Dances, assemblies, faces
and places

From time to time in future years, we will often look back at this yearbook and remember Addison as it was. All the good times — the football games, dances, and parties — as well as the trying times — occasional mischievous deeds, breaking up with a sweetheart and the pains of adolescence. These are the memories we will cherish most. We will also remember the friends who stood by us to congratulate us in victory and to comfort us in defeat.

Our laughter, our tears, our hopes, our joys, our triumphs and our sadnesses will echo through the halls long after we have moved on to new experiences and adventures. The remembrance of our days spent at Addison Junior High School will bring smiles to our faces as we think of how much we have changed and of the students who must follow in our footsteps along the path of growing up. These memories and feelings are the most important aspects of a thriving school. They are a part of all of us — the student body, the administration, the faculty, the office staff, the custodial staff, the cafeteria staff, the P.T.A., and all those who participate in our Addison community. To us, this is the essence of Addison.

Therefore, we dedicate the 1979 Bulldog to Lucy Addison Junior High School, the number one junior high school in Roanoke City.

NINTH GRADE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

I, Joe Atkins, being of sound mind and body, leave to Mark Yonce all of my intelligence and smelly gym socks.
I, Paul Aronson, being of sound mind and body, leave to Diane Angel all my sweaty gym socks and all the good looks money can buy.
I, Terri Bell, being of sound mind and body, leave to Tina and Fleming Bell all my rotten teachers that I don't like, and also to Tina my dirty old gym locker.
I, Carmen Boyd, being of sound mind and body, leave to my brother my ability to be as smart as I was as well as my ugly, nosey homeroom teacher. To Fleming Bell, my love and kindness and to Arthur Beckner, my talent in nothing.
I, Deneen E. Claytor, being of sound mind and body, leave to Addison my kindness and sweetness and all my good looks to Lynn Earley.
I, Mark Claytor, being of sound mind and body, leave to Kevin Brower and Lauri Thompson one of my old beat up tennis rackets and my fantastic game plays.
I, Lenn Correll, being of sound mind and body, leave to Mr. Mabry my dirty old uniform and to Stacy Vines the place where I marched in line in the parades.
I, Joseph Crain, being of sound mind and body, leave to all of those who will be here next year every thrill there is in Mrs. Waid's class — if there is any.
I, Ian Dalglish, being of sound mind and body leave, to all my faithful eighth grade World History Companions all the boredom of Mrs. Shiflett's class and to Bobby Mills all the laughs of football exercises.
I, Tina L. Dunlap, being of sound mind and body, leave to my brothers, Chris and Phillip, all my memories of what Addison once was and my hopes of what our school should someday be.
I, Lisa Ellsworth, being of sound mind and body, leave to Mrs. Shiflett some static-guard so her pants won't cling to her pantyhose.
I, Sherri Graham, being of sound mind and body, leave to Donna Chadd my stale Marlboro cigarettes.
I, Sandy Hall, being of sound mind and body, leave to Tony Bardon all my broken cigarettes.
I, Jimmy Hamblett, being of sound mind and body, leave to Mr. Bailey something to play with.
I, Jeff Hunnell, being of sound mind and body, leave to David Williams all my splinters sitting on the Varsity Basketball team bench.
I, Brenda Jarrell, being of sound mind and body, leave to Susan Jarrell my brains so she won't say I never gave her anything that wouldn't work right.
I, Cindy Johns, being of sound mind and body, leave to all the teachers at Addison a bottle of aspirin for the headaches my brother will give them.
I, Cathy Johnson, being of sound mind and body, leave to Sandy Hall all of my unfinished notes that were to be given to her.
I, Sheldon Johnson, being of sound mind and body, leave to my brother the greatness that I had in sports.
I, Jeff Lloyd, being of sound mind and body, leave to Kenny Sink all of my girlfriends — all 100 of them.
I, Michael Lumpkin, being of sound mind and body, leave to Dexter Helton all my good grades and the desk from which I plunged to a nose dive.
I, Kevin Meador, being of sound mind and body, leave to Sonny Hale all my brownish-black hair to cover up his gray.
I, Priscilla Moore, being of sound mind and body, leave to Mrs. Perdue my gym suit that she lost.
I, Barry Moyer, being of sound mind and body, leave to Lisa Turner my love and devotion. So here's wishing you happy years over here at Addison.
I, Teresa A. Pasley, being of sound mind and body, leave to Sonya Pasley, Opie Kasey, and Sheryl Ollie, all the fun I had with geometry (ha, ha) for next year, and my talented vocal cords for cheerleading in the upcoming year.
I, Rodney Price, being of sound mind and body, leave to Dexter Hilton a box of weight reducing pills — he will need them.
I, Kim Redford, being of sound mind and body, leave to Wanda Mann a year's supply of watermelon smooth and juicy bubble gum.
I, Belinda Reed, being of sound mind and body, leave to Mrs. Steele a five year supply of rosin.
I, Jeff Reed, being of sound mind and body, leave to Mr. Polk a pack of rolling papers, 1.5.
I, Anthony Reynolds, being of sound mind and body, leave to Mrs. Stinnett my change of life.
I, Rickey Shorter, being of sound mind and body, leave to Robert Cochran all my homework and my dirty gym shorts.
I, Jeff Steele, being of sound mind and body, leave to Paula Neal the body of Ralph Simmons to have, hold, and love.
I, Teresa Sweeny, being of sound mind and body, leave to Sheila Webster my old gym suit and stinky socks.
I, Vivian Traynham, being of sound mind and body, leave to all Addison students the technique of chewing gum without getting caught.
I, Lisa J. Turpin, being of sound mind and body, leave to Nathaniel Dennis a locket of my hair so he can have something to play with next year, and to Mrs. Bass my ability to have continuity, ha, ha, ha.
I, Paula Wilson, being of sound mind and body, leave to Karen Powers all the milk cartons in the cafeteria so she can soak her chewing gum to keep it fresh.
I, Tracy Worthy, being of sound mind and body, leave to Yolanda Simms all of my A papers so that she can take those F's off her report card.

We, the Ninth Grade Class of Lucy Addison Junior High School, leave to the staff many memories of us. We leave for new horizons — more prepared to face the world outside. We leave to you our thanks and appreciation for your help, support, friendship, interest, and dedication to your job. We also leave with the realization that time moves forward — we will change, you will change — but the time we spent at Addison will remain with us as an important part of our past which we will cherish forever. We wish each of you good luck in the future years and hope that our paths may someday cross again.

Students at Addison have the opportunity to become involved in many organizations. Those who are particularly interested in music can select among the band, the strings class, the choir, the majorettes, and the flag girls. For students who want to know more about the military, there is R.O.T.C. S.C.A. offers the students at Addison a chance to learn more about government and to take a more active role in decision-making related to student life. The Human Relations Club, the Y-Teens, the Red Cross, and the Library Club provide services for the entire school and frequently sponsor exciting school activities.
