NORSEMEN

In a period of turmoil, Northside Junior High have been affected by most of the changes that have occurred in the United States. Discussions have raged. Diverse topics such as Watergate, Nixon, inflation, the energy crisis, and the RESPONDING SERIES, all have had a place in the educational program.

When inflation hit, the valley teachers complained about the high price of lunches. Lunches for students rose from forty-five to fifty cents. Students tried to conserve paper by making spitballs out of scrap paper instead of wasting a whole sheet on which a homework assignment had been copied. Because of production costs, the school newspaper was published three times during the year, and it cost fifteen cents, instead of the previous ten cents.

Hall passes were new this year so as to cut down on the wandering in the hall. Doors were closed in the classrooms to conserve heat in the room and not to heat the halls. We wore warmer clothing and kept our hands in our pockets to keep from freezing.

The school widened with the new addition on "C" hall which was 'off limits to all students'. Mr. Johnston and the assistant principals patrolled the new wing. A new assistant principal, Mr. Dyer, took charge of the eighth grade.

In the realm of sports, our football team was undefeated. The Basketball and Wrestling teams experienced many victories. Girls sports received more recognition.

With changes in the economy came changes in education. The focal point in Social Studies classes was on Career Education and Economics. Career education was a 'hands on' activity for Pre-Vocational students. The importance of learning a saleable skill was stressed.

Student involvement and participation were significant in all subject areas. Besides the old techniques of discussion, research, and lecture, new methods of instruction including role playing, field trips, labs, television, and games offered unique opportunities. Interest blocks offered the student the opportunity to discover his abilities and talents.

New pressing needs have made us more aware and have called upon us to direct our energies to a tentative solution. Northside Junior High School has only begun to challenge the ever-changing problems of a technological world.

CHANGING DIRECTIONS

SCHOOL STOP . . . Students arrive at Northside Jr. High School half-awake wondering what excitement the day has in store.

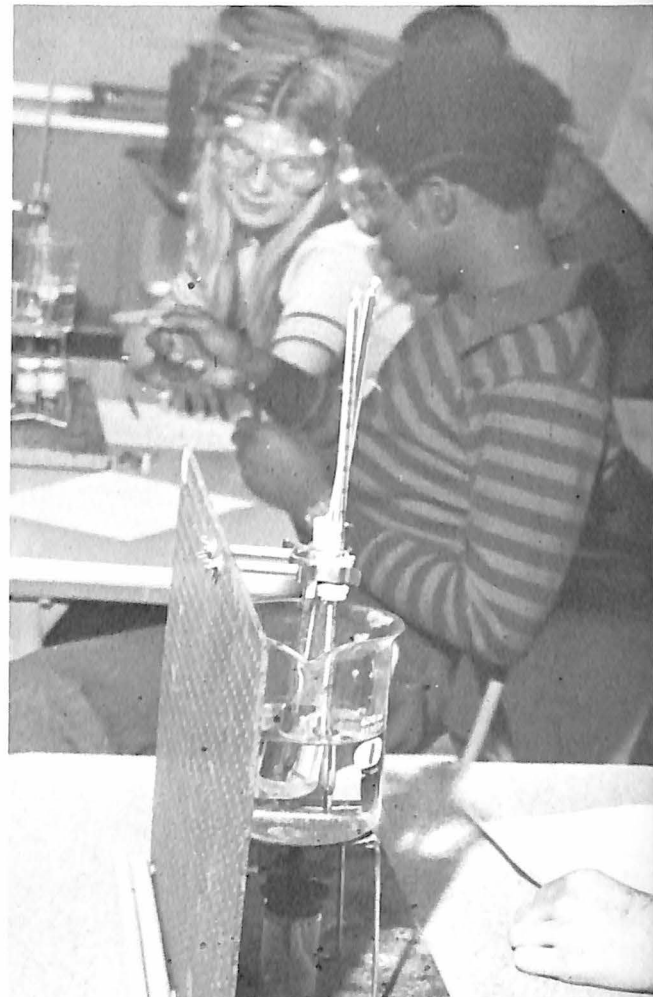

ENTHUSIASTIC CROWD . . . The crowd cheers as the Cheerleaders get spirits up, and the Football Team was introduced. Awinning season was the Norsemen's aim.

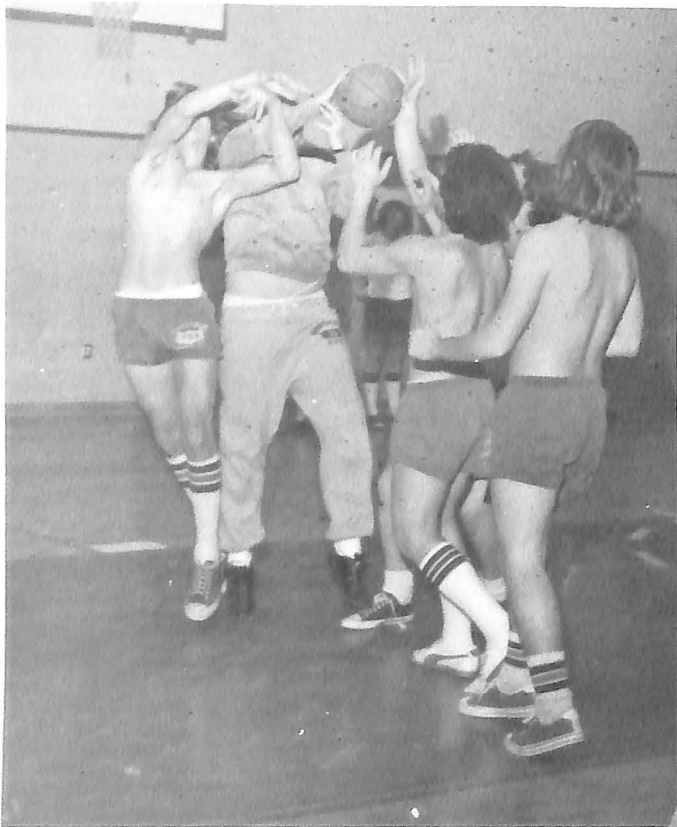

SHOWING RESULTS . . . The construction workers labor hard to complete the new extension to 'C' hall. The sights, sounds, and smells of construction became familiar to the students.

ENJOYING BREAKFAST . . . Mike Thomas and Tim Slocum enjoy eating cinnamon buns and drinking orange juice in the cafeteria before school.

YOU'RE KIDDING . . . Marsha Compton gives Russell Davis an inquiring look. They are trying to determine the freezing and melting point of moth flakes in Mrs. Birchhead's IPS class.

JUMP UP . . . Anthony Stout, Coach Maynard, Johnny Asimakopoulos, and Wally Foutz play basketball during gym class.

FRENCH CAROLING . . . Miss Myers leads 'Marie' Wells, 'Cheri' Ballard, 'Jeanne' Phillips, Eliane White, Elizabeth Allen, 'Gaile' Honeycutt, 'Anne' Honeycutt, Suzanne Fuhrmann, 'Therese' Mayhew, 'Michel' Damewood, 'Phillippe' Lunsford, 'Serge' Oylar, 'Janine' Heilman, 'Caroline' Wimmer, 'Janine' Obenshain, 'Anne' Orville, 'Lisette' Sheets, 'Guillaume' Mitchell as they sing French Christmas carols in the hall.

Seventh grade class officers were elected in the fall. Students donned campaign buttons and posters covered the halls. In an attempt to raise money and aid hunger pains, the ninth grade officers sold popcorn at the basketball games. The try was in vain--but the good thought was there.

The results for all elections were as follows: SCA Officers: Ginger Michael - President, Christi Hoback - Vice-President, Sherry Hogan - Secretary, Mary McManaway - Treasurer, Melody Miller - Chaplain. Ninth Grade Officers: Kim Allison - President, Vicki Riddle - Vice-President, Susan St. Clair - Secretary, Lisa Holland - Treasurer. Eighth Grade Officers: Mary Ridenhour - President, Leigh Anne Lilly - Vice-President, Pam Finley - Secretary, Terri Howard - Treasurer. Seventh Grade Officers: Dee Dee Bratton - President, Berk Robertson - Vice-President, Gina Allison - Secretary, Linda Gilmore - Treasurer.

Successful endeavors have been made by the SCA. A Super Hero . . . Nicky Norsemen, built by the SCA, won first prize in the Homecoming decoration contest. The Homecoming Hero was made by the SCA. Tons of green, yellow, and white napkins were used to build Nicky.

SEVENTH GRADE OFFICERS . . . Miss Thompson (sponsor), Dee Dee Bratton, Gina Allison, Miss Woody (sponsor), Linda Gilmore.

POPCORN ANYONE? Sheila Early provides popcorn for Vicki Riddle to sell at basketball games. Cliff Loving and Glenn Key prove to be good supporting customers.

NINTH GRADE OFFICERS . . . Mr. Mayes (sponsor), Kim Allison, Vicki Riddle, Susan St. Clair, Lisa Holland, Miss Dalton (sponsor).

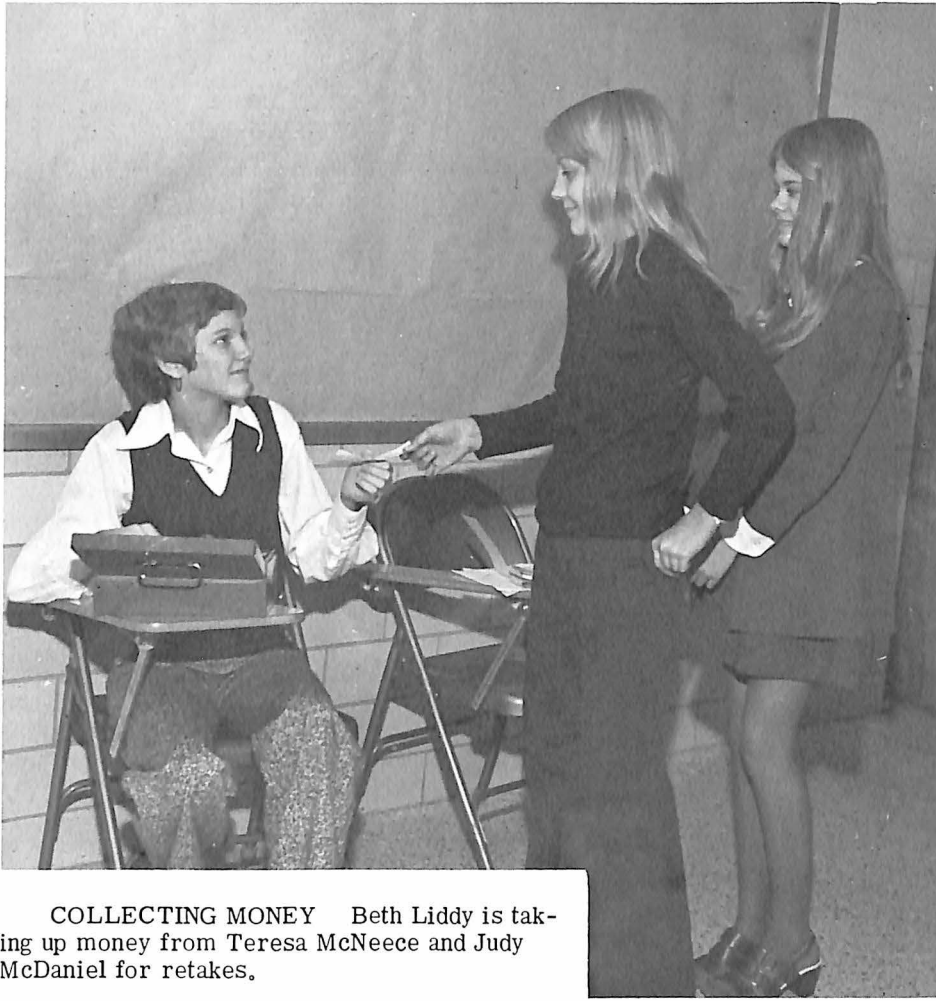

GETTING IDEAS Pam Greig, Marilyn Mellen, Jenny Obenshain, Miss Thomas (sponsor), Lynnette Lackey, Teresa Willis (editor), and Jana Scott often had to get ideas from other sources.

VERY INTERESTING Mike McAllister, David Bourne, and Stephen Cochran are inspecting slides, pictures, and the cameras.

IN LINE Tab Broyles is getting Norman Hairston, Andy Newson, Glenn Key, Tommy Ferrell, and Pat Kelley in order to get their pictures taken.

