our year unfolds...

Dreams Become Realities

Dreams do come true if we only wish hard enough. The products of our imagination become tangible if we are willing to work.

Such achievements within the past year as our dramatic department's coveted award won at Purdue University, our long awaited football triumph over our cross-town rivals, the worthwhile projects of our clubs are the dreams which emerged into realities.

May you, as you turn the pages of this annual, see your particular dream unfold. Should you do so, the '59 Colonel will have achieved its purpose.

Dream on, Fleming students, for only then will you have the realization of a successful future.

...a year in which we strive for the realization of DREAMS...

...determining to seek the best to obtain

On the way to school each day, lasting friendships among students and teachers are cemented by the informal atmosphere and friendly environment that is established.

to better our

our objectives,

A shaft of light striking Mr. Coulter symbolizes the inspirational theme of his message as he addresses the members of the student body.

Mrs. Anderson helps Phyllis McDaniel make a career choice.

In striving to achieve our dreams we learned we must grow in mind, in body, in spirit. In the mornings we brought to school with us a thousand separate dreams. When they faltered, we turned to teachers and guidance counselors who had won our trust and confidence. It was they who helped us to rebuild our sometimes shattered visions.

From the swirl of our individual and class activities, we came together each week to dream a composite dream—to cheer our team, applaud our fellow students, or, to find inspiration for our dreams from talks by our faculty or visiting speakers.

selves through GUIDANCE and GROWTH...

Dreams alone are weak, but...

"You have built your dreams. Now put foundations under them," Henry David Thoreau once remarked.

In our classes, as we have steadily sought to gain further knowledge and to increase our skills, we have in some measures strengthened the foundations so necessary for the building of our dreams.

A very popular class among the boys is shop. Here Tommy Gentry shows Mr. Quinn the finished cabinet which he made.

During the month of March, the cats invaded the Advanced Biology class. Shown working here are Phyllis Dority, Ida Jane Elswick, and Jimmy Wood.

if combined

Billy Ridenhour, president of the Thespians, presents Mr. Coulter with the trophy which the drama department won at Purdue University.

with WORK and WILL, they become...

foundations for the building

of STRENGTH and CHARACTER.....

The Seniors on the annual staff try out the convertible for use in the Homecoming Parade.

Judy Bower, head cheerleader, and Mike Stevens, captain of the football team, talk over the record of football season.

nurtured by broadening ACTIVITIES...

Susan Giannitti, Mary Nell Roberts, Russell Harr, and Richard Henninger are caught in a tense scene from the very successful drama, "The Curious Savage."

One of the many honors brought to Fleming last year was the special citation won by Billy Ridenhour at the state science fair. This award is given to only one entrant by the Society of American Bacteriologists. Producing mutation and bacteria by substituting a chemical stimulant was Billy's project.

Captain Mike Stevens and co-captain Larry Arrington receive pre-game instructions from referee Bushkar along with Covington's tri-captains, Boyd Milstead, Lloyd Milstead and Ronald Huffman. After these admonitions the Fleming Colonels went on to a 34-0 victory.

Dreams of a completed annual occupy the minds of twenty people in room 114 every day. Here our layout group discusses the arrangements of pictures for a certain page. Miss Stone, one of our sponsors, helps Betsy Hare, Don Ziegler, and Billy Ridenhour plan the dedication page.

The Fleming "Eleven" has been cheered to victory many times this year by the cheerleaders. These girls, with their happy smiles and peppy yells, kept spirits high at each and every football game.

sustained by responsibility and ingenuity...

Lewis Martin, Judy Snyder, Betsy Kay Tobias, and Don Stafford display the art of toasting marshmallows.

enriched through SOCIAL and EXTRA-

Posing gracefully we find four members of our Homecoming court: Margie Givens, Junior Attendant; Ann Terrill, Maid of Honor; Sharon Littreal, Queen; and Marybeth Leftwich, Junior Attendant.

"On a Picnic Morning" dreams of a good time began to materialize. The girls packed the lunch; the boys furnished the transportation. After the picnic ended, we came home tired, but with another dream having come true.

Thus it was with all of our activities, from the first club meeting to the last spring formal.

Plans for Homecoming began early in the year, and visions of decorated floats taxed the imagination as we looked at bare truck beds and rolls of uncut paper. Or in choir we found in a new sheet of music the challenge of changing the composer's dream from black notes on white paper to the reality of harmony. Or perhaps we had our brief moment on stage in assembly and would not have changed places with Hollywood's brightest star.

