84 Stonewall

* (Tommy Page)
9th Grade

Mrs. Lois O. Trent
1983-'84

When the astronauts landed on our moon . . .

. . . and one small step was made for man, a giant step was made for mankind. The junior high school experience here at Jackson is more than just a step, small or giant; it's more like a leap of horse and rider charging over a high stone wall. The years rush by so swiftly and each one has its own ups and downs. Some of our memories from this year are presented in our eighteenth volume of THE STONEWALL. The staff wishes to acknowledge a very special someone who has given so much effort, time, care and love to the students at Jackson and made our memories so much sweeter. With much love and appreciation we dedicate THE 1984 STONEWALL to you, . . .

Activities

Activities at Jackson include Christmas merriment in the form of elves at right, choir rehearsal below and the Thanksgiving Dance.

Deja vu?

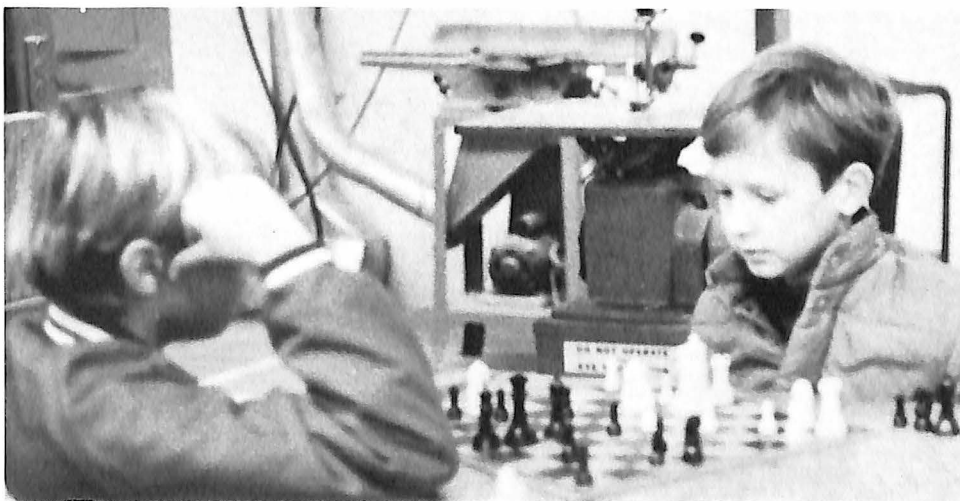

Computer interest magnifies through 1984.

A science class painted hand-modeled dinosaurs in the art room during the spring of last year.

Below left, the Chess and Checkers Club begins and directly below, one can see that the Thanksgiving Dance was a big success.

Edgar Dede challenges an unidentified opponent in a chess game.

Sponsored activities give students new and different channels to explore and higher hurdles to jump!

Daily activities in Mr. Henritze's Science class gets a grin from Monica Calloway.

Miss Mills takes a break from her regular activities to pose with a dear but empty-headed friend.

A Spectrum class enjoys a somewhat different activity.

Lots of activity here!

"But what do you mean an 'F'?"

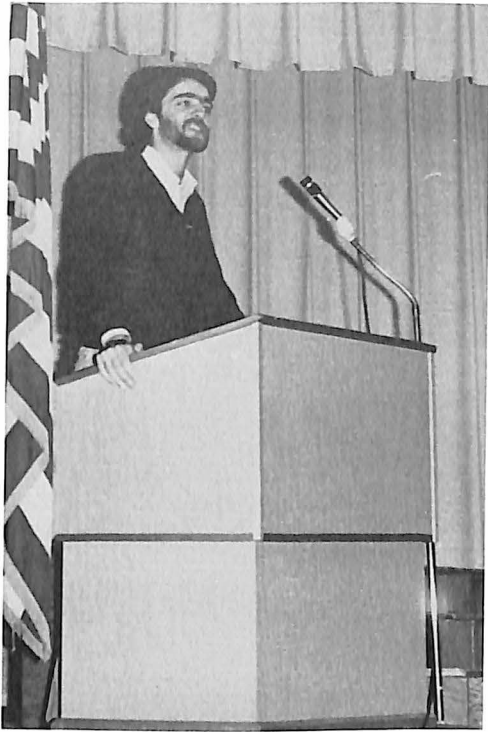

Tiffany Kidd helps out in the office.

And you think that YOU have problems!

