

Miss H. Mae
Hoover

1952

Miss Hoover, I have certainly enjoyed being a student at Lee for three years. I have had just loads of fun
all the time.

Best wishes,
Patricia Jones

Miss Hoover, had loads of fun in the 7th and know
grades and have even
I will have next year.
more fun Best Wishes

Farewell

School days are drawing to a close.
We'll be leaving this school as everyone knows.
We'll miss these halls and the basketball games,
The Friday assemblies and the little things.
The music programs and dramatic plays
We'll remember these for the rest of our days.
The friends we made, the fun we had,
Those report cards whether good or bad,
These things will remain in our history
And remind us of the days at Lee.

—Nancy Jo Robertson

Last Will and Testament, Class 1952

We, the graduates of the Lee Junior High School Class of 1952, being of sound mind and thought, do print and publish this, our Last Will and Testament.

ARTICLE I

- Item 1 We leave Mrs. Walton and her Julius Caesar recitations to anyone who can withstand them as well as we tried.
- Item 2 To the future monitors in front of Mr. Bowman's room we leave his chair which was greatly appreciated during mid-morning by the tired monitor on duty there.
- Item 3 We leave Miss McNeace and her Latin books to all those who will be fortunate enough to learn the values of Latin next year.
- Item 4. To the future occupants of home room 20 we leave Miss Temple and her much beloved clock. Here's hoping her slogan, "Time Will Pass; Will You?", continues standing through the years.

ARTICLE II

- Item 1 Jane Walker leaves her shrill blowing whistle to Suzie Hatcher in hopes she can call them just as swiftly.
- Item 2 Patti Jones leaves her love of red-headed boys to Ruth Sharon Warden.
- Item 3 Richard Kepley leaves his height as well as his professional basketball playing to Andy Canada.
- Item 4 Cary Hancock bequeaths her box of tissues to Mrs. Rader.
- Item 5 Bobby Cunningham leaves his love for Woodrow Wilson girls to just anyone who will have them.
- Item 6 Anne Brown leaves her "gift of gab" and excitement to Betsy Drewry.
- Item 7 Punk Sale, Neil Young, and the rest of the crew leave their well remembered wrestling holds to next year's demons.
- Item 8 Sandra Barksdale leaves her glamorous looks and charm to Laura Stockton Fox.
- Item 9 Jim Carbaugh entrusts his title of school nitwit to Bobby Lynn in hopes that he can tell some jokes just as amusing.
- Item 10 The G.A.A. graduating members leave their cokes and hot dogs to next year's lucky members. We are hoping that there will be enough money left in the treasury to buy them some.
- Item 11 John Howard leaves his little brother, Walter, the business of running the school (if he makes it).
- Item 12 Bobby Stamback, our talented pianist, leaves his art to next year's accompanist as he will need it.
- Item 13 Barbara Chapman leaves her melodious voice to Barbara Keller.

ARTICLE III

- Item 1 The Varsity basketball squad leave their blue and gold warm-up jackets to the girls who will wear them next year.
- Item 2 The Ninth Grade Dramatic Club leaves its fretful but enjoyable job of producing and putting on plays to next year's dramatic club with hopes of its getting along as well.
- Item 3 The members of the Choir leave John Hurt the job of keeping next year's Choir in "Order" if it be possible.
- Item 4 The ninth grade art students wish to leave their painted pictures and backdrops throughout the school.

ARTICLE IV

- Item 1 To Miss Hoover, and the Faculty we leave peace and quiet. Maybe they will enjoy their summer knowing that when fall comes, we won't be here.
- Item 2 From the school, we just leave, hoping that our presence and efforts have made it a better place for those who follow in our footsteps.

A pilot Marvin Epps will be
He will fly a plane from sea to sea.
J. B. Epperly will work on motor parts.
Call on him if your jalopy won't start.
Judy Gordon, a smart little creature,
Will probably be a fussy school teacher.
Nancy Jo Robertson some day will be
A great stage actress, just wait and see.
He will study farming at V.P.I.
Jack Hatcher is the guy.
And here's our salesman Temple Moore
Going around from door to door.
A telephone operator Sara Clement will be
She will place calls over land and sea.
Since Bobby Stamback is such a dope
He'll probably be another Bob Hope.
Kenny Stump just came to town
As the world famous circus clown.
A missionary Mary Louise McNeace will be
She will teach the Bible from sea to sea.
Drucilla Vail, the girl with the smile,
Will be the first to walk down the aisle.
Jerry Smith the girl with the curly hair,
Will fly trapeze 'way up in the air.
Working for the Roanoke Times we'll find
Wayne Hylton printing the big headlines.
That fellow who is named James Kirk
Will soon become a soda jerk.
Billy Harris a jack of all trades
Will become something great one of these days.
Joyce Evans will thrill us with her ballet
She'll be the greatest dancer of her day.
Douglas Spradlin, that guy with class,
Will invent bombs that make big blasts.
Lorry Wimmer, an educated bum,
Will run around and have lots of fun.
Frances Webb, that cute little creature,
Will someday become a great voice teacher.
Charles Abbott, that bashful boy with the croon
Will someday make all the pretty girls swoon.
Stephen Sanders will never hide his face
For he'll be a driver in a hot-rod race.
Marie Boone will someday be
A cute little housewife, wait and see.
Melvin Henderlite will travel far
As the world famous baseball star.
J. B. Warden, that athletic creature,
Will someday be a physical ed. teacher.
The guy with his cute little smiles
Who else could it be but Benton Miles.

