Matty

Matt,
I'll miss you next year. Good luck in cross country. I may do it also. I'm glad that you + Marty got together. You look good together. Have a good summer.
Love,
Lori

Matt,
It was pretty fun
in Science this year.
(Track + Wrestling also)
See you over the summer and we'll go
swimming a lot.
We'll also go out on a date with Marty and Anne.

Later

Matt,

I'm so glad you and Marty got together. I'm glad I met you too. Band was so fun. I'll never forget the Band Trip! That was so fun! Hope to see you over the summer. Good luck next year.

See ya,

Anne

Matt,

It's been a great year. See ya around!

Matty

Matt
Hey! Been a pretty cool year!
Maybe we'll have more classes
next & I'm sure I'll see you over the summer! (bike-riding)
Good luck w/ you + Marty!
See ya next year!

Love ya,

Merri

Matt,

It's been great this year in lunch. We've had fun watching Todd and his temper tantrums. I liked it when he'd complain to the cooks.
This summer we can finally stay over with each other + my brother and Ethan. See ya this summer

Steph Collins

Matt,
I've gotten to know you in beer
track and it's just HAWT.
Stay cool.
Tricia Pullman

Matt,
Hey, I didn't write anything
"bad", okay? I don't know you too well, but it's been terrific anyway.

Beth

Matt, Track has been awesome! Sprinting
is sooo much fun!
Best of luck next year!
Have a wonderful
summer!

Matt,
I'm glad we had
English together or
I think I wouldn't have lived through it!
Hope to have some classes together next year & if you want my advice - keep Marty!

See ya

Matt,

Nice seeing you in my classes and lunch. Especially English with Mrs. Payne jumping all over the place. Have fun this summer. Good luck with Marty.

Matt,

Hey there! Well we're coming nearer to the final countdown of school days! I can't wait till summer! It's going to be great! Even though the work has been hard, overall it's been a good year. I wanted to thank you for making my last year at Hidden Valley one of the best. I'm so glad I met you. You are a very special person. Your great personality keeps me going through the day. I'm really going to miss you next year, but I'll still get to see you on the weekends and talk to you. We'll make it! Think about that you and I will get in double the dances next year. You have so much going for you, and are so nice to everybody! I know you will go far in life. You've done so much for me. You'll never know how much it meant to me that you were there for me during cheerleading tryouts. When I broke my ankle you were so sweet to carry my books for me! Thank you for everything you do! I hope the relationship and special friendship we have will last for a long time!! Good Luck in everything you do! I love you!

lots of love,

Matty xoxo

Je t'aime!

THE RIGHT COMBINATION

THE RIGHT COMBINATION

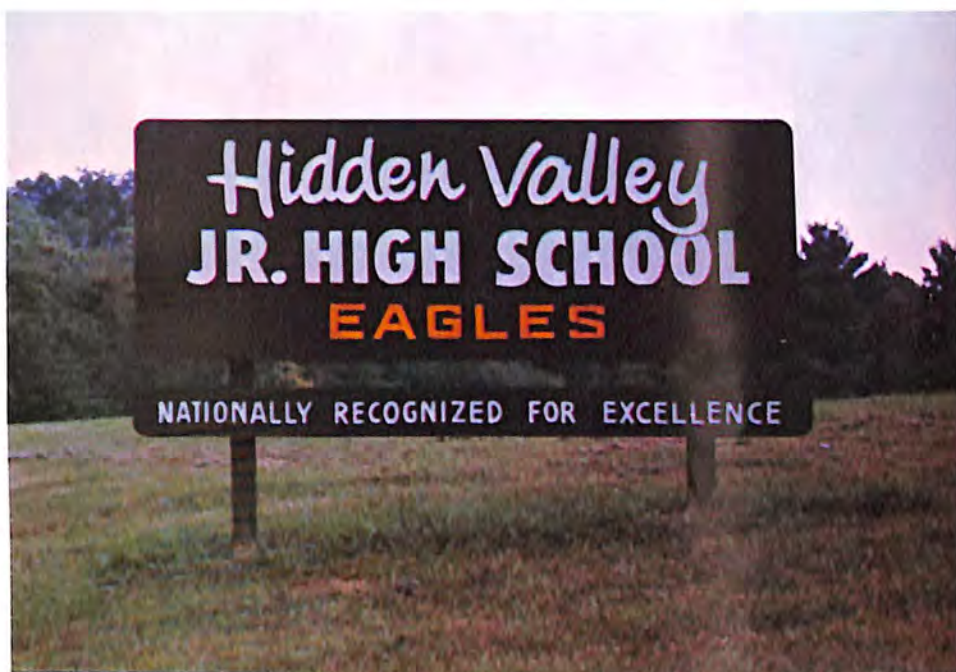

THE RIGHT COMBINATION In every workable system, there are cooperating parts that keep the mechanics of the system running smoothly. We must all combine socially, athletically, and academically. With the right combination mixed with everyone working together, we can form an unbreakable bond; indeed, we have proved this dedication once again and we have shown that we can be superior in all that we do. Beth Eby

A fire drill interrupts classes frequently during the first month of school. However, the importance of the drill is reflected in the orderly and quiet manner in which students exit the building.

Our school continued to reflect excellence in all that they did.

BACK TO SCHOOL night proves to be the right combination of faculty, parents, and students all working together toward the same goal — educating tomorrow's leaders.

We are grateful for the cooperation between our federal and state governments. This cooperation enables us to have the best education possible.

Cooperation between administration and faculty and students provides the right combination for an effective school. Mr. Price and Mr. Boyer share lunch duty during second lunch.

Stuck in the Middle

Life of Seventh and Eighth Graders

There have been many changes for both the seventh and eighth graders. Their teachers have expected more of them and their courses have gotten harder.

All the students coming up from sixth grade have been able to participate in school sports, while the eighth graders have had two years to participate.

Several students from both the seventh and eighth grade have shared comments about their experiences this year.

Jason Burton exclaimed "This is the year to Party!"

Terri Edillion added "It's better than seventh grade."

"We have more freedom and are treated like upper classmen. We get to go to the eighth and ninth grade dances," related Tonya King.

"All of a sudden everything has gotten harder," reflected Stephanie Saunders.

Bob Shelton & David Day

The break between classes is fun for Brian Crabbs and Rachel Puffenbarger.

Chatting to Kristen Bourne are Tracy Spencer, Susan James, and Melissa Clark during gym class.

Trumpet playing in band helps Chanda Campbell cope with being stuck in the middle.

Lunch provides a good social period for Kirsten Stewart.

