Patrick Henry High School

Music. Music is one of the most diverse elements ranging from all aspects of sounds and origins.

It combines different sounds with beats and rhythms and derives itself from many cultures and backgrounds.

Music is influential. Music is definitive, fun and motivational.

Music is diverse and so is Patrick Henry.

The aspects that create Music are also those that define the true meaning of the spirit of Patrick Henry High School.

“With the diverse individuals among PH, all the students came together to show love for our country.” -Kim Salyers

On September 11, 2001, our country was rudely awakened by acts of terrorism. The Patrick Henry community felt they should express their patriotism; the Friday after the attacks was officially named “Red, White, and Blue Day.” The students and teachers decorated their cars in American Spirit, and wore ribbons provided by the Student Government. Also, to help out, some of the school’s clubs sold carnations, collected change for the “Change Challenge,” and requested relief items. The proceeds were all sent to disaster-struck areas. The carnations were placed around the flag pole and the “Change Challenge” held by the SGA was a contest between each grade to see who could raise the most money. The Junior class succeeded in winning the most money and won a dance just for their class. If there is one thing that’s true, it’s that PH isn’t short on American Pride

On The Clock

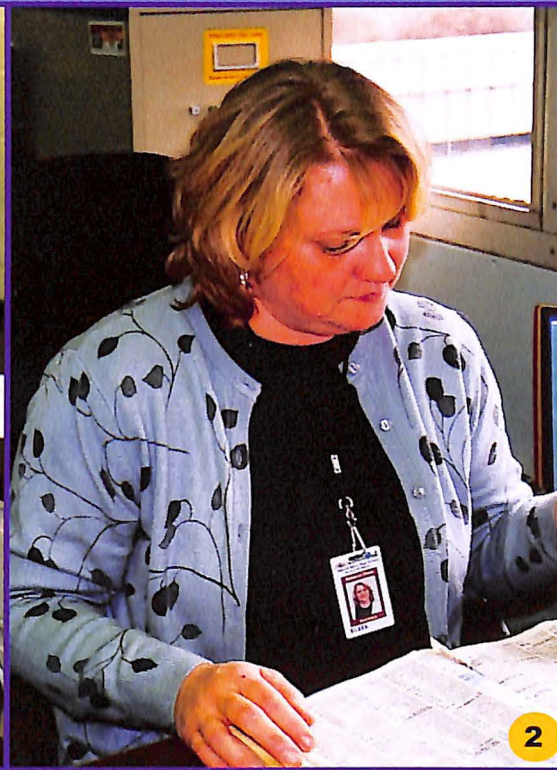

Thanks, We Appreciate You

This year's 2001-02 yearbook is dedicated to the secretaries of Patrick Henry High School for all of their hard work.

The secretaries perform many important duties, but their deeds are often done behind the scenes. These women reside in every hall and work hard to keep the school together. Many people overlook their importance and take for granted everything they do for Patrick Henry. They are the eyes and ears of this school and, of course, they are the only ones that can write a pass to leave campus!

The teachers, faculty and students cannot thank these ladies enough for their hard work and dedication. They do so much for this school and most of the time go unthanked. To all the secretaries here at Patrick Henry, this is for you.

Thank You. We appreciate you.

Smells Like Teen Spirit

The week leading up to homecoming, the students showed their Patriot pride by dressing up for different spirit days. As junior Jenna Shaver recalls, "This year was the first year my friends, and I went all out for class color day, and it was awesome!"

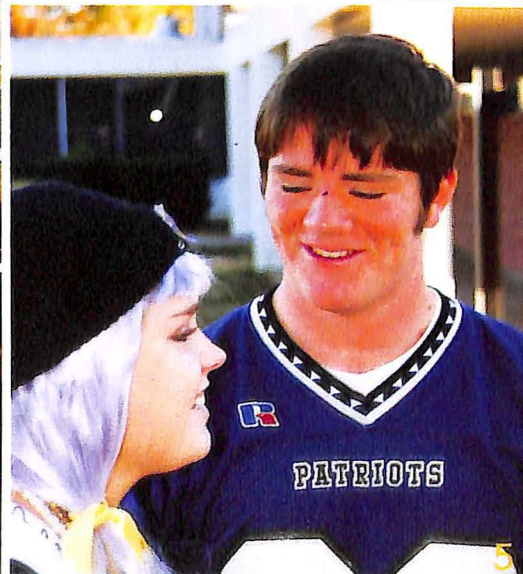

Monday was comfy day. Students hopped right out of bed and came to school. Most students wore pajama pants and some even wore slippers.

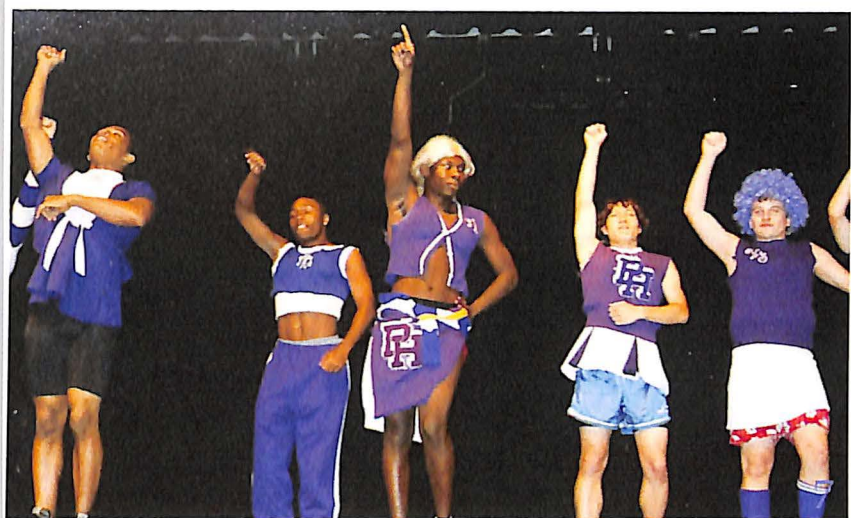

Wednesday, class color day, freshmen wore green, sophomores were in red, juniors in blue, and seniors in black. The majority of the school participated in this day. Some students wore matching outfits. One of the most popular ways to dress for class color day this year was in a self-made shirt with the graduation year painted on.

Thursday, pop star day, students dressed as their favorite pop star and listened to pop music while eating in the cafeteria. A lot of people dressed up and went all out.

Friday was school spirit day. Students were decked out in purple, yellow and white. Almost everyone wore school colors to show their Patriot pride. Students sported everything from purple tights to yellow hair dye.

The Patrick Henry homecoming game was one of the most exciting ever. After a series of losses, the football team pulled off a victory. Patrick Henry got a safety and kicked a field goal late in the game to win by a score of 17-12.

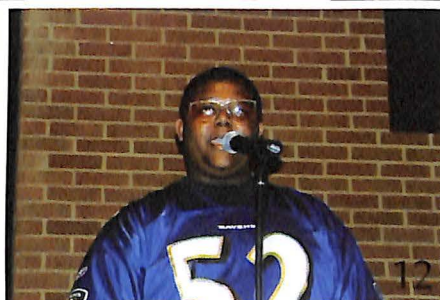

We've got spirit,
yes we do ...
We've got spirit
how about you?