COLLECTING MONEY Beth Liddy is taking up money from Teresa McNeece and Judy McDaniel for retakes.

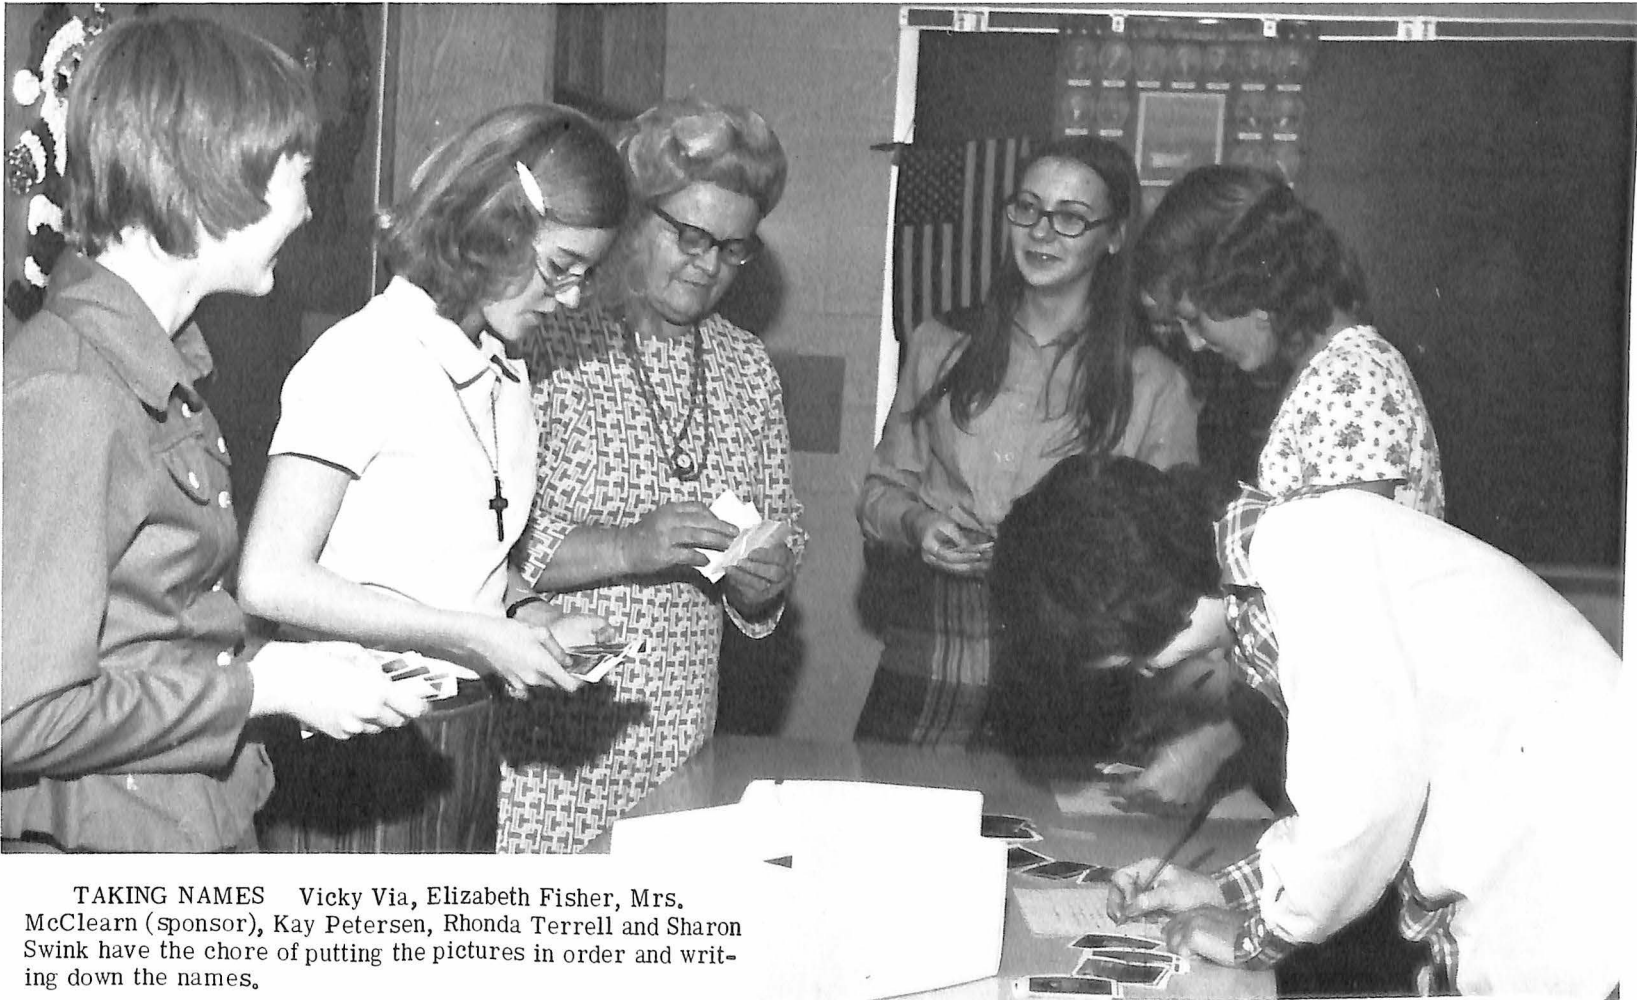

The annual staff consisted of four seventh graders, Stephen Cochran, Brian Porter, Sharon Swink and Rhonda Terrell; six eighth graders, David Bourne, Tab Broyles, Elizabeth Fisher, Beth Liddy, Mike McAllister, and Vicky Via; and seven Freshmen, Pam Greig, Lynnette Lackey, Marilyn Mellen, Jenny Obenshain, Kay Petersen, Jana Scott and Teresa Willis serving as editor. We also had two sponsors, Mrs. Ruby McClearn and Miss Betty Thomas.

The staff's tasks varied from putting pictures in alphabetical order and helping the photographer to doing layouts and asking teachers leading questions for copy. The high school gave a workshop to help us put our ideas together and produce a better annual.

The staff had trouble getting pictures taken when our photographer couldn't make it, but we came through. We had four of our own photographers and we also acquired the help of Guy Broyles for the Cave Spring game.

Our spirits were lifted when our sponsors would have a refreshments day to show their appreciation for our long and hard hours of work on the annual.

PICTURE TAKING PROBLEM OVERCOME, SPIRITS LIFTED BY REFRESHMENTS

TAKING NAMES Vicky Via, Elizabeth Fisher, Mrs. McClearn (sponsor), Kay Petersen, Rhonda Terrell and Sharon Swink have the chore of putting the pictures in order and writing down the names.

The newspaper contained such features as Dear Annie, up to date sports news, and student opinions on the Responding Textbook. Staff members were aided in their efforts by two sponsors, Mrs. Robertson and Mrs. Turner.

The 'North Star' was sold three times this year opposed to five times last year. Also, inflation hit and the price was boosted from ten to fifteen cents.

EXTRA! EXTRA! Michelle Toohig, Kathy King, Teresa Poff and Kim Hall sell newspapers to an eighth grade English class. Price of each paper is fifteen cents.

EDITIONS DECREASE, PRICES INCREASE

SKILLED TYPISTS Steve Smith, Chris Preston, Mrs. Robertson (sponsor), Steve Hussell (SEATED), Susan Estes, and Diane Simmons type articles for the 'North Star'.

FINAL CHECK Ayers Webster, Debbie Monroe, Linda Boitnott, Mrs. Turner (sponsor), Sandi Elmore, and Terry Viar proof read to see if there are any mistakes.

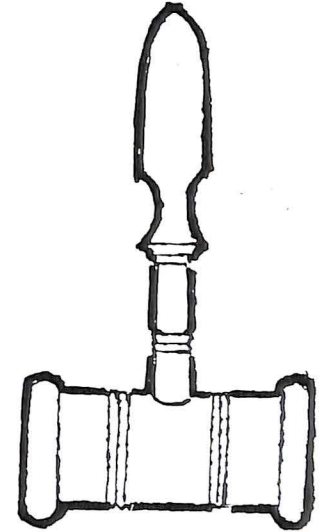

ROMAN APPAREL . . . These Latin Club members are sitting in the Hotel Roanoke lobby. Their tunics are all white. The colorful pallas and zonas (belts) added attraction to the convention banquet.

The Latin Club had a large membership this year. The main activity of the club was attending the Latin Convention at Hotel Roanoke. Miss Dalton and a group of the Latin Club members dressed up in their togas, and attended the convention in November. The club participated in the Foreign Language Banquet held before Christmas.

The Science Club had various speakers throughout the year. One of the speakers was from the Science Explorers of the Roanoke Valley. All Science Club members belonged to the Science Explorers organization. A field trip was taken to the University of Virginia to view a nuclear reactor.

CHEERLEADERS AND PEP CLUB LEAD THE SCHOOL IN SPIRIT

Our Cheerleaders have done a tremendous job this year. They have showed alot of spirit and have helped the players 'To Keep on Truckin'. Spirit ribbons were sold by the Cheerleaders. These ribbons were sold on days before the games for fifteen cents. Support was given to the players during all games especially when our opponent was Cave Spring. The Cheerleading Squad showed so much spirit and pep that the students just had to scream along with them.

The Pep Club has also done a wonderful job of cheering and yelling. They cut all those oranges you saw at our games. Buses were rented by the Pep Club for some of our away games. On Spirit Day the Pep Club helped the Cheerleaders put up posters and banners. Members of the club attended the games to build school spirit.

Appreciation and commendation are extended to the Cheerleaders and Pep Club for a job well done.

SPIRIT RIBBON? Dawn Sheets and Cheri St. Clair, Ninth Grade Cheerleaders, sell spirit ribbons for fifteen cents.

To a really cool kid who I met in Home Ec. Hope all this Home Ec. pay off when we're old and gray. Lots of love

Alice,
I really did want to sign your annual but I may not know it. Best wishes to a very sweet and cute girl. Lots of luck to you as you go to the High School next year. Have a great summer and take care of your Mrs. Hamilton

Alice,
I enjoyed your being in my class. You were always very sweet and earnest. Best of luck in high school!
Miss Dalton

GUIDANCE EXTENDS A HELPING HAND

(Alice) - we'll miss you next year Best of luck at Mrs. Journell

GRADE CARDS And, now for the grand prize, grade cards! Mrs. Journell is busy getting ready for report cards.

The Guidance Department was primarily concerned with students' needs and problems ranging from losing his way to class to losing his best friend, or deciding on an elective for next year.

There were four full time counselors and, for the first time this year, a full time secretary. There was an 'open door' policy, students could see any counselor they chose. This policy seemed to assure a student that a counselor would be available.

Group Counseling, getting together with other students who have similar needs and problems, seemed to be popular with our students. This helped to add another perspective or point of view to the counseling session.

This year a Guidance Committee was formed which consisted of an administrator, a parent representative for each grade level, a teacher representative for each grade level, and the counselors. Their function was to discuss the needs of students and how the school can best meet those needs.

Health wishes you a lovely young lady. Mrs. Sizemore

HEALTH PROBLEMS Smile, you're on 'Candid Camera'! Mrs. Sizemore and Mrs. Shepard, the health nurse, chat about the day's routine.

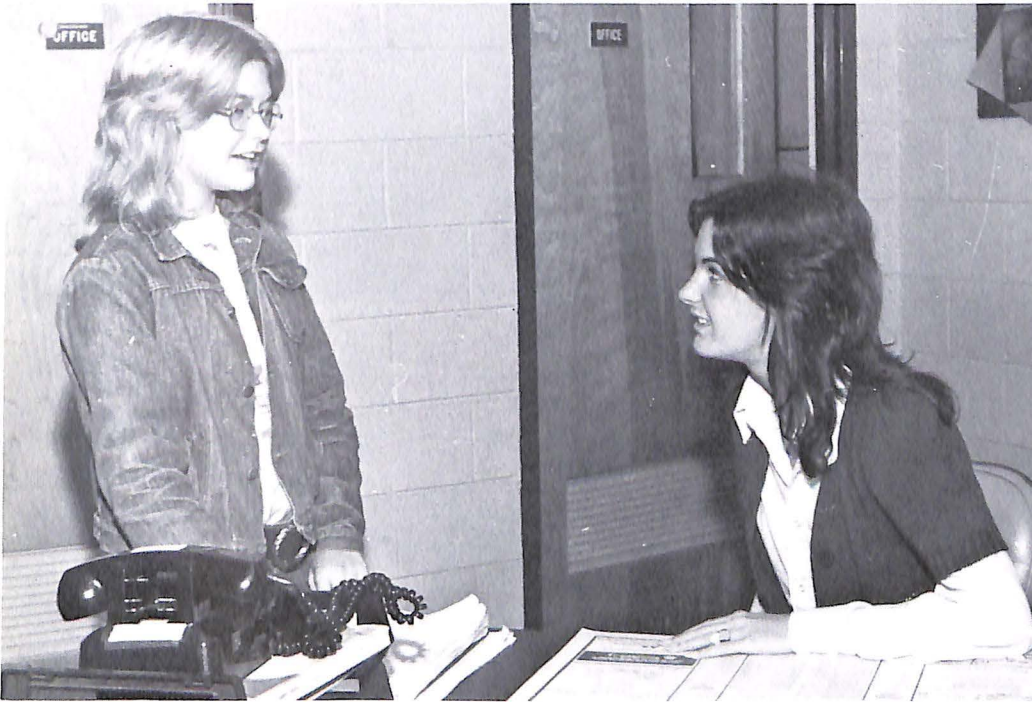

Always wish you always Mrs. Martin

JAM SESSION Watch out, Miss Martin will chase you outside for a group counseling session.

