After twelve long, hard years of studying, we have finally arrived at that much sought-after goal, GRADUATION!

We have many memories to recall. Remember the superior feeling we experienced when we realized that at last we were Seniors? This past year has been filled with fun and joy, but also with hard work. Publications Assembly, the football games, our Senior Play, our last "Chimes" Assembly, the Prom, Senior Themes and last but not least, Exams.

And now—Senior Day! In a few short weeks, we shall have graduated, and then an entirely new life opens before us.

Some of us will be off to college; some to jobs in the business or industrial world; some to military service; others, to marriage.

Yes, we have had a great time in these years at Jefferson. We have formed lasting friendships and have had many experiences we can never forget.

Mr. Brooks and Mr. LeRoy Smith

Mr. M. G. White

Two very important members of our educational system are Mr. A. Gordon Brooks, Jefferson's principal and Mr. LeRoy Smith, chairman of the School Board, who are shown here signing those long awaited diplomas.

They have many responsibilities in policy making, curriculum supervision and helping students towards personal and scholastic achievement.

Mr. Brooks as executive officer, maps out methods of procedure for our school system while Mr. White as assistant principal, plans our courses and is our head guidance officer.

An accomplished musician, Mr. White is pictured here playing the pipe organ in a downtown church.

Mrs. Morrissett and Miss Chesney

Two of the busiest people at Jefferson are the two secretaries in the Main Office, Mrs. Mae Morrissett and Miss Edna Chesney. They serve us all—students, administration, and parents. They keep all school records, fill out innumerable questionnaires, college blanks, or job applications in our behalf, listen patiently to our requests and grant the sensible ones. Did you know that they make out all schedule cards, give information to prospective employers and the F. B. I., assist Mr. Brooks all day long, and represent the school to the public?

In charge of scheduling all events—whether athletic, dramatic or civic—is Mr. Richard Via. As Director of Activities at Jefferson, he is responsible for the sixty thousand dollars which passed through his office this year.

If you are a customer for school supplies such as pencils, paper and books, you will find Miss Parrish, secretary to Mr. Via, willing to help you. She is bookkeeper of all funds, issues books, sells tickets to various events and collects the materials fee, while she and Mr. Via together are in charge of collecting dues and keeping the Activities Office running smoothly.

Last year as Sophomores, we looked hopefully forward to our Junior year.

After reaching this goal, the mid-stream of our high school career, we found ourselves assuming more responsibilities. Early in the year our class was organized. Many speeches and posters added to the excitement of campaigning before election of officers.

The first major duty of newly elected officers was directing the Junior Talent Assembly. Organization, selection of a theme, appointment of committees, rehearsals, and lots of practicing, all combined to make up the Junior Assembly.

Early in the spring Juniors began planning for the Junior-Senior Prom, honoring members of 1954's graduating class. We worked hard making decorations, selling tickets, and organizing the floor show.

Now as our Junior year draws to a close, the memories of good times remain, while we look forward to more memorable events in our Senior year—when we've attained the big-wheel class.

Our first big step planted us squarely in the middle of a new school, a new faculty and a much larger student body than we had known before.

Our experiences as Sophs were perhaps the most bewildering, the most exciting, and the most gratifying of our entire lives. First, the size of the buildings, the crowded hallways and the beginning of new friendships kept us in a whirl. Secondly, the fast pace of adjustment and the scurrying to meet classes scattered on each and every floor added to the already exciting tempo of a large high school.

