Foreword

For the past few years, war and smashing world events have been the things we've talked about, read about, and written about. Consequently, in previous years Annual themes have dealt with relative subjects. Now, with the return of peace and the beginning of the establishment of good will all over the world, we can once again turn our thoughts to the little things we knew and loved before the terrible international conflict.

Recognizing this, we, of the 1946 Annual Staff, have chosen a comparatively simple subject, "School Activities," as our theme. We think it is more than fitting at the present time, for upon our shoulders falls the responsibility of building a bright, new world. The training we receive in the classroom, and the tolerance we learn through student government and clubs, the respect with which we treat our teachers and fellow students, all prepare us to meet our obligations in later life.

We sincerely hope, as you turn these pages now, and in years to come, that they will strike a familiar note and bring to mind all the unforgettable experiences that make high school years wonderful years.

Dedication

To the sponsors of THE COLONEL, Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Young and Miss James, who have been patient in service, eager in interest, unfaltering in sympathy, unstinting in their generosity of time and labor, who, through their unswerving efforts, have made this first peaceful year one of enjoyment and inspiration for us, we, the Senior Class, do gratefully and affectionately dedicate this 1946 issue of THE COLONEL.

The 1946 Colonel . . .

Mrs. Elizabeth L. Powell

When school life at Fleming is over, it will be a great pleasure to think back upon the happy days we have spent here, and to think of the friendships we have formed. We feel sure that no boy or girl will go from this school who does not feel that he or she can be a bigger, a broader, a better citizen by having come in contact with our principal, Mrs. Powell, of whom we think as our guide.

After a while we shall be able to appreciate even more than we do now the value of her work in giving us the proper training. We are grateful for everything that Mrs. Powell has done for us during our five years at Fleming because we realize that her determined efforts as principal have made our school life successful.

COMMENCEMENT

*To all a fulfillment of dreams,
A bright star at last grows nearer;
A night that is happy, a night that is sad,
A night that is joyously, achingly glad;
With old scenes and faces grown dearer.*

*What though the way has been thorny at times?
We've had our full share of the flowers;
In classrooms when learning was mingled with fun,
In laughter and tears and in victories we've won,
We've enlarged and increased all our powers.*

*Commencement: Achievement, attainment, success;
We've reached the bright goal that we set,
But we must not falter, our work is not done,
Our task is not finished, our race is not run
And the time for repose is not yet.*

*For commencement is but the beginning of life,
A door opening out to the best;
And we must pass through it and tread the new way,
Give thanks for the past, breathe a prayer for today,
And start our life's work with new zest.*

Each year we find ourselves nearer to the end of school and the beginning of our career. For us Juniors, only one more year of school life remains. Realizing this, we have done our best to make this one of the most eventful years in our school's history; one we shall always remember in years to come.

Our first activity was a comedy radio skit. We sponsored a very successful dance in April.

The big event of the year was, as always, the Junior-Senior Prom. The refreshments and the beautifully decorated auditorium were never equalled by anything previous.

The Prom closed the book on our Junior Activities.

Last Will and Testament

We, the members of the Senior Class of 1946, being of unsound minds and bodies, do hereby issue a declaration of bequest of all our unearthly goods to the potential heirs of the lower class with the sincere desire that they put them to better use than we did.

Curtis Fitzgerald leaves Betty Jean behind, much as he hates to do it. Doris Jean McGrady wills her years in Home Economics class to Joane Ferris. Terry Martin says that Henry Quisenberry may have all his troubles with Mrs. Young. Margaret Blount gives Mont up to Fleming for a little longer (poor Fleming!). Donald Nelson bequeaths his old "fivver" to Robert Murray and Duane Sisson. Ida Arnold wills her friendliness to Margaret Wright. Eugene Doyle wills his wisecracks(?) to Douglas Burd.

Edythe Patzold bequeaths her "Yankee" accent to Charlotte Hash. Adean Ziegler leaves her "wim, wigor, and witality" to Ann Dunlap. Preston Ashwell wills his gentlemanly ways to Carl Perdue and Dennis Oyler. Frances Bradley relinquishes everything but her man (?) to Thelma Altizer. Cynthia Crockett leaves her femininity to Betty Divers. "Frankie" Beahm hands down his fickleness to Louise Akers. Jeanne "Sis Hopkins" Byrd leaves her readings to anyone who wants to laugh at his own jokes. Jackie Surface wills her dreams of Florida to Dorothy Weaver. Booker Martin gives his knack for sleeping in classes to Millard Williams.