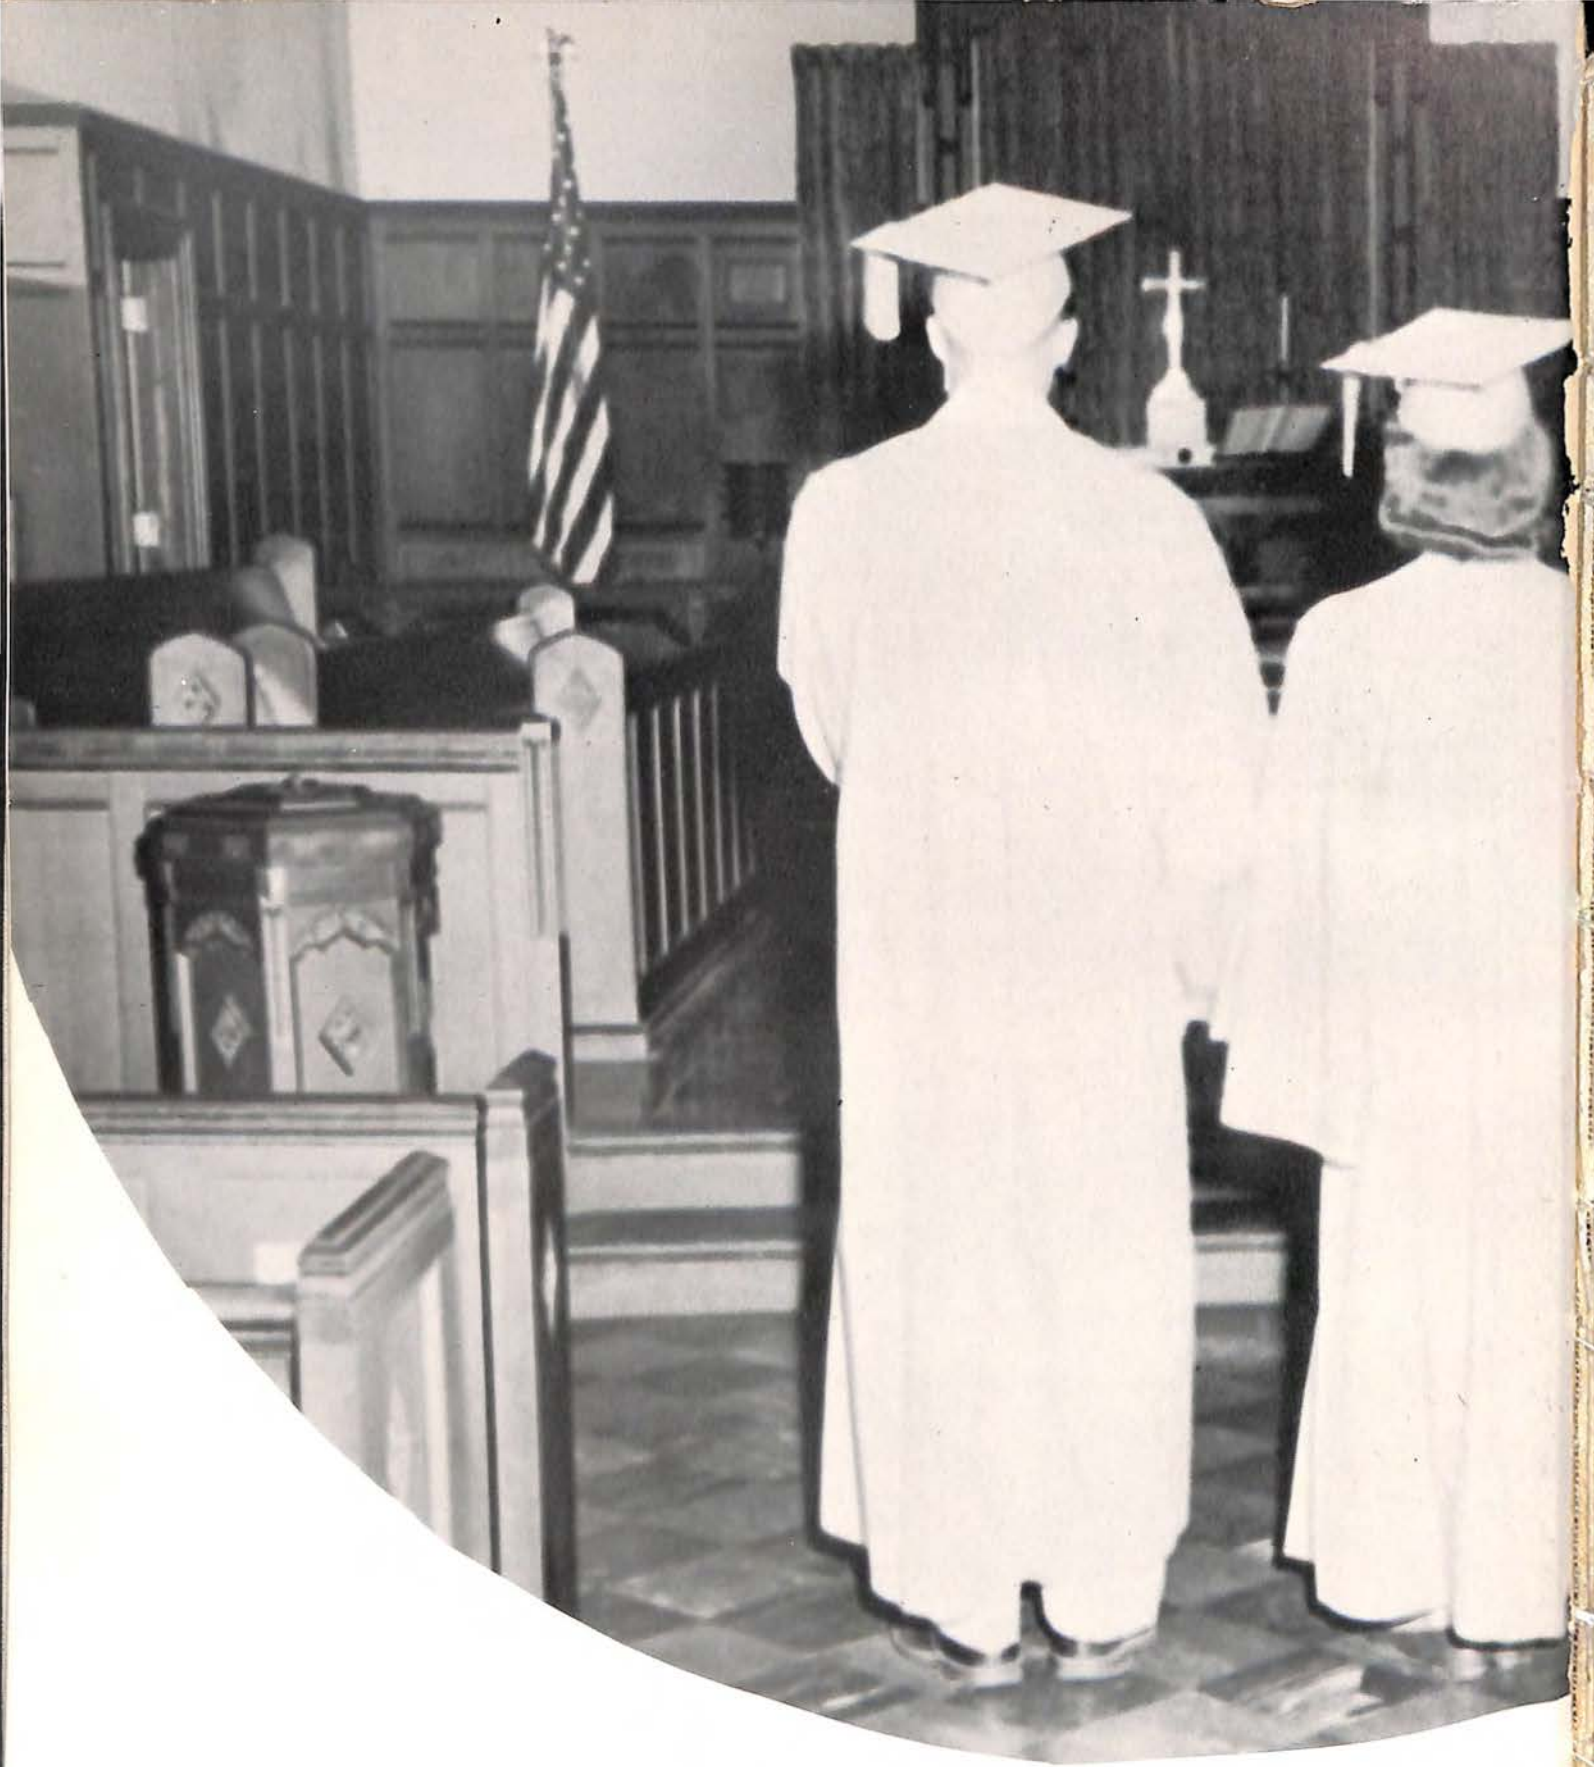

Choir members display the new robes they worked so hard to acquire.

CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES...

B. Johnson, representing the Fleming Clan, picks a fight with A. Minton, member of the Jefferson clan, which settles the feud of many years. The head of Fleming's Clan, D. Tolley, and baby sister, B. Tobias, cheer as the Jefferson Clan, J. Woodford and W. Jamerson, comment.

and we can reach up and turn our tassel

Fulfillment of purpose will not fully materialize with graduation. Our dreams of the future are strengthened with wisdom attained through important curricular work, dedication obtained from good sportsmanship, responsibility from club participation, and obedience from classroom work.

As high school years pass by, a student no longer is content with the dreams of a small child. He maturely perceives the importance of logic and basic fact as a foundation for the dreams and ideals on which he will lay his future.

Wisdom, intelligent thinking, and stability in the world of today are obtained only from experience and the will to grasp and learn. We have had to strive to obtain these high objectives while we were young so that we might use them at their fullest later in our lives.

In Dedication...

The house lights dim, the curtains part, and the Fleming Players are set to score another triumph; a voice over the radio speaks convincingly of democracy, a hushed audience hears a speaker laud the constitution; debaters argue a moot question; readers vie for fame. It would take a display case of gargantuan proportions to house the trophies won by the Speech and Drama Department. Back of these triumphs is one whose dynamic talent and flair for the unusual, whose untiring enthusiasm and whose loyalty to and love for the school have left an indelible mark upon the heart of Fleming.