Social Studies requires a report by Matt Cabaniss.

As members of the sixth grade, these present seventh graders, Prasanth Reddy, Jenny Turner, Kara Matney, and Kristin Westermann, took first place in the Brian Bowl competition with Cave Spring and Andrew Lewis.

Course work seemed harder and more concentration was needed during class. Jenny Hervis and Michelle Filson work hard during study hall to be prepared.

Hello Sixth!

The new members of our student body, the sixth graders, took pride in their school and showed it with immense school spirit. They participated in all of the action during spirit week and showed their enthusiasm at the pep rally.

Math is a required subject for all sixth graders. Mrs. Atkisson's class pack up their books to leave at the sound of the bell.

The sixth graders have had a hard time adapting to a new school. Some may go two weeks without finding the bathroom, but others have to carry all their books around, because they can't get their lockers open!

Here are a few quotes we took from different sixth graders about what they think of school.

David Kunkle says, "I think it's cool, and I like the girls." Michael Bender says, "Hidden Valley is big, and I like the teachers." Dana Cox, Kelly Plott, Tara Prillaman.

A ninth grade gym class awaits Miss Johnson's signal for the start of the exercise period.

Goodby Freshmen!

The freshman year meant a bunch of different things to different people. Classes were a lot harder. Freshmen said they had more friends.

Lance Brewer says, "My freshman year was a time of enjoyment and hardship."

David Balkus remarked, "Tenth grade will be a time to party!"

Kirk Knight and Eddie Martin commented, "A time to meet people and have fun."

As top of the line students the freshman will leave with wonderful memories and exciting dreams.

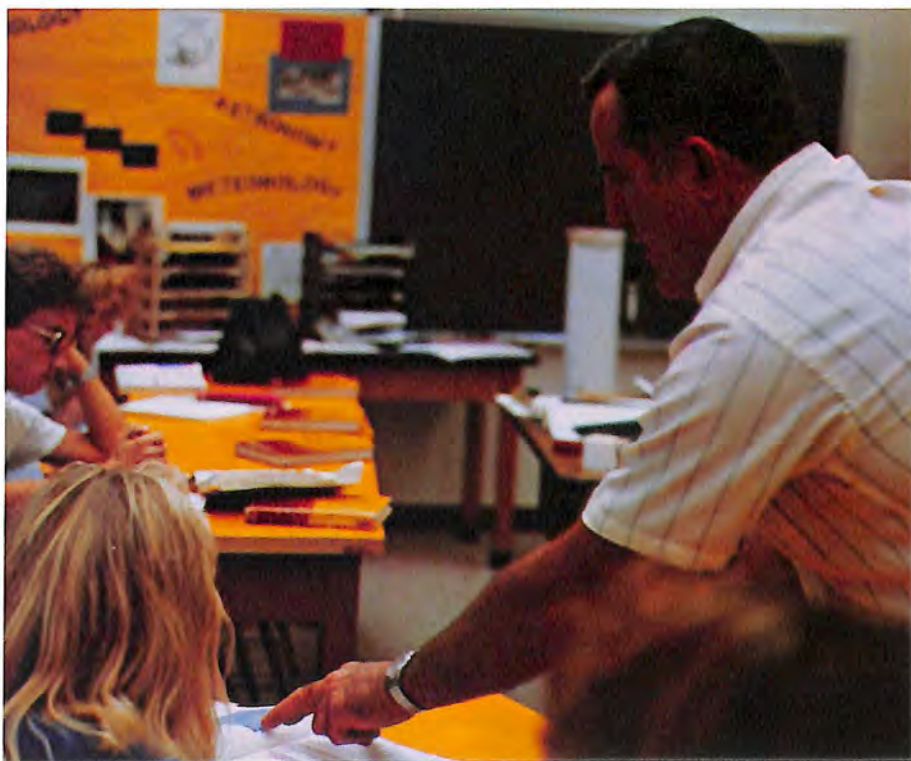

During a Spirit Week pep rally everyone learned something. Eddie Martin, Ashleigh Grubbs, Ben Day, and Marty Newell show how they warm up before games.

Freshman will always remember the faculty they met, and the friends they have made. Tara Prillaman, Dana Cox, Kelly Plott.

Members of the sixth grade class participated in the 100 mile club after school. These students walked or jogged 100 miles.

 RIGHT: Typing come easy to David Balkus and Lori Ungerer who show their skills on one of many typing tests.

UGHHH!!! Another Test!

Your heart starts beating faster. Your hands begin to sweat. As the teacher starts to hand out the test your mind goes blank! You panic trying to think of something (anything) to put down on the blank paper before you!

This is a natural reaction to something that has been happening since we started school. We have been taking tests since kindergarten when we learned the difference between our right and left hands. We will probably be taking tests for the rest of our lives in one way or another. Whether it is a test in school or a drivers test the fact is in our society today tests play a major part in our lives!

Besides test in classes, students are responsible for physical fitness tests, vision tests, and a wide range of standardized tests. All of these tests serve an important purpose.

They discipline us and prepare us to cope in our own future world. Amanda Guyre.

Who is dancing with whom? Was the big question at the first dance of the year.

This fire drill is over and the students return to the building for more spirit week activities.

Blue and gold are Matt Via and Philip Ashby's favorite colors during Spirit Week.

Sixth grade students dress in blue and gold for the first pep rally.

Stand up for the Eagles is the cheer that Marcie McGuire and Courtney Keister shout to raise the students' spirits.

SPIRIT WEEK

Includes Many Activities

Spirit week was a time for students to show their enthusiasm and dedication. Students could be seen in their Sunday best on Monday. He's became she's and she's became he's on Tuesday. On Wednesday students showed their spirit not only by wearing blue and gold but also by cheering loudly for our school at our first pep rally. On Thursday students became patriotic as they dressed in red, white, and blue to celebrate the 200th birthday of our Constitution. Friday students dressed in their most comfortable clothes some did not even change out of their pajamas. Spirit week ended with a spirit dance sponsored by the cheerleaders. Amanda Guyre and Tonya King.

The Spirit Dance was held on Friday, the 18th of September. It was sponsored by the cheerleaders, and Lee Thommoson acted as the D.J. Many students attended and either had a fun or okay time. There were some broken hearts but they were repaid by new found love. Some of the students who attended gave their opinions:

Christy Sisson — "It was cool, but there were not enough guys."

Sarah Adams — "It was O.K., but I wish there were more dances."

Carrie Brown — "It was fun and the food was good." Stephanie Saunders.