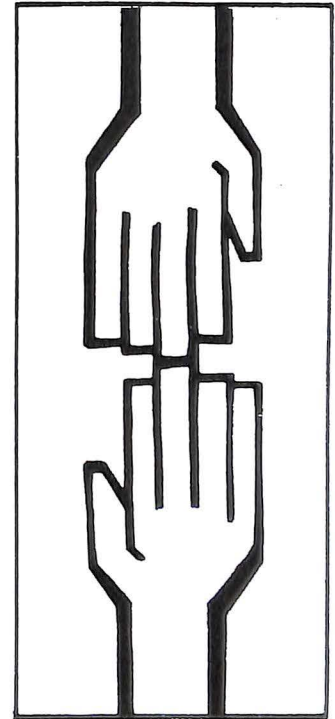

*Alice
Best wishes +
good luck always
Mr. B*

TEST RESULTS Mr. Blevins discusses test score results with Charlie Bandy. This is a task assigned guidance counselors.

INTERESTING SUBJECT Marianne Brugh lets Miss Bishop, guidance secretary, in on the latest news.

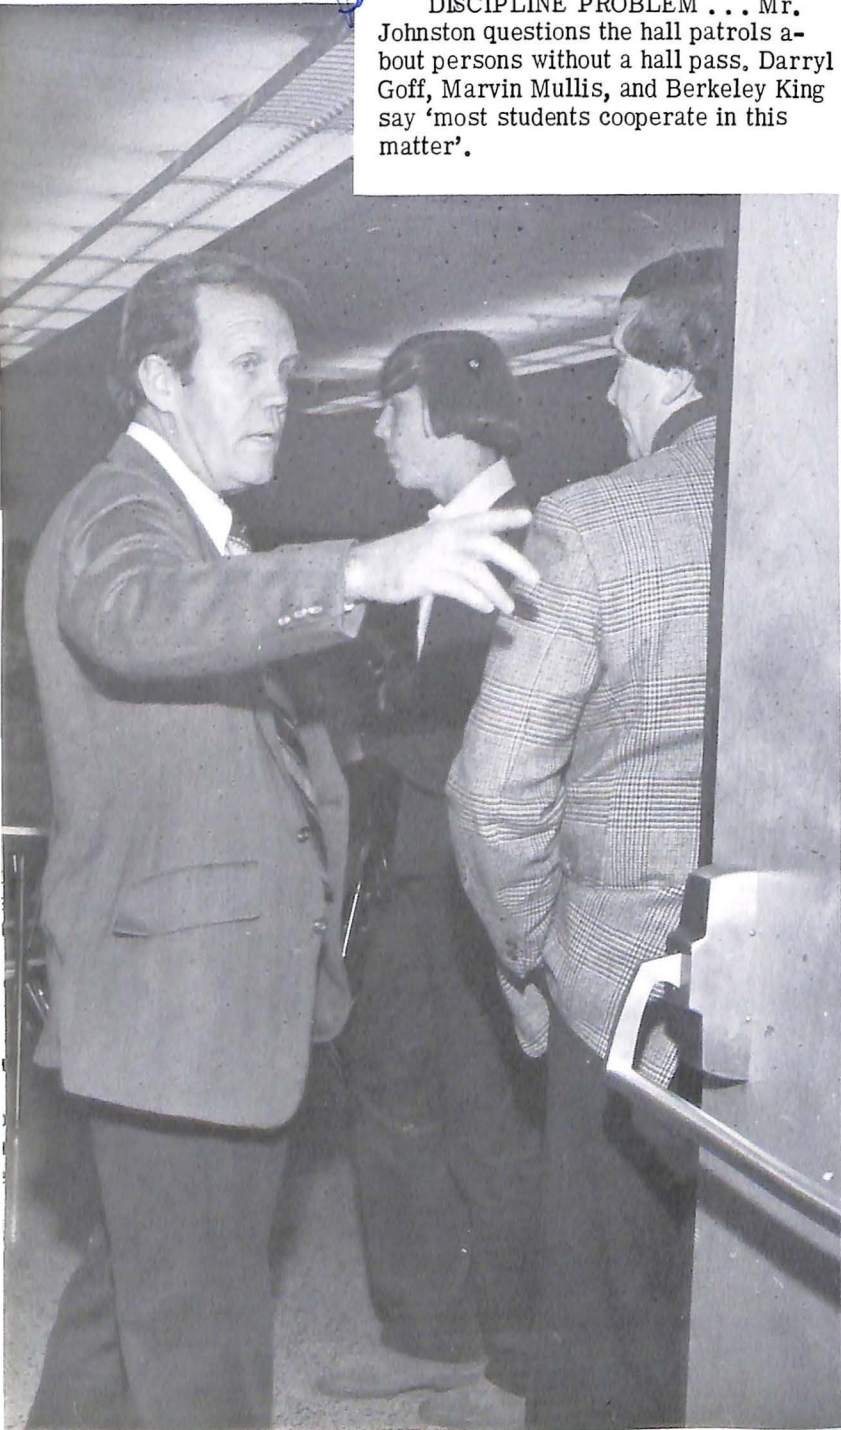

Mr. Johnston, ninth grade and school principal, commented, 'Our school has more spirit than it has ever had. The students have less personal problems that require help and the students seem to be taking a more cooperative attitude. The kids aren't as uptight. They take a more serious outlook on the part that school plays in daily life.'

When the students arrived and the year began problems were encountered. The main problem was the discipline on the school buses. 'Students do not seem to realize that the bus driver has the same or more authority than a regular classroom teacher,' says Mr. Johnston. Another serious problem was smoking in the restrooms. With the help of the teachers and students Mr. Johnston hoped to resolve this problem before the school year ended. Even though problems existed, one of last year's problems was solved and toilet tissue, soap could be found in the restrooms.

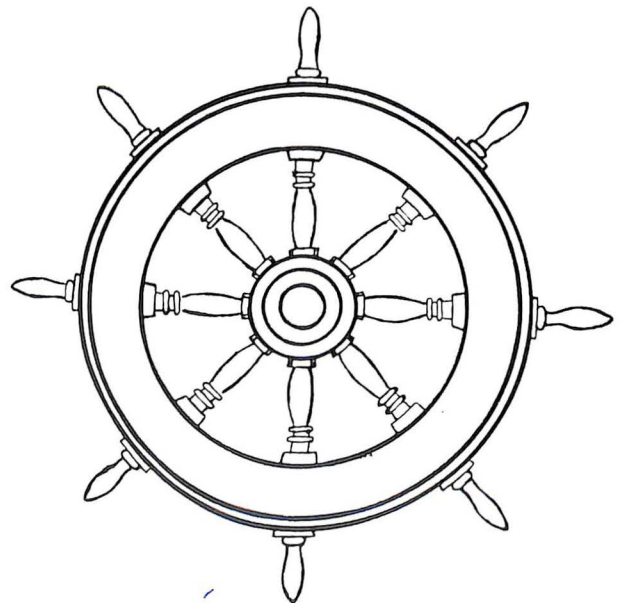

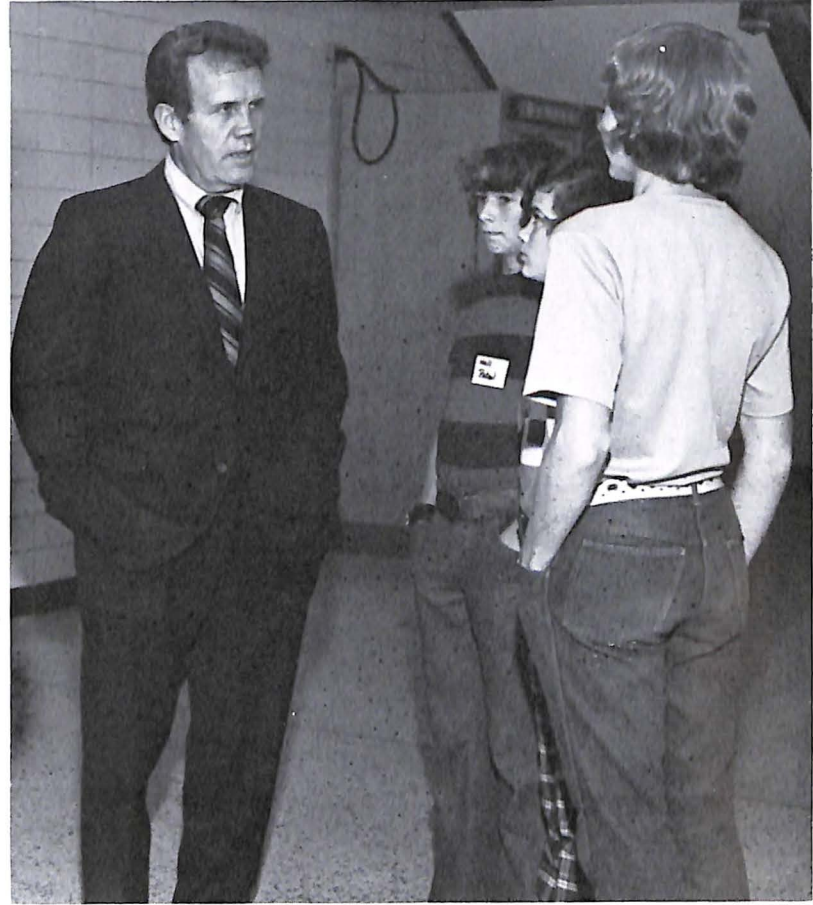

Mr. Johnston stated proudly, 'We are told by outsiders that our fine student body makes our school one of the outstanding schools visited. Also, our academic programs have been praised highly by people in other areas of the state.'

*Becky King
Darryl Goff
Marvin Mullis
Berkeley King*

DISCIPLINE PROBLEM . . . Mr. Johnston questions the hall patrols about persons without a hall pass, Darryl Goff, Marvin Mullis, and Berkeley King say 'most students cooperate in this matter'.

HEY YOU . . . Cafeteria problems come up many times this year. Mr. Johnston discusses one of these problems with Mr. McClearn. The cafeteria keeps the principals busy.

HAPPY FACES . . . Smiles beam on the faces of Miss LaPrad and Mrs. Robertson. Miss LaPrad has finally gotten the checkbook to balance. Problems seldom go unsolved in the office.

Mr. McClearn, seventh grade assistant principal, was in charge of athletics, supervision of the school and bus duty. Mr. Dyer, eighth grade assistant principal, was constantly changing schedules, solving locker problems and making announcements. Both assistants felt that we had an exceptional school year even though some problems remained unsolved.

The secretaries felt that their major responsibility was to help the faculty and student body. Mrs. Robertson's job consisted of the secretarial duties. Miss LaPrad's work involved mainly the bookkeeping duties. Student office assistants aided the secretaries.

PRINCIPALS AND OFFICE STAFF DIRECT SCHOOL'S OPERATION

ANOTHER GAME . . . 'Schedule change again', Mr. McClearn tells Mr. Dyer. Assemblies, ball games, and other special activities keep the principals busy working on which class period to cut next.

OFFICE ASSISTANT . . . Doreen Chapman looks up another schedule. Many students helped in the office running various errands.

CHECK ERRORS Mrs. McFarlane checks Lisa Simmons letter to the Ambassador of Norway. Mrs. McFarlane's fourth period English class wrote letters to the Ambassador asking that they not kill the harp seals.