Faye Ferris wills her outstanding participation in all school activities to Peggy Owen. Billy Doyle leaves his haircut to Lynwood Toms and Melvin Bradley. Louise Basham bequeaths all her absentee slips to John Murphy and Doris Hostetter wills her singing ability to Edith Obenchain. Winston Fitzgerald bequeaths his pleasant baritone to Clyde Lyle and Carl Ballard. Muzetta Poff leaves her easy-going ways to B. T. Carter. Ruth Brown wills her decisiveness to Janet Basham. Billy Holyfield gives his "foot rests" in Mr. Dixon's room to Lewis Peters and Billy Pope. Jeanne Tomlinson leaves her giggles to Helen Seerist while Velma Radford says Iris Proffitt is the heir of her old, dirty saddle shoes. Merritt Spencer leaves ——— that's all, just leaves.

Peggy Harris wills her height to Ernestine Mitchell and Julia Thomas leaves her poise to Betsy Carper. Johnny Stewart bequeaths his attentiveness in class to Sonny Michael. Pauline Moore leaves her "oomph" to Maggie Abshire and Lillian Saunders wills her letter writing to Leona Caldwell. Rayburn Journell bequeaths his "amours" to Jack Newman. Bernice Wharton leaves her Beta ability to Ramona Baker. Dorothy Wright gives her gym suit to anyone who's sucker enough to take gym next year. Robert Fracker wills his "TKO" (Technical Knockout) to Barbara Legg. Becky Sprinkle leaves her "Rah Rah's" to Ruby Dudley. Leon Welsh bequeaths his timidity to Grayson Thompson and Robert Caldwell. Doris Scott wills her quietness to Nadine Ashwell and Dorothy Whorley leaves her place in front of the locker room mirror to Betty Randall.

Mary Sewell leaves her enthusiasm for life to Virginia Burnette and Betty Crawford. Jackey Britts wills her laugh, or should we say howl, to Mildred Bowling. Arthur Dillon bequeaths his basketball physique to Tracy Wright. Mary Kanode leaves her curls to Joanne Webber. Mary Jane Bryan wills her excuses to go see Miss Morris to Barbara Flippen. Elise Moomaw leaves her graciousness to Margaret Kessler. Gene Ellis bequeaths his efforts to please the teachers to Harry Shumate and Arto Cuddy. Gloria Foutz wills her engaging grin to Edith Luke. Maxine Arrington leaves her musical ability to Johnny Fraim. Ruth Poindexter wills her dependability to Alice Johnston. Ralph Inge just "Anchors Aweigh."

Ayrie Spangler leaves her "Palmolive" complexion to Geraldine Pearson, and Ralph Austin says he'll be glad to give Richard Hylton his book of phone numbers (back issues, of course). Helen Dillon wills her hospital bed to Wilda Eller. John Bostian leaves his five years of excellent work to anybody who thinks he can do as well. Eva Wade bequeaths her studiousness to Jack Meador, and Nancy Lou Kasey wills her typewriter to Marjorie Evans. Dorothy Langston leaves her "eagerness" in chemistry to Colleen Lavender and James Johnson says Dorothy Cahill is welcome to his ability for arguing. Melva Hall wills her calm manners to Joyce Ward while Florence Dooley leaves her sunny disposition to Betty McManama. Merlene Brillhart and Mildred Johnson leave their beautiful friendship to Jean Vaughn and Myrna Sheffield. Lloyd James wills his good conduct to "Willie" Wilson.