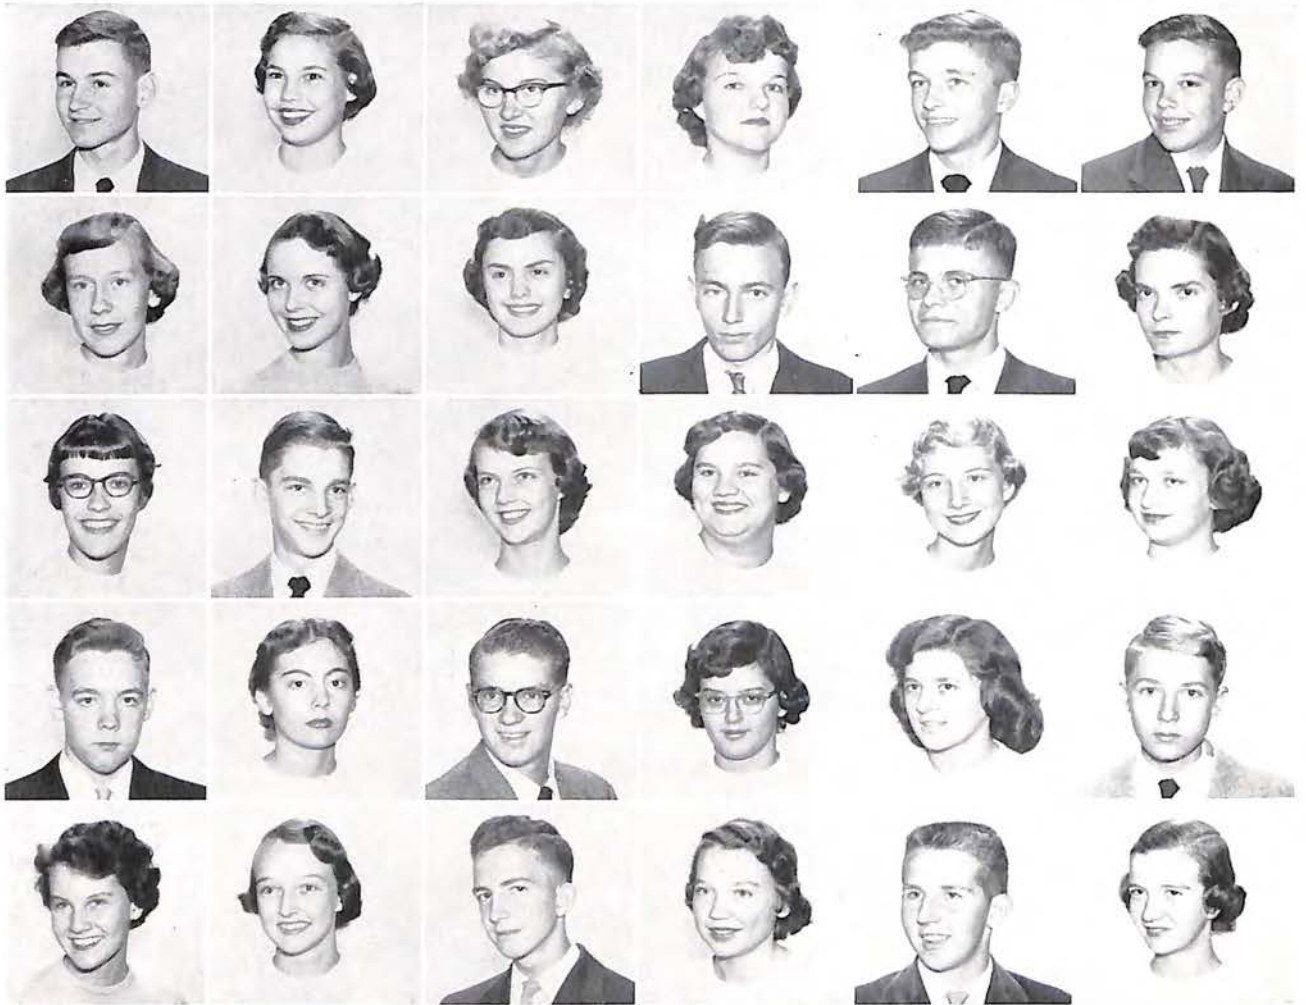

As the year progressed, we realized that High School carried new and greater responsibilities, afforded us a chance to make lasting friends, and opened up to us exciting avenues to greater knowledge.

The many courses offered to a student in Jefferson will aid him both in his present and future plans for life. He may prefer to train himself in high school for a job, or he may plan for college where he will take up his professional work. Both boys and girls may take subjects which prepare them for the role of homemakers. The following are examples of the varied curricular offered at Jefferson:

At top right in HOME ECONOMICS, M. F. Perkins and G. Moorman pin up the hem of a skirt modeled by E. Pettitt.

In DRIVING class, students learn many things about a car besides the obvious handling of the wheel. We study the mechanical construction, learning parts, their uses and their proper care; we study state laws and requirements; and, at the end of the term, we apply to the Division of Motor Vehicles for that coveted driver's permit. In the picture above, at the right, Mr. Bynum, the instructor, points out different parts of the motor to C. Austin and R. McNulty.

English is a true foundation for all other subjects. The knowledge of English is essential to the success of any undertaking. In the lower picture, H. Hollingsworth and R. Hitch are presenting a debate to their ENGLISH class while H. Woody keeps time and D. Nichols and J. Stockman look on.