—Sara Clement

This is Billy Turman, Master of Ceremonies, speaking from the Starlight Room of The Waldorf Astoria. This is the Class Reunion of Room 20 from Lee Junior High School down in Roanoke, Virginia. We have many distinguished guests with us tonight. This is really going to be a gathering.

Looking around me first of all, I see Joan Fivel, an ambassador to Latin America. She always did get good grades in Latin. And there's Jean Anderson; I'm sure you've heard of her in Anne Brown's books, "Jean, Student Nurse," "Jean Graduate Nurse." We also have with us Cary Hancock who is running the "Get Your Man Charm School." Patsy Coleman is here with her family. She's making a career of homemaking. Diane Rivinus, the world famous ballet dancer will furnish us with some of the entertainment. The celebrated team, Mike Greer and Barbara Chapman will entertain you with "When You Say I Beg Your Pardon, Then I'll Come Back To You." Arvil Glovier couldn't be here, He's re-discovering the Panama Canal; found some miscalculations. Sue Fichtenger is attending, with her husband. They're automobile dealers. Punk Sale is over at my right demonstrating his famous "toe hold." Standing around him are Sue Harshbarger and Jane Walker, exclusive models for "Dynamite, that new magazine edited by no one but Billy Bryant.

Mary Sue Tinnell the famous inventor is here. Her latest discovery is a spot removed that removes anything from ink to lipstick. The menu today was planned by Jonell Glenn. She used to plan the menu for Mrs. Howard's history class. I see Quinn Miller. He came in his new Cadillac with the duals. Marvin Childress took time out to join us. He's appearing in the new musical "Judv." Please look at the matches in your hand. The beautiful designs were done by Mary Charles Hewett. She couldn't be here so she sent a carload of matches. Sammy Terry the millionaire playboy has just taken off for Atlantic City to judge the Miss America contest. If you want to see Fletcher Smith, you'll have to step outside. He's selling pencils in front of the hotel. Jackie Wylie is here in his uniform. He was just appointed Commissioner of Police of New York City.

Patricia Parrish found it impossible to leave her post as head of the English department at Lee Junior. Carolyn Burnette is here with her husband. They have been residing at Paris Island. Standing over by one of the tables I see Rozella Jewell, president of the International Teacher's Association. If you just look up a little way you can see Richard Kepley. He is working with the circus, but I'm not sure just what he does. Martha Caldwell couldn't be here because she is in Japan at the present time as a foreign correspondent. Patti Jones came with some of her clients. She runs an old ladies home. James Kincaid who has been studying under Mario is here. Bobby Deyerle, and June Mitchell are discussing the good old days at Lee. And of course Wilma Britt is here. Wilma is hair stylist for the Colossal Stores. That's about it Mr. and Mrs. Listener. I've given you a play by play description of the reunion. But don't go away, stay tuned for David Holt and the news. Just one minute, here comes Bee Ring. I see she left her cart and broom outside. She's doing some odd jobs while dabbling at script writing. In fact she wrote the script for our program today.

—Bee Ring

Hello everyone. This is station WLEE in Roanoke, Virginia bringing you one of the world's most famous television shows. Today since Bobby Chapman, the regular announcer is on his vacation in California, Jane Fleenor will take his place and introduce to you some of the famous people who are here.

Today we have with us that great athlete who has won the olimpic games for years, Miss Sandra Barksdale. And now a word from our sponsor, James Carbaugh. "Helloooo, you all. How's your stomach? How's your feet? Do you feel woosy when you eat? If you want a cure for all your ills, take a dose of cure-all-pills!!!"

