GOODBYE JUNIOR HIGH

"I believe the future is only the past again, entered through another gate."

— Arthur Pines

Since Roanoke city's Southwest school children first crossed its threshold in 1970, James Madison Junior High has witnessed numerous changes and matured through an enormity of experiences, developing the true nature of our school, the 1988-1989 James Madison.

Yet, once again Madison will undergo further changes — this being the final modification of our school as we know it today, James Madison Junior High.

The 1988-1989 school year radiated a special rite of passage in that it was the last year to claim a freshman class and the first year to usher eighth graders to the senior high. The following years at Madison will no longer hold the usual seventh, eighth, and ninth graders, but Madison will proudly house a younger generation of students in an adaptation to the Middle School Concept.

— Melissa Byrd & Valissa Duerk

"It seems to me a crime that we should age. These fragile times should never slip us by. A time you never can or shall erase — as friends together watch their childhood fly."

— Elton John

DEDICATION

As the 1988-1989 "Matador Staff" gazed into our universe of teachers, we noticed one star in particular that shines with a prominent brilliance.

She stands out as a devoted educator who cannot help but introduce new worlds and galaxies to her students' minds. She stimulates pupils to reach for their highest goals. She promotes their confidence and encourages their abilities. She has a telescopic view of her students' needs and the joys and rewards her teaching brings.

We are indebted to this perpetually glowing star.

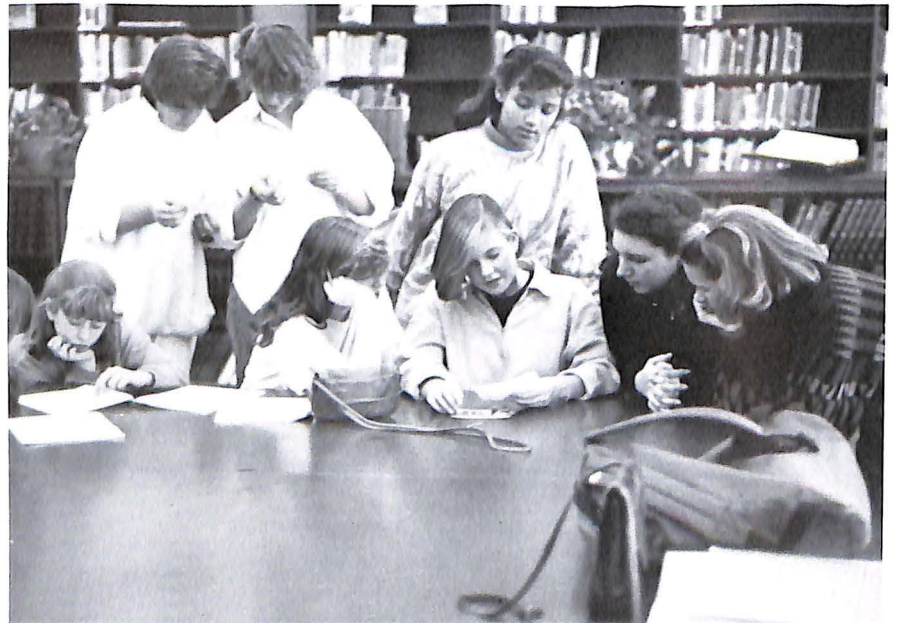

In gratitude for your devotion, the "Matador Staff" proudly dedicates the 1988-1989 "Matador" to you.

Miss Sandra Garst