Webster test the output of a D. C. generator in ELECTRICAL Shop. 4—The paper cutting machine is operated by N. Jackson in the GRAPHIC ARTS department. Mr. L. A. Maier (instructor) helps with suggestions while P. Ramsey and D. Anderson look on. 5—G. Cassell, R. Manning, K. Keith, and Mr. Woodson are ready for summer fun with the boat they have made in the WOODWORKING shop. 6—B. Sink, M. Young, and H. Weaver work with Mr. Trinko in the MECHANICAL DRAWING room.

1—In the AUTO IGNITION shop Mr. Sumpter, S. Sanders and K. Gibson test a voltage regulator. 2—N. Freeman and D. Hedrick adjust a connecting rod under the supervision of Mr. Camden in AUTO MECHANIC shop. 3—In SHEET METAL class, A. Hall makes a metal canopy; J. Holland measures a piece of metal; and G. Pugh makes a stove-pipe elbow while Mr. Holloway looks on. 4—L. Lester, H. Summitt, J. Webster and C. Robertson work with leather crafts with the help of Mr. Folden in PRE-VOCATIONAL shop. 5—P. Buckner, E. Kane and C. Chocklett, in GENERAL shop, draw a map of Roanoke under the guidance of Mr. Kersey.

Working together is a major element in the production of any speech work. Under the direction of Miss Betty Thornton, SPEECH DEPARTMENT students learn individuality, the ability to express their thoughts and to acquire poise.

Students assist in the presentation of school assemblies and take part in outside civic and theatrical groups. Every year we participate in the Voice of Democracy Speech contest and the American Legion Oratorical Contest. Many winners have come from Jefferson Speech classes.

Speech students took part in the presentation of the Christmas play, "Why the Chimes Rang", given this year for the eighteenth consecutive time. "Turn Back the Clock", produced by the Senior Class with the assistance of members of the Speech Department, was one of the great successes of the year. Others were the spring play and the One-Act Contest play.

Chosen for production this spring, in cooperation with Troupe 1006 of The National Thespian Society, was Noel Coward's improbable farce, "Blithe Spirit". This was a most ambitious undertaking for any high school group but through hard work put in backstage and the terrific efforts made by the cast, a smooth performance was given.

Many students of the Speech Department appeared in, or worked backstage on, The Showtimers' production of "The Madwoman of Chailot" in January. This enabled them to use, in a different group and in different surroundings, the knowledge and experiences given in Jefferson classwork and stage production.

Here are some reminders of Speech Department activities. In the top picture of this page are members of Speech class working on costumes for the Senior play,

"Turn Back the Clock". Included in the picture are: D. Johnson, C. Weeks, J. Stockman, R. Hitch, J. Smith, B. Holland, M. Brown, J. Bernard, A. Markham, G. O'Dell, M. Hutson, A. Mann, J. McGavock, B. Schillen, P. Huffman, P. Fulgum, J. English.

Emphasis in Speech Classes is on Public Speaking. In the center picture, shown making a speech to the group is J. Stockman with the class as audience. Members of the class are: B. Holland, M. Brown, C. Weeks, J. Bernard, A. Mann, A. Markham, J. Blackwell, G. O'Dell, J. English, B. Vest, J. McGavock.

To understand conditions in our modern world, we must first try to become acquainted with the events leading to these affairs. Our study of HISTORY brings about such understanding. In learning these events we have a better insight on the happenings and decisions of leaders today. In the picture on opposite page at the bottom right E. Moir, S. Trout, and B. Ball study documents from the Freedom Shrine.

Boys in PHYSICAL EDUCATION

classes interested in taking swimming are offered classes at the YM pool. Junior and Senior Life Saving badges can be earned.

One of the most interesting parts of SPEECH work is the study of skillful making-up. At lower right, B. Schillen is touching up B. J. Warden's make-up just prior to Senior Play curtain-time.

Do you remember these people who care for our buildings? Here they are: (Upper left) Mr. W. E. Smith, engineer, always to be found tending the furnaces or near the control panels. (Upper right) Mr. H. W. Monroe, Supervisor of Buildings. Remember how students are always having trouble with their locker combinations and are always asking Mr. Monroe for help. (Lower left) Mrs. Ella Harper, whose soft voice and patient smile we appreciate. (Lower center) Perhaps you don't recognize Harry Price, Lee Pettus, Walter Walker, but they are continually busy straightening up after us when the school day is over. (Lower right) Mr. T. F. Denton, always a good friend to us.

