Dear Diary,

SEPTEMBER

Hey, listen to this, I, the most privileged pencil from my pack, started to school this month—Northside High no less! Funny how a pencil notices the little things in a new term, like the happy faces of students as they recall old acquaintances and the anxiousness ~~for~~ each one feels about the awaiting classes. This month begins my life and June will end it, for by June my usefulness will be worn down. But while I am in school I hope to make myself helpful and, most of all, to "sharpen" my wits physically and mentally.

OCTOBER

Everyone has gotten over the newness of a higher class and has settled down to hard work, and my place in school society is clearly planned. Football season brings in the round of extra-curricular activities. I can remember many instances when I was used by one of our coaches to keep the score and mark the plays at our football games. Seems we didn't always win but our spirit was sure all there!

DECEMBER

This is the month which has been looked forward to since that very first day. The Christmas spirit which fills the air can make even a pencil sense a warmth inside. Although the holiday rest is welcome, the day of return to school is welcome also because the daily routine of classes is missed by everyone.

P.S. I got a new sharpener for Christmas. This is to make me more "pointed."

JANUARY

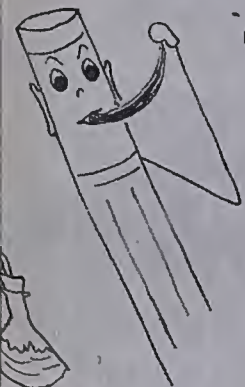

Half of the school year is gone now, so to test skill, everyone faces those nasty exams, which can mean life or death to most of us. I imagine my feelings as a nervous student chew my extremities, wears my sweater base, and taps me on those hard desk tops!!! But I have made a resolution; namely, not to gripe about school life for mine is half over and all too short to complain.

second semester (opens) are taken, and the hosts of Northside bring open to the students work out to a summer of fun and relaxation, everyone, except me, will ~~will~~ await the most most turn when Northside will know a senior class. My life is ending now. Oh, I have no regrets, for this one year we may make life-time friends the inner-most feelings of my & this year, and have tried to write them to you, dear Henry, so they may live and be read again by those who want to keep this year alive.

diving has given, and we have all the activities of a new season. Easter brings the long awaited holiday when everyone has a chance to rest up from the long winter. All of nature is changing from brown - brown to the array of fresh colors which seem to mark the time of year. Students live and share, return to school with a new attitude. Now is when I feel slighted; they can look happy, but I know they aren't. Why doesn't someone want to cheer for a general.

APRIL

Wind and March go together, which it didn't though. Every time I am out behind someone's car, that wind comes and blows me exactly where I don't belong - on the ground. The biggest school event of the month comes with the announcement of the senior finalists in the Miss North Star Contest. I know who the final two are before anyone else, for you see I marked the ballots, but the entire school knows after the dance valuing the affair.

MARCH

Not far from though, it's kind of hard to find a general made this day, but I don't feel slighted; imagine a personality like me taking my favorite general to a Sweetheart Dance. Romance isn't all that is on the mind of the Northside go-go-lus; everyone is making about the District Basketball tournament. Our boys play with their hearts through every dangerous moment.

There is the time for "leaves and flowers."

From a pencil's pointed-view of year, there is much which should be made known. Not many people realize that at 8:22 (P.M.), five days out of every week, students from homes scattered throughout Roanoke County enter individual home-rooms to start a school day. Then at 3:30 (A.M.) the doors fling open as the tired students rush to catch the awaiting busses for home. * Oops, I mean A.M. then P.M.

Much happens to break the monotony of school life at N.H.S., for instance there are six periods each day, which is nothing unusual, but the fifth period is all of 72 minutes long. This provides time out for various club meetings and assemblies which seem to come never too soon to suit anyone.

Sixteen new teachers were added to the faculty this year, as a growing need for more subjects requires more instructors. Also, N.H.S. co-operated with Radford and Roanoke Colleges in the student teacher program. It was my good fortune to help many of these young teachers tackle the paper work that accompanied this practice teaching.

With my "pointers" Northside students as well as faculty, gain many honors. This is a one-in-a-million high school - working for success and gaining in every attempt.

Our superintendent is a man dedicated to the field of education of young people. He constantly strives for improved teaching methods and better schools. He is highly respected among students at Northside. Without his leadership and his efforts, Northside High School would not have become a reality in the fall of 1960.

MR. OREN R. COUNTS

Without the capable leadership of our principal, Oren R. Counts, this year at Northside could not have functioned. Mr. Counts was always willing to council and help a student in every possible way. I (Scribbly) to be credit for helping him especially with all his notes to remind him of various details.

