1955-1956

DEAREST SUSAN,

I HATE TO BARGE IN ON PERCY'S TERRITORY,
BUT, I JUST CAN'T BEAR TO STAND BY, AND SEE YOU
TAKEN FROM ME. I'VE NEVER TOLD ANYONE THIS BEFORE, ESPECIALLY A GIRL, BUT IN THROWING MY ^{SENSE OF} PRIDE AWAY, AND TELLING YOU THIS. WELL, SPACE IS RUNNING OUT, SO I MUST CLOSE.

lovingly,
Acha bald

To Susan:
Susan, my friend
I will remember to the end
you remind me of flowers
And April showers
Nothing will part us not
I even the stars
I laugh the miles lie between us, between Terra and Mass.
WOW!

Foreword

Virginia---Mother of States---Mother of Presidents

Our heritage as Virginians is indeed rich.

In an attempt to pay tribute to our state and the men and women who have contributed to its greatness, the staff has chosen Colonial Virginia scenes as division pages. Nowhere else may be found more impressive landmarks of the building of a nation. These landmarks serve as inspiration for social, economic, and political progress in Virginia today.

Dedication

We the class of 1956, in appreciation of her willing and interested co-operation, and her enthusiastic contributions of time and talent, dedicate this edition of the General to Mrs. Ada Deacon, a continual source of inspiration and encouragement to all.

CLASS POEM

How do we remember Lee?
Let us count the ways
As we recall the little things
That filled the happy days.

The fun we've had at dances,
The programs we have had,
The teams we've been so proud of,
Our multitude of fads.

Though each had his own place in school,
We feel that we are one,
So as a group we'd like to say,
"Thank you-It's been fun."

Last Will And Testament

1. To Mrs. Francis the Student Council leaves a Lee pencil and pin, a ticket to "Rip Van Winkle", and a room full of eager youths who are more capable of carrying out those helpful but un-earthly projects.
2. To Miss Cox and the Annual Staff we leave a self-arranging annual which requires no work whatsoever.
3. To Mr. Taylor we leave a staff of columnists who will publish on-time, up-to-date, and readable newspapers.
4. "Squirrel", "Knub", "Melvin Mole", "Cacky", "Shrub", "Mac and Mo", and "Wheat-Knee" leave their fitting nick-names to the teachers who had to decipher them from tests, blackboards, and school chit-chat.
5. To Mrs. Baird we leave a "mood of motivation" that she will need to pour those lovely Latin lessons into the willing but feeble minds of next year's class.
6. To Mr. Gagnet we leave our notebooks full of incomplete assignments and the tests we loved so well but failed so often.
7. To Mrs. Dillard we leave a choir that has finished its homework and is ready to sing.
8. To the faculty we leave a short but well-earned vacation to recuperate from everything from a riot to an epidemic of measles.

ARTICLE II

1. George Cartledge, Rob Quarles, and Buddy Saunders leave their love for cars to Tommy Fox, Bobby Churchill, and Bob Argabright and we hope they won't bore their gals with engine talk.
2. The class of '56 leaves to next year's sports fans the trophies that were won this year and hope that they can do as well.
3. Bitty leaves her cherub smile to the next innocent deceiver.
4. Gayle Oakey doesn't leave anything to anybody 'cuz she wants it all.
5. Johnny Ewart leaves his sexy eyes to Andy Clingenpeel so he can charm such cute girls as those in Johnny's harem.
6. Robert Taylor leaves "Taylor's Boogie" to next year's pianist in hopes that he can play it.
7. Melinda Hiscox leaves her fickle heart to Gwen Coleman.
8. Lisa Glendy leaves her inexhaustable wit to Brenda Becker.

I am looking forward to another pleasant year with you. Sincerely, Dorothy Dillard.

Dear Susan, *
 I have enjoyed being
 in your room this year.
 Thank you for being my mailman and passing notes
 without charge. My one desire has always been to go to the moon and I am counting on you to get me there. Good luck in the future. Don't read the library books too hard or they will wear out. They're supposed to last forever. The library doesn't buy new ones.
 Happy star gazing.