In deep gratitude we dedicate this issue of The Colonel to Mrs. Genevieve Dickinson.

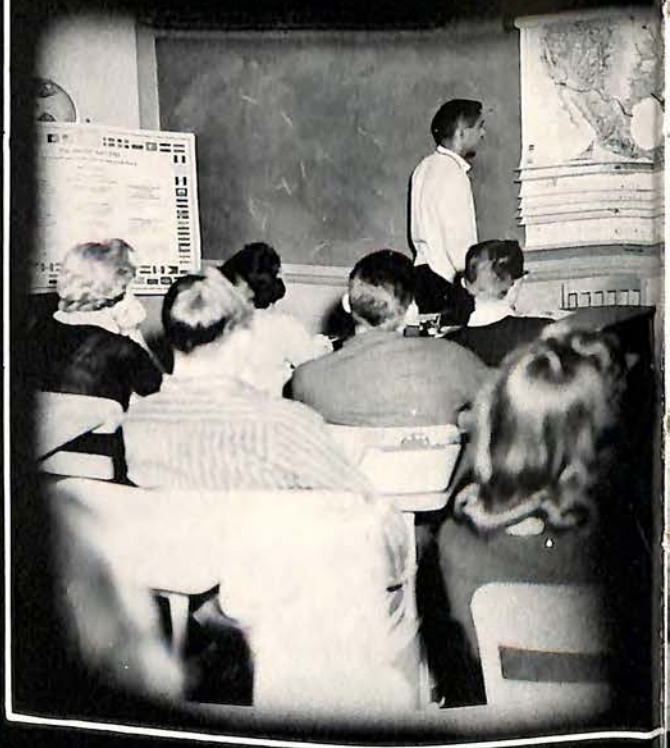

"Question?", Mrs. Dickinson asks one of the members of her eighth grade exploratory speech class.

Faculty

Much has been said about the importance of school spirit, but all too few realize that the faculty of a school is truly the force which guides this spirit. Furthermore, it is the faculty which guides the students' dreams, subtly shaping them until they become tangible things.

How often we forget that teachers, too, have dreams of their own—dreams for the growth of a special department or project, for the improvement of students who are not doing well, for the eventual success of all students with whom they work. Through their dreams for us, we are enabled to draw nearer the realities of accepting our mature responsibilities.

Classes

Every morning at 7:40 or 8:30 or even 9:33 a school day begins for over eleven hundred students. The eighth graders dream of becoming freshmen as they clamber to their lockers, adjusting to high school life. Visions of being sophomores fill the minds of every freshman as he struggles with his studies. The sophomores hopefully dream of passing the halfway mark of their high-school years to become juniors. The juniors eagerly anticipate accepting the role vacated by the seniors of '59. The seniors, with dreams of graduation and the future, concentrate on passing senior English and government.

On the following pages you will see the pictures of your classmates who have helped you formulate your dreams while at Fleming.

Being fitted for caps and gowns for graduation is always an exciting event. Here Benny Reed, Peggy St. Clair, and Jackie Benson are assisted in fittings by Mrs. Anderson.

"If you can't conduct yourselves as ladies and gentlemen you will go back to your homerooms," mimicked Wayne Gibson.

Fun goes along with school life also. Here seniors Jimmy Bishop, David Caldwell, Larry Arrington, and Donald Stafford enjoy a snowball battle during their lunch period.

College day is always a big event at Fleming. Patti Ballard consults nurses at Roanoke Memorial Hospital.

Hours of hard labor and toil came to a climax as seniors James Metcalf, Carroll Logwood, Bonnie Graybill, Tommy Harper, and Alice Boccock turned in their precious themes to Mrs. Loomis.

Planning for graduation is an important part of the senior year. Here Fleming seniors Larry Arrington, Joan Teass, Jo Weidner, and Suzanne Long choose their cards.

Minerva Lemon, John Ball, Phyllis Dority, and Frankie Young laugh happily as they prepare to leave for Senior Day.

Listening intently, seniors in Mr. Garland's civics class learn more about America's form of government.

JUNIOR CLASS

With the opening of the school session, the Junior Class began making plans for the coming projects of the year. Sponsoring hops and other money-making enterprises helped to make a success the major "duty" of the Juniors—the Prom.

Miss Williams, sponsor of the junior class, and David Ayers, president, worked together to see that the appointed committees carried out their jobs.

Carrying out the class tradition, the juniors sponsored a float in the Homecoming Parade using the prom as the theme. The annual class assembly turned out to be a hilarious success.

Working very hard, the Juniors have made this a successful year and one to remember.

Activities

Visions of success gave us incentive to plan our activities for the year. Since everyone had in his imagination a picture of himself doing something worthwhile for his club, success became more than mere wishful thinking, for Fleming students seem to strive for the feeling that comes from working with and serving their fellow students.

The S. C. A. candidates dared not anticipate that their campaigns had been successful enough to win the election. But for the four winning candidates the dream did unfold and become very real.

At some time during our high school years each of us had a chance to discover ourselves—musically or dramatically. We visualized ourselves on the stage, and we found ourselves upon that very stage as we appeared as stars or extras in the opening performance of the current play.