STOP TALKING John Scott looks on as Mrs. Gill calls down her ninth grade Earth Science class for talking.

NEED HELP? Mrs. Barden helps Kathy Wheeler look through the card catalog to find a book.

LIBRARIANS PERFORM DUTIES

Library additions included new books, projectors, record players, and audio visual materials. More books have been checked out this year by our students. A student teacher during the winter quarter assisted the librarians with their duties.

Colorful art prints were displayed on the library wall. Students in the Humanities prepared Arts and Crafts for the library showcase. The Media Center became quite an attractive and enticing area in which the student could read, study, or do reference work.

REFERENCE WORK Mark Kalstrom is working in the library as many students do during their study hall.

ENJOYABLE WORK Mrs. McAllister stamps books as Frosty The Snowman looks on.

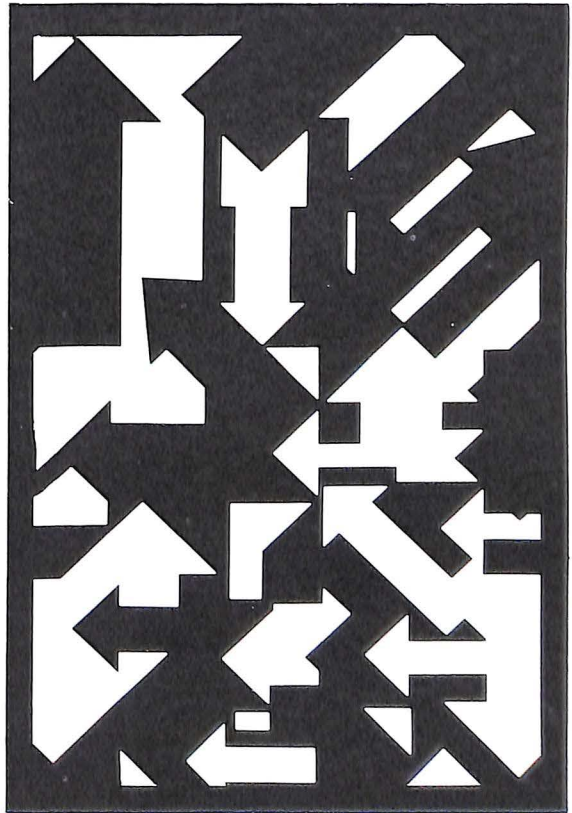

WHICH ROOM? Mrs. Knight can't seem to decide if David Strickland should deliver the equipment. Looks like a tug-of-war game.

ATHLETICS

ANOTHER TOUCHDOWN! Andy Newson catches a pass to score again for the mighty Norsemen. The Norsemen won again defeating Cave Spring 13-7.

The Norsemen
by Coach Gary Maynard

When the season started, we all had one dream,
To be the very best, the number ONE team.
Practice was long and hot and hard,
We shed a little blood and a whole lot of lard.
Up the hill, down the hill, we ran every day,
Getting in shape to make them all pay.
When others play us, they must pay the price,
We're going to play rough and never be nice.
Back from last year we've got several guys,
From experience we'll draw so we'll always be wise.
To win all our games, our line must be fast,
So we work awful hard on the board, on the grass.
Otey and Lewis we have on the beam,
And Murphy moved back to join our great team.
Woolwine and Hairston can run with the ball,
While Marshall and Price make a hole through a wall.
Hamblin and Sharp will block on the line,
So Newson and Ulrey can catch passes on time.
Parr and Kincer play defense for us,
With Marshall and Jones we have a big plus.
It takes quite a few to make up a team,
Thirty-five fellows share the very same dream.
Thompson and Slate want real bad to start,
While Long and Asimakopoulos give all their heart.
Edison and Spencer bump heads on the ground,
While Cregger and Hale just run round and round,
Cole tries to learn his plays every day,
And Rodney and Robert carry water our way.
Humphry missed a block and Blevins got racked,
If one fails his job another gets sacked.
Kessler runs to the right and finally scores,
While Ricky and Mike Moore tape up some sores;
Bandy on the sidelines is great with the joke,
Abbott just giggles and Hudgins can kick,
Mike Pyles tries to avoid Steve Dill's little tricks.
Jensen and Turner help make up our team,
If only our coaches can get on the beam.
Eight teams we have played, eight teams we have beat,
Not once in eight games did we taste a defeat.
So now in the end we all can be proud,
Others talked big but they were just loud.
We worked the hardest, we faced the test,
Our seasons now over, WE KNOW WE'RE THE BEST.

EASY LAYUP Andy Newson scores an easy layup against Cave Spring.

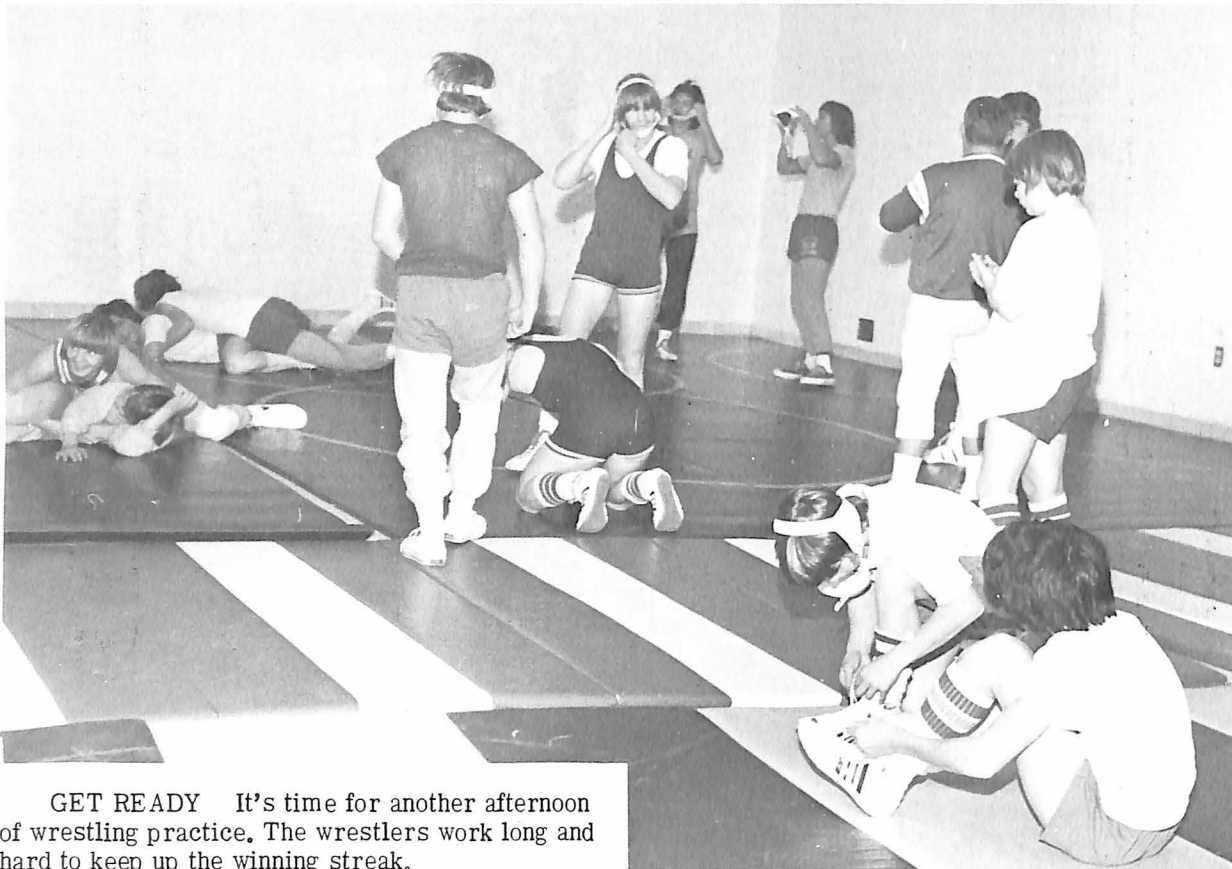

REBOUNDS, REBOUNDS Kenny Hutcherson, Russell Davis, and Dan McGarrell are working to pull down a last second rebound in the Catholic game.

'We're No. 1' was the cry of the fans at the Freshmen Northside - Cave Spring game at the Salem Civic Center on February 10, 1975. The game was to see who would be County Champs. Cave Spring won the first meeting of the two (74-59) on their home court and the Norsemen won the second on their home court (53-34). The Championship was won by the Norsemen with 46 and the Squires scoring 45. The game was close but the Champs were known.

The Eighth grade team also lost the first game to Cave Spring and won the second. Although the Eighth grade wasn't as successful as the Freshmen, they had a 6-8 season.

TIME OUT Referee Don Lee blows his whistle as Kenny Hutcherson and Russell Davis pull down the final rebound against Catholic.

GET READY It's time for another afternoon of wrestling practice. The wrestlers work long and hard to keep up the winning streak.