“Seniors showed their school spirit more than ever on class color day.”
~Dixie Hamm

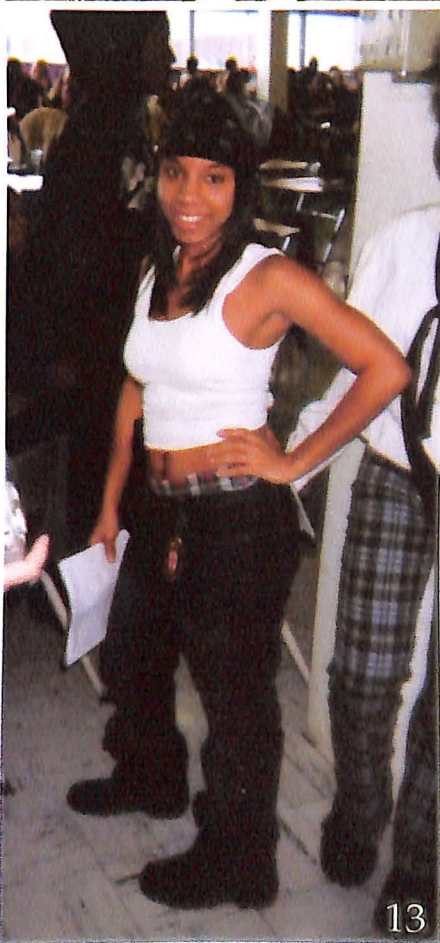

“Comfy Day was the best, because I got to wear my pajamas.”
~Chelsea Settles

“I showed my school spirit by wearing all black on Class Color Day. I did my duty as a proud Patriot.”
~Kevin Wilson

“I liked Comfy Day, because we got to wear bedroom slippers.”
~Rhonda Clements

~Rotesha Stevens

“Pop Star Day was my favorite, because they played music in the cafeteria during lunches.”
~Corey Muse

2. April Brubaker takes a minute out of her day to vote for homecoming king and queen.
3. The senior girls get pumped for the big game at the pep rally.
4. Janelle Hannan and Nikki Crowder dance in front of the stage as the crowd enters for the pep rally.
5. Derek Webb and Kate McKnight talk about the big game.
6. Dara Siv shows her musical side as she dresses like Alicia Keys for Pop Star Day.

7. The senior guys perfect their cheers before the big game during the pep rally.
8. Tanner Hall jams on the bass at the bonfire.
9. Many students got their face painted in the cafeteria by SGA.
10. Fredy Wright and Brittany Maxey bring the disco days back on Pop Star Day.
11. Here come the seniors! The seniors cruise through the parade.

After a thrilling victory over Halifax during PH's 20 Homecoming game, Patriots celebrated "Viva Las Vegas" style at the dance. The Student Government Association decorated the cafeteria with lights, balloons and glittering posters. "Homecoming was memorable because it was our senior year and all of the events that night just added to the excitement of homecoming," Bernetta McGuire said.

Some Patriots were just thankful to be admitted to the dance. "I remembered my dress shoes this year, so it was definitely better than last year when I couldn't get in because I was wearing tennis shoes," Jacob Moen said.

When the clock struck 10, it was time for the Homecoming court to be presented. It was an exciting time for everyone, as the court basked in the spotlight. One member of the court, Freshman Cory Muse said, "It was exciting to be a Freshman on the Homecoming court." The Homecoming dance proved to be a fun-filled night for all Patriots to enjoy.

The crowd gets hoppin' Vegas Style in the cafeteria for the Homecoming Dance.

Friday Football

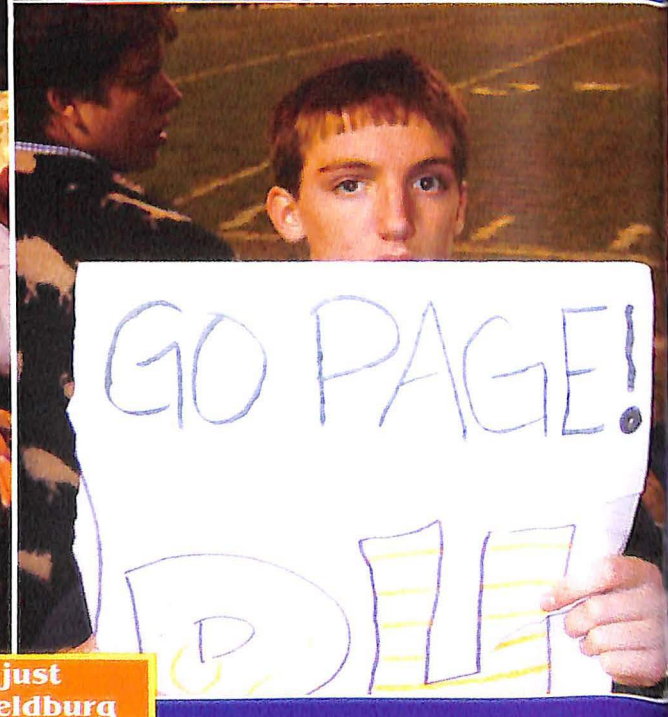

"It's freezing." "Who cares?!" yells Will Morrissett as he flashes the purple "P" on his chest. His sidekick "H" is off cheering for the team. The 2001 football season was immensely supported by the student body. Decked out in purple wigs, gold glitter, hair spray and school colors to complete ensembles, PH students rocked Victory Stadium with spirit. Before the game, students gathered outside the stadium to lather themselves in purple and gold. They warmed up their vocal chords and prepared chants, ready to jump into the excitement. The "chicken on a stick" graced the game with his presence and cheerleaders pumped up the crowd with great new cheers. All in all, this year was a blast of energy, and Friday nights mixed friends with fun. Furthermore, freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors all rallied and came together to form an intimidating crowd. Fridays at PH were anticipated by all students because it was Spirit Day. The students displayed school colors and worked themselves into a frenzy waiting for the game. The school day was filled with purple and gold, and pep rallies drew students to maximum energy in the afternoons.

Class of 2002

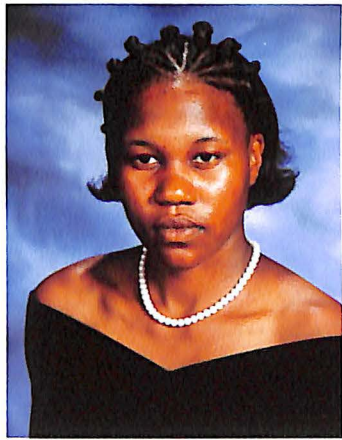

Senior year finally came. The year that is four years in waiting, and when it finally comes, it's completely worth the wait. There's no one older to be bossy. The best parking on campus is available, and at 2:30, it's off to the parking lot. It's the year when decisions are made about futures, whether it be college or a job. Senior T-Shirts are worn and the Senior cheers can be heard at all sporting events. It's the last chance to be together with close friends and look back at the long journey that it has taken to the present.