S. C. A. President Larry Arrington, Vice-President Barbara Crenshaw, Secretary-Treasurer Laura Ireland, Sponsor Mr. Earl Quinn, and Historian Nicky Wise climb to the heights of leadership.

New S.C.A. presents challenge to students

For thirteen years, Fleming's Student Cooperative Association has served as the coordinator of all clubs and major school projects. Our S. C. A. is set up for the purpose of stimulating character growth of pupils and of promoting the general welfare of the school. It is a citizenship training organization devoted to the enrichment of student life, and it also promotes the welfare of the school through proper student-faculty relationship.

This year's officers, Larry Arrington, Barbara Crenshaw, Laura Ireland, and Nicky Wise, were kept busy attending to items ranging from College Day to a tea for the teachers during their conference days. Frequent executive meetings were held with Mr. Quinn, the S. C. A. sponsor.

The sponsoring of the Spring Formal climaxed an active and successful year.

scholarship, citizenship*

"Would you like to buy a program?" This phrase became the motto of the Beta Club members who sold programs at the football games. This year they set a new record for the amount of money taken in in one night.

In a tapping ceremony the Beta hopefuls were presented with their bids. The "rat week" was climaxed with a banquet and an impressive induction service.

Leaving to make plans for Beta Club banquet are N. Garland, President, L. Barnhart, Secretary, Mrs. Sifford, Sponsor, M. Robinson, Treasurer, J. Baird, Vice-President.

One of the most attractive floats in the Homecoming Parade this year was designed by the Beta Club. Nancy Garland, Marge Robinson, Lula Belle Barnhart, David Hambrick, and Jackie Petree appear as representative members of the Beta Club.

Judy Snyder, Nicky Wise, Virginia Ann Lindamood, Betsy Hare, and Don Zeigler cooperate with lay-out editor, Billy Ridenhour, in planning the picture arrangement.

Mr. Foster and Miss Stone work with Jimmy Wood, Business Manager, and Ann Carol Banton, Editor-in-Chief, concerning the number of annuals to be ordered.

The business of the annual staff keeps Jimmy Wood, Mike Ashworth, Irene Lavinder, and Patti Ballard busy throughout the year.

The "Colonel" becomes reality for students

Publications have always played a big part in student life at William Fleming. This year the Colonel Staff has tried to give its impressions of all the dreams in our school life. We sincerely hope you will see the actuality of your dreams through our efforts.

The activities editor, Phyllis Dority, works with Mary Nell Roberts and Lula Belle Barnhart enumerating the activities of the clubs. The sports editors, Lewis Martin and Larry Arrington, compile the scores of the different sports.

Working on the copy for the pictures are June Musselman, Mary Beth Leftwich, Donna Tankersley, Ann Mabe, and copy-editor, Ann Terrill.

Patsy Moler, Phyllis Fulk, Tina Lampros, Judy Woodford, Tommy Engleman, Carolyn Hollar, Dianne Beard, Sandra Carroll, and Sue Sutphin use the "great outdoors" as their staff room.

Karen Mitchell, Myra Robinson, and Reka Lavinder find the Sabre most amusing while Edgar Webster and Marge Robinson take it more seriously.

Sabre Staff captures news highlights

Our newspaper, The Sabre, has been published by a group of hard working, able students. Twice monthly throughout the year they have brought to you all the events and honors that go to make up Fleming student life. As Fleming students fulfilled their ambitions, the Sabre recorded them as accomplished realities.

Sue Martin, Sandra Bayse, Deanna Pettit, Linda Antol, Fred Hickham, Carolyn Hale, Gayle Ferguson, and Butch Foutz check their articles for the Sabre.

Mr. Horner discusses good and bad points of the paper with John Via and Jim Baird, Co-editors.

Diane Ledden, Alice Bock, Margaret Morton, Jeannette Love, Delores Bayse, Sue Boone, Nancy Walters, and Sandra Peregory use Mr. Foster's office to put the finishing touches on their columns in the newspaper.

Increased interest in scientific achievement was marked at Fleming by the formation of a Science Club to encourage the pursuit of scientific knowledge and enrich the science program.

Members of the club were given a glimpse into meteorology at the weather bureau, a bit of astronomy in a trip to Thomas's observatory and a general view of the latest in scientific achievements on a trip to the Virginia Academy of Science.

B. Suggs, Science Club President, B. Ridenhour, Vice-President, and B. Shufflebarger, Secretary, plan their activities with Miss Watkins and Mrs. Horton.

With the coming of spring, the Literary Club brought to a culmination its work for the year.

Susan Giannitti proved a worthy successor to the literary speakers who had preceded her with her winning of the Optimists' Voice of Democracy contest.

With Addie Lee Edwards, Russell Harr, Bill Suggs, and Freddie Horton on the debate squad, heated discussions were held on the question for the year, "Resolved that the United States Should Adopt the British System of Education."