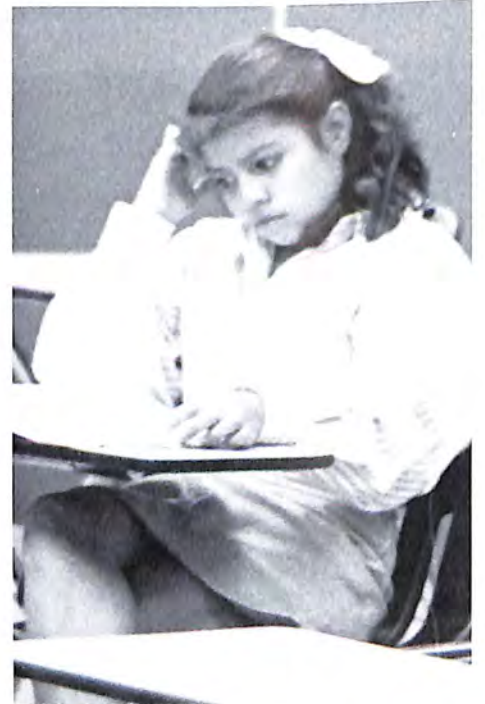

Student Days

Students go through hectic days more than one time during the year. But sometimes they can turn the story around and laugh. The days seem so long they think they will never end. When the bell rings at 3:20, they know they are free to go home for at least twelve hours. Kim Haislip and Kristin Bourne Catching up on soccer news is something Pat Murphy likes to do when he is in the library since soccer is his favorite sport.

Swapping gossip at lunch helps make the day more enjoyable for Melanie Smith and Susan James.

Concentrating hard on her book Jennie Gotwalt finds the day passes quickly since she is interested in all her classes.

Life Science with Mr. Hafey is fun for Kristin Cox, April Strayer, and Ryan Boone.

Getting her foot wrapped before the game is essential for Lisa Hodges to play well.

No pep rally would be complete without the spirited music of the pep band.

Class breaks afford a good opportunity to catch up on the latest news for Heidi Eaton, Eric Wiseman and Ashley Valentine.

A reading break for John Schultz helps break up his day.

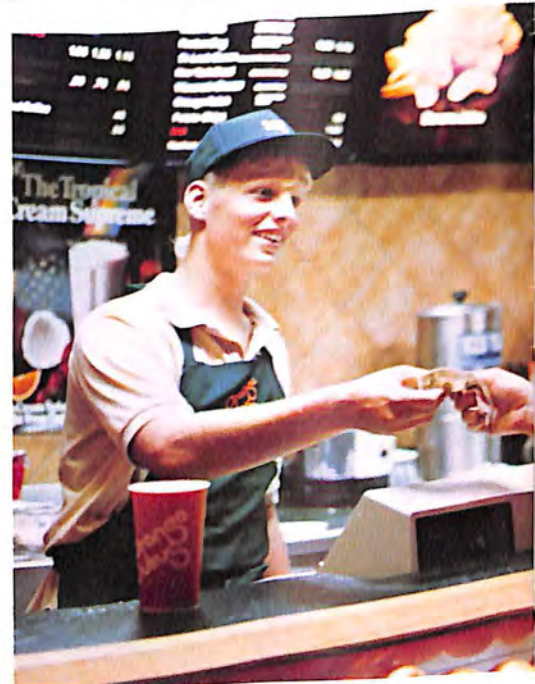

NIGHT

With nothing else planned, Emily Shelton practices her piano.

Trying their luck at modeling, Lisa Hodges and Stacy Smith decided that they wouldn't like to be mannequins.

After seeing the price of the tape, Danielle Dowdy, Jennifer Marcus, and Meredith Garrison decided that they would put it back.

LIFE

3:18, 3:19, 3:20 — Ring!! Finally the school day is over! The busy day of students doesn't end when the 3:20 bell rings. Many have to attend sports practices or games. Some go home to finish their homework, and call up some friends to get together. The mall is a possibility. Others can go out for pizza, or perhaps go to a movie with someone special. However they choose to spend their time, the students have a sense of independence. They know that the time is theirs to do whatever they like. This is all a part of Night Life!
Allison McWhorter

"I like this book." "What about this one?" Liz Trantham and Becky Ritchey can't decide which book to choose.

Guess who? Mary Spiller, Lisa Hodges, and Jason Burton were trying on Halloween costumes at the mall. Can you figure out who's who?

There are many places at the mall to get something to eat. Matt McGlennon pays for a shake from Orange Julius.

What's Hot?

Everything changes. Times, people, music, movies, and feelings. Also the styles of clothes that people wear change. When we look back at the 50's poodle skirts, saddle shoes, penny loafers, and argyle socks and sweaters were in style. Today we think how outlandish that looked. In the future we will look back at the 80's and wonder how we could wear such attire! Today's styles and trends will eventually change. Right now Guess?, Pasta, Outback Red, Forenza, tie dyes, Levis, Polo shirts, and Sebagos are all in style. We couldn't possibly think of wearing anything different. Who knows what we will come up with next! Allison McWhorter

Wearing her baggy pants and Sebagos, two of the newest items on the fashion scene, Traci Spencer cleans the blackboard during study hall.

Enjoying the mall after school, Tracy Prillaman, Tricia Prillaman, Andrea Stewart, and Tonya King show many of the current styles.

Tie dyes are numerous this year. Many students bought theirs at the Grateful Dead concert. Trey Phillips enjoys wearing his to school.

The scarf that Rachel Daigle is wearing is very stylish along with a blouse and a pair of jeans.

This years Christmas Dance was a great success! More than 450 people came, and the S.C.A. made over $600.00. The music was played by Dan Semones. The gym was decorated with crepe paper, reindeer, Santas, stars, and Christmas trees. Kristin Bourne

Elective Classes

You Mean We Have a Choice?

Why do students take an elective class?

To get out of study hall. Because I didn't want to take band. Because my mother made me. Because I wanted to!

Although there are many different reasons for taking typing, art, home economics, and technology education students who take these classes can all agree on one thing — they are fun!

Art students made jewelry, drew famous people, made clay pots, drew fruit, and did water colors. Many students used the completed projects as Christmas gifts.

Technology education students made CO 2 cars. By popping the cartridge the car was propelled. Races determined winners. Photography, screen printing, and special projects were made.