We Be Clubbin'

SGA and Clubs

They are the people behind the scenes getting the dirty work around the campus done. The SGA works on everything from pep rallies to Homecoming events. They decorate for dances, plan spirit week, participate in Fundraisers and help get the Freshmen settled for their first year.

The SGA members get up early to meet before school; they are truly dedicated. The SGA is led by teacher representative Kathy Duncan and student body president Jessica Taylor. They are helped by Vice President Mary Roberts, Secretary Kate Herbert, Treasurer Laura Hiles and the rest of the SGA members.

Although SGA seems like fun and games, the members work hard on keeping the school functional and enjoyable. SGA members volunteer every nine weeks at various places. Without the SGA, PH wouldn't be the same. Every Patriot should be thankful for all of the hard work the SGA puts in to keep the PH experience more than enjoyable. Thanks, SGA!

America, The Beautiful

AFJROTC

Led by Lieutenant Colonel. Matt Johnston, Captain Noah Hicks, Major Victoria Cross and Captain Derrick Artis, the ROTC is a citizenship and leadership course offered at Patrick Henry High School. This is a class for those who are interested in the military, and while at the time, want to earn rank. Not only did these hard working students present the colors for all of the home football and basketball games, but they also take trips to VMI and Kitty Hawk during their busy year. The ROTC also participated in activities in the PHHS community. Known for their discipline, hard work and contributions to the community, the ROTC students are going nowhere but up.

The Leaders of the ROTC

Major: Victoria Cross

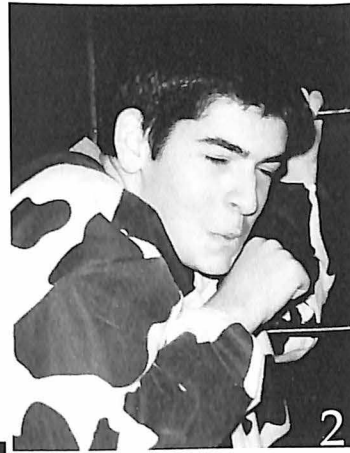

1. Members of the ROTC present the colors during the National Anthem. 2. Zach Wade and other ROTC members get ready to present the colors at the three month anniversary ceremony of the September 11 attack. 3. These ROTC gentlemen take a moment in the sunshine. From left to right: Junior CJ Hobart, junior Justin Leftwich, junior Shannon Robinson, junior Andy Tran and sophomore Richard Murphy. 4. At a class assembly, the ROTC color guard portrays some true patriotism. 5. The U.S. Air Force brought a flight simulator to the PH campus for the ROTC and other students to experiment with during the school day. 6. During a special three-month anniversary ceremony to commemorate the 9-11 attack, the ROTC stands proud.

We Got the Beat

A high school without a yearbook would be a high school without memories. The yearbook staff is dedicated to creating a new and different book each year. Being a part of the photojournalism class gives students a unique opportunity to work in a business-like environment, producing a product.

Creating a yearbook is a long and involved process that takes dedication and patience to complete. Students must sell ads, take and gather photos, write captions and scripts. They can all be very trying jobs, but in the end everything always works out. With a low budget, the staff spends a great deal of time selling ads, yearbooks, and finding other ways to raise money. This year the staff made over $5,000 in ad sales alone; all in order to make a better book.

This year the staff was under the strong leadership of Kate Herbert. Thanks, especially to Kate Herbert, Claire Willis, Lauren Woody, Meghan Chudina, Lauren Kelly and John Barrett, the book has once again been a huge success.

NEED STATESMAN high school without a yearbook would be a high school without memories. The yearbook staff is dedicated to creating a new and different book each year. STATESMAN a part of the photojournalism class gives students a unique opportunity to work in a businesslike environment, producing a product.

Creating a yearbook is a long and involved process that takes dedication to complete. Students must sell ads, take and gather photos, write captions and scripts. They can all be very trying jobs, but in the end everything always works out. With a low budget, the staff spends a great deal of time selling ads, yearbooks, and finding other ways to raise money. This year the staff made over $5,000 in ad sales alone; all in order to make a better book.

This year the staff was under the strong leadership of Kate Herbert. Thanks, especially to Kate, Claire Willis, Lauren Woody, Lauren Kelly and John Barrett, the book has once again been a huge success.

Patriots march to their own beat

The band works hard to provide music around the PH campus. They share their sounds at pep rallies and football games. They spend hours practicing and have won many awards that prove that they are talented musicians. If there is one group on Campus that displays Patriot Pride, the PH band truly does!

Summer Morris shows that she can play the trumpet just as well as the next guy. "Yeah, Daniel Kessler likes to think he's better than me. He lets his ego get the best of him."

A few members of the color guard share smiles and lasting memories.

Now that is one happy drummer! Doug Scott flashes a quick smile.

PUMP UP THE JAM

JV Cheerleader Lindsey Brown leads the squad through a flawless routine.

This year Patriot spirit went through the roof!

Patriots crammed into Clara Black for the first time this year to share cheers, laughter and lots of spirit. The varsity and junior varsity cheerleading squads, an amazing step team and, of course, the female football players and the male cheerleaders performed for the ecstatic crowd.

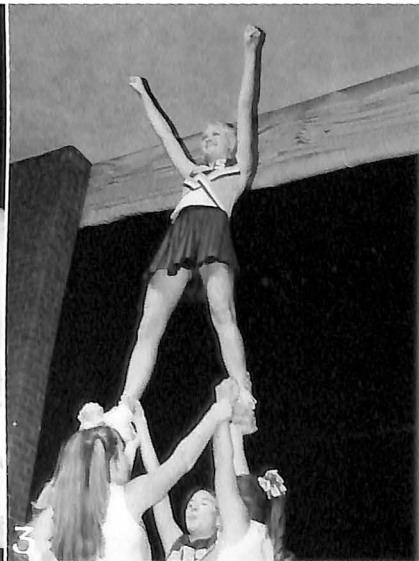

Football players Claire Haynie, Meghan Chudina and Rotisha Stevens show their moves.

Male cheerleaders Tony Woodson and Will Morrisett get down with the female cheerleaders at the Homecoming pep rally.

"Joy to the World"

1. Rodney Wright and Christopher Stump perform at Jackson Middle School.
2. Carolyn Wynne looks surprised when someone is flat!
3. Dawn King and Samantha Wheeler sing their hearts out in the gym at the Snow Ball pep rally.
4. Christopher Stump gives the camera a smile while at the State Choir Competition. He made the All Virginia Chorus in April.
5. Elizabeth Huffman and Christopher Stump smile for the camera at the District Choir Competition.
6. Jessica Baine and Matt Hogan party in the Choir room after some hard vocal practicing.

