AND NOW ... IN THESE HALLS WE EXPERIENCE THE

Stephen Cromer presenting a new method for measuring intelligence ... it's this big!

In the seventh grade, in a classroom, everybody's ... what are they doing anyway?

CHALLENGE OF EDUCATION.

You want me to trans-pose this book into two pages?!

So ... paper is what you put in the printer!

The "three amigos"
counting in Spanish.

THE THRILL OF VICTORY . . .

Zach Croma — gives a victory salute along with a prize winning smile.

A Fariss victory yell at ALMS

A modest victory for Troy Peters . . . What's behind the hands?

A victory lunch at the cafeteria . . . NOT by the look on their faces

A victory for computing wizard Jimmy Lewis

REALIZING THE GOALS OF THE FUTURE!

An artistic future for Kristen Crotts and Tabitha Adams

Realizing future goals can sometimes put you down in the dumps ... literally!

Troy Johnson realizes that you can't beat the information into ones head.

The future lies beneath our fingers.

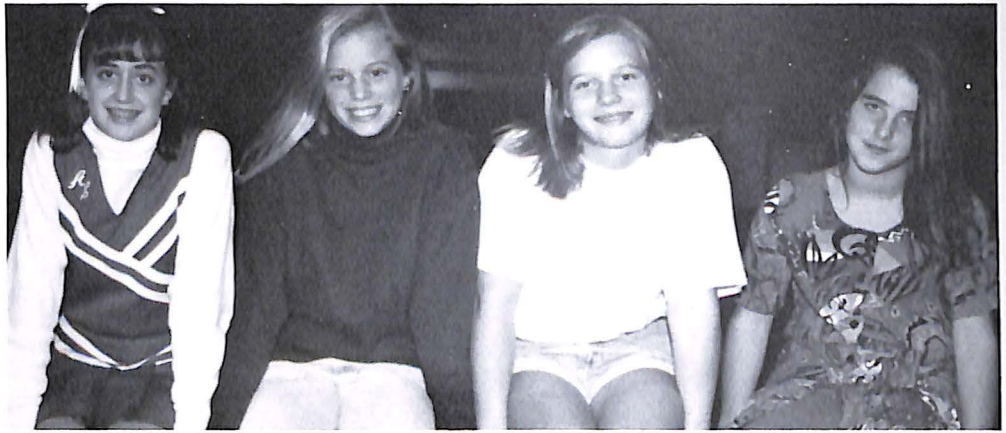

A glamorous future in the works

THE 1992-93 YEAR IN SPORTS

Football team ... playing the field.

The ALMS Colorguard practices for a great year of precision flag work.

"And this is a headlock in the sport of wrestling"

Members of the basketball team await the arrival of ... the ball!