Foreign language classes are perhaps the most difficult of the electives. Students choose between Spanish, French, and Latin. However, it isn't all memorization. Students in these classes have fun, too. In Latin there is an auction of slaves. Students who are bought perform all kinds of tasks for their temporary owners. Foreign language students have the opportunity to join clubs for their language. They also sing carols in their languages, buy sweatshirts, and go on field trips. For students who plan to go to college, a foreign language is a must.

The activities in each of these classes are varied. In home economics students planned a luncheon and invited a guest. They learned about nutrition. They learned to sew and completed a project. The class was geared to help students learn to cope in today's world.

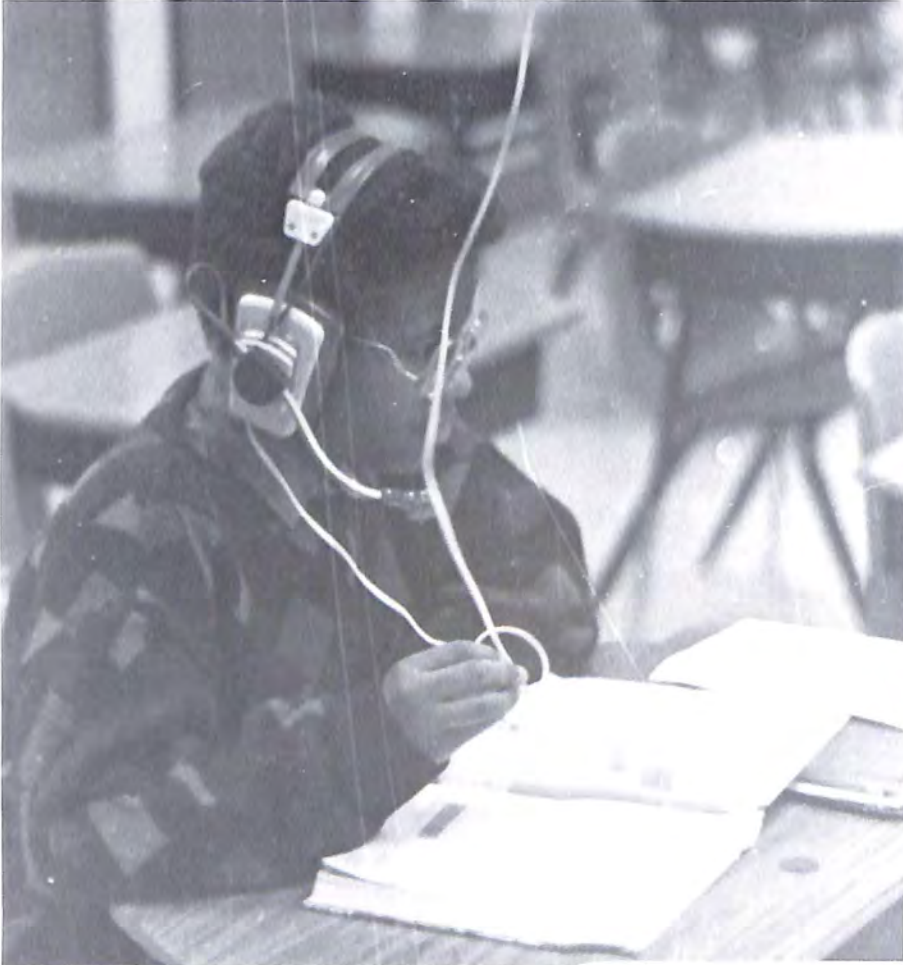

Helping students prepare to type those long college term papers was typing class. ASDF JKL;. But there was more to class than drills. Mystery pictures helped students learn their keys and have fun at the same time. Kim Haislip and Kristin Bourne.

Gym students spread out on the field to continue the game. Pretty weather always finds the classes outside.

You Mean We Have a Choice?

Listening to tapes is a familiar activity for foreign language students. Pam Colbert listens carefully to be sure of the correct pronunciation.

Slave Day was a Latin event. Ethan Greer had to dress up for his master.

Latin students entertain their Latin teacher.