Gale Barnhart — Madonna — 1954

An outstanding honor for any Senior girl is to be selected as MADONNA. This year the Madonna appeared in the Chimes Assembly which was given for the eighteenth consecutive time. Jefferson's Madonna this year was Gale Barnhart.

Head Coach Rudy Rohrdanz

Because you are such a vital part of Jefferson High School, we, the students, want to thank you for your willingness and patience in giving those thousands or more hours of your time that coaching a football team requires. Because you are always willing to aid your students in their personal problems and to teach them good sportsmanship, team work and fair play, we have come to know and love you. This year the staff takes pleasure in dedicating its 1954 yearbook to Coach Rohrdanz.

The SNOW QUEEN DANCE, Jefferson's Midwinter Fantasy, is sponsored annually by the Student Government. A few weeks before the dance each student nominates ten girls of his choice for the Court. Votes are counted and the names of the eighteen girls receiving the most votes are placed on a ballot. Students again vote and final results are kept secret until that exciting moment at the dance when the Queen and her court are announced.

FROM SPEECH OF WELCOME TO NEW STUDENTS GIVEN BY STUDENT GOVERNMENT PRESIDENT:

"We feel that there's something that exists here at Jefferson that can't be equaled in any other high school. It's the feeling you get inside when the boy sitting next to you in geometry runs fifty yards for a touchdown, or the pride you feel when your locker mate takes three curtain calls in a dramatic production. This is the spirit that thrives in Jefferson's halls."

On the opposite page we present some activities of STUDENT GOVERNMENT, demonstrated by Prefect Members:

1—In a treasured little volume called THE STUDENT DIRECTORY, Student Government annually publishes the names and addresses of students and faculty members. Listed also are officers of all school sponsored clubs. Here, Judy Bailey and Shirley Blackstock go over the Directory, giving it a final check before publication.

2—At the beginning of each school year, Student Government entertains the faculty at TEA. Here are Barbara Blevins, Sidney Lee and Mr. White, faculty adviser. Miss Edith Moore, faculty adviser, is not pictured.

3—Lee Showalter and Janet Childers are shown going to the Student Government BANQUET where the names of officers for 1954-1955 were announced.

6—A new project this year at Jefferson is our MORNING WATCH program. Student Government enlisted the aid of each club in preparing programs. Jack Kesler and Bill Baker, accompanied by Natalie Wright, are singing a duet at one of the Morning Watch services.

Sheila Crabtree, President of Student Government

Saludos amigos! Presenting the PAN AMERICAN LEAGUE composed of ninety-seven members from all Spanish Classes! We enjoy many social activities but stress Spanish life and culture. In class, in addition to hard study, we sing songs and play Spanish games. When the holiday season came we celebrated with the highlight of the year, the Christmas pinata, full of many surprises. The year-long activities of the League were topped off with a spring "paseo" at Fishburn Park.

In the lower picture J. Stockman, J. Baggett, J. Bewley, L. Jarrett, J. Hurt, E. Kennett, M. Bonham are arranging the speaker's table for the World Fellowship dinner held annually at the "Y".

SENIOR Y-TEENS is a Christian fellowship organization for junior and senior girls. The cabinet works hard during the year to plan interesting programs and worthy projects. This year programs included guest speakers, fashion show, panel discussions, and others in which members participated. Projects have included going to Memorial and Crippled Children's Hospital to tell stories to polio patients; visiting the Mary Louise Home to entertain the ladies; filling baskets at Easter; and, at frequent intervals, holding Open House Dances at the "Y".

The Sweetheart Banquet, a long remembered occasion, brings to a close the successful Y-Teen year.

Roll Call Week has an array of activities for the JUNIOR Y-TEENS. We always look forward to the annual weekend trip to Washington. Several times during the year, we sponsored Open House Dances at the "Y". Our programs have varied from guest speakers to student participation. Chapel Services were presented every morning during Easter week in co-operation with the Senior Y-Teens and the Hi-Y. They made us all aware of the spiritual meaning of Easter and signified the ideals of the Junior Y-Teens.

The HI-Y performs many useful services to the school and community: parks cars at football games; sells drinks and provides ushers for school functions such as dances and plays; provides clowns for the annual Christmas Parade; delivers Christmas baskets to needy families, and gives a Christmas banquet to underprivileged children.

This year's club was divided into two groups. There were continuous inter-club swimming meets, basketball and the like. The two groups went together for the annual Hi-Y outing.