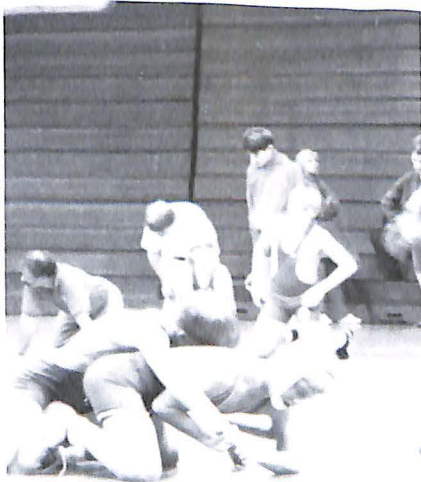

Waiting for a game to begin

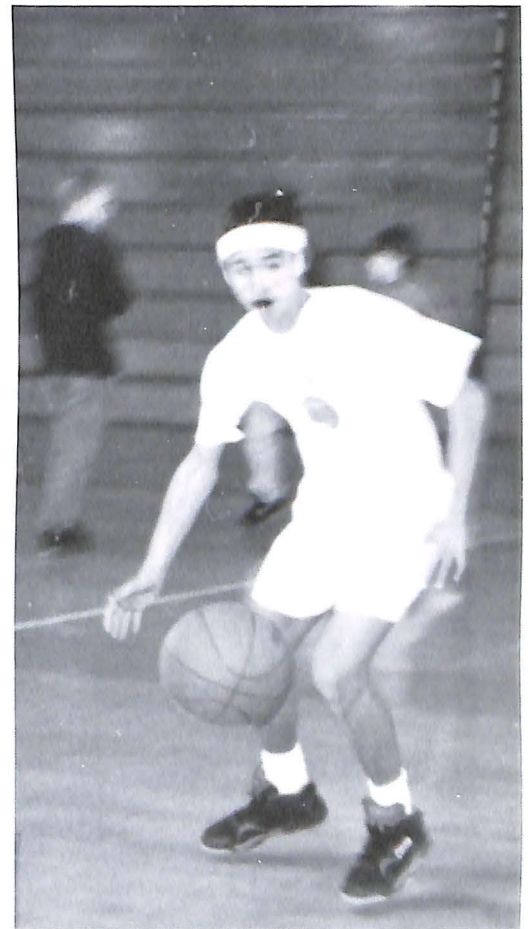

Climbing to the top is something this squad accomplishes with ease.

It's my arm and I'm keeping it!

Center field is where the action is.

Bouncing ball and player — practice makes it easier to win.

OBSERVATIONS ON THE MIDDLE SCHOOL YEARS

by: Linda Addington

*The bells are ringing in my ears
They bring sweet sounds of youth
They're running up and down the halls
And shouting things uncouth!*

*They stop and check the mirrors
To see how much they've changed
Some smack and hit each other
As if they were deranged*

*They're thin and short and fat and tall
They're tired — they're energetic
They're clumsy when they try to move 'cause
Their growth rate is FRENETIC!*

*Bless this precious egos —
Those things are made of glass —
Handle them with white kid gloves —
Each one that's in my class*

*Be careful how to talk to them
Try not to put them down
If I'm not fair, they'll let me know
With a loud, obnoxious sound!*

*I never know how they'll react —
Just what they think and feel!
The strangest moods keep coming 'round
Like the cars on a ferris wheel!*

*Now, some have hair that's sensible
And other's hair is wacky
Some well-dressed and look real nice
While other's seem quite tacky*

*They want adults to urge them on —
Or even criticize them
Yet it's friends who they will listen to —
Don't try to analyze them!*

Since they're all so varied,
How can they hear me call?
Their learning styles are different,
With some no style at all!

Some like bright light, while some do not
Some need a room to be warm
Some like to sit up straight in their chairs
And others refuse to conform!

It doesn't need to be quiet
For some people's brain to receive
There are those who need to be on the move
In order for them to achieve.

The brains to the "left" seem to work well alone,
While the "right" ones prefer peer relation
To call them "brain dead" isn't right — isn't so!
They're just turned to "real slow animation"!

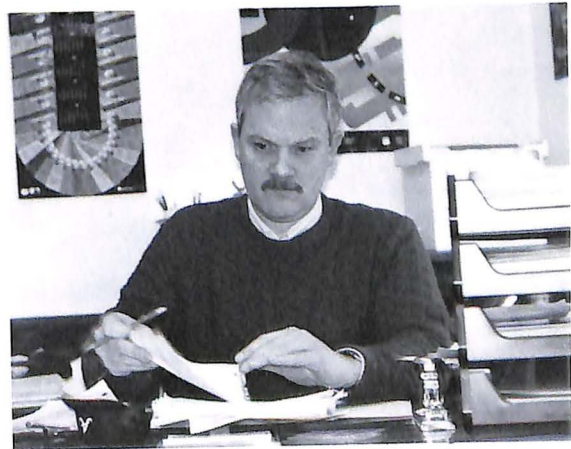

Now say it and write it and read it as well
Need to cover all of the bases
Let them move it and touch it and work on until There's AWARENESS on some of their faces!

The bells ring out loud and clear once again
It's the sign to get up and move out
A "fresh" group wildly cascades through my door
REACH A CHILD — that is what it's about!

No! I am not crazy
And, I am no fool!

I just teach —

In a MIDDLE SCHOOL!!!

*All my work here is through,
And now it's time to leave,
Advancement on a new horizon
But where am I to go?
So lost in life,
For it overwhelms me,
But the sun rises quickly,
And I am not afraid.*

Jacob Stanley

Can you decipher the puzzles that these people can?

You never get bored in boardgames.

Cards, anyone?

Bailando, me paso el día bailando.

All keyed up in keyboarding class . . . NOT

*Just a little farther, if . . .
I try, I can make it,
so close but yet so far, I am . . .
at the midway point, to close to turn back, yet so close to my goal.*
