IN MEMORIAM

John Fitzgerald Kennedy
1917-1963

During his brief term as President of the United States, Mr. Kennedy did much to promote the growth and progress of our nation. He established the Peace Corps, negotiated peace terms with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, erected a partial nuclear test ban treaty, and exhibited great dedication, courage, and devotion to duty when he presented his policies regarding civil rights, taxes, and medical care for the aged.

All shall long recall Mr. Kennedy's famous inaugural address on January 20, 1961, when he said, "Let every nation know, whether it wishes us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe, to assure the survival and the success of liberty." These were not just words. They symbolized a genuine conviction.

On this same occasion, people around the nation witnessed Kennedy's plea to his fellow Americans, which was, "Ask not what your country can do for you---but ask what you can do for your country." Having struck a gentle cord on our heart strings, these immortal words shall forever ring in our ears to remind us that every American shares in the responsibilities which safeguard peace and freedom.

FOREWORD

As a growing school in a growing community, Breckinridge has progressed enormously in its three years as a junior high. Besides the various physical improvements, such as the complete renovation of the kitchen, Breckinridge has been a forerunner of the Social Studies Fair, an eager participant in the Science Fair, and a leader in scholastic, musical and physical education programs.

BEFORE

Yes, believe it or not, this is B.H.S. At this time, known as William Fleming High, the school was situated in the county. However, this area was soon annexed, and progress set in as one sees the growth of the neighborhood in the picture below.

The Cross Roads Mall has been a large asset with its voluminous shopping possibilities. Many of the large downtown stores have branches here.

The Williamson Road area has progressed recently . .

The new interstate highway with its spur to the downtown section of Roanoke crosses Hershberger Road. This will add greatly to the growth of the entire community.

Our newly remodeled kitchen has been one of the focal points of the renovation program here at Breckinridge. Although the service was good before, it is excellent now. These cafeteria workers stay busy with five lunch periods.

DEDICATION

OUR 1964 BRIGADIER IS DEDICATED

. to one whose depth of understanding enables her to appreciate our ideals and our hopes, and whose faith and confidence spur us on to reach them to one who listens with sympathy and patience in both our joys and our difficulties to one whose unlimited energy is a challenge to us to do our best to one who through her love of beautiful things awakens an answering love in us to

MRS. MARTHA GRAY SAUNDERS

As our community continues to grow with its mammoth shopping centers and super highways, Breckinridge brings greater educational advantages to the youth. The first of these is the provision of a capable and industrious administration to supervise the growth---mental, physical, and spiritual---of the students. In these formative years, the purposes and dreams of adolescence need to be defined and perfected, as well as the fact that standards of intelligence and morality need to be established. These advisors have rendered much of their time and energy to instruct us, the students, to regard our educational opportunities as a means of spiritual and intellectual growth.

ADMINISTRATION

FACULTY

STAFF

Throughout the annals of every school there are certain individuals who are justly renowned for their dedication, persistence and leadership. The principal of Breckinridge, MR. PAUL B. FOSTER, most certainly fulfills requirements for a high position in this distinguished company. He is intelligent and firm but a good friend to the students. Mr. Foster has times in which his "little black whistle" seems necessary but he is possessed of a forgiving nature and is soon helping some students with a big problem. His leadership of our school has been outstanding and Breckinridge has grown to a top position among the schools of Roanoke.

The Principal Pilots our Progress

Mr. Foster and the co-presidents of our PTA, Mr. and Mrs. Sumpter, open the first meeting by cutting the cake, commemorating the third anniversary of Breckinridge. The PTA has done much to promote a good relationship between the teachers and parents this year.

For instance "Back to school" night featured a plan whereby parents could follow their children's schedule and visit each class for ten minutes. This served to orient the parents as to their children's curriculum.

Mrs. Bernard gets ready to ring the bell to end a lunch period. This is one of her many duties as Mr. Foster's secretary.

Mary Jane Tanner, a vocational office trainee from Fleming, is busy adding an attendance report. Mary Jane arrives about 1:00 p.m. each day. She helps lighten Mrs. Bernard's load in the office.