TWICE IN A ROW NORSEMEN DEFEAT SQUIRES

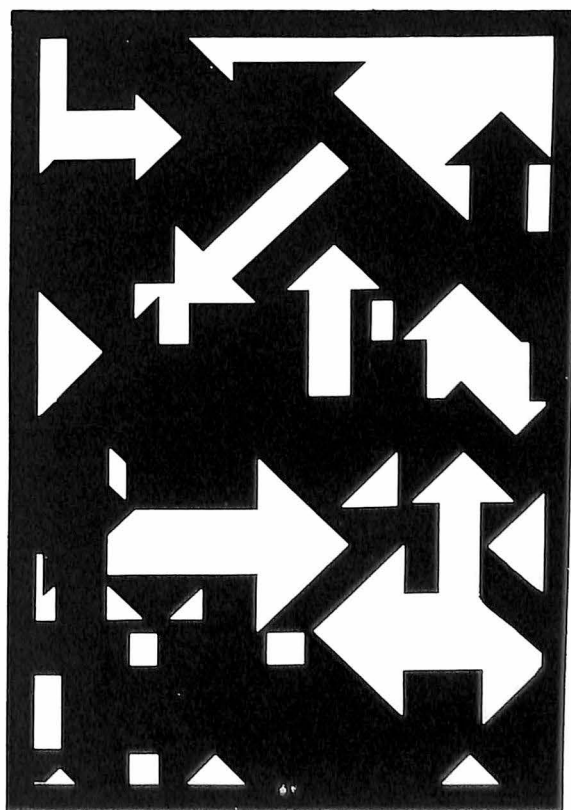

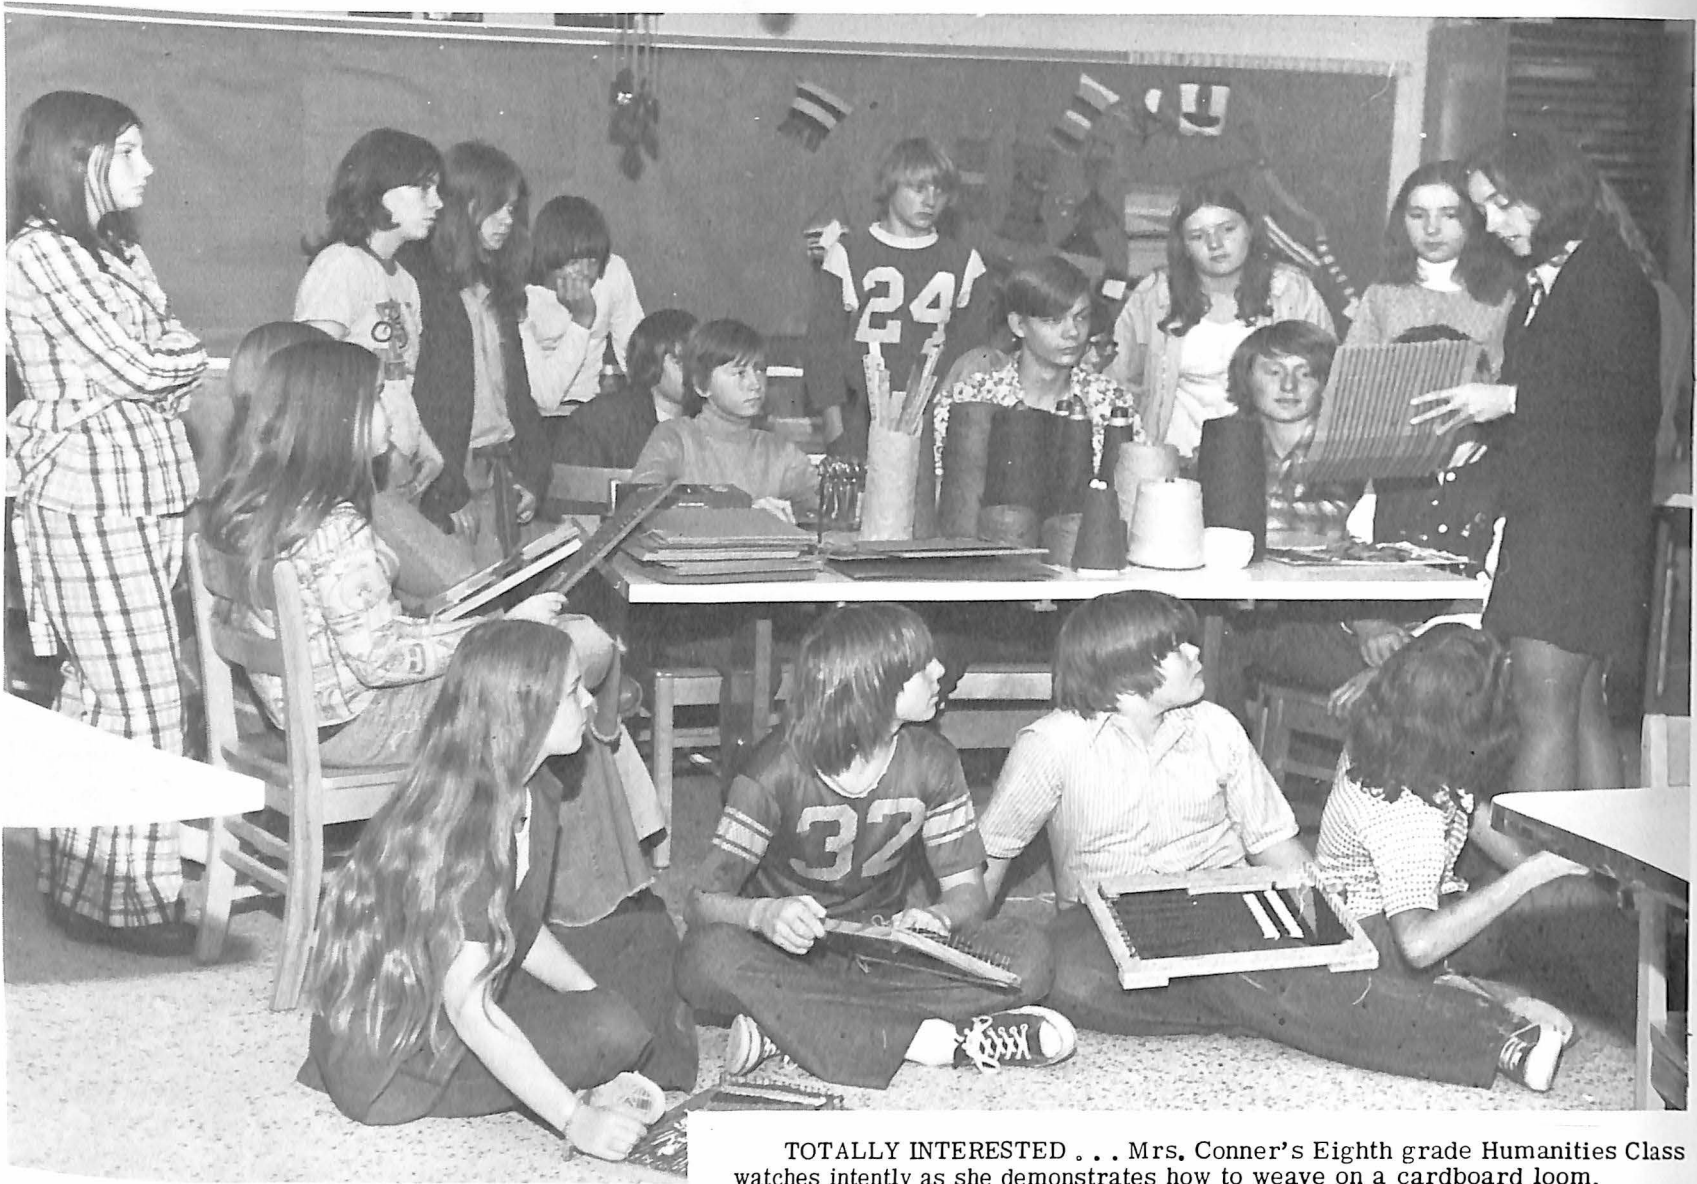

SCATTERED REMAINS
... Several students roam the halls among torn posters after the Sock Hop. Posters were made for the game against Cave Spring. The Norsemen won the game.

ANOTHER REBOUND ... Jeff Murphy jumps for another rebound against the Squires' Clayton Lacy, during the Championship game. The Norsemen won 46-45.

ELECTIVES

TOTALLY INTERESTED . . . Mrs. Conner's Eighth grade Humanities Class watches intently as she demonstrates how to weave on a cardboard loom.

PLINK PLINK . . . Forget pen and ink, learn to type with Mrs. Sink. Mrs. Sink's Eighth and Ninth grade class limber their fingers during warm up exercises..

PICKIN, GRINNIN . . . Mrs. Giles Eighth grade class learns how easy it is to play guitars and autoharps.

The Humanities and Elective classes have worked to broaden the student's mind in the different areas, and have helped the student to discover what he liked or where his talents and abilities could be channeled. The French Interest Blocks have learned the basics in French speaking. At the end of each six weeks, the class had a French Buffet where the students brought in different foods that came from France. This course helped to prepare interested students for French I in the ninth grade.

The French I students enjoyed learning basic and everyday conversation as well as gaining a greater cultural appreciation by studying France, the French speaking countries, and French cooking. The class took a field trip to Roanoke College to see a French play. Also, a guest speaker gave a presentation on his travels in France.

The Art classes have concentrated heavily on arts and crafts, particularly pottery and weaving. An Art Show has been planned for the spring.

The Music Humanities class studied Country music, Jamacian music, Rock music, analyzed Popular songs and played the guitar. Each year the Humanities have a musical Mardi Gras program.

To perfect the Typing skill a student must master the keyboard and not look at his fingers. The Typing students received a treat on Fridays. They typed pictures instead of words. The first semester classes made Christmas booklets.

HUMANITIES AND ELECTIVES AROUSE CURIOSITY

FRANCIS EST DROLE . . . Miss Myers French I students say 'French is fun'. They are practicing oral response.

MANGEONS! MANGEONS! 'Let's Eat, Let's Eat,' says Seventh grade French Interest Block students. Today is French Buffet Day.

The Music Department was very busy this year. There was Virginia District Six All-Regional Junior High Band, at Cave Spring High, on January 3-5, 1975. The band had nine musicians to make All Regional. There was also All-County Junior High Band held at William Byrd High School on January 17-19.

The Choir had the privilege to perform at Hotel Roanoke. They sang to entertain at the State School Board Convention on September 21, 1974. The Band and Choir combined efforts and presented a Christmas concert. The program lasted two class periods. The Choir performed last spring for the PTA.

The Pep Band played at most of the home football games. The music helped add enthusiasm and spirit. When the weather was cold you could have heard 'Hurry Mr. Spiers, let's play something! My horns gonna freeze'. The Pep Band played songs like 'Have It Your Way' and 'V for Victory'.

Future plans for the Music Department included another spring PTA program for the Choir and Band competition for the District held at Radford College in March.

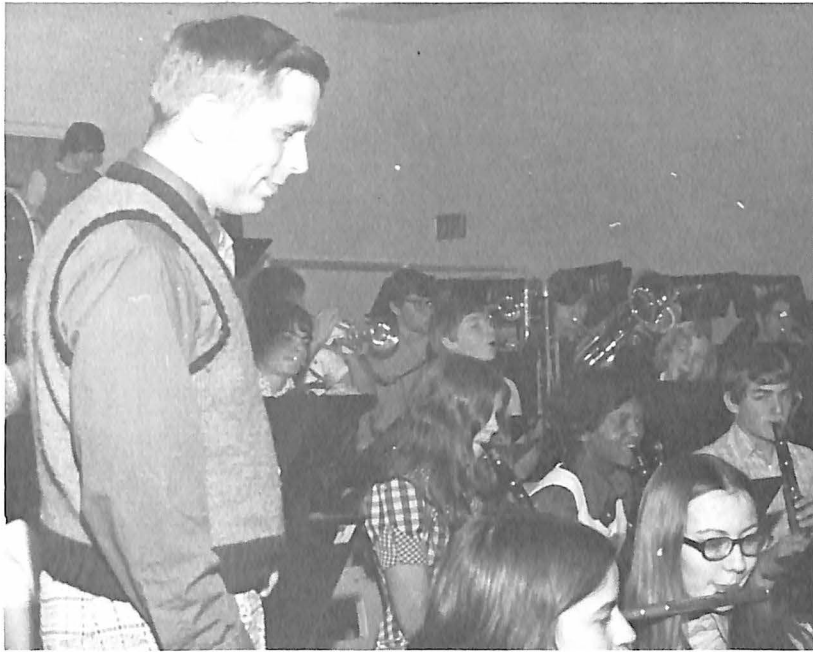

SING OUT! The Choir looks and sings their best at Hotel Roanoke for the State School Board Convention.

Are guys allowed in Home Ec? A group of guys came from study hall to learn the art of cooking. They learned to plan and prepare meals.

Home Ec I and II students were shown the right way to bathe and dress a baby. Then each girl had the opportunity to practice the procedure. A room decoration course was also offered. The Home Ec II students sponsored a bakeoff contest in which anyone could compete regardless of sex.

The FHA consisted of twenty-two members with five serving as officers. Jamie Duderstadt was President, Lorena Soraker was First Vice-President, and Lisa Beasly was Second Vice-President. Tracy Pollard served as Secretary and Carol Fortune served as Treasurer. The Future Homemakers of America had several bake sales which were very successful.

NO THREAD Cindy Harris is trying to sew on one of the garments that is a requirement of Home Ec II students. She isn't going to get far without thread.

CHILD CARE Julie Hambrick bathes and dresses the model baby while Mary Lamme, Tammy Rowsy, and Roberta Oliver observe the procedure.

FIRST TIME Howard Kirkwood, Bobby Hale, and Mike Hudgins make a first attempt to bake cookies. Looks like an assembly line job.

EFFICIENCY COUNTS 'One cup or two' exclaims Tammy Moran. Donna Buchanan, Linda Johns, and Dianna Robertson mix ingredients together.

NEED HELP? Mr. Lambruscatti gives some advice to Jeff Lunsford, John Kessler, and Steve Dowdy. They are working on a house model.