The prose and poetry readers pored over selections and the spellers studied the dictionary as the time drew near for the Fleming Literary Club to carry on its tradition of bringing honor to the school in the field of creative work.

"...All the World's a Stage..."

Carol Hoffman applies make-up for a play to Carolyn Collins, with the help of Diane Turner.

Troupe 570 of the National Thespian Society began its year by inducting fourteen new members to add talent to the group.

Acting is the main purpose of the Thespians and "The Curious Savage" was their first endeavor. This was followed by "A Child is Born" played before the entire student body and also presented in two drama clinics at the University of Virginia.

For the one-act play festival held at Jefferson Senior, a cutting from George Bernard Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra" won a "Distinguished" rating.

At dress rehearsal for "A Child is Born," Fleming's Christmas play, B. Crenshaw, S. Giannitti, J. Via, T. Blackard and R. Harr work for perfection.

Drama Department Creates Lasting Impressions

Success! That was the cry of the dramatic department after their production of "The Curious Savage." Here S. Giannitti, B. Crenshaw and B. McClendon give an excellent presentation on opening night.

Gayle Ferguson and Susan Giannitti watch as Betsy Kay Tobias and Gladys Webber dance during a performance of "Caesar and Cleopatra."

“To enrich our lives and the lives of those who hear us sing”—Mrs. Webb and the choir accomplished this purpose in concerts and various public appearances. A Community Christmas program at Huntington Court Methodist Church and a Christmas concert at Longwood College climaxed months of hard work. In April, eighty proud choir members, in new robes, had a once in a lifetime opportunity to sing for the Southern Division of Music Educators National Conference. The choir members who were sent to All-State came back enriched. The Spring Concert on the lawn brought to a close another successful year for the William Fleming Choir.

Linda Hmphries, Judy Snyder, and Curtis Poff try on the new choir robes for which they worked so hard.

All through the year our hardworking band has been one of the best of the "public relations" agencies of the school, winning honors and trophies almost every time Mr. Kitchen picked up his baton. From the strutting majorettes in front to the last line of marching feet, the band worked as a polished unit to boost our morale at football games, parades and assemblies.

Long hours of practice were rewarded by a first-place trophy at the Bristol Band Festival, and another top trophy at the Jaycee Bowl in Lynchburg. The long awaited new uniforms brightened up such events as the Shrine Football Game and parade, Roanoke's Christmas parade and the District Band Festival.

Following these successful events, the members of the Band put away their marching shoes and swung into a round of concerts. Christmas, mid-winter, spring were punctuated by performances, interspersed with participation in the Concert Band Festival and representation in the All-State Band.

Future Teachers Try Practice Teaching

One of the more active clubs at Fleming this year is the F.T.A. Among the important events of the club this year was the highly successful assembly honoring Miss James, the teacher with the most seniority at Fleming. Attending the state convention were Bennie Kessler, Linda Adkins and Mary Nell Roberts. A tea for the faculty was given at the first of the year.

The year closed with a Teacher—Future Teacher banquet and an outing at Traveltown.

F. T. A. officers posing before holding a meeting are Mrs. Painter, Sponsor; J. Woodford, Reporter; V. Belcher, Secretary; M. Roberts, Vice President; V. Lindamood, President; M. Robinson, Treasurer.

Christian leadership and recreation have been the main goals of the boys in the Senior Hi-Y. This club, sponsored by The Young Men's Christian Association, had the privilege of holding their bi-monthly meetings at the new Y. M.

Besides holding interesting meetings the boys helped with the Christmas Dance and sponsored a hop after the Jefferson-Fleming basketball game. One of their additional projects was the care of Colonel William Fleming's grave.

On April 2-4, four boys attended the Model General Assembly in Richmond to learn more about Virginia government and their part in it.

The boys pictured here constitute the nucleus of membership for this year's Jr. Hi-Y Club, having been members of the club last year as eighth graders. They are: P. Jones, S. Mason, E. Setliff, J. Waldron, J. Allen, G. Seigler, W. Kiser, D. Kline, and H. L. McKemy.

Fleming's Jr. Hi-Y, an unusually active club in past years, was rather slow to organize this year. After final organization, however, they immediately launched a membership drive to increase the size of the club. With their president the club members planned their activities and projects for the year. An outing in the spring climaxed another year of work and fun.

J. Waldron, Junior Hi-Y Chaplain; Mr. Childress, Sponsor; S. Mason, Secretary-Treasurer, and Mr. Thompson, Sponsor, look at the plans D. Kline, President, has made.

Future Homemakers Begin

SENIOR CLUB

Christmas found the Senior F.H.A. playing the part of Santa's helpers and extending help to needy families as one of their chief projects.

Nancy Garland brought acclaim to the club with the winning of a $300 scholarship from the Singer Company for her original dress design.

At the end of the year the Future Homemakers honored the "present homemakers" with the Mother-Daughter banquet.

The club's first "creative" undertaking was a float in the Homecoming parade, with Tom Dooley as its theme. Besides the regular money-making scheme, the brush-wielding members found time for their pet project, the creation of a six-foot oil painting for the library.