Mrs. Radford is an eighth grade guidance counselor. She meets with each eighth grader at least once a year and plans a suitable curriculum.

Mr. Engers is seen in one of his usual poses as he checks on the absentees each morning. In addition to checking on the attendance, Mr. Engers is an eighth grade guidance counselor.

Lynne Seay, Nancy Bain, David Barger, Lynne Coleman, Emily Cosby, and Pam Wilson work in the office at different times throughout the day. Their duties include such things as checking out people who are sick and even rendering first aid for minor injuries.

Mr. Poff must be on his way to set up chairs for another assembly. As chief custodian, Mr. Poff sees to it that the building is heated properly, that the grass is cut and that any other chores are tended to keep the school running in an orderly fashion.

Mrs. Charlotte Mundy
Librarian

While working in the office, Richard Trollinger, Brenda Shaver, and Beverly Huffman perform tasks, such as posting bulletins, putting messages in the teachers' boxes, and sorting the mail.

The cafeteria workers have taken every advantage of their newly equipped kitchen and feed hundreds of hungry individuals daily. They are: (left to right) Mrs. Edna Keen, Mrs. Reva Morgan, Mrs. Madeline Robertson, Mrs. Alice Shipman, Miss Eugie Arnold, Mrs. Lally Almond, Mrs. Virginia Gunter, Mrs. Mary Dixon, (Manager), and Miss Hattie Robertson.

In the seventh grade Virginia history classes, a project is required. Many of these are exhibited at the Social Studies Fair, a spring event. This idea was originated here at Breckinridge, but has gained city-wide recognition. Pictured is a sample of such projects.

Mechanical drawing is an elected course for ninth grade boys. Mr. Arthur Trinko, a full-time teacher at Jefferson, teaches this course the first two periods in the morning. Here, one may see him looking on with satisfaction as the boys work.

A student is the reflection of his school and the growing needs of his community. As the school and community grow, so too, the student expands his realm of knowledge and develops his body to mental and physical perfection. In all the phases of school life, he is confronted by choices which will mold his character and personality. Through the education for citizenship gained here at Breckinridge, he will be well-prepared to shoulder the responsibilities demanded in later years.

CLASSES

A new tradition was established at Breckinridge this year. Two students are to be chosen each year to depict Mary and Joseph in a Christmas pageant. The honors fell upon Rita Triantafilles and Mike Mauck this year. The Magi are represented by Larry Long, Walter White, and Eddie Bryant.

In future years, the students of Breckinridge will look back with grateful remembrance. Chief among their memories will be the knowledge that they gained from participation in the many extra-curricular activities that Breckinridge offers. These activities train a student for any field into which he may venture as well as enable him to get along with his fellow workers.

ACTIVITIES

As the Snow Queen representative from Breckinridge, Doris Dean rode on the float with the other princesses in the Christmas Parade.

The Shrine Bowl Parade was quite a thriller for the cheerleaders. They proudly rode through the streets of Roanoke, representing their school well.

It has now become a tradition at Breckinridge to elect at Christmas time two students to represent Mary and Joseph in a pageant. This honor is reserved for those who through their every day lives, represent the ideals for which Mary and Joseph stood. On the right, Angela Miller, as a part of the pageant, represents one of the angels.

PARADES and ASSEMBLIES

Student Talent

"As the shepherds watch their flocks . . .", so too, the viewers watch Van Quinn, Steve McClough and Tommy Slusher who round out the Christmas pageant.

SCA

The Student Co-operative Association works each year for greater union and cooperation between seventh, eighth, and ninth grades. Among other things, the SCA sponsors the Snow Queen. Representatives to the SCA are elected in each homeroom.

This year at Christmas the SCA, sponsored by Mrs. Catron and Mr. Coleman, collected food for "baskets of cheer." These baskets were delivered to needy families in the area.

FTA

These Future Teachers of America have had a busy year with their hop in March, the FTA dinner in February, and serving as guides for the visitors during American Education Week.

Mrs. Boeh, as sponsor of the FTA, strives to interest students in the profession of teaching. She surely sets a good example in her dynamic way of drumming Latin into individuals.