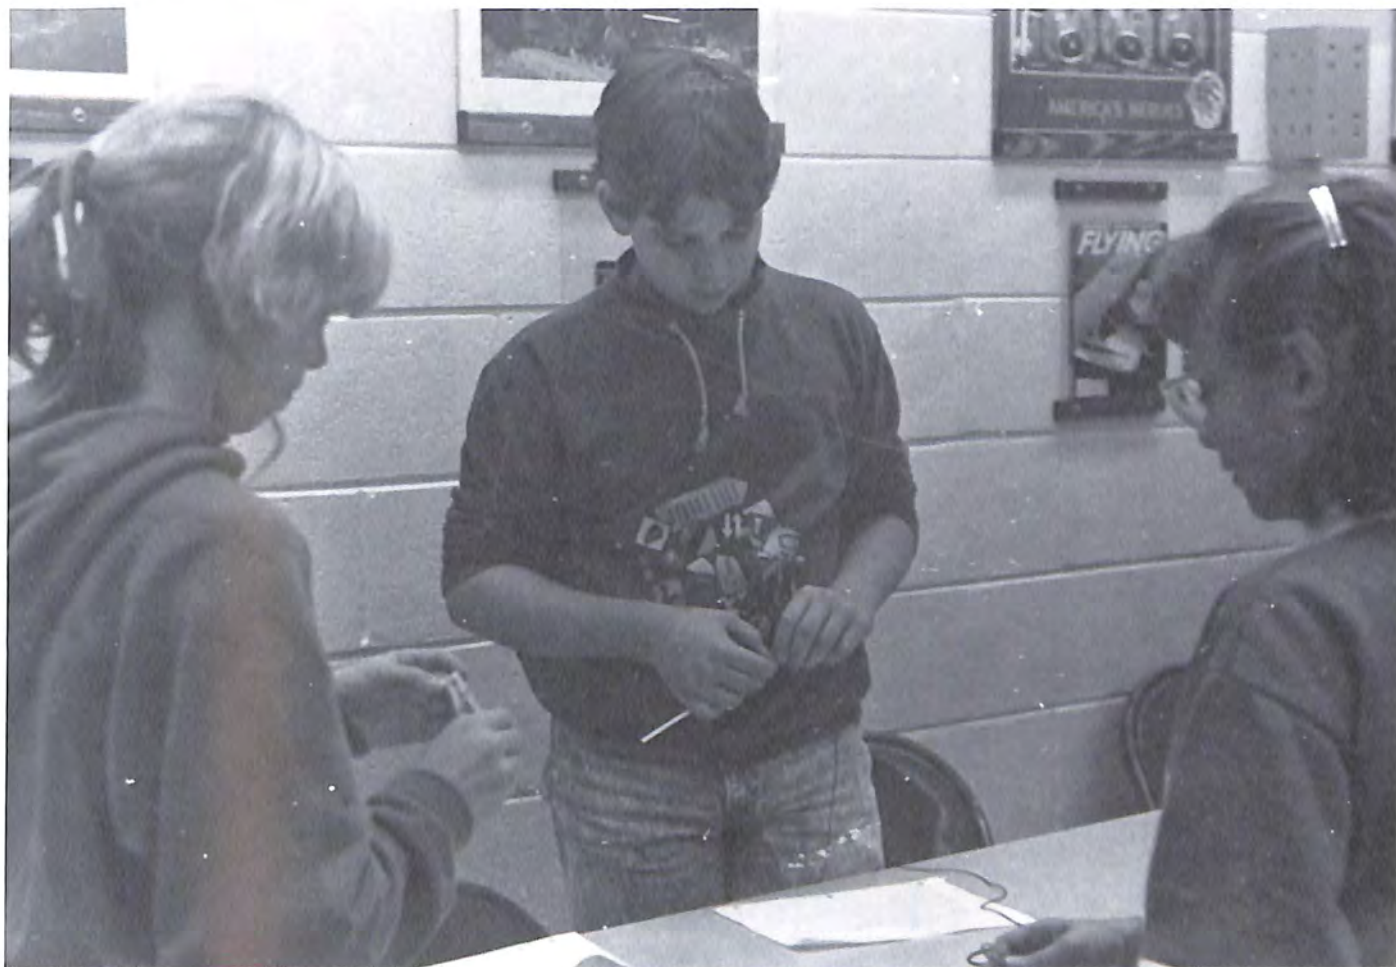

Looking carefully at what she is typing is Perrie Ayla. Proofreading is a necessary skill.

Perfecting his block letters in art is Robbie Palmer.

While others work on their projects, Amy Godfrey, Chris Corey and Angela Bernys work on their technology education report.

Discussion her project with Mrs. Robinson is Carla Beck.

Problem solving is a skill learned in technology education. Derek Wray and Brad Patton work on their problem.

Discussing an art project are Suzanne Luther and Chrissy Perminer.

Clubs, Clubs, and more Clubs

The Pep Club supported our athletic teams by attending games to raise the fans spirits. They made posters and buttons for the teams and the fans. They also planned pep rallies. In order to be in the pep club members had to pay dues and go to a certain number of games. The pep club bought t-shirts to wear to all the games. They also sold Hidden Valley banners to raise money for the club. The newly formed club was sponsored by Mrs. Blackmore.

The S.C.A. did many things for the students. They organized dances and various student activities. They gave plants to the teachers during American Education week. They were involved in a student exchange program with other schools. They collected food baskets at Christmas and helped PTA sponsor the talent show. They sold donuts to raise money for their activities. They co-sponsored a dance with Cave Spring for the freshmen. They had a skating party for 6th and 7th graders. The best dressed got a free skating pass. About 90 students attended the party. The goal of the S.C.A. is to create good relations between students, faculty, and parents.

The Honor Society serves our community and school in many ways. The honor society consists of 23 members. The officers are elected. They do all activities in four different categories: Service: They served at the spaghetti dinner at school and worked as guides at Back to School Night.

Leadership: They had a seminar before school started. They had an exchange program with other schools. They also taught class during American Education week. They had a brain bowl in April. They arranged honor roll parties.

Scholarship: The members have to maintain an A-B average.

Citizenship: They adopted a grandparent from Camelot nursing home. They have a big brother big sister program. They went to visit the General District Court on one of their days off.

Character: It takes character to do all of these things.

The 20 members of the 100 Mile Club ran harder than they have ever run before. All the students that participated were sponsored by Mr. Rosemond. The students that ran, dedicated several afternoons, after school, to accumulate 100 miles.

The Hundred Mile Club held their fall FUN RUN on November 18 after school. The fastest time was by Scott Sallis. He ran a 11:56. But to win this race participants had to predict their time before the race. Scott was three minutes faster than he predicted. The winners were tied for closest to their prediction. Jason Altizer and Seth Keyes were only 20 second off their prediction in the boys' division. Kim Wray was only 25 seconds off in the girls' division. Kerri Mikkelson was second closest in her group and Derek Wray was second closest in the boys group. There are approximately 25 sixth graders who are members of the Hundred Mile Club. Tara Prillaman, Tonya King

The pep club cheers on the team at a basketball game.

During American Education Week Michelle Godley is helping John Hawthorne with his French work.

They Made Me Take It!

English, social studies, math, and science. No one gets through the years in school without encountering these classes. However, it isn't necessarily as bad as it sounds. Many times, exciting things are going on in each of these classes.

Movies are often on the agenda in English classes. To complement novels, such as The Diary of Anne Frank, The Outsiders, The Forgotten Door, Where the Red Fern Grows, students get to see the movie. Writing contests also liven up the classes. This Is My Country

... and Yours, Too, was a writing contest in which ninth grade students participated. Some sixth graders entered a national haiku contest. Reflections, sponsored by the P.T.A., is an annual event.

The election was big news in social studies. A mock election was held for the entire school. Sponsored by the eighth graders, everyone had a chance to vote. The theme for world geography classes was Around the World in 180 days. Each week the classes explored different countries, cultures, governments and aspects of the people's everyday lives. Civics classes toured the transportation museum.

Math contests were entered by many. The new math books impressed many students.

Voted as the favorite subject by all four classes was science. And why was this? Students like science because of labs, research, exploring current topics, field trips, nature trail, and the science teachers' sense of humor. Stephanie Saunders and Kelly Plott

Students socialize with their friends between trains at the transportation museum.

In the math lab Mr. Reedy, Clancy Moore, Mrs. Brammer, Jonelle Frederico, and Susan James discuss a math assignment.

Odyssey of the Mind

This 7th grade OM team goes from mild to wild when discussing their project. The girls wrote, choreographed, staged, and presented their version of Aesop's Fable, "A Wolf in Sheep's Clothing." Many hours of preparation and rehearsal went into the presentation and spontaneous portions of the competition. Members included: Christy Tennant, Maggie Herchenrider, Jennifer Magness, Celeste Cumbie, Kimberly Knoles, Katie Tanis, and Michelle Fowler. Joe Hafey and Donna Tucker acted as the coaches.