Future Artists Learn Mechanics of Art

Not satisfied to be only a "little brother" to the Senior Art Club, the Junior Art Club struck out on its own to stimulate interest in art. Its work was soon apparent as beautifully decorated bulletin boards, windows, and showcases appeared throughout the school. Through their work in helping to make the school attractive the members gained valuable experience.

For many years the Cheerleaders have tried to have organized cheering at the football games. This year a new club called simply the Pep Club has been organized to help form a cheering section. Any student wishing to promote good school spirit was asked to join. Along with the Cheerleaders these students created an atmosphere of good sportsmanship. The Pep Club also organized bus trips to all the out-of-town games, and was responsible for decorating the goal posts.

School spirit has always reigned supreme at William Fleming. This year has been no exception for we have had the aid of the Pep Band directed by Wayne Jamerson. Before each game this group has led our pep assemblies in rousing sessions necessary to get ready for the big games. Another contribution has been the music furnished at our two bonfires this year. Their outstanding ability to keep up school spirit was also shown at the basketball games.

Varsity "F's" Awarded to Fleming Athletes

John Ball, Vice President; Wayne Gibson, President; Ron Stafford, Secretary; and Don Stafford, Treasurer; with Coach Smith as sponsor, led the activities of the Varsity Club.

Our Varsity Club, getting off to a slow start this year, endeavored to accomplish several interesting projects.

The main aim of the club was to promote good sportsmanship and clean living in all phases of school life. Carrying out this aim, they took an active part in promoting the annual Sandlot Benefit game between Jefferson and Fleming.

Sports

Catching that long pass, sinking the ball into the basket, or hitting a home run . . . each of these events meant much to those who fought to win. These activities held a world of meaning to others who watched breathlessly, huddling close in the stadium, or rooting for the team in the familiar gym, or perhaps leading the cheers—all for the Colonels and for William Fleming High.

Sports during this year at Fleming had local writers using their entire range of adjectives from miserable to marvelous. The latter may have been applied to our winning the City-County football championship for the first time. Our dreams truly became realities, however, when the football team, in one of our most thrilling games in recent years, upset the Jefferson High School Magicians, 27-20. After football season, the winning didn't stop, as both our basketball team and wrestling team swept over their opponents with regularity. The girl's teams in basketball, as well as volleyball, showed many times that a Fleming team was never to be taken lightly. Climaxing the year's activities were the spring sports . . . Track, Baseball, Golf, and Tennis.

Junior Cheerleaders Give Teams Encouragement

After practicing all summer under the leadership of their coach, Alice Updike, the Junior Cheerleaders appeared with sparkle and enthusiasm. A DREAM COME TRUE....

Tolley knocks down pass to Burford in end zone to give Fleming possession.

The "little brother" complex has disappeared from our Fleming football team, for on October 3, 1958, 16,000 fans watched our players cut and slash their way to a well-deserved 27-20 victory over Jefferson High.

Not only were we the underdogs going into the game, but we had never beaten our rivals since the series began in 1942. Our Colonels, however, boasted a fine line, shifty backs, and a lot of determination.

The victory was a true team effort, but several factors can be singled out for praise.

There were our backs, plowing and driving through the line, and looking like a million dollars. Then there was the accurate passing and great catches that gave us two scores. Probably the most important, however, was the rugged Fleming line, which seemed to get stronger as the game progressed.

Jefferson began the game as if they were headed for another victory, and marched 82 yards in five plays for a touchdown. Their glory didn't last long, as Fleming took the ball and marched 83 yards for a score and a 7-6 lead.

A fumble set up Jefferson's next score and put us behind 13-7. After intercepting a pass near the end of the first half, we scored again on a pass play to end the period tied 13-13.

A poor Jefferson kick set up our third period touchdown, and we scored in two plays.

Our rivals caught us a few minutes later, however, scoring on a 60 yard drive.

A long pass in the last quarter turned a fourth down gamble into our winning touchdown. Then, we halted a desperate Jefferson drive, to win the game 27-20.

Coaches Smith and Moore show their pleasure as long-awaited victory comes closer.

of 1958...

Early in August some one hundred and fifty boys began football practice. The fundamentals, blocking and tackling, combined with a complex split-T and wing-T offense were drilled into both the bodies and mind of the 1958 Colonels.

In the opening game with Covington the fruits of their labors were shown. A balanced squad shut out the Cougars of Covington 34-0. The next game with powerhouse E. C. Glass proved to be quite a different story.

The over confident Colonels suffered a terrific defeat, 6-45. The team practiced long and hard the following weeks and met a strong team from John Marshall. This was one of the hardest fought games of the year. Both teams played excellent defensive ball, producing a Fleming victory 2-0. The next game, an unprecedented 27-20 victory over Jefferson, speaks for itself. Andrew Lewis, our rivals from Salem, also fell in the wake of our team's strength 21-12.

Coach Wooldridge discusses J.V. football strategy with players Bobby O'Brien and Jimmy Benson.