This year's club was honored by having one of its members elected the Hi-Y Youth Governor of Virginia. He served with Governor Stanley at the State Capitol in April. Each summer, the club sends the coming year's officers to the Hi-Y Training Congress in Blue Ridge, North Carolina.

Now in its second worth-while year, the National Thespian Society Troupe 1006 plays an active part in the advancement of dramatics here at Jefferson.

Looking back we see that the Thespians should be given credit for many special events: The annual presentation of "Why the Chimes Rang," the Contest Play which this year was titled "The Faithless" and which as usual won high ratings in both district and state contests; co-sponsoring the Spring Play; and participation in the Thespian Society Tri-State Convention. Selected for Best Thespian Awards for participation in Dramatic Arts in school and community were Connie Brown and Frank Evans.

THE FUTURE HOME-MAKERS OF AMERICA opened the year's activities with a "Tea for Sophomores"; followed by a Mother-Daughter Banquet with the installation of officers; a fashion show in the Publications Assembly; Halloween, Christmas and Valentine parties; and a picnic at the end of the spring term. Two of our most interesting program activities were demonstration of make-up and study of parliamentary procedure. We joined other F. H. A. members in this district at Federation meetings which were held at Eagle Rock in November and Fin-castle in April. The president-elect always attends the State F. H. A. Conference.

Readiness with the pencil is what we are striving to achieve. To say something in an effective way sounds very simple, but it is really achieved only through writing, accepting criticism, and rewriting. We try to develop an individual style, but we use for technique successful models of short story, essay, and poetry.

Our second object is to publish a magazine that will be appealing to the student body. We want to keep our standards of good writing up, but we feel that we can do that and still make subject matter appealing.

Besides publishing the magazine, the Acorn Magazine Staff puts on the opening assembly of the year, attempting in it to portray the spirit of our school activities for the incoming Sophomore Class, and to show exactly what each of the three school publications attempts to do at Jefferson.

The ACORN YEAR-BOOK—the long awaited publication that every student treasures forever. A lot of work went into the make-up of our Yearbook.

Before a theme was decided upon, staff members spent much time reading over and evaluating various other Yearbooks collected from different schools. We chose our theme, "Turn Back the Clock", inspired by the Senior Play—then we planned the book, page by page—made elaborate dummy layouts—took pictures—wrote identifications and endless copy—checked and rewrote the copy—all of this and then a final check. At last, after a combination of never-ending hours and effort, the big job was finished. The Acorn was off to press.

Lower: B. Clark, Junior Art Editor and J. Shoemaker, Senior Art Editor, are discussing various layouts with Mrs. Sasser, our art adviser

Then, of course, there were the weeks of anxious waiting, naturally combined with the curious questions of Jefferson's student body—"When do you think it'll come? It'll surely get here on time, won't it? We can't wait." We couldn't either. The proofs came back for reading—a day of frenzied work. More waiting. May 28th—that glorious day came at last. The Yearbooks are in your hands.

The process starts on Friday afternoon as the editors rack their brains for news, feature and editorial assignments. Photography assignment slips are made out for all the pictures to be taken for the next issue.

On Monday assignments are given to the reporters accompanied by groans and moans.

Tuesday is rather calm with the staff being reminded of the deadline for their stories.

On Wednesday, all editorials and features are handed in. Then the cycle begins to pick up speed. Typing and copyreading begin. Sometimes stories must go back to the reporter for rewriting or fixing up.

On Thursday and Friday, page make-up and headline writing begin. There is the struggle to make the stories fit on the page, and to make the headlines count just right.

On Friday the Editors begin working after school in Room 3 and the editorial page and one sports page go to the printers. Photographs and cartoons are pasted up and sent to the engravers.

On Monday news stories come in (at least they are supposed to). The frantic questions: Are there enough ads? How many inches of ads should we leave room for? More work after school. Pages 3, 5, and 6 are fixed up and sent down.

Tuesday—last minute check on ads—page 1 made up—stories cut and lengthened to fit. The last page goes down.

Wednesday hours after school at the printers—reading page proofs—final check on pages—then the issue is “put to bed”.

Thursday the lull before the storm.

Friday morning the “News” is distributed—the staff holds its breath and hopes—will the students and faculty like the paper? Did we overlook any mistakes?—Well anyway, the students are reading it.

At last we can rest, but no, there are the assignments to make—here we go again!