"Gift of Flight" members included: Benjy Barnhart, Claire Carothers, Lindsey Cheng, Stacy Horne, Michelle Morris, Billy Warren, and John Yu. The team worked on a problem called "The Gift of Flight" involving six aircraft designed to do specific jobs. The aircraft would be tested for the following: staying in flight for 10 seconds, breaking a balloon posted 18 feet away, being powered by a rubber band and flying around a post, through another two posts, being launched by a mousetrap, transferring 5 ping-pong balls to different containers, and being released from a container and flying 10 feet. Mrs. Nancy Warren was the coach, and Mr. Barker acted as co-coach. The team enjoyed working on the problem.

Another group of fun-loving 7th graders worked on the problem entitled "Comics." Their job was to create, write, and produce a humorous skit utilizing the characters from one or more well-known comic strips. They chose the "Peanuts" strip and presented a newscast, acting as the crew members of the Beagle Broadcasting Network. Coaches were Dwayne Westerman and Marc Nevin. Mrs. Rohrbaugh and Mrs.

Paugh acted as teacher sponsors.

"Atlantis" was the problem for team members Kent Dawson, Mike Boaz, T.J. Cochran, Jessica Whitaker, Kathryn Utley, Aaron Koerner, and Jeff Willoughby. Their problem was to build a submersible vessel with two robotic arms that could retrieve objects and artifacts from the lost city of Atlantis. They also had to create the objects and artifacts to be retrieved. Coordinating meeting places and helping this team were Mr. Warren, Mr. Stone, Arline Dawson, and Debbie Cochran. Kelly Plott

HELP WHEN I NEED IT!

The Career Center has had many exciting events going on this school year. Only a few students entered the poster and poetry contest, but some new found talents were discovered! The judges were spell-bound at the excellent drawings students created on their posters. Students were able to collect information for their poems and posters from the new discover program. The Career Center also has two new computers: the Apple IIe and the IBM PC-XT.

Our school library is very busy all year long! There is a program going on for the sixth graders teaching library skills called "Tomes and Talimans." It's a new adventure video series. The seventh graders are going through many reading motivational units. Right now they're working on a mystery and Katherine Patterson unit. Where is the library going? Hopefully by next year, the whole library collection will be on an automated check-out system (like Kroger), and each student will have a number. Have you ever wondered how many books our school library has? The answer to that question is approximately 12,000! So check out those books and make our librarians happy. Stephanie Saunders and Kelly Plott

Explaining the function of the career center and information available on the new computer programs is Mr. Stone.

Presenting Michelle Welch and Anissa Dalton with their certificates for placing in the poetry contest sponsored by the career center is Mrs. Hartman.

Amazed at the information a diagrams on the microfiche in the career center are Quinton Patterson and Adam Spencer.

Listening to the conversation among her friends is Hope Ward.

The Garfield bookmarks at the book fair were popular with the students. Alice Herndon and Doug Hale decide which they will buy.

Students receive help from Mrs. Minter in finding the books they want at the book fair.

Having a little fun while studying with Allison McWhorter is John Hawthorne. A.J. LaBarbera uses this moment to take a peek at their answers.

Students in the library anxiously await the Friday afternoon bell.

Why I Like Band!

"I think band is Narly and the flutes are extra cool." Star Waddle

"The first thing that comes to mind when I think of band is FUN!" Mandy Belanger.

"I get a real blast (referring to the trumpets) out of it." Kelly Haupt

"Band is a learning experience that's not boring. Band is the most fun I've ever had in school." Laura Thomas

"This band class is something other than just a class. It's a class with "class." Emily Rakes.

"Band's pretty cool! It takes me off my feet and lets me get all of my hot-air used up!" Marcy Greenway.

"I joined the band to make noise." Craig Dunn.

"Band is totally musicool!" Annette Knoblock

"The thing I like about band is you meet new people and become friends." Beth Thompson.

WHY I LIKE CHOIR . . .

"I like to sing in the choir because it makes me feel like a part of the group. Some people may take choir because they think it is an easy class, but I take it because I love to sing." Jenny Hervis

"Choir is not like any other class. As you learn how to develop your voice, you also learn how to perform as the professionals do. Choir is really the maximums!" Cynthia Squires

"I enjoy choir because it is fun and I like to sing, most of the time. I also liked getting involved in extra activities!" Duane Webb

"I always sing at home; to me choir is a hobby." Cherise Sidney

"People may think singing is easy, but it takes a lot of hard work!"

Kelly Sanchez

"I enjoy showing school spirit, and school leadership in all of my activities." Jon Roberts

"Anyone who has spirit and is willing to learn, may join choir. It's a challenge! Mary Spiller

"My mother made me join! (Ha-Ha!)" Angie Burkholder, Stephanie Saunders and Kelly Plott

Sixth/Seventh Grade Choir: Stephanie Blankenship, Debbi Steinhauser, Emily Shelton, Angie Akers, Jessica Hall, Kelly Stinson, Gretchen Price, Susan Edmunds, Mike Lynn, Kristy Ratcliffe, Amy Nichols, Heather Louthridge, Ashleigh Trent, Elizabeth Jamie, Amie Marshall. Not pictured: J.J. Patterson.

Another Deadline!

"When is the final draft supposed to be finished?"

"Who is taking pictures for this?"

"Is your copy typed?"

"Who are all the people in this picture?"

"Where is your final layout?"

You may have wondered where the yearbook came from. Who made it? Who took the pictures for it? Along with the supervision of Mrs. Murphy, the new yearbook staff sponsor, the EYRIE was created from hard work and determination by fellow students. It took patience and creativity to come up with what exactly was printed in the book.

Students gave up their 5th period study halls to design the yearbook. Not only did they work during school, but they had to stay after school and go to after school activities to get the pictures they wanted.

Although it may seem like an easy task to do, things aren't always as they appear.

The EYRIE EXPRESS is a publication of the seventh grade advanced English classes. The five issues kept students informed of different school activities. Sponsored by Mrs. Winter, the paper is typed on computer using The Newsroom, a software package. Students volunteered for the different articles which appeared in the paper. Allison McWhorter Stapling together the newspaper, Mrs. Winter's 5th period class shares the duties with her 1st and 2nd period class.

A lot of creativity goes into drawing up the layouts. Stephanie Saunders works on a practice layout before drawing the final one on special carbon paper.

The film for the cameras, which is bought in 100 foot rolls, has to be rolled into containers before it can be used.

The yearbook is created by nine students during 5th period. Tonya King is counting survey forms to be delivered to homerooms.

All the writing for the yearbook was done on a computer. Tara Prillaman finishes copy for her layout as the deadline approaches.