Doris Gay leaves her "gayness" to Virginia Frith, and Marguerite Pratt wills her beauty to anyone who needs it (and who doesn't)? Thomas Minyard leaves his freckles to "Cotton" Miller while Mildred Smith bequeaths her "diamond" to Hester Wade. Lorraine Stultz wills her agreeable personality to Edith Vernon. Phoebe Wigginton leaves her cheerfulness to Ruby Obenchain. Charles Scott leaves his love for Fleming to Eugene Callaway. Jean Ferguson wills her Spanish II book, including Fortuna, to Catherine Jennings. Billy Whitmire leaves his enchanting gaze to Teddy Brillhart. Betty Jean Firestone leaves Inge without transportation. Mont Linkenauger says Donnie Campbell may have all his old worn-out chewing gum to play with in English class. Claudine Pharis wills her dignified manner to Betty Sue Brillhart. Ray Berry Meador and Garland Roth leave their Army Air Corps experiences to Billy Ferguson.

We, the Annual Staff, have endeavored, as every staff has during the past years, to put forth the best publication in the history of the school.

We reached our goal in soliciting advertisements, and went over the top in our campaign of selling annuals. After this, assignments were given out and we began on the real work of getting the yearbook ready for publication.

The staff expresses its gratitude to the Senior Class for its help in soliciting advertisements; to our sponsors for their patience and understanding, and to the faculty and student body for their loyal support and interest.

We publish this annual with the supreme hope that it is as good or better than those before it, and hope that you will enjoy it as much as we have enjoyed having a part in it.

The William Fleming Colonels completed their most successful season this year by defeating the Indians of Wise High School, Wise, Virginia, 33 to 0. This victory won for the Colonels the Half-State Football Championship for Class B high schools.

In the preceding games of the season the Colonels were undefeated in games with both A and B Class schools. The games with Covington, Christiansburg, Blacksburg, Andrew Lewis, Martinsville, Radford and William Byrd were all complete victories for the Colonels.

The Girls' Varsity, after skipping a year, made a real comeback this season. The squad was composed of sixteen girls, only four of whom had ever played varsity ball before.

Carper, who started the season as a guard, switched to forward later. Sprinkle was probably the forward most feared and closest guarded by opposing teams. Akers, captain, and Crockett, both forwards, played excellent ball as did Johnston, an ever dependable center-guard. Divers probably showed the greatest improvement of any player during the season. Sarver proved an excellent forward and shows promise of becoming an even greater one. Johnston, Divers, Akers, and Sarver are all new to varsity basketball. Wigginton proved herself a strong and worthy adversary to any forward she guarded.

The substitutes must not be overlooked. It was due to their loyalty and hard work that the team could be developed into a winning one. Though they seldom, and some never, had a chance to play in a game they gave the regulars stiff competition in practice. Eight of this year's squad will graduate and eight will return next year.

Louise Akers has proved a loyal and very cooperative captain and Peggy Owen has done an excellent job as manager of the team.

New yells were highlights of the year. The new yells introduced this year were, "With an S—With an M," "Go Team Fight," "Lean to the Left," "We Won't Go Back," and "The Team's Coming."