Coach Dan Wooldridge got his Jayvees into shape early, for a tough schedule lay ahead. His team, combining shifty backs and a good line, played good ball, finished the season with a 4-4 record, losing only to Troutville, 7-13, Altavista, 0-13, Jefferson, 0-19, and Valley High, 6-26. The wins were over Pulaski, 13-0, E. C. Glass, 12-0, V.E.S., 16-7, and Andrew Lewis, 20-7.

Coach Jimmy Moore found himself with a large supply of talent as the year got under way. With tall rebounders and tricky guards, the team appeared destined to compile a good record. This seemed to come true, as our Colonels won all five of their pre-Christmas games with ease. Even though bad luck prevailed in some of the games later on in the season they still came out ahead by presenting Mr. Moore with a 13-7 record and a Western District tournament berth.

Besides the regular players on the team, the Fleming supporters could definitely notice the strong reserve bench. Because of these players, the regular members were pushed to become even better. Also, most of these substitutes will return, thus giving next year's team a good chance of bettering the 1958-'59 record.

J. V.'s Gain Experience

Our Junior Varsity Basketball Squad faced a rough schedule. Under the direction of Coach Thompson, however, they improved greatly with every game, and supplied the Fleming fans with some lively action. Playing all the preliminaries to the Varsity games, they finished the season with a 5-15 record. This record, however, did not show the true potential of many of the players who will make up the majority of next year's Varsity team.

Andy Sharpe and Jackie Hurd learn the fundamentals of basketball from Coach Wooldridge.

A pleasant surprise met Coach Dan Wooldridge as he and the Freshman basketball team began the new season. The hidden potentiality in many of the players appeared early, and some of the boys developed overnight into fine players. While sweeping over many of their opponents with ease, the team showed more than once the fine points of clutch playing.

In the city Jr. High League, Fleming tied for third place with a 5-7 record. The team's over-all record, however, was 18 wins and 7 losses.

... Score Many ...

This year Fleming's fine wrestlers enjoyed one of their most successful seasons. Through the combined efforts of Coach French and a hard-working squad, a team of both power and balance was developed. The grapplers posted a dual match competition record of 9 wins and 4 losses. Ronald Stafford was the only wrestler who remained undefeated. The entire team participated in the State tournament at Princess Anne High School in Norfolk to climax a winning season.

Capture Honors

The 1958 track squad, with an excess of juniors and sophomores, finished the season with a 1-3 record. The Colonels also came in third in the annual City-County meet, and fourth in the Western District meet at Lynchburg. As a climax to the season, Fleming sent a number of the boys to the State meet, where Jerry Smith and Archie Minton scored in the 440 yard dash and the high jump respectively.

Last summer, some of our energetic girls organized a softball team. Sponsored by Agee Insurance Company, they entered the Women's City League. Their hard work and practices proved worthwhile as they tied with Arnold Transfer and Storage for the league championship.

Some of the top bowlers for the season are: J. Snyder, D. Avery, J. Stanley, B. Chaffin, G. Brillhart, F. Milton, S. Carroll, and J. Coleman.

For the second year the G.A.A. organized girls' bowling teams during the winter months. The girls bowled each Wednesday afternoon for eight weeks. The members of the top team were Jeanette Coleman, Frannie Milton, Gladys Brillhart, Sandra Carroll, and Sandra Cole.

Once again this year, the girls' basketball teams put in many hard hours of practice before the season actually began. The work did not stop then, however. Almost any winter afternoon or evening the gym was full of girls hard at work practicing shooting, dribbling, or pivoting. As the season progressed, both teams improved a great deal. One of the highlights this year was the varsity's 36-34 victory over Jefferson.

Soon after school opened, volleyball practice started and the teams were chosen. In addition to the Blue and Gold Teams in the regular Girl's High School League, a team composed of eighth and ninth grade girls was entered in the Junior High League. The girls combined practices, hard work, and good sportsmanship to complete a winning season. The Blue and Gold Teams won the coveted trophy for being the top teams in their league.

Features

From the moment we trooped into the first class in September until the ringing of the last bell in June, our interests lay chiefly in the activities of our school lives. Many of these activities we shared in common—classes, clubs, cheering for the teams. But others stand out in our minds as bright designs in the pattern of our school days.

The trophy case holds material evidence of many of these moments—the Thespian triumph at Purdue University, the band awards won at Bristol and Lynchburg, the football trophy won for the victory over Jefferson.

Other events may have no trophies to mark them, but they were no less significant—the homecoming floats, the choir's Christmas program, the plans for the junior-senior prom, and, at last, graduation. At such times as these we saw our own particular dreams become never-to-be-forgotten realities.

Laura Ireland was a beautiful Christmas Dance Queen.

Adding to the climax of Homecoming week-end M. Stevens, captain of the football team, crowns S. Littreal Homecoming Queen.

Halftime exercises at football games are always eventful. Coach Fred Smith agreed that this year's Homecoming Game was no exception. For twenty years Coach Smith has built championship teams as well as young men of champion character. As a reward, students, players, faculty, businessmen, alumni, all of whom shared his fame, presented "Coach" with a 1959 Buick.