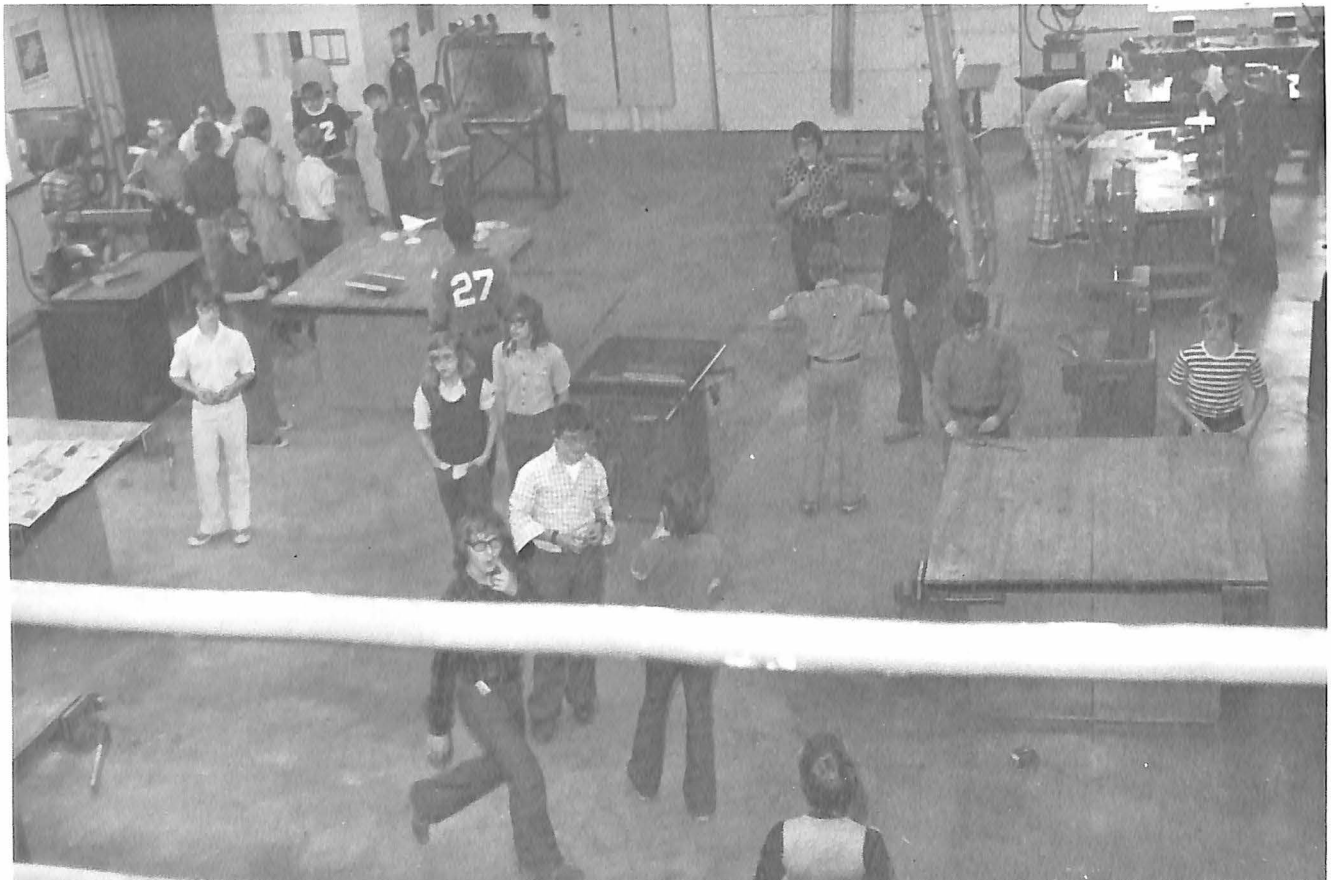

HAVING FUN? David Flynn, Mark Alachnowicz, Alan Tarter, and Norman Harriston smile as they work on their models.

The Seventh grade boys, and some girls, got a chance to take Industrial Arts for six weeks this year. Each student worked on his own project, and got an opportunity to become acquainted with the Industrial Arts Lab.

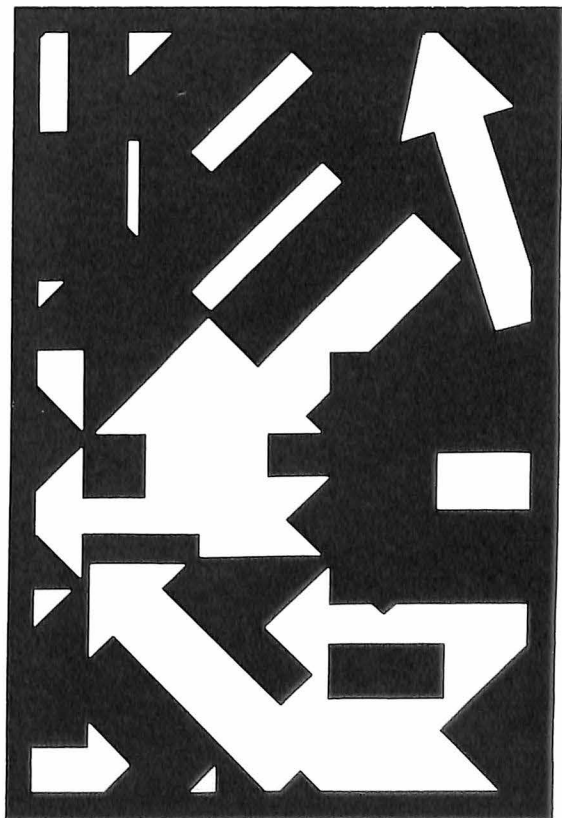

The Eighth and Ninth graders worked on rockets part of the year. After the students finished the construction, they took the rockets out in the field and launched them. Some students who had classes on 'E' hall gazed out the windows at the rockets. The boys also made cars out of wood and ran them on CO2 cartridges. They enjoyed racing them up and down the hall near the Industrial Arts Lab.

IA PROVIDES SKILLED TRAINING

FINISHING UP . . . Some of these Industrial Arts students are putting some finishing touches on their projects. Others are preparing for the bell to ring by cleaning up.

WATCH CAREFULLY Mrs. Malouf instructs Ami Fitzgerald, Becky Jewell and Kevin Hughes in the operation of the Aud-X machine.

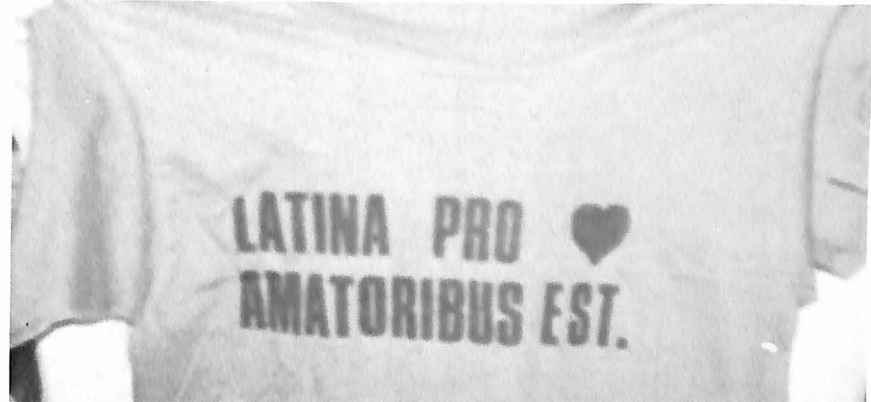

The Reading classes used various machines such as the Aud-X and Controlled Reader to help the student comprehend and increase his reading speed. Reading labs also helped the students to become better readers. The Language Arts program included the study of the English language (grammar, spelling), literature and reading.

The Latin classes proved that Latin is not a dead language. The students greeted one another and talked together in Latin outside of class. They celebrated holidays in Roman fashion. Along with the increased knowledge, the students learned that Latin can be fun.

The knowledge of English and Latin mixed. A good English background helped the Latin student. Unless a student had taken Latin, he would not have realized that he used the language practically every day. Many of our scientific and medical terms are derived from the Latin language.

ATTENTION PLEASE In Latin I Miss Dalton helps the students to learn Latin by using flash cards or the overhead projector.

ENGLISH - LATIN ARE THEY RELATED?

WHAT'S THAT? Latin I students could purchase Latin-T-Shirts at the Junior Classical League Convention. The shirt says 'Latin is for Lovers'.

GET READY Jeanie Eidson, Sam Hurt, Tim Chewing, and Cindy Plunkett use the listen and think tapes to learn to understand what they are reading.

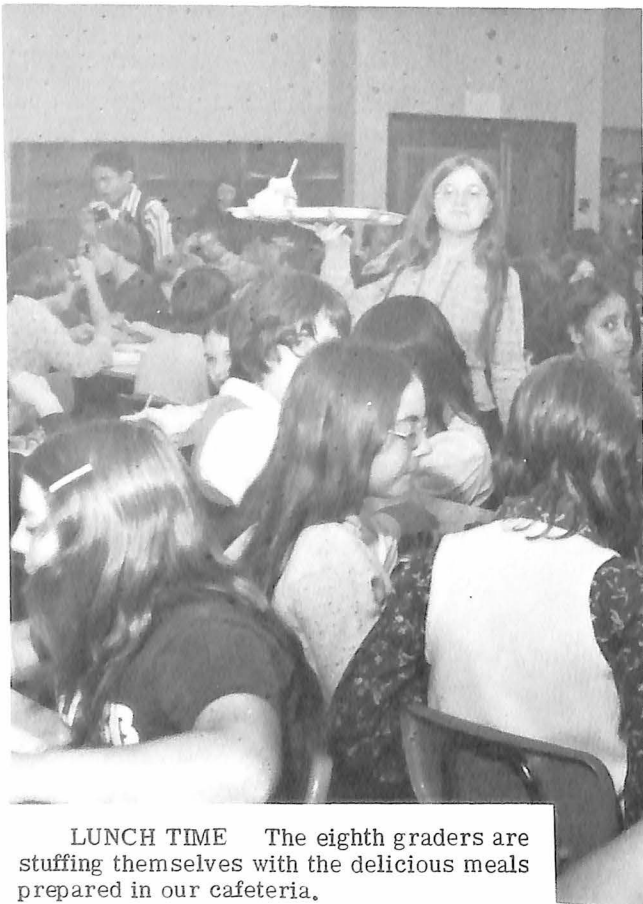

YUM, YUM Our cafeteria workers Myrtle Grogan, Ella Hall, and Margaret Robertson icing sweet rolls for breakfast.

PREPARING LUNCH Lunch is being prepared by Lillie May Wood and Dorothy Lugar. The ladies begin early so as to meet the lunch schedule.

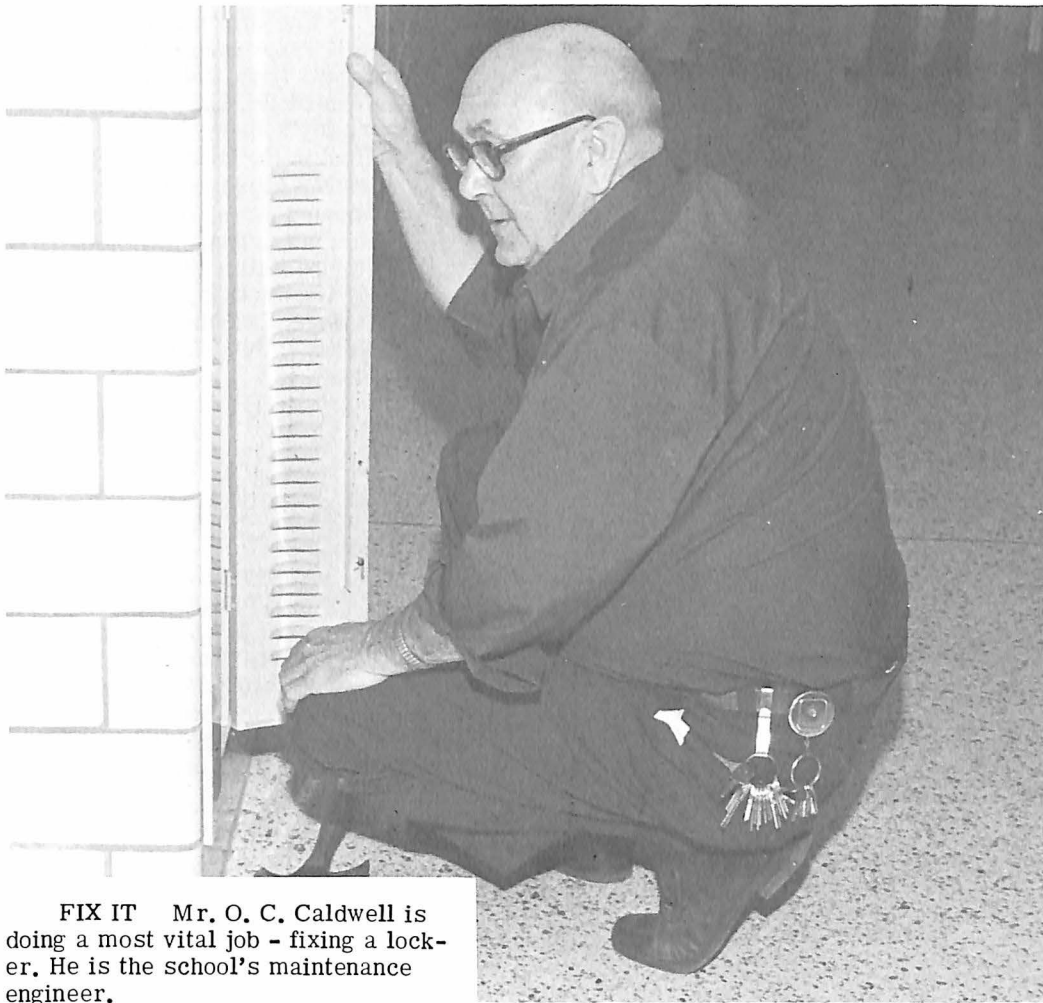

CAFETERIA STAFF PREPARES STUDENTS' MEALS

LUNCH TIME The eighth graders are stuffing themselves with the delicious meals prepared in our cafeteria.