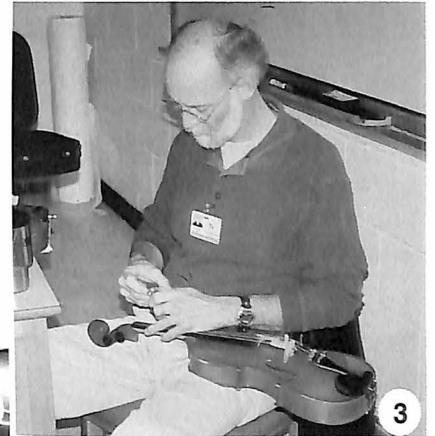

The PH Choir has again done an outstanding job. They gave it their all when they traveled to Martinsville to audition for districts in November. In February, the choir made it to districts at Cave Spring High School. In April, junior Christopher Stump made it to the state competition. During the holidays, the choir performed at Tanglewood Mall.

The choir also traveled to Jackson Middle School and Pheasant Ridge to perform. In the spring they sang at Monterey Elementary School and again at Pheasant Ridge. The choir has a busy schedule but they work hard to put meaning and emotion into each song that they sing.

Hadley Adkins plays a lovely melody on the flute. 7. Elizabeth Wetherington leads the second violin section to musical glory.

At 7:30 in the morning, while most students are still snoozing, dedicated members of the PH orchestra gather in Clara Black to pursue their musical dreams. The 2001-02 school year has been one of the most productive years in PH orchestra history. The leading musicians, from the senior class, Gray Huffman, Christine Hitchins, Emily Andree, Trevor McClure, Charley Nottingham, Honor Bowman, Hadley Adkins and Amy Rhodes have been exceptional leaders in the orchestra this year. The orchestra went on to receive a perfect score in the Regional Orchestra Competition. Rock on PH!

Crafts, Drawing, Ceramics, Studio

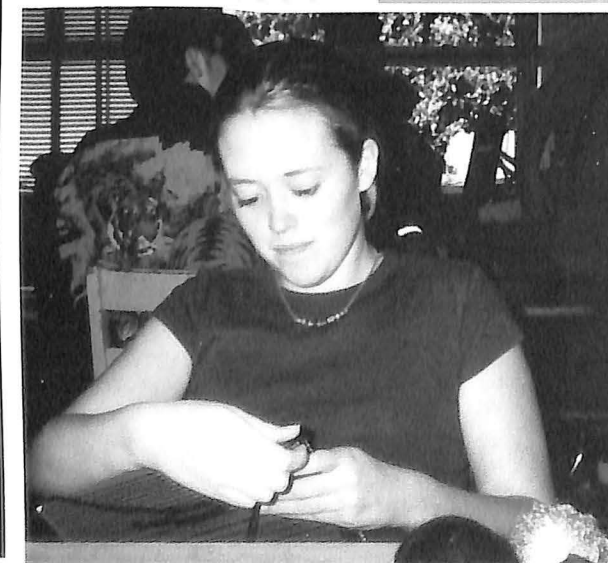

Each day in the bottom of Persinger Hall, eager art students are busy at work on a number of creative projects. These classes include drawing, basic art, painting, crafts and ceramics. Each class offers a different and exciting aspect of the art world, which helps students improve and perfect their work.

Art Department Chairman Fletcher Nichols teaches students the finer points of drawing. For the most motivated art students, he offers a highly challenging studio art class. For Richard Moon's ceramics classes, students get a chance to use their hands and build projects using clay. Sindi Jones teaches an introduction to basic art, painting or drawing, which become highly developed skills by the end of the class.

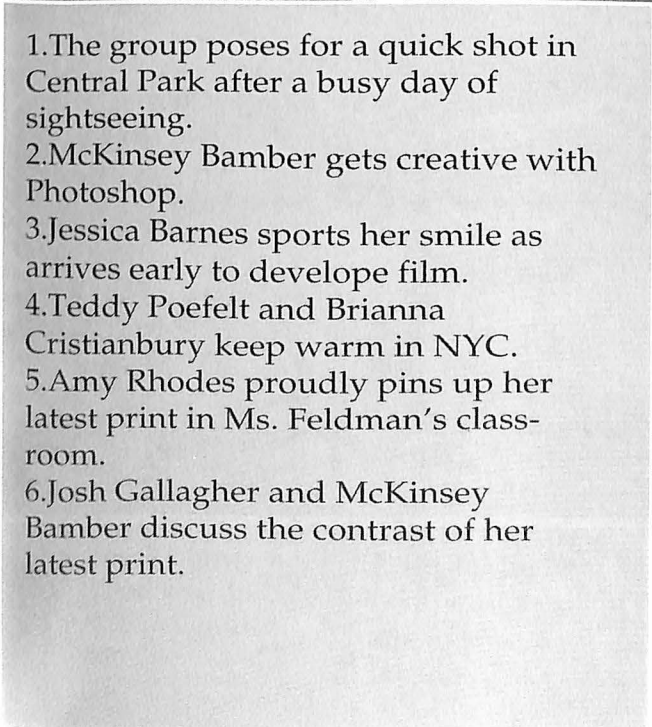

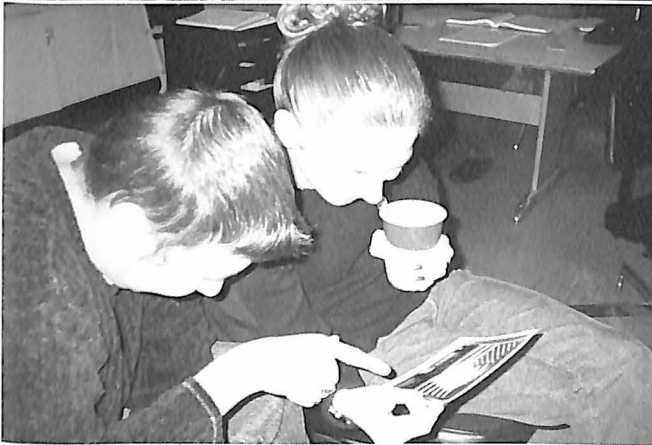

As well as being displayed every day outside of the art classrooms, students get to participate in the annual PH art show. The event shows art students' best work and exhibits the highest level of creativity. With hundreds of pieces being displayed, the show is a popular community event. The many talented artists of Patrick Henry are continually helping the art program to grow and develop.

5. Amy Rhodes proudly pins up her latest print in Ms. Feldman's classroom.
6. Josh Gallagher and McKinsey Bamber discuss the contrast of her latest print.

Photography classes at Patrick Henry are by far some of the most exciting. Everyday students produce new and different photographs. Photography teacher, Pam Feldman, assigns her students interesting and fun projects. This year students have enjoyed working with Adobe Photoshop, a computer program that allows students to manipulate their photographs and create new images. Some of this year's beginning photography projects include a small space, a portrait and height photographs. The advanced class has produced a CD cover, a fantasy environment, a hand colored photograph as well as many others. But this class is not all work and play. The photography classes, along with theater, took their annual trip to New York City during March. While in the Big Apple, students saw three Broadway plays and visited countless museums. On top of all this, they took numerous pictures and had tons of fun. The photography students' talent and dedication has definitely paid off. This year eleven photographs from our school were accepted into the city art show at the Jefferson Center!