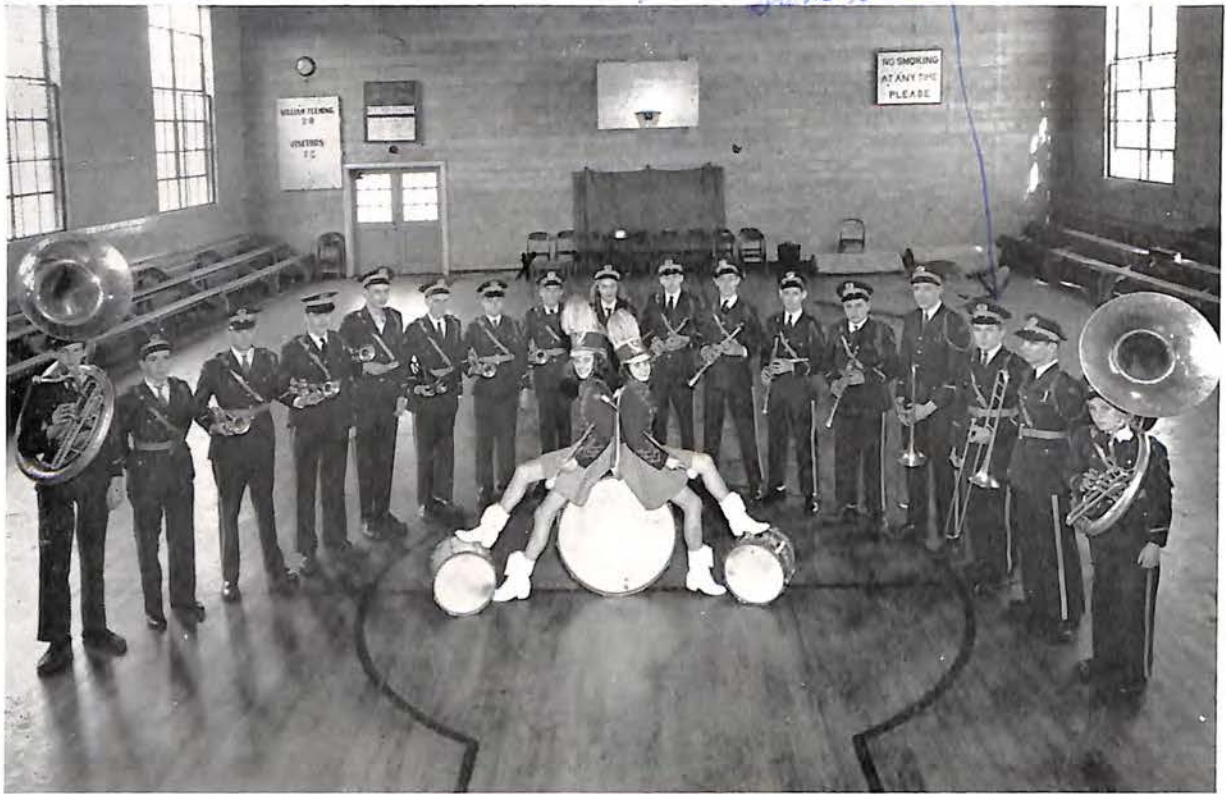

A dance was sponsored at the Y January 29, by the Fleming Cheer Leaders, honoring all City-County Basketball Boys and Cheer Leaders.

On January 26, a spaghetti supper was enjoyed by all at the home of their sponsor.

Becky Sprinkle, head cheer leader, has served three years on the squad, Thelma Altizer, Wilda Ann Eller, and Charlotte Hash have served two years. Dot Weaver, Margaret Blount, Mary Jane Bryan, and Jackie Surface have served one year.

GIRLS

For the first time in the history of basketball in District II, a girls' tournament was held this year on March 8th and 9th at William Fleming High School. Eight teams were entered, none of which was an easy opponent for any other.

The drawing was held Friday afternoon, March 8th, and games started the same day at three o'clock. All games were fast, clean games, exciting to the last whistle, and each team may well be proud of many of its players.

Fleming may be justly proud of the winning team. The girls worked hard and really earned their victory. Fleming placed two girls, Sarver, forward, and Johnston, guard, on the first all-tournament team and two, Wigginton, guard, and Carper, forward, on the second.

The Student Cooperative Association is the head of all the clubs in the school and every student is a member. The student body elects its officers each year.

All clubs and class presidents, home-room representatives and S. C. A. officers make up the council.

On the second Thursday of each month a business meeting is held in the form of an assembly. The programs are planned by the students.

The S. C. A. sponsored many successful activities this year, some of which were:

Troupe 570 of the National Thespian Dramatic Society started the fall season in September by tapping nineteen new members, who had won sufficient points in dramatic activities to entitle them to membership in the troupe. Soon after that, the old members entertained the initiates with a hay ride, barn dance, and box supper. At this time the initiates were taken through a rigorous and sometimes painful initiation ceremony.

The troupe backed the Senior Masque Club play, "Once There was a Princess," produced a one-act play, and helped with the one-act play for the Speech Class Recital. On March 8, the troupe held its annual formal dance, carrying out the St. Patrick's Day motif and color scheme. Mr. Ernest Bavey, National Executive Secretary of Thespians, was invited. The Thespians are continuing to grow and are striving to help Fleming continue to improve in all dramatic activities.

The Glee Club, assisted by the newly organized Junior Glee Club, gave its first public performance, which was a sacred Christmas Concert, on December 16, in the school auditorium.

In March the group represented the school in the District V Musical Festival.

In April, a successful year was climaxed with a public performance at the school, which was representative of the year's work.