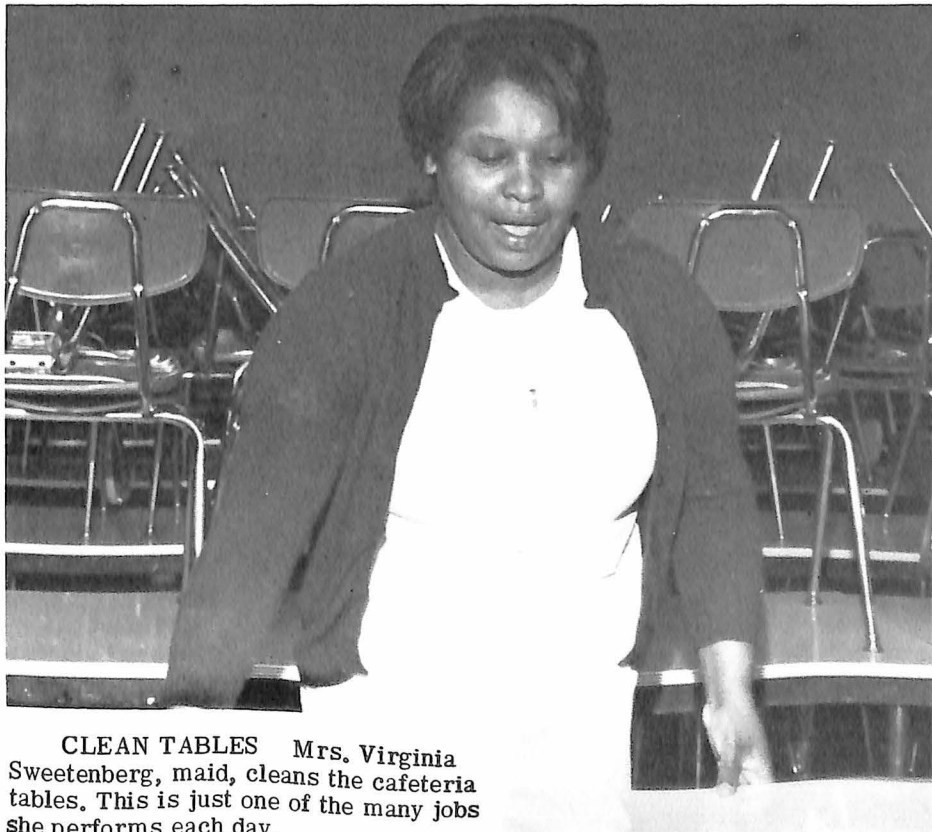

MENU PLANNING Mrs. Evona Turner plans the lunch menu for the next week. She is the manager of the cafeteria.

FIX IT Mr. O. C. Caldwell is doing a most vital job - fixing a locker. He is the school's maintenance engineer.

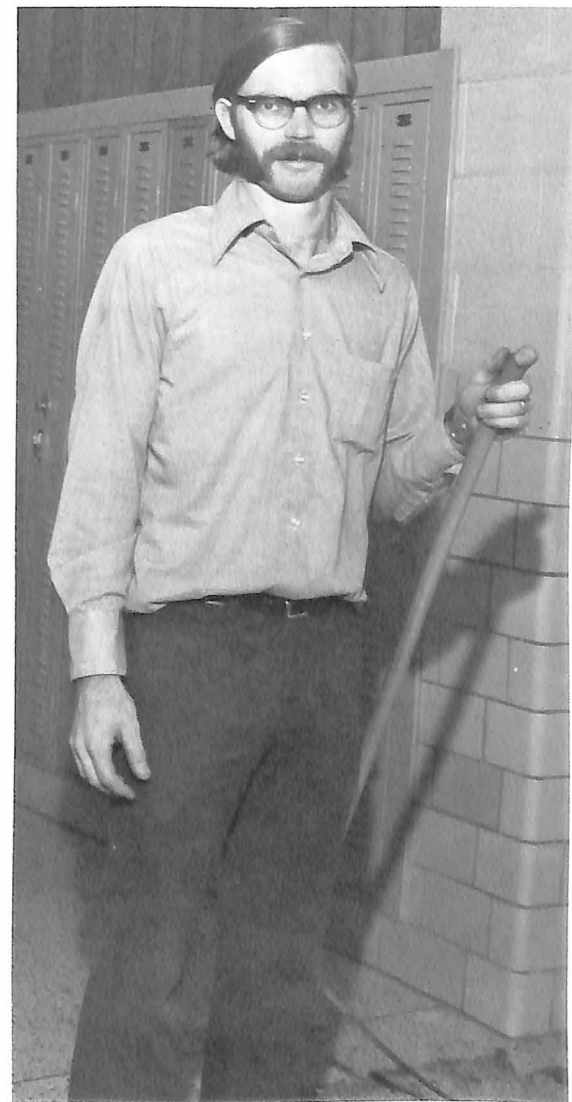

CLEAN, NEAT SCHOOL IS KEPT

CLEAN TABLES Mrs. Virginia Sweetenberg, maid, cleans the cafeteria tables. This is just one of the many jobs she performs each day.

Our custodial staff has the difficult job of keeping our school nice and clean. Some of the problems are getting chewing gum off of the desks, scuff marks off the floor, keeping the cafeteria floor free of food, and vaccuming in the rooms with carpet. We are grateful for everything this staff does.

About eight hundred delicious, nourishing meals are served daily by our cafeteria staff. Some of the favorite meals were hot dogs and hamburgers. The newest lunch was tacos and having soup every day. When the price increased for the teachers lunches, most teachers stopped buying lunch. Soon the school board lowered the price from $1.25 to 75¢. The participation soon was back to normal.

HARD WORKING Custodian Mark Surface pauses in the hall for a picture. Usually you see Mr. Surface ready to clean up a student's mess.

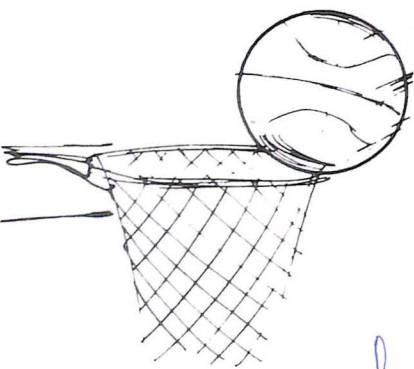

The Girl's Varsity Basketball Team received several prospects from Hidden Valley Intermediate. Last year, Hidden Valley's Junior Varsity placed first in the county. The Norsewomen hoped to keep up the winning streak of our school this year. They played Addison, Hidden Valley (JV only), North Cross, Jackson, Wilson, Breckinridge, Catholic (Varsity only), Ruffner, Cave Spring, and Madison.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

GREAT EXPECTATIONS AHEAD FOR NORSEWOMEN

ACTIVITIES

CLUSTER WORK . . . Audio visual equipment is put into use by Barbara Tice, Ivey Speight, Ellen Block, and Danny Broom. This method of teaching makes learning fun for students.

CLASS ACTIVITIES OFFER VARIETY

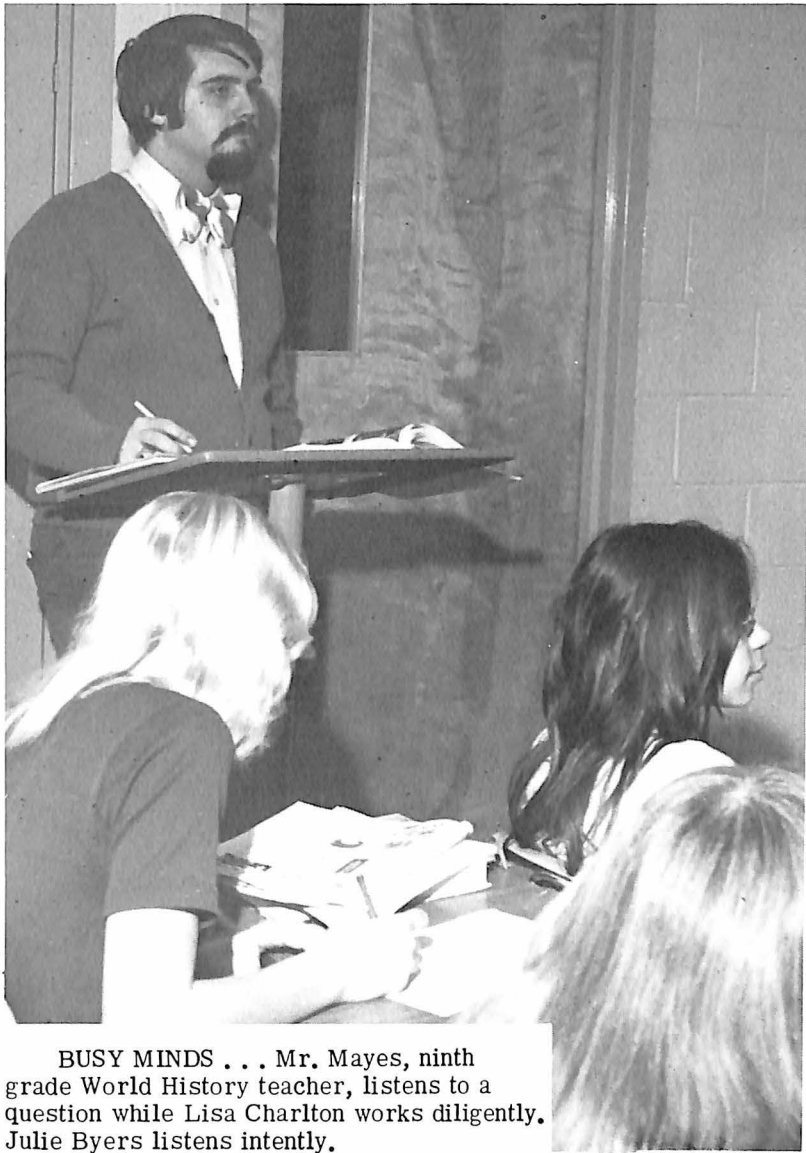

The Classroom Teacher aimed at a goal for his students for the year. The major objective became his area of concentration. The ninth graders learned to write term papers. The English and Social Studies teachers made a joint effort to help the student achieve the task of writing a research paper on an event in the history of the world.

Seventh graders worked on Fractions, Fractions and more Fractions. This was especially important if the student planned to take algebra or geometry. The Social Studies classes at the seventh grade level focused attention on student involvement through the use of cluster (group) work and packages. The use of audio visual equipment, speakers, and games related to the field of study added interest to the program.

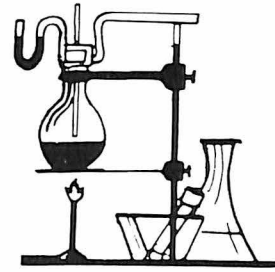

Life Science classes (seventh grade) studied the outdoors and nature. IPS classes (eighth grade) concentrated on finding characteristic properties of substances.