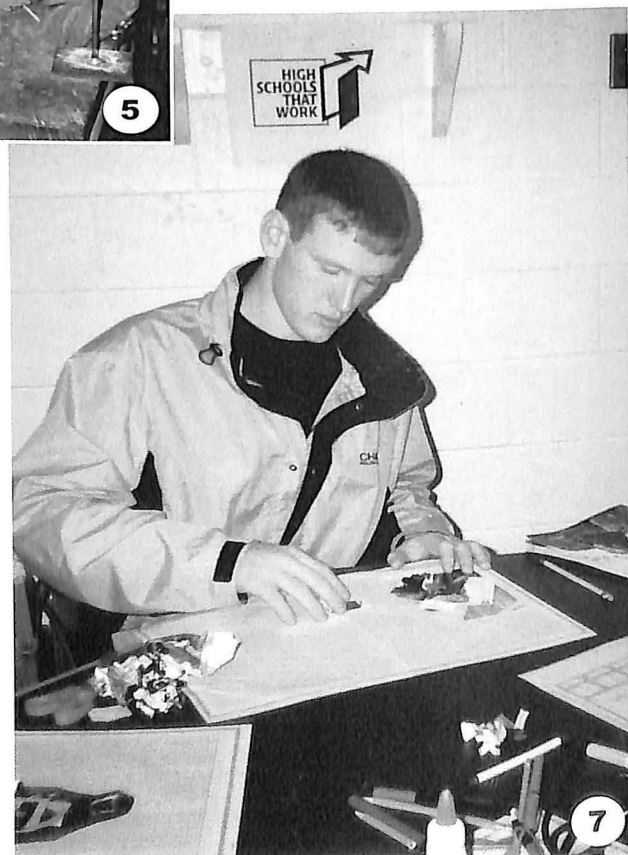

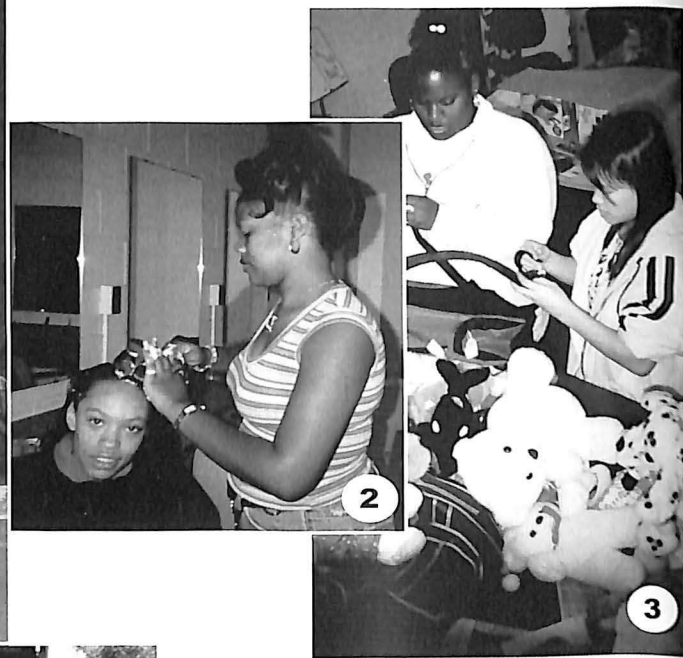

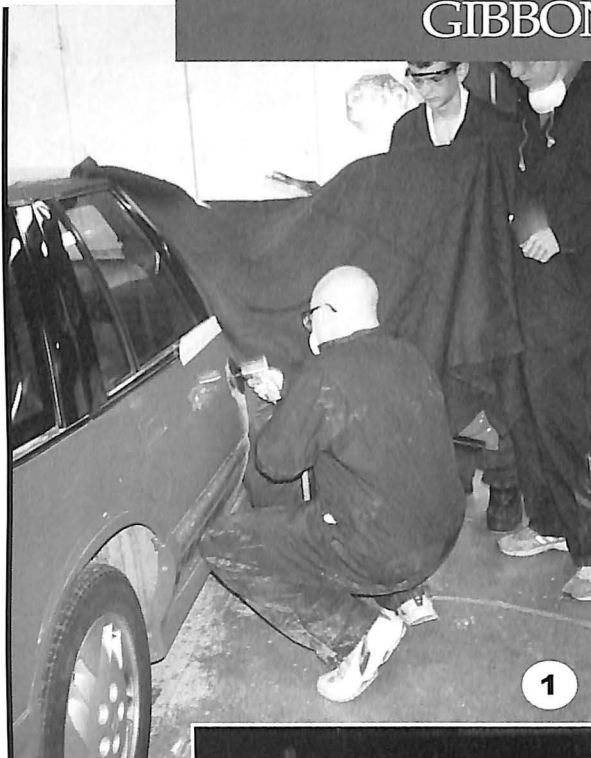

Workin' Hard For The Money

Throughout the school, Gibboney Hall is known for the great diversity in the classes that it offers. Many think that this hall does a great job in preparing students for the "real world."

Classes include auto body (1); auto mechanics; welding (5, 8); marketing; photo-journalism or yearbook (3, 6, 7); construction; graphics; health occupations; cosmetology (2, 4); Jobs for Virginia Graduates and computer animation.

"It's the best class [computer animation] ever," Brent Sowers said. Using real-world software 3D Studio Max prepares students for college and the working world.

CENTER for HUMANITIES

The Center for The Humanities, a combination class of history and English, offers eager students a challenging and unique learning experience. To be admitted into the Center, students wishing to enroll must first complete an application process and then be accepted by the teaching staff and the program director, Dave Flanagan. Since the Center began in 1990, it has grown in popularity and achieved national recognition. The unique atmosphere prepares students with valuable skills for college and later in life.

Students from ninth through eleventh grades are eligible to participate in the Center for the Humanities. Beginning in the ninth grade, Scott Dreyer and Alitia McClure instruct the freshmen in non-western civilizations.

The tenth and eleventh grades have taken a different approach this year.

The teaching style has gone from teaming as at ninth level, to vertical teaming in the tenth and eleventh grades.

Vertical teaming allows the students to have the same four teachers for two years. Scott Crawford and Dave Flanagan enlighten the sophomores about western civilizations, while also teaching the juniors about American history. In addition to the change in teaching style, two new members have been added to the Center staff.

John Murray and Joan Smith head up the English half of the vertical teaming, informing the tenth graders about western writings as well as familiarizing the eleventh graders with American literature.

Overall both the students and teachers enjoy the challenging and exciting course that prepares students for their future.

Downtown learning environment, guest speakers and more than 60 highly motivated seniors from Patrick Henry and William Fleming spell what? CITY School of course.

CITY School is a program offered to high school seniors from Patrick Henry and William Fleming that uses guest speakers and different learning techniques as a means of teaching. After going out to lunch, students enter the building at 12:30 to experience an alternative to typical English and history courses. CITY School's techniques must be working, because more than 60 students were selected to enroll in the English and Government program this year. The students also travel to Richmond and New York City.

