one. To date, the team has won three out of ten encounters. It has taken the measure of Danville, Washington and Lee Freshmen, and Salem High.

As many of the players will return in the fall, there should be good material for next season.

Tennis

Although the 1939 netmen had a very poor season this year, most of it can be attributed to inexperience. Despite this, the boys fought hard in each match and took their losses like true sportsmen. The team missed Zane Williams and Charlie Fitch, who dropped out of school before the season opened.

Golf

Hard hit by the graduation of their number one player and last year's state champion, James Beckner, this year's golf team has made a creditable showing. Although failing to place in the state meet, Coach Persinger's boys revenged last year's defeat by Staunton with a $15\frac{1}{2}$ - $2\frac{1}{2}$ victory.

“B” Team Football

The “B” team, a newly organized team at Jefferson, had a very successful season with four wins to three setbacks. The climax of their season was a 6 0 victory over their rivals, the Junior Varsity. The team was coached by Mr. Dick Bryant.

Junior Varsity Football

Under the excellent direction of A. D. “Hunk” Hurt, Jefferson’s junior varsity gridiron warriors enjoyed a fair season during the 1938 football campaign. The baby Magicians won 2, lost 3, and tied 1. Such stars as Rudy Keffer, Jack Coulter, and Gerry Meyers should make good varsity material for next year.

“B” Team Basket Ball

The “B” basket ball team came through the season with a total of seven wins and two defeats. The team was led in scoring by Lewis Long. Most of the boys will be back at school next year and they should make good varsity material.

Cross Country

With such stellar performers as Alvin Smith, Ed Phillips, and Vernon Drewry, this year's Cross Country team had an enviable record. The team won three out of four meets, and its members realized the advantage of this team to spring track.

The sports program for this year, sponsored by the G. A. A., consisted of volley ball, baseball, basket ball, badminton, ping-pong, tennis, and kickpins. There were teams in each sport from each Physical Education class.

Instead of a general playday at the end of the year, playdays were planned at the end of the volley ball and basket ball seasons. Miss Harrison appointed leaders from the advanced Physical Education class and the G. A. A. to have charge of all arrangements and to serve as officials. Teams from Woodrow Wilson, Lee Junior, Jackson Junior, and Monroe Junior were invited to take part. Special sport playdays proved much more popular and beneficial.

A mixed-doubles tournament in badminton and ping pong was also sponsored by the Physical Education department. This is the second year for this program, and it proves to be very interesting to both boys and girls.

One of the highlights of the season was an assembly called "The Toy Shop," which was given at Jefferson and at William Byrd High School in Vinton. This was a project of the Physical Education classes, with student leaders assisting the director.

The season ended with an Installation Service and picnic at "Genhaven" in South Roanoke.