Now back to the announcer. Some more people we have are Mr. Glenn Hollins and Miss Loretta Vest from the stage. They are now co-starring in "Quo Vadis." They will perform for us after while. We also have a quartet composed of Ira Crawford, Frances Shaver, Frankie Wilhelm, and Danny Briggs, and opera singer, Phyllis Landsdown, and two won-der-ful trumpet players, James Murray and Edward Wright. Now we have two ice skaters with us. They are none other than Lawrence Griffin and Sihrley Bowles. Wonderful aren't they?

We are very, very honored to have the President of the United States—the first woman president of the world—Miss President Janis Slusher and her vice president Miss Kathleen Hall. Yes sir we are very, very honored. And now to a comical act with two clowns Doloris Hundley and Alice Wirt. If you hurt from laughing take Cure-All-Pills. I hate to say this but we have the Chief of Police with us (off duty of course). This is also one of the first women to ever hold this office, Chief Norma Boothe. Now to a much gayer scene, a dancer and pianist, James Poe and Louise Gusler. Good aren't they? We are also honored to have with us two famous people, Miss Sandra Patsel, who is president of Norfolk and Western Railroad in Roanoke and Mr. Robert Marsh, president of V.P.I. Yes, Sir we are delighted indeed. Here's one of our most beautiful models, Miss Janette McDonald. I'm sorry we can't watch her every day, but we have a tumbling act next with Barbara McDaniel and Joyce Wilkerson. Don't we all wish we could do that??? And here's a well known person all over the world, Edward Thornhill with all of his magic tricks. I bet you don't know how those are done. Frankly neither do I. Since you are in such a laughing mood, we shall have next a comedian, Maurice Prillaman. Next is Mrs. Fred Astaire, she used to be Miss Phyllis Ramsey. We have picked out of the audience two most attractive girls. They are Miss Joan Wallace, an artist, and Miss Mary F. Paxton. I just wanted to prove that we have pretty girls right here at home.

Last but not least we have the president of the First National Exchange bank here in Roanoke, Mr. Clyde Collie. And now signing off for Cure-All-Pills, this is your roving reporter, Jane Fleenor, substituting for Bobby Chapman. Tune in the same time, same station next year.

—Jane Fleenor.

ROOM 28 LEE JR.

March 10, 1966

Dear Diane,

I enjoyed your letter so much and am hurrying to give you the latest news on room 27.

Of course you know that John Howard is Governor of Virginia. The whole country is in an uproar over the television arguments between him and David Lawson on whether Einstein's Theory of Relativity has a sound base, whether Helen of Troy was a man or woman, and whether a citizen is on his honor to report himself after committing a murder.

Shirley Jordan is the editor of "True Confessions and is very happy over the immense number of contributions that pour in every day. (Please don't breathe a word of it, but it is rumored that David Glendy is the main contributor.)

Oh! Did you know Jean Davis just gave a huge party at her Rockingchair Ranch? I went out on the Santa Fe Train enannerred by Billy Bilbro. One of the stewardesses was Joann Medley. I looked out the window and saw Kenneth Bruffy tramping along the tracks, doing what he always wanted to do - being a hobo. As I arrived at the station, or rather cross roads, Jean came galloping up. She got a rattle trap taxi driven by none other than Bobby Cunningham to carry my bags out. Jean gave me a newspaper "The Rock Bridge Sun" edited by Donna Kinser and as I turned through it I saw illustrations of Red Clay, Jean's horseshow winner by Jeanette Fuller and Mary Ellen Aird. There were also some fashion designs by Connie Newman and the announcement of Mollie Sue's wedding to Gregory Peck. You know, Patty Huff is her maid now. Sylvia Fulwider's dress shop is opening soon with Jo Phelps as her model. Did you know that Christine Sowers is opening in the lead of "Swan Lake"?

By then it was almost time for dinner and I had to unpack. The dinner was planned by the caterer, Betsy Stephenson. She should be congratulated. Anyway, the dinner was superb. Afterwards we saw stunts. Charles Satchwell, Sue Mills and Jean Carbaugh sang. Do you know what they are doing now?

As I left the house to go to the riding ring I saw a sign, signed by Kenneth Gibson, on keeping our forests green. Also an advertisement for a wrestling match which Neil Young is prefeatured by Virginia Meeks and Shirley Staples. The next morning Joe Wilkerson drove us out to the matches. They were so rough they had to call an ambulance and one of the nurses was Peggy Outland, no less! I also saw Peggy Mays and Pat Murphy there on their way to teaching school in California.

I had my bags in the truck so I just went on over to the station. A little while later I found I had left my pocket book back at the gym so I called them up. When I picked up the phone, who but Grace Harmon gave a polite and cheerful, "Good morning. Number please." I got it back and left for New York where I am showing some of my latest designs.

Aren't you doing a lot of commercial art for magazines now? I have seen several of your things, I believe.

Write soon.

Love ya,
Fenton