The students of CITY School can also be identified by the silhouettes posted on the windows in spring. As spring arrives, graduation is coming up soon which leaves the students anxious to end their high school career.

Closing ceremonies for CITY school will be held at Mill Mountain Theater.

CARPE DIEM

Governor's School selects few students to excel in demanding math and science classes. Even though this program requires students to be self-motivated and dedicated, the students who attend Gov School feel that it's worth the effort in the end.

Senior, Ryan Schlueter said, "The classes that I'm taking this year are difficult, but I know that they will prepare me well for college in the fall."

Gray Huffman said, "I learned that with a hotplate, some distilled water and a little TLC you can whip up a bowl of Uncle Ben's Instant Rice in no time, thanks Gov. School."

“Yes I can!” -Coach Johnson

The Patriots hit it hard at the beginning of their season with three practices a day. Over the summer they prepared for a winning return as the Roanoke Valley District Champions, which has now become the Western Valley District. With an outcome of more than 80 players, the Patriots looked and felt strong. The coaching staff of the Patriots were very happy with the outcome and they were very excited with what they were seeing.

In the scrimmages over the summer, such as the James River Jamboree, the Patriots started their season strong with some outstanding offensive and defensive plays. The team has worked hard and spent a lot of time in the weight room building their strength for the season. Being the returning champions, the Patriots received a lot of pressure and challenges from their opposing teams.

“Yes I can!” shouts coach Johnson encouraging his players. That phrase is what coach Johnson tells his players at almost every practice and even before games, making sure that they stay focused and concentrated on winning and bringing success in the upcoming season.

It was obvious that the team was highly optimistic and it became a reality during the PH v. Halifax Homecoming Game. The team came through at the end and stole the big win from right underneath them. The team finished with a great season and are getting pumped for next year.

The JV Volleyball team had a great season this year. Headed by returning Coach Sink, the team worked vigorously to win. The team was led by sophomore captains Danielle Petrosky and Stacey Parrish. With the hard work and determination, the Patriots earned a record of four wins and six losses. The PH team posted huge victories over G.W Danville, PH of Ashland and E.C Glass. Sarah Jordan, Danielle Petrosky and Stacey Parrish were key assets to the team. Even though the JV Volleyball's record was far from perfect, they improved a great deal and had a good season.

It all began at camp. The Lady Patriots packed their bags and headed for JMU for week long practices and little rest. It was here that the team began their journey together. They became more than just teammates, but friends. Rebecca Sweeney said, "I'm glad that I am on the team because of all the friends that I have made. It is fun to have moved up from JV." After camp ended, practice began and the team started their regular season. It was always obvious when it was game day because the girls could be seen wearing purple and white striped socks and hand painted t-shirts sporting their team number. The bus ride to away games consisted of singing famous Disney tunes or chanting the "If you want to be a Patriot" cheer. The Varsity Volleyball team had a lot of fun with a very successful season.

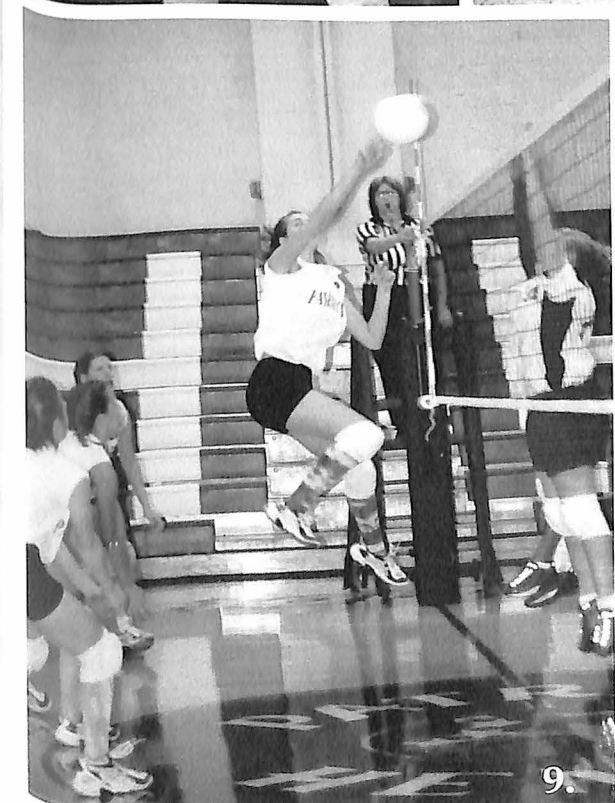

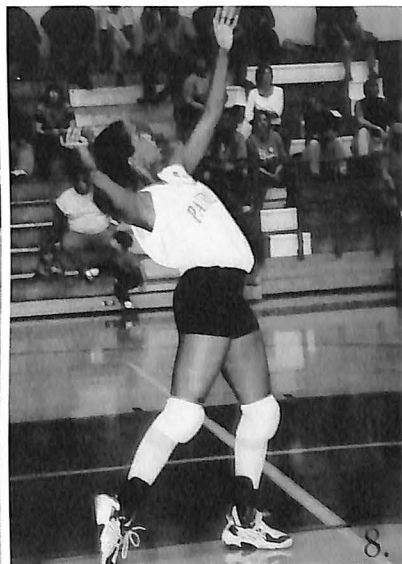

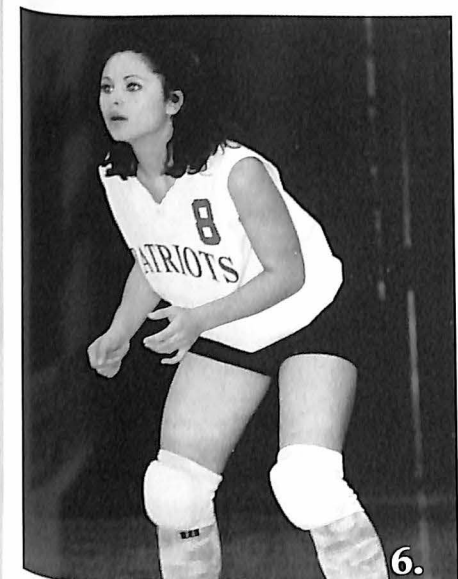

The team had to say goodbye to some very valuable senior players at the end of their season. Each senior member of the team walked away from the experience with something on the team three out of her four years of high school said, "Volleyball has taught me that you have to work together in order to be successful." Seniors also have a lot to think about during this critical time in their lives. "Once you become a senior, you have to choose what sport you want to pursue in college. The golf season started out with a swing. The Patrick Henry golf team, led by coach Wade Whitehead, was third in the district. As the season progressed scores continued to lower and after a lot of hard work and practice, the team pulled it together and placed third in McClelland Metro Tournament. Junior Barry Wirt also gave an impressive performance at the McClelland Metro and placed second. The team was very pleased with their successful season and cannot wait to get back on the course next year!

Varsity Wrestling

The wrestling team had an incredible year. It started with a bang with the team led by Jonathan Counts and Jonathan Katz. Jonathan Katz overpowered his competition in the first meets of the season. The team has come far in the past few years from losing by more than 100 points to Franklin County, to coming within one match this year.