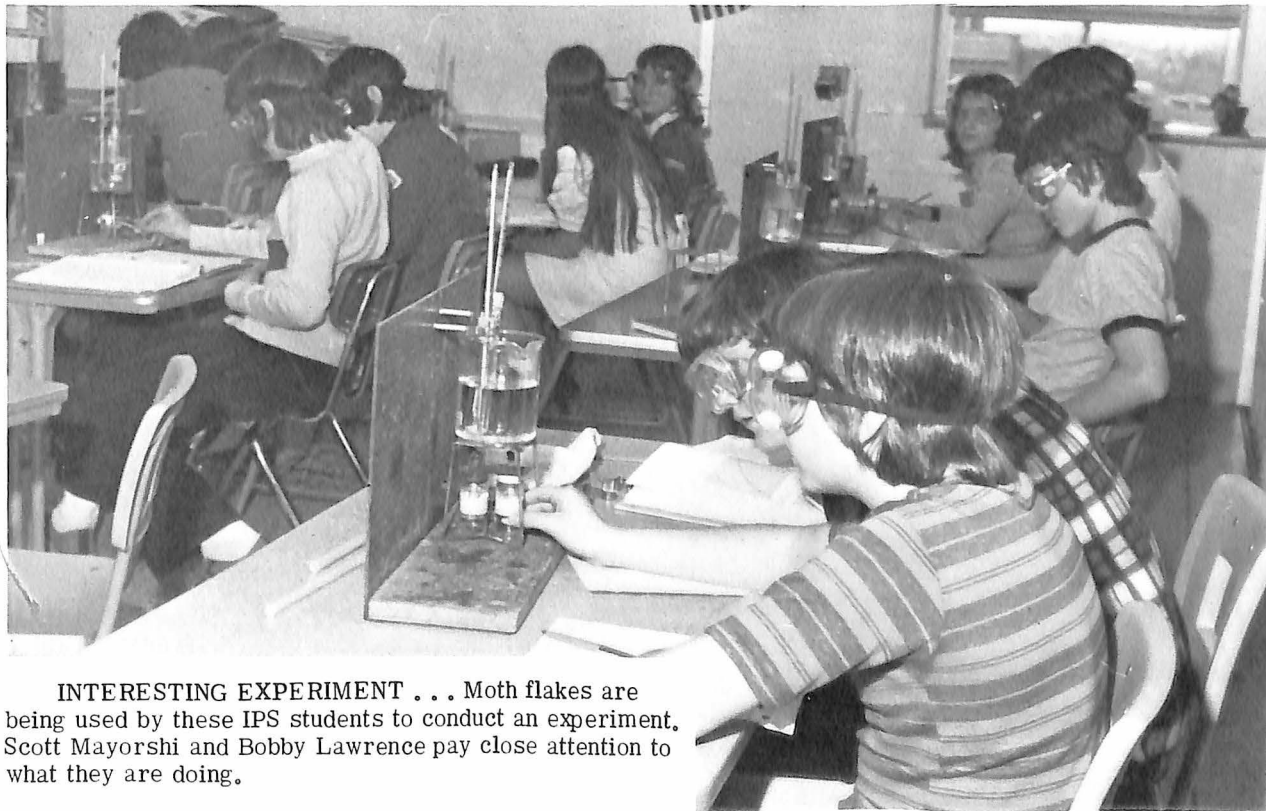

PROBLEM SOLUTION . . . 'Renaming fractions by multiplying or dividing the numerator and denominator by the same number' says Mrs. McClearn as she explains a fraction problem to Duane Carter.

BUSY MINDS . . . Mr. Mayes, ninth grade World History teacher, listens to a question while Lisa Charlton works diligently. Julie Byers listens intently.

FIELD TRIP . . . The out-of-doors always adds some excitement to a class. Steve Hutcherson listens as Mrs. Schwarz gives instructions on identifying leaves.

INTERESTING EXPERIMENT . . . Moth flakes are being used by these IPS students to conduct an experiment. Scott Mayorshi and Bobby Lawrence pay close attention to what they are doing.

CONCLUSION

SENATE PAGE . . . David Haskins, who was chosen to be a Page for the 1975 General Assembly, helps Senator William B. Hopkins.

HONORED TEACHER . . . Mrs. Lang accepts a first place Economic Teaching Award from Governor Mills E. Godwin, Jr. Mrs. Lang, working with Miss Thomas, won the award in the Junior High category.

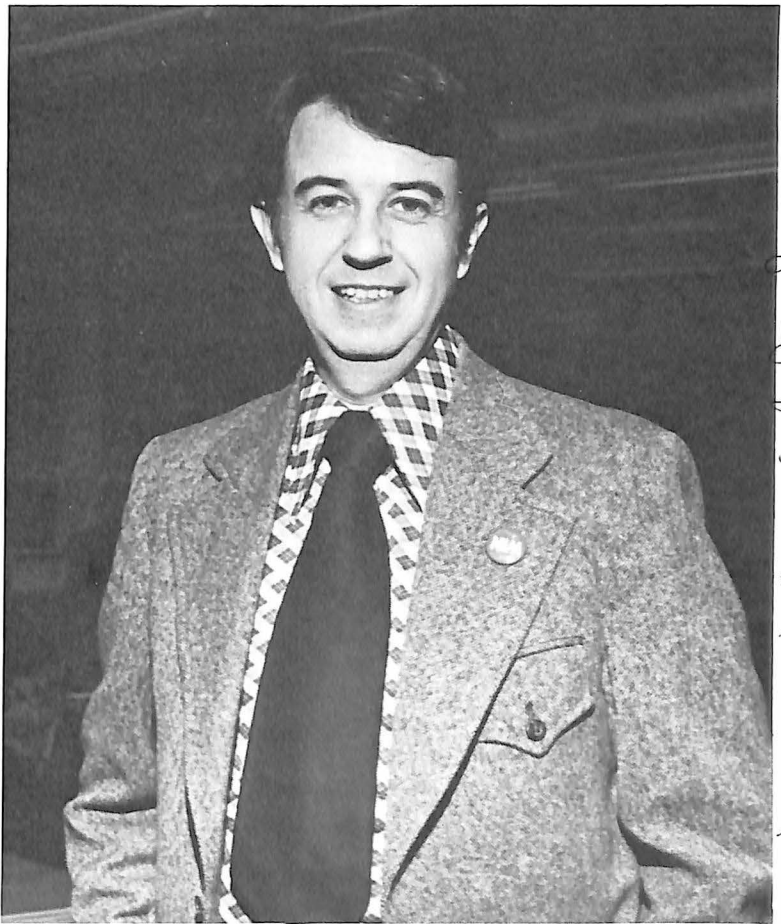

DUO BUTTON . . . If you turn this 'Whip Inflation Now' button upside down, you get 'No Immediate Miracles'. So, whatever your feelings about inflation, you can wear the button either way.

Our athletic teams, boys and girls, were the best in the valley. It was through hard practice that they came out 'Number 1'. In football six players received awards for outstanding play. They were Mike Price (Offensive Lineman), Jeff Murphy (Defensive Lineman), Richard Woolwine (Defensive Back), Eric Lewis (Running Back), Eddie Otey (Most Valuable Player), and Andy Newson (Unsung Hero). Not only were we Champs in Football but also Softball and Boys Freshmen Basketball.

Mrs. Lang and Miss Thomas received a trip to Richmond at the beginning of the school year. They toured the State Capitol and received a pin of the State Seal and a certificate of recognition from the Governor along with $50 cash for each teacher. The award was given for a nine weeks Economics unit in the Seventh grade Social Studies curriculum. In this unit they had banking, budgeting, speakers in the business field, textbook activities, and the use of many audio-visual materials.

David Haskins was chosen as a Senate Page for State Senator Hopkins. As a Page he ran errands for the Senator while the General Assembly was in session.

The school as a whole tried its best in academics, athletics, and spirits. Indeed, 1974-75 will be remembered as a year of recognition, when we strove to do our best.

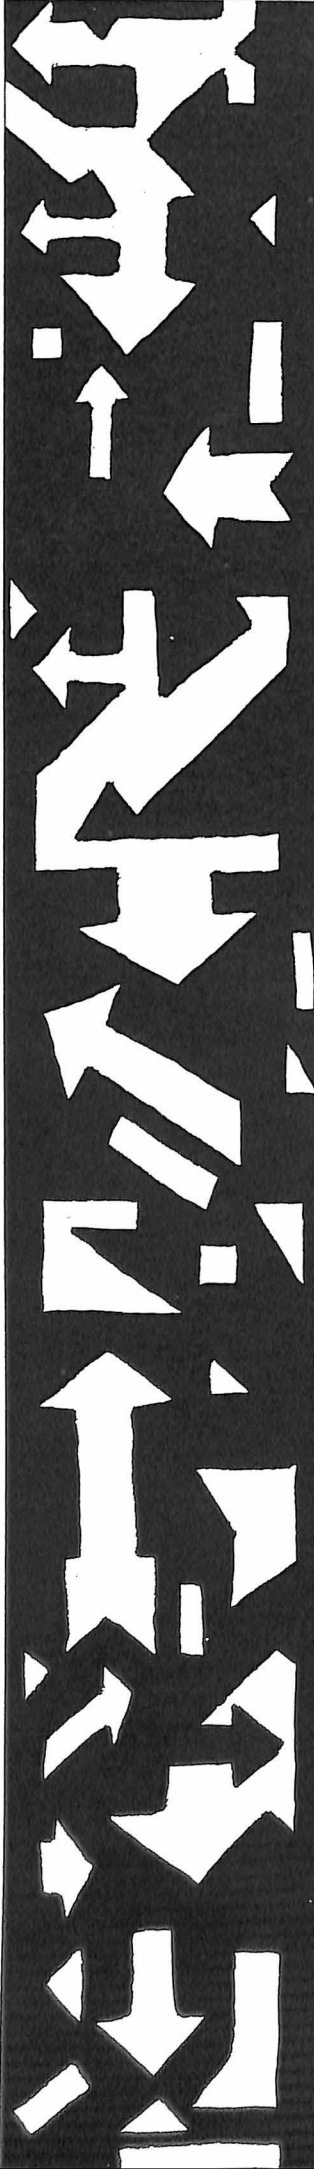

WHAT'S THAT . . . Instead of wearing his button the 'WIN' way, Mr. Jennings turned it upside down to make it the 'NIM' way.

I'll miss
you alot.

PROUD ATHLETES . . . Showing off their football trophies are Eddie Otey, Jeff Murphy, Mike Price, Richard Woolwine, Andy Newson, and Eric Lewis.

At NJHS we have tried to 'Whip Inflation Now', and we have lived up to the Norsemen tradition by doing our best. However, we find that even if we do our best that there are 'No Immediate Miracles'. We hope that we can work with our community to control inflation and the energy crisis.

The main ambition of teachers has been to help the students so they can make wise decisions at Northside High and after graduation. The teachers have helped the students decide about careers and future occupations.

The Guidance Department has not only tried to provide information about careers and help solve academic and personal problems, but have also undertaken to solve the weight problem.

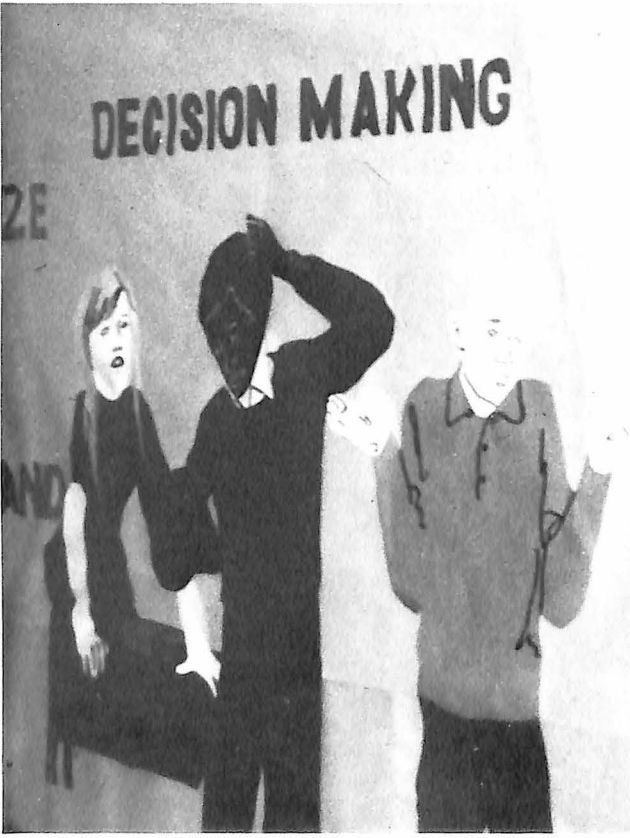

Interest, cooperation, and leadership were furthered through club participation. Unfortunately, the number of students in clubs dropped because the meetings were held after school. We hope that in the future more students will take advantage of opportunities afforded through club membership.

In changing directions this year, we met obstacles but we overcame them with optimism and the Norsemen spirit.

NO PROBLEM . . . Ellen Block is sure to open her locker this time. She has had much practice during the school year.

YEAR'S ACTIVITIES DRAW TO A CLOSE

SOLVING PROBLEMS . . . This bulletin board shows the trouble a student sometimes goes through making a decision. Many teachers stressed 'decision making' as a step toward maturity and responsibility.

Dear Alice,

I'm real glad I met you. You're a real cool chick. I hope that we can be in some classes together next year. I hope you get off your crutches soon. I'll always remember the good laughs we've had at lunch.

Remember the puky lunches that you never ate. But I did. Remember me starving for lunch to come.

I don't think I can use the whole page. I'll just do my job.

Love,

Dear Alice,

I know you would like me to use the whole page, but isn't that a little strange. What if I run out of things to say? Oh well!

To start with it has really been cool being in classes this year and last year. Remember Ms. Deoth and 4th period English, sure you do. I often get the feeling she thought we (David, Gary, Rhonda, + Alice) belonged in a home. Now what I hope is that we all get her next year. Then we can prove her right.

You're a real good friend and I hope you get what ever you want, out of life that is. Have fun at high school next year.

Alice,

I've only known you for a while, but it's been real nice eating with ya. You're real sweet, stay that way.