The first issue of the 1945-46 Colonel was published on September 20. The paper, usually a six-page edition, was published every week with the exception of holidays.

The Staff this year was larger than ever before in its history with every class in school represented. Tryouts for places on the staff were held at the beginning of the year and the sponsors and editors selected from those the people they felt best qualified. The editor is selected each year by the previous editor and sponsors.

The sponsors attended the Virginia Literary League in November. The paper received a superior rating last year from this league.

The aim of THE COLONEL is to be a paper for the enjoyment of the students as well as a source of information. It presents school news in a pleasant, readable manner. The staff always endeavors to please its readers.

Without the cooperation of the student body, its readers, and the capable guidance of the sponsors, THE COLONEL could not be the superior paper it is.

The Senior Masque Club, larger than ever before, held its monthly meetings this year in the auditorium. On December 8th, the annual costume play, "Once There was a Princess," was presented. The Club assisted in the tournament play and helped with the production of the Speech Class plays.

Back stage work and the sound of the hammer and saw were sweet music to the ears of the Masquers. The sound of the director whispering, "Places! Lower the house lights, footlights on—curtain!" meant another play was on for the Masquers.

The Junior Masque Club is a dramatic organization made up of students from the eighth and ninth grades. Monthly meetings are held in which the different phases of play production are presented for study. Members of the club participate in these programs and in the one-act plays which are presented publicly during the year. The club has charge of the Christmas assembly each year and this year presented a choral drama entitled "The Child of Peace." About forty members of the organization took part in this drama and other members had complete charge of the production. In addition to the dramatic activities, there were various social activities throughout the year.

The Senior Girl Reserves began the year with the largest enrollment in its history. Due to the large number of members, the club was divided into interest groups such as knitting, letter-writing, sports, and sewing. These groups met between regular meetings.

The Junior and Senior clubs worked together in many ways. Among these were the milk drive, the Recognition Service, and several parties.

The Mother-Daughter Banquet was held at the "Y" in December. The banquet had as its speaker, Dr. Gordon, of Hollins College.

The club cooperated closely with the "Y" by sponsoring dances, in "The Hanging of the Green" service and the World Fellowship dinner. Peggy Owen presided over the meeting with Adelee Miller in charge of the program.

The group again this year published their own paper, Candlelight, under the editorship of Jeanne Ann Byrd and Louise Akers.

The annual Girl Reserve picnic closed this very successful year.

The Junior Girl Reserves have experienced one of their most successful years under the leadership of a most capable and enthusiastic president, assisted by her cabinet. Club activities started off by giving a reception in honor of the eighth grade girls. At that time Girl Reserve work was fully explained to them by the Girl Reserve Secretary of Roanoke City-County, Mrs. C. C. Godsey, who has constantly given a helping hand.

In October, the Club recognized eighty-seven members at the annual Recognition Service held at Huntington Court Methodist Church in cooperation with the Senior Girl Reserves Club.

Another highlight of the year was the Mother-Daughter Banquet at the Y. W. C. A. at Thanksgiving. This was the first of such occasions for the Junior Girl Reserves Club but many girls were there with their mothers as guests and enjoyed hearing Mrs. Donald Erwin speak.

There have been many joint projects with the Senior Club, such as the publishing of Candlelight, Open House dances, and milk drive for Czechoslovakia. The Club cooperated with the "Y" in the Tri-City Conference, "Hanging of the Green," and other projects.

The Club found its spring program crowded but interesting. The Spaghetti Supper, using St. Patrick's Day color scheme and program theme, will long be remembered. Then the Junior Club was delighted to entertain the Senior Club on a Spring Outing in honor of those girls graduating.

It was through the cooperation of the Y. W. C. A. that the Club had the means by which to finance these.

To High School Graduates

Whatever you plan to do after graduation—whether you plan for college or business—your mental development must continue.

The National Business College is a distinctive, private school of professional grade. Day and evening courses prepare high school graduates for immediate earnings. Many graduates who have acquired experience are now presidents, vice-presidents, cashiers, secretaries, treasurers and controllers of large corporations—others are in successful accountancy practice.

The selection of a commercial school for your business training is of vital importance to you. Write for beautifully illustrated catalog.