The entire team fared well at the district meet and qualified for the regional meet. A few seniors had incredible seasons this year including Chris Cotton, who placed second in the Western Valley District, 4th in the Northwest

Region, and 8th in the AAA state meet. Jonathan Katz also did very well with a first place district medal and 6th in the North West Region. Tony Woodson placed first place in the Western Valley District, 3rd place in the North West Region, and qualified for the State meet. The wrestling team is losing many good seniors but they have a great group of underclassmen ready to take their place next year. Including the team's top wrestler Cecil Coleman who placed 1st in the Western Valley District, 2nd in the North West Region and 3rd in the AAA state meet.

Swimming

This year's swim team was filled with excitement and many Patriot victories. Through hard work at practice, the girl's swim team once again dominated the district, completing an undefeated season for the fourth year in a row. Though it is always difficult to live up to the girl's amazing accomplishments, the boys put forth another great effort, placing third in the district.

Captain Laura Graninger reflects on her last awesome to end my senior year with another qualified for the State meet on the girl's side

Regional participants who also included Lindsay Hock, Claire Dickey, Lauren Woody, Nancy Woody and with a third place at the regional competition. They relay team of Dickey, Hock, McGuire and Woodall; southwest Virginia. Those four girls also made finals

After losing a big senior class, the boys proved that they were just as capable, finishing the season with a six-and-three record. As with the girls, the boys had many regional and state qualifiers, including Lee Kreger, Peter Volosin, Carter Mundy and Nick Uzelac. Peter Volosin made finals in both of his events at the state meet. The boys will only be losing two seniors, so they will definitely be just as strong with a new crop of freshmen next year.

The dynasty that has been created by the swimming teams at PH will continue for many years because of team spirit, pride and old-fashioned hard work.

The indoor track team had a successful season. The team started their meets at Heritage High School, where they placed well in all the events. The team had many meets at Heritage and at VMI. Districts were held at Heritage. Most of the indoor track team made it to Regionals. In the Regional meet, Nathan Ferrance and Clair Willis, both did well and advanced to the state meet.

The indoor track team was coached by Chadwick Cox, James Earl Jones, Tommy Jones and Coach Johnson. The team had a good coaching staff that was full of experience and coaching talent. The senior leaders of the team were Claire Willis, Nathan Ferrance and Kevin Green. The team was full of fresh, young new talent. All of the young athletes looked to their senior leaders, as well as the coaches, for guidance. The team looks like it could develop into a successful program. This was a good year for track, and everyone is excited and looking forward to next year's team!

Runners take your mark, get set and go! Then the starting gun sounds off, and the competition begins. That's what you'll hear at the start of a Patrick Henry outdoor track meet. The team has had a strong season with many new team members. The team placed well in all the events, and they did great in the Cosmopolitan race at Salem High School. Congratulations to the Outdoor Track Team.

Even though the record was not as good as the Patriot baseball team wanted, many strides were made to ensure that the baseball team will be in the right spot to make the run for the district title in the near future. Under the leadership of returning Patriots, Todd Burrow, Adam Peters, Chris Waddell and Brent Sowers, the Patriots were in the hunt for the district before the season even started. Coming into the play was the new western Valley District, which many considered to be the toughest district in state history. The new additions to the varsity team also made the Patriots a force to be reckoned with. Freshman Chris Leftwitch, Junior Jarhett Altizer and Senior Drew Densmore brought to the Patriots many new weapons the Patriots arsenal.

This year the varsity soccer team was led by co-captains Ian McMichael and Matt Wallace. The team had a slow start, but turned it around with a big win over Cave Spring in overtime at their place. They finished strong and tied for second in the district. The Patrick Henry soccer team moved on to the District Championship where they shattered E.C Glass. This is the first time in eight years that the boys soccer has won the district. Congratulations on winning Cathy, the beloved trophy.

The PH Girls Varsity Soccer team surprised their fans with an overall record of 13 wins and 4 losses. Two losses came from PH rival Cave Spring, but the Patriots won the first and last meeting of the season against the Lady Knights. After a hard fought 4-3 loss to the Knights to determine the regular season district title, the Lady Patriots claimed the Western Valley District Tournament Championship. They fell to Brooke Point in the quarterfinals of the regionals 3-2 to end their successful season. PH was hurt by the loss of Senior Katie McCown, Junior Carlie Smith and Junior Elizabeth Hale to injuries. Senior Maya Chapman and freshmen Kristen McCoy ended the season with more than 20 goals a piece. Maya, Kristen and Becca Sweeney earned first team all district honors. The Lady Patriots are looking forward to a strong up and coming year.

Lacrosse. Wow, what a year. Nestled in the quiet hills of Virginia lurked a monster. This monster went by the name of PH Lacrosse. David Durham was the head of the beast. His speedy strikes and venomous shots kept opponents on their toes. They had a successful season and we love them. The beast is tamed for now ...

Regional Champs

The Patriots boy's tennis team hit the courts looking for a fourth straight district title. The team started off strong, winning five straight before losing a tough match to state semifinalist E.C. Glass 5-4. The Patriots beat rival Cave Spring 8-1 and 7-2 for eight straight wins over the Knights. The team, led by seniors Ryan Schlueter and Matt McDowell, the Timesland player of the year, also swept Franklin County, Halifax County, GW-Danville and Blacksburg.

Juniors Brian Wolthius and Charles Taylor provided leadership, and a strong sophomore class, led by state doubles quarter finalists Brock Newton and Tyler Early, also included Giles Roberts and Tom Raney. The two freshmen, Blair Wilner and Alex Hincker, contributed immediately. All of its tough hours on the courts, makes the Patriot team one of the top contenders for the state title.

Eternal Victim OR

Eternal Victor?

The African American Culture Class evolved from a gospel choir, which was organized by Fletcher Nichols and Robin Parker to celebrate Black History Month in 1986. Parker and Nichols take a holistic approach to teaching the class and incorporate academics, cultural and fine arts into the program.

"The class enriches you on your heritage and makes you appreciate where your roots really come from, and all the injustice your ancestors suffered so that you could have a better life," Carrie Cardwell said. "It's more than just a black experience, it's a life lesson that anyone — white, black or mixed can learn."

Each class begins with a life lesson, based on readings from black American writers. Students are encouraged to analyze themselves when making their life choices. The unique performing art component to the class culminates into the third nine weeks performance for the entire student body as well as one during the evening for the community. This year's theme was "Eternal Victim or Eternal Victor?" The program included the gospel choir, a drama and the popular Step Team coached by "Big Brother" Jerel Rhodes, counselor in Parsons.

The snowball was held on campus this year in the gym because of a majority vote by the student body. The new location for the dance allowed for a more spacious dance floor, larger and more elaborate decorations and a greater sense of school spirit. Junior Elizabeth Wetherington agreed that the improved decorations were a positive change to the Winter Dance. She said, "I loved the castle and the decorations, it gave the dance a very nice atmosphere."