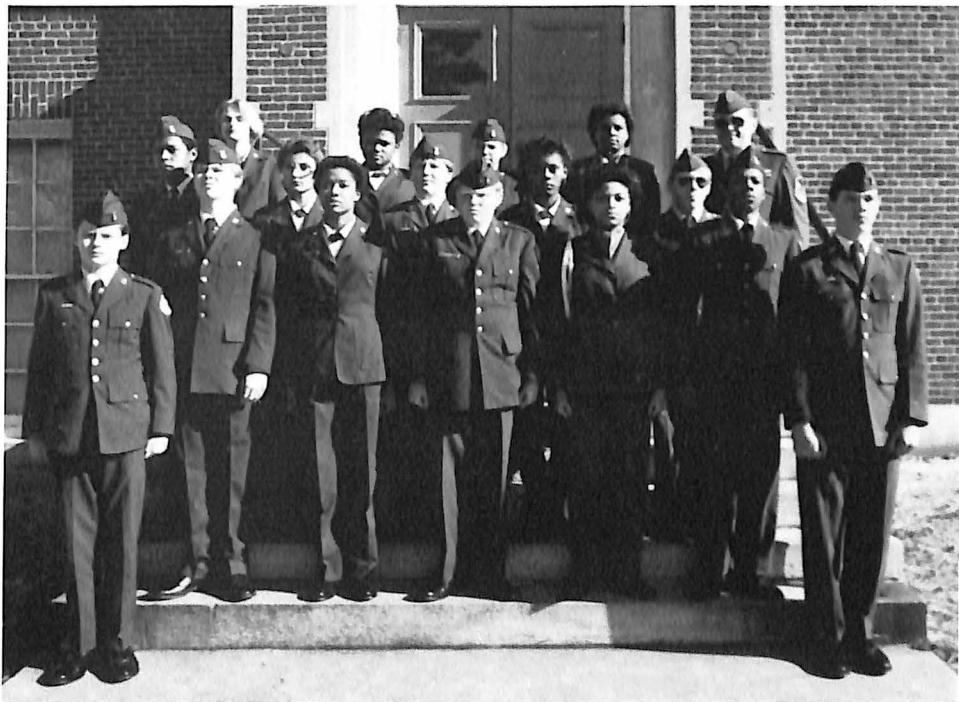

Reverend Dan Robertson of Cave Spring Baptist Church addresses the Thanksgiving Assembly.

The ROTC Color Guard in action.

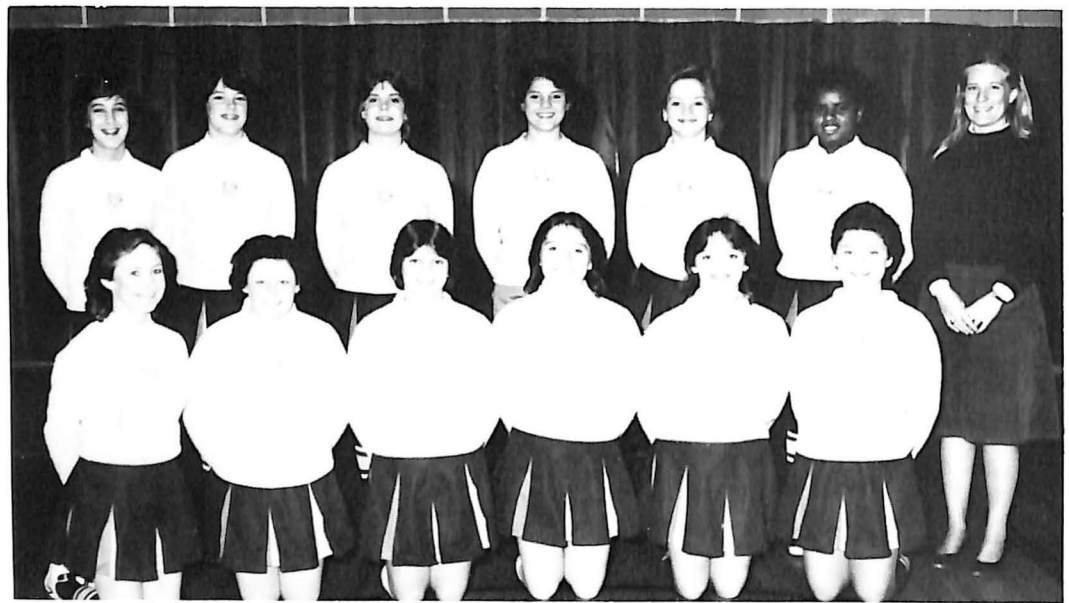

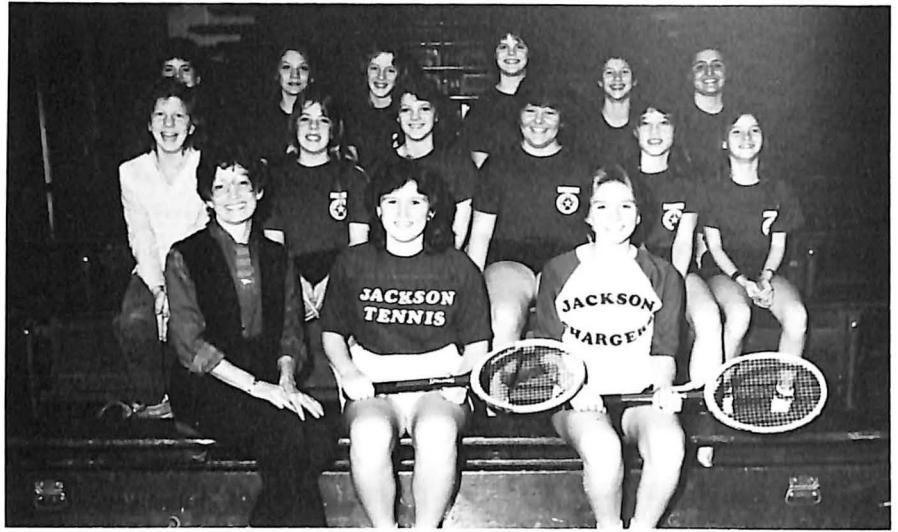

A daily activity for the ROTC — raising the flag.

ATTENTION!

“A moment on the lips is forever on the hips!”

“STE-E-E-R-R-IKE!!!”

Stonewall Jackson since 1928.

Balance or what?

These pages hold the photographs of those students who were absent on the day that the previous class photographs were taken. What can we say but, “Better late than never!”

As seventh graders rise to be eighth graders, as 8th graders become 9th graders and as the 9th graders prepare their leap into high school, let learning be their quest, honesty their armor, good health their cloak, determination their steed and may all their challenges be met and accomplished with success in the future.

Thank You
