THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

August 1, 1985

DEAR FELLOW GENEALOGISTS:

I am pleased to be able to report to you that our workshop was very successful. Dr. Schweitzer and Pat and Ray Gooldy not only taught us a lot but kept us entertained as well. What was in reality a long day seemed to go by quite quickly. In addition the facilities and luncheon served by Hotel Roanoke were both excellent. No mention of our successful workshop could be made without saying thank you to Calvin Weddle, our treasurer. He did most of the hard work that made our workshop possible. Thanks also to Norma Jean Peters who handled our publicity.

We have a new member of the executive board, Mary Jo Shoaf who will be taking over the job of Support Chairman. Mary Jo is an experienced genealogist who was very active in her North Carolina society before moving to our area. We look forward to her contributions. Gerri Glosch has found it necessary to resign because of other responsibilities and we hope that she will be back with us soon.

As I have mentioned before, the board is continuing to explore ways that we may fulfill our stated purpose of fostering genealogical research. We are working with the Virginia Room of the Roanoke Public Library to plan what we might do for them and would welcome any suggestions from the membership.

We are working on a packet of information which we might make available to those members who are new to genealogical research. We hope to have this packet ready by October and would appreciate any ideas on what might be included. We realize that it is not possible for many of you to attend our meetings but we would welcome your input. If you have ideas that you would like to share with the board, please mail them to me at our P. O. Box.

I look forward to receiving some ideas and suggestions from our out of town members.

H. W. Scott
President

The following petition is from Box B: 1798 - 1814, Wythe County. The original is found in the Virginia State Archives, Richmond, Virginia. A zerox copy has been placed in the Virginia Room, Central Roanoke City Library, Roanoke, Virginia.

"To the honourable the General Assemble of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

" The Petition of the subscribers who are inhabitants of Washington, Wythe, Tazewell, Russell and Lee Counties Humbly Sheweth.

"That a North branch of the main Holstein River has its source and almost the whole extent of its Stream within the limits of Virginia.

" That the said North Fork might be made Navigable for Boats from Jeffry Helderitosses*(or Helderitopes) Mill to its junction with the main River a small distance below the Long Island. (*or Holdritch's)

"That the said River has been descended with Boats of burthen from near the Saltworks to David Pegin Milldam -- the greatest obstruction to the Navigation that your Petitioners voice complains of is a grievance

"That it would facilitate convenance, encourage (agri)culture and be of advantage to the Citizens of Virginia was the said River cleared and declared a Public Highway.

"Therefore the Prayer of your Petitioners is that your honourable body would take the premises into serious consideration so that measures may be pursued to"

ILLUMINATING A DARK CORNER: ROBERT ROSE, ROAD BUILDER

By Nathaniel Mason Pawlett

Faculty Research Historian
Virginia Highway and Transportation
Research Council

The multitalented Reverend Robert Rose, through those entries in his mid-eighteenth century Diary dealing with road building in the Tye River area of Albemarle (now Nelson) County, has helped to throw a little light on early road building in Virginia. Very few written records were kept by those who practiced it.

One who practiced road building and who did write about it, sketchily, was the Reverend Rosert Rose. The conventional view of early roads was that of primitive trails and paths, particularly in the West. Even in the earliest stages of settlement in large areas of Virginia in the eighteenth century, this period of trail-blazing was brief.

Throughout the seventeenth century, "path" was the term used to denote the routes traveled by both the Indians and the white settlers to describe Virginia lines of travel not worthy of the name "road."

"Consulting the Oxford English Dictionary, we find that the word trail is derived from a 'trail,' that which is left by the passage of a thing or person over a surface. Therefore, a trail should be defined as the most elemental form of a path, a followable route. The path is a footway, 'especially one beaten by feet,' permitting the passage of a person or a horseman, but not a wheeled vehicle. Paths suitable for travel on horseback were often designated as 'bridle paths' in Virginia road orders."

Finally, the dictionary defined "road" as a suitable way for the passage of wheeled vehicles. A road then would include bridges over larger streams, and possibly some grading. It would seem that the paths of the Indians became the paths and the roads of the white men as settlement moved into the Piedmont in the years after 1700.

Road signs appeared at intersections directing travelers to "the most noted places" by 1738. Mileage markers were erected by 1737 or earlier, as noted by William Byrd II, who mentioned having seen 13 miles of the road from Germanna to Fredericksburg similarly marked.

Rose, located in the Piedmont up-country in the shadow of the Blue Ridge, was involved in the construction of several roads and bridges. As noted in his diary dated January 30 - February 3, he was for five days engaged in road building and bridge operations.

"January 30 - Cloudy, went with Mr. Harvie and my people on the Buffalow Road, moved a heap of stones.....

"February 1 - Finished the Bridge over the Spring Branch, cut down the Bank at Buffalow, levelled part of ye Hill by Naked Creek & got Home at Night, these 3 days has cost Me 36 Men's labour, to do my Neighbours a pleasure before I have got Necessarys for myself...

"February 3 - ...finished the road two Miles from one Rolling Road to the other, very Cold, got home about 3 pm."

Robert Rose owned plantations in Essex and Orange Counties. He owned many slaves and white indentured servants. On his home plantation, he owned 39 slaves at the time of his death in 1751. When two or three planters of the stature of Robert Rose, Peter Jefferson, and Joshua Fry were assigned a road to clear or open, constructing or opening a road would have been neither difficult nor unusual, as they could easily have had access to 100 men or more at a time for employment.

From Rose's Diary we learn how roads and bridges of what has been called Virginia's Golden Age were laid out and constructed by such eighteenth century gentlemen as Robert Rose.