Below: The right combination for success: Mr. Spangler is the coach of wrestling and football and physical education and health teacher. Right: Contemplating the fund raising activity and the many prizes offered are Michael Ergle, Lara Zawacki and Tonya King

Fabulous Freshmen

"It Wasn't All Fun and Games!"

A difficult tryout determined the 12 lucky girls who were this year's cheerleaders. They had to receive teacher recommendations and go through several days of tryouts. The cheerleading squad worked very hard. It wasn't all fun and games. They had to decorate and sponsor the Spirit Dance. In a typical two hour practice the girls learned new cheers and practiced pompom routines nonstop. Depending on the season the girls usually cheered during two games a week and had practices besides.

The cheerleaders went to camp at Virginia Tech. They had to get up at 8:00 am and work until 9:00 pm. They had to learn a pompom routine, side line cheers, and stunts. Everyday they won the spirit stick and on the last day they got to take it home. To win the spirit stick they had to be "peppy" the whole day when they practiced their cheers.

They also went to a one day clinic at Virginia Tech where they learned cheers. At the conclusion of the clinic they were given the honor of cheering the Hokies on. Tara Prillaman and Tonya King.

The pompoms glitter in the stadium lights as the girls finish their pompom routine.

Courtney Keister and Betsy Long show their enthusiasm by finishing off a cheer.

Cheerleaders made signs to welcome the team unto the field.

The cheerleaders root on the basketball players at the tournament.

The girls show their enthusiasm by cheering with their glittering pom-poms.

We Are the CHAMPIONS!!!

The football team accomplished many things. The most important was winning the district championship by beating Northside. Another accomplishment was when they beat Cave Spring for the eighth season in a row. After beating Northside on the last game of the season the cheerleaders gave the spirit stick to Mr. Spangler.

The football team was asked, "What was the high and low point of the football season for you?" The most popular answer for the high point in the season was winning the district championship and going undefeated. The biggest response for the low point in the season was extra conditioning in practice and having a very short season. Bob Shelton

Eagerly awaiting to see the outcome of the next play are Coach Anderson and Coach Spangler.

The defense only allowed one touchdown to be scored against the Eagles during the season. They are ready to stop the opposing offense once again.

The offensive line sets themselves for the snap.

As two Salem players rush in, Raymond Muse successfully protects the quarterback from being sacked.

After receiving the center, Ben Day sets himself to punt the ball.

Showing his spirit, Matt Garrison expresses how he feels about the teams' many victories.

This Is The Way The Ball Bounces!

"This team has potential, but potential doesn't win ball games. Execution does."

"Free throws win close ball games."

"If you play aggressive defense, the offense will take care of itself."

All of these phrases, quoted by Coach Long, helped the girls' basketball team have a successful season.

The team was picked to come in 6th place in the district, during a coaches poll, because of so many new players and only two returning starters. But along with the help of Mickey Smith and Sue Harwood, Coach Long showed that the girls' basketball team was ready for action. They weren't just playing around, they meant business. The team's goal was to make it to the tournament. And they made it!

Last year the team was beat in the tournament by Cave Spring and they weren't about to let it happen again. They defeated Cave Spring in the final game of the tournament to become the district champions. Allison McWhorter.

Spiking to Victory!

The only volleyball team that remained undefeated was also the district champions. The combination of team members and coaches made this a winning team.

There were many practices, 3:30 until 6:00 daily, in which the team perfected skills. Bumping, setting, spiking, serving, and punching were practiced over and over until each could be executed like clockwork.

Coaches kept good control of the team and had excellent skills of their own.

All the girls got along well and became close friends with other members of the team. They didn't fight among themselves and stayed optimistic when things weren't going well.

The View of a First Year Coach

Mr. Billy Hicks, a 22 year old senior business administration major at Roanoke College, is the coach for the basketball team. He attended Hidden Valley and was a member of Mr. Peterson's first team! He went on to play three years for Cave Spring High School and two for Roanoke College. When not coaching or studying he enjoys watching movies and spending time with his family. He plans to continue his coaching career.

We asked Coach Hicks about his first season.

"Before the first game I was as nervous as I ever was when I played. I pace back and forth in the locker room, my hands sweated, I had butterflies . . . the whole bit.

"The feeling I had after our first victory, which was fortunately our first game, was great! I felt as though we had won a championship. It gave me confidence in my coaching ability.

"I was dejected and disappointed after our first defeat only because I felt we had opportunities to win the game and we didn't. I felt we should have won. I immediately second guessed myself. However, I knew I had to come out in practice the next day and get us ready for our next game.

"The most successful 'strategy' we had all year was the fact that we concentrated on defense from day one. We worked very hard on playing tough man to man defense. I think our defensive pressure really gave our opponents a lot of trouble. We knew we could get our offense going by playing tough defense.

"The hardest part of being a first year coach is the lack of experience.

I didn't have any past experiences to compare any situation to. Also, I was new to the players. None of them knew my system or what to expect."

"I think the easiest part is the fact that my enthusiasm is so high. I don't have any trouble getting excited about practices or games because it's my first year and it's all new to me. My age is a big factor, also. I think it makes it easier because I am not that much older than the players. I feel I can relate to them better. It wasn't that long ago that I was in their position.

"I would like to thank everyone who helped and supported the team. This includes all of the fans, the pep club, the cheerleaders, my scorekeepers and everyone else that supported us." Tara Prillaman and Tonya King.

Going for the ball are Andrew Shuck and Duane Webb.

During a time out the team listens attentively to Coach Hicks call for the next play.

Watching to see if the ball makes it or not Eddie Martin, and Lenny Navitskis await a basket.

During a Pep Rally the Basketball team listens to Mrs. Cobble's introduction. Seated are: Lenny Navitskis, Matt Garrison, Kirk Knight, Eddie Martin, and Andrew Shuck.

Going for a basket against Cave Spring Duane Webb succeeds in scoring.