THREE O'CLOCK RUSH

The LIBRARY CLUB members gave four or more hours of their time each week to work either before, during or after school in the Library.

These assistants derive much personal satisfaction from the knowledge that they are doing a vitally important job.

As we Turn Back the Clock of events in which the Library Club participated, we see the Big Dust-Up Party, and the sponsoring of the Morning Watch.

To wind up the school year, Jefferson joined with the other school library clubs in the city to enjoy an annual picnic at Fishburn Park.

An essential for anyone talented in art is to have the opportunity of developing creative ability and individualism.

In the ART CLUB we design covers for many of the school publications and do most of the art work in the Acorn Yearbook and the Acorn Magazine. Most of the posters for basketball games, football games and school plays, assemblies, and school activities of all kinds are drawn by art students.

Eight wins, one loss, one tie; a terrific record in any man's league!

The team got off to a slow start; beating cross-town rival, William Fleming, by only seven points. Spirit was high as William Byrd went down thirty-three to nothing. Expectations arose as highly-toughened Newport News fell twenty-six to nineteen.

It seemed as if no one could make a mistake the night the Magicians deflated mighty Fork Union Military Academy, twenty to nineteen.

To the joy of all, the Jeffs rolled over traditional rival Kingsport, Tennessee, twenty-seven to seven. Andrew Lewis turned the spectators' hair grey as they went down by one point, fourteen to thirteen. This marked the second game won by an extra point kicker, Ralph Owens. Next came Covington which gave little opposition as the Magicians scooted to a twenty-six to six victory.

"Then came the down." The wind blew; the snow fell; and so did we. Danville triumphed twenty to nineteen.

"Fired up," the Jeffs came back to hold powerful Maury to a thirteen to thirteen deadlock. Spirit was high again as the Magicians closed out the season, downing always potent E. C. Glass of Lynchburg, nineteen to twelve.

We closed the season with the best record since 1947. Future prospects are yet uncertain. Twenty-seven players are seniors!

EDDIE RUSHTON (Upper Left) won All-American Scholastic honorable mention because of his excellent work at fullback. He was also the top Magician ground gainer and ranked high in Group I scoring with 67 points.

BILL BAKER (Upper Right) helped pace the Magicians' forward wall with hard work from the guard position. He was hampered all through the season by a weak ankle.

PAUL McALLISTER (Lower Left) was perhaps the outstanding Jeff lineman. He won a first string slot on the Western District honor squad. The big 210-pound tackle received All-City-County honors for the second year.

GERALD WILEY (Lower Right) played offensive and defensive center. The 260 pound senior anchored the Jeff line. He was awarded the Roanoke Times-World-News Sportsmanship Trophy.

JIMMY LUGAR (Center) turned out to be quite a quarterback. His passing and general field leadership were the primary reasons he made first team for All-State, Western District, and City-County.

Swish, and the Magicians get another two points. The team did a fine job all season. We didn't get that ever-elusive State Tournament bid but team and spectator spirit was the best it has been in many years. Mr. Hurt's charges ended the season with a ten won, eight lost record.

Lack of height proved to be the squad's only handicap; but short as they were, the team played splendidly. Lanky center, Dick Kepley, captured state scoring honors, averaging 26 points per contest. His play proved to be a highlight of every game.

Ride him! Pin him! Bar his head! These are the familiar expressions of Jefferson fans at wrestling matches. Everyone enjoys the thrills offered by watching Magicians in action.

This year's team boasted one State Champion and three other returning lettermen. Many promising newcomers showed up well in practice and resulted in a well-rounded team.

The 1953 Jefferson TENNIS team compiled only a fair record of four wins and four losses, but their fine playing and spirit impressed all of their opponents. They always looked good even in losing. Although this is not the best record a tennis team might have, the Magicians have created much interest in tennis at Jefferson. The team was very slow-starting but gained momentum as the season went along and ended runner-up for the State Tennis Crown.

The Jefferson GOLF team made an excellent showing during the 1953 season. Winning six matches while losing none, the team played steady golf throughout the season with frequent signs of brilliance being shown by the individual players. These boys matched woods and irons with the best in the district and came out on top. The team was runner-up in the State Golf Tournament. With three out of five men returning, Jefferson had an even better 1954 season—winning five matches and losing one. In May the team travelled to Portsmouth, entered the state-wide golf competition, and WON the STATE CHAMPIONSHIP. The '55 team should again have an excellent season as there will be five out of six players returning.