Ride Wit' Me

Cars and Driving

"Look, no hands!"
 "Pump up the bass!"
 "Drive it like it's hot!"
 Here in Roanoke, we own the road. Well, maybe not, but at least we own the PH parking lot. The lot is home to all our cars every weekday from 8 to 3 once we gain our driving privileges as underclassmen. Whether behind the wheel of a 2000 Camry or a '67 El Camino the Patriots always drive in style. Our wheels give us the freedom we deserve. However, they also give us the responsibility of getting ourselves to and from school. Many a car is seen rolling into the lot with the morning tardy bell. Countless students have suffered hot 7-11 coffee burns from forgetting to slow down for that first speed bump. During school hours, the security guards strictly regulate students trying to escape for a lunch break. At the end of the day there is always an occasional fender bender or some other mishap, reminding us to save the wild driving for less crowded places. When it comes to driving, PH Patriots know how to do it. Our cars are made for speed, good looks and smooth cruising. So, next time you see me in the parking lot, come Ride Wit' Me.

Gray Huffman and Lizzie Jones find a way to enjoy the hot weather and earn a little money at the same time.

American pride was evident at PH after 9/11, even in the parking lot.

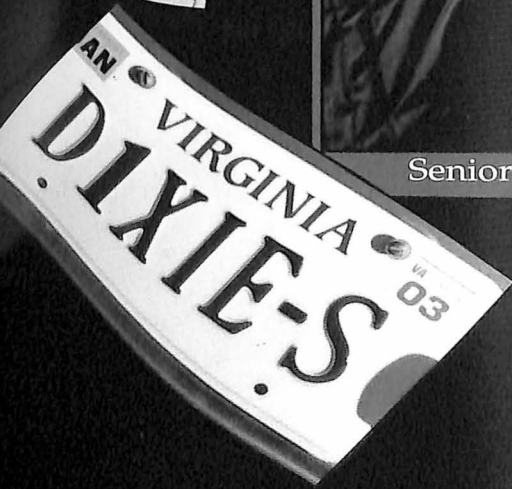

"Driving gives me a lot of freedom."
-Amanda Ashwell

"I hate it when the parking lot is crowded. It makes me nervous."
-Emily Culley

"I like to drive around and listen to DMB. It relieves stress."
-Meredith Frank

Senior Jenny Ammen is glad to return to her car after a long day.

Working Day and Night

Most people don't realize that Patrick Henry students work harder than anybody — in and out of school. When the school day ends students don't all go home and kick up their heels in front of the television with a bag of potato chips. After six hours of strenuous classes they clock in for another few hours of hard work. "It's hard to get everything done, but it's a good experience," Courtney Pritchard said. Students join the workforce among people of all ages to gain experience and earn money. Working alongside others helps them learn more about the "real world" before we get there. They save up money for tons of different stuff, from buying gas and shopping to saving up for college.

140 • Jobs

Patriots work around the clock at all types of jobs.

"And to think I found these crazy sunglasses in the lost and found. Who wouldn't want them!" For years, the Daily Grind Coffee House has employed many Patriots, including, the one spottin' the cool shades, Nicole Lemon.

By working as a lifeguard at Elks pool, Travis Bryant not only gets paid, but he gets a great tan too!

9. With an outgoing personality, Kim Salyers meets and greets as a hostess at Macado's.

WHERE THE PARTY AT?

What gets Patriots through five days of classes?

Weekends get most students at PH through five days a week of classes! Some students spend their weekends working while others hang out with their friends. The weekend activities include going to movies, going out to dinner and attending parties. Some students use their time wisely and catch up on classwork for the upcoming week. Even though students spend their time on weekends differently, they still manage to have plenty of fun!

Key West

On January 29 at 4:30 a.m., 36 College Biology students met Ed McMichael and the eager chaperones at the Roanoke Regional Airport. When they left the temperature was in the 30s and a few hours later, they arrived in the 80-degree-sunshine. When the group arrived at Big Pine Key, they began the night with the ritual nightly biology lab observing aquatic environments and what lives in the Keys. Every morning, bright and early, they began with a boat trip and snorkeling. Some days included visiting the coral reef, which was filled with reef sharks, bull sharks and nurse sharks. McMichael's class also visited the mangroves, the floating island made of roots, filled with deadly caterpillars. Everywhere they went, the students saw barracudas, exotic fish, sponges, crabs and lobsters. On the campground was a pond filled with sharks that the class snorkeled in. Big Pine Key was the home of 36 seniors for six adventure-filled days. Although there was a lot of strenuous exercise involved in putting the equipment on and off, the two hour relaxing period was spent sun bathing or playing volleyball in the blazing sun. Imagine that in January!

"Our instructor Mark was one of the most interesting people I've met. You learned things spending time with him that you didn't realize."

-Lauren Woody

"My snorkeling buddy handed me a fire sponge — wow, that wasn't cool."

-Brittany Maxey

Celebrate Good Times

All of the seniors are ready to end "senioritis" by taking those precious steps across the Roanoke Civic Center Auditorium stage in June. Tradition, however, requires that mock graduation take place during Senior Week, May 20-23. Seniors begin the week with a pizza luncheon in the Auxiliary Gym. On Tuesday they fill out their Senior Surveys and collect their caps and gowns for the big event. Wednesday is designated "Senior Day." Students and teachers alike take pleasure in the various decorative caps the seniors display during line-up.

During the assembly, SGA officers introduce next year's leaders. Also, this yearbook was dedicated to all of the PH secretaries. They reside in every hall and work hard to keep the school running. And as all of the seniors know, the secretaries are the only ones that can write a pass to leave campus. Thanks, again, ladies. On Thursday, the seniors gathered at the PH track for their annual senior picnic. Good luck, class of 2002.

Come and take a Ride Wit' Me as we take a look at a year in the life of Patrick Henry High School. As you walk onto the Patrick Henry campus, you might say to yourself, "It Smells Like Teen Spirit." And it's true. This campus is full of many spirited students who are just trying to make it through the year. There Ain't No

Mountain High Enough for these students as they Hit 'Em Up Style in the classroom. They may only be there for six hours of the day but for many it's like Workin' 9 to 5 and Working Day and Night.

This year, the students had a reality check as they learned what it's like to be Proud to Be an American.

Later, the students could be seen Dancing the Night Away at the PH Homecoming. Viva Las Vegas!!

When the weekends came around, the students of Patrick Henry were Ready to Run home, Start the Commotion and ask themselves "Where the Party At?" The students of Patrick Henry have got a Lotta Livin' To Do. But as the year comes to an end and they take a moment to reflect back on the past, they decide that they need to Celebrate Good Times. With four years of high school in the making, I Hope You Had the Time of Your Life.

Spending Your IRS Tax Rebate Check Today?

Here's how...

- Two Party Checks: All parties named on the check must be present at the time of purchase.
- Identification Required: All parties must present two forms of valid identification, including:
  - State Driver's License
  - State ID
  - Military ID
  - Passport (not valid for the second of two)
- Purchase Required: Rebate checks are not redeemable for cash without a purchase, and no minimum purchase is required.