Making Weight

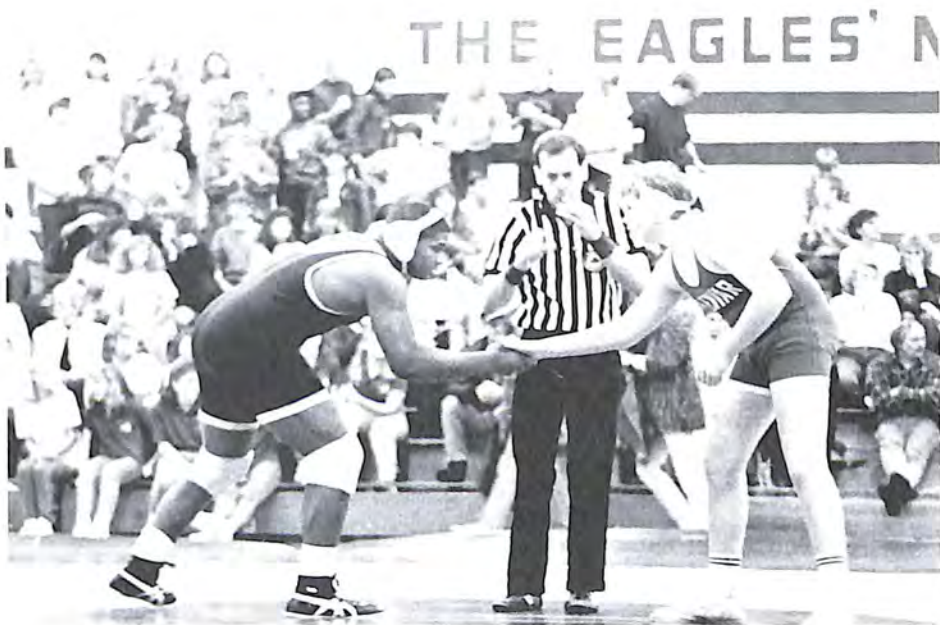

No one ever said wrestling was an easy sport. Perhaps the most difficult part of it; however, is making weight. For days before a weigh-in, team members either starve themselves or pig out in order to qualify for the right class. Other methods are also tried. Running, steam showers, working out on weights are just a few of the ways desperate men use to qualify. Does it pay off? Sometimes. When the weigh-in is done, the reward is at hand. Har-dees or pizza! Kelly Plott

Sneering, Greg Martin tries desperately to think of another way to pin his opponent.

We weren't surprised as Ray Kaczmarek chalked up another victory for himself.

Students and parents watch as Eric Valentine attempts another one of his amazing moves.

As the referee blows the whistle, Raymond Muse gets ready to "Tackle" his opponent.

The crowd cheers as Mike Nelson jumps up from his win: his opponent still stunned!

Straining hard for the win, Lance Brewer pulls a "Half-Nelson."

Shooting for Victory

Nerves tightened and tension mounted as the selection for the final team members were announced. Forty students showed up for the soccer tryouts but twenty actually made the team. No one knew what to expect from the new coach, but everyone worked hard to make this years season outstanding. Coach Comisky is a senior at Roanoke College where he is captain of the soccer team. Bob Shelton, Amanda Guyre and Allison McWhorter.

Dribbling is an important skill in soccer. Eric Sollinger, Brian Underwood, and Trey Burnley practice this skill during tryouts. Trying to master the right technique pays off for Blake Trantham who made the team.

Concentrating on where the ball is, Matt Garrison sets up for a shot.

Hustling down the field Chris Rhodes tries to be first in a relay drill.

Practicing his goal tending skills Mike Nelson stops the ball.

The Struggle to the Finish Line

From the time of the first practice to the very last meet the members of the track team must work very hard. They sacrifice their time for training and improvement. The coaches, Mr. McLeod, Mr. Anderson, Miss Ferrel, and the newest coach Mrs. Blackwell, also sacrificed much time and effort into training the students for competition. Hours are spent mastering sprints, jumping over hurdles, running exhausting miles, and hurling shots and discuses through the air. Yes, the struggle to the finish line is hard, but once reached, is well worth it! Amanda Guyre and Allison McWhorter and Robert Shelton.

Members of the boys' track team: Saeb Abdelhadi, Greg Allen, Ronde Barber, Tikki Barber, David Boush, Jason Burton, Baker Doughty, Todd Doughty, Mike

The Right Combination Worked

The Right Combination turned out to be sensational once again!

We showed excellence in everything we did by working together as a team. Our academics, sports, faculty, and most importantly the students were essential in making this combination run smoothly. We won the District Championship in football, girls' basketball, and volleyball. The faculty not only taught but they sponsored many clubs and student activities, and because of the students we are what we are, The Best!

Right: Attempting the final pin is Lance Brewer.

Top: Students socialize at the Valentine's Day dance. Top left: By making this free throw, Kim Stewart added a crucial point to the score. Middle: After a hard practice the members of the girls' basketball team go to Shoney's for breakfast. Above: Students wait for instructions in gym class.

COLOPHON

The Eyrie is an annual publication of the yearbook staff for the students of Hidden Valley Junior High School. Consisting of 100 pages, 550 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ x 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ copies were printed by Hunter Publishing Company, Box 5867, Winston-Salem, NC 27103.

This book was printed on gloss paper with black ink. The stock cover base color is maroon applied with color tan and silver mylar date. The end sheets are peach parchment.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Without the help of many others the completion of a yearbook would be impossible.

The entire staff would like to thank Mr. Ron Marshall whose assistance and expertise in the darkroom were invaluable. His skill in photographing athletic events enhanced all of our sports layouts.

We would also like to thank Mr. Larry Barker for his expert advice; Mr. David Price for handling many details, providing guidance and counsel, and sharing deadline celebrations with us; Mrs. Rita Kaczmarek and Mrs. Mary Jo Malloy for their help in duplicating materials and mailing proofs to the publisher; Mr. John Bullock for drawing the tool lines for our scoreboards; Mr. James Shorter and Mr. Jerry Weddle for sharing their photography skills, and Mr. G.A. McClearn for his patience and wise leadership.

Thank you also to the student body. You made this book possible and your support and interest made our task worthwhile.

Always ready to solve darkroom problems, Mr. Marshall was frequently called upon to aid the staff.

"What do you need now?" was a question Robert Shelton often asked since he was in charge of photography. Kelly Plott listens in.

Choosing a cover is a major concern. Charlie Garrison helps the staff with their selection.

Matt,
Even though we're in the same grade, we've 2 classes together, with more than some of my in 9th. Eric's a real pain
keep him off your back as long as you can (I breaking down and utter mami and destroying gets until... UNT
I'm sorry, I got carried away. See
ya in summer
playing tennis.

Hi
Matt
& ROM
AMY!

Matt,
Hope you have a good summer.
We had fun in study hall with
Vol Hralc. Thank god
she is getting laid
off. she is over the summer.

Matt,
I'm glad I
had band with you
this year. It gave me a chance to get to know you better, I think you're a GREAT guy. Keep up the trumpet playing! (you're excellent)
You did a good job in track +
I hope to be on the team with you in highschool! Good luck next year! Keep those yungones in place HA HA