Oops! We must have interrupted an executive board meeting. No! It's just Mr. Engers, Mr. Coleman, and Mr. James (sponsors of the Hi-Y) planning a Thursday evening meeting at the Y.M.C.A. swimming, playing basketball, etc.

This year the Hi-Y and the Athletics Department sponsored a game between the faculty and the WROV Allstars. They also bought a movie screen for the school and played volleyball with the majorettes.

"LIGHTS OUT" Proves a Success

Co-sponsors, Miss Sullins and Miss Vandenburg spent many hours, along with their roommate, Miss Queen, in preparing for the successful three-act play.

In a scene from the play, Rodney Burford and Debbie Dobbins played the handyman and the maid respectively. There tends to be some magnetic attraction.

Pam Croy and Margo Martin are being made up for their parts in "Lights Out".

MAJORETTES Strive for Perfection

As the band plays a stirring march, the majorettes pass with their high-stepping precision and baton-twirling perfection. They never fail to cause an epidemic of smiles nor do they fall short of fulfilling the eager anticipation of the crowds.

The majorettes are part of our family here at Breckinridge and we are proud to claim them. They have magnificently represented us in the Shrine Bowl Parade, the Christmas Parade, the Harvest Bowl, and the Dogwood Festival.

Decked out in all its splendor, the band gives another fine performance in the Shrine Bowl Parade.

Breckinridge Band Sends Four Members to All-State Concert

With the bands here at Breckinridge and the elementary schools, Mr. Landis has a busy schedule. He was greatly honored when Breckinridge was the only junior high invited to participate in the Harvest Bowl Parade.

Bobby Bailey, the high-stepping Drum Major, sports a new uniform donated to the band this year.

One of the most important projects sponsored by the late President Kennedy was the program of physical fitness in the nation's youth. The students of Breckinridge have enthusiastically backed this plan and have tried their best to realize the full potential of which their bodies are capable. The aim of these students is high physical perfection, so that in the years to come, they will be better citizens of their community and nation.

VOLLEYBALL TEAM Ties For Sportsmanship Award

Our volleyball team, led by Lynne Coleman and Susan Goggin and coached by Miss Thompson, romped to impressive victories over Lee, Jackson and Monroe Junior High's. Their only stumbling blocks of the season were two close overtime losses to Patrick Henry. Their 6-2 record was good for second place in the City League. They also tied for the Sportsmanship award with Patrick Henry. Lynne Coleman and Susan Goggin made the All-Star Team.

TRACK TEAM Wins Championship

The 1963 Breckinridge Track Team gained impressive victories in all three of their track meets this season. Their performances were good enough to earn for them a 3-0 record and the following titles: City Junior High Track Champion and City-County Junior High Track Champion. There were many top performers on the team, trained by Coach Osborne.

Record of the Track Meets

William Byrd - 5	Breckinridge - 59
City-County Track Meet	Breckinridge - 25 1/2 (nearest competitor- Northside - 21)

The 1963 Breckinridge Baseball Team started off quite well with easy victories over Wilson and Monroe. They were then plagued by bad luck for the rest of the season, however, as they lost five straight games. During this streak the team played well and never lost by more than four points. Three of their losses were by merely one point. Nevertheless the team's determination finally paid off as they bounced back and downed Jackson to finish with a 3-5 record.

Jimmy Pendleton waits for teammate Wayne Goodpasture to cross the plate with another Breckinridge run.

Wayne Goodpasture gets ready to swing at a pitch from Mr. Foster in the annual varsity-faculty softball game. Mr. James is catching and J. P. Waldron is umpiring.

Opportunities Like Edison had are WAITING FOR YOU

The inventions of Thomas Edison have affected the lives of people everywhere. They have created entire industries — ours, for example.

Under America's Free Enterprise system, inventive people like Edison can expect special compensations — profit, honor and satisfaction.

The hope of attaining such rewards has been one of our nation's greatest incentives to progress. It is a goal that prods imaginative minds in their quests for new products and methods.

Not everyone can be a Thomas Edison. However, every trained, dedicated graduate can anticipate a full measure of our society's rewards. All it takes is a willingness to work harder and contribute more.