Mr. Counts received his B. S. Degree in English from Appalachian State College and later returned to receive his Masters Degree.

He has put many hours and much overtime in making our school one of the best in the state. He is considered an authority on education and is highly respected among the student body. His sincere guidance and leadership is highly appreciated by all who come in contact with him.

MR. FRANKLIN H. MORICLE

Almost any morning you can see me (S.P.S.) helping someone in the office. One person I help a great deal our Assistant Principal, Mr. Moricle. Each morning you walk by, Mr. Moricle is writing out absentee excuses. (This is one task in which I am very helpful.) He also serves as Athletic Director.

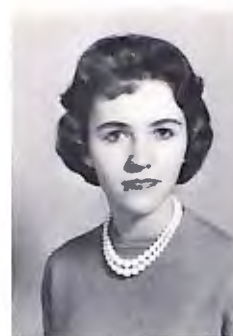

Mr. Moricle and his wife moved to this area about five years ago, and until last year he taught Biology and coached football in one of our neighboring schools.

In preparation for his work, Mr. Moricle attended Morehead State College, receiving his A. B. Degree. He later received his M. A. Degree from George Peabody College, Tennessee.

Mr. Moricle's favorite hobbies are woodworking and Modern Jazz. His major dislike is a disrespectful student. He believes that "each person should add enough to his life each day that he would not be willing to trade it for yesterday."

Dear Diary,

Here in the Guidance offices I spent a major part of my time. Oh, don't think I'm so bad, lots of times I visited there just to talk with the staff. The analyzed me... never thought a pencil was composed of anything more than wood and lead. Here I came in handy when scheduling time rolled around... what a time some job for all concerned. Whether I had a problem, or the need of sound advice, it was always taken care of in the Guidance Department. Be it getting "chewed out" or a "charged wits," it was all found here.

Miss Wanda Price

SCHOOL SECRETARIES

Much time and effort is given Northside by their faithful secretaries — Mrs. Conner and Miss Price. They are always willing to lend a helping hand to some student seeking aid from the office staff. Paper work is tackled with smiles and the school business is carried on smoothly.

Realizing that our staff are also individuals, we can remember referring to Mrs. Conner as "Miss Young" in the early months of the school year.

Wanda is also a student, which not many of us knew, for she is loaned to Northside from a neighboring high school, as she participates in the Vocational Office Training Program.

The Guidance Department at Northside is composed of teachers who willingly give of their time and themselves to fitfully lead students in making adjustments to life and its various situations. Students are led with understanding to learn to know themselves as individuals and as members of society; also, to make the most of their abilities, and strengthen their weaknesses.

There are five phases of Guidance at NHS; for instance, there are various tests given interested students for achievement and ability as well as scholarship tests. Information on College and vocational schools is available to those wishing to further their education in a particular field. For students undecided on a vocation there are kits which aid them in selecting a life-time job. Of course, the scheduling for a year's studies is carefully planned. Then there is offered individual counseling or group guidance. The Guidance Department helps students to plan intelligently and to prepare for the future and a career.

Students use the reference materials for special work.

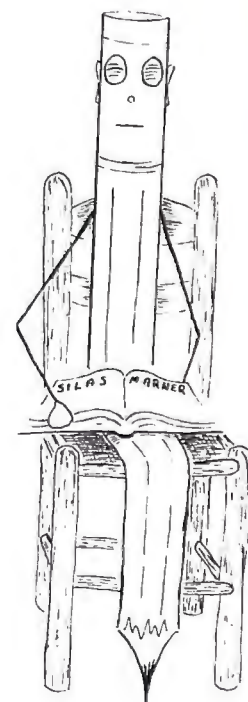

Our library was presented with complimentary set of encyclopedias—Miss McDavid receives these from Mrs. Grace League and Mr. Ken Platt.

"Quiet please," those are words often heard in our school library, as students busy themselves with reference work from any of the numerous classes. Much time has been contributed to the betterment of Northside's library with the addition of various forms of literature which might further our education.

Our librarian, Miss McDavid, was always willing to lend a hand to some student seeking "extras" in a subject. Her help and assistance has been invaluable, many thanks to a willing worker for NHS's success.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS AND HOME ECONOMICS

The growing need for courses in Home Economics and Industrial Arts has stimulated these departments to provide a program of organized experiences to help the students both in and out of school.

Industrial Arts has been combined with Mechanical Drawing as an outlet for imagination and conciseness in business operations. Students of NHS discover the various fields in American industry, through a thorough knowledge of selection, use and maintenance of products of industry.

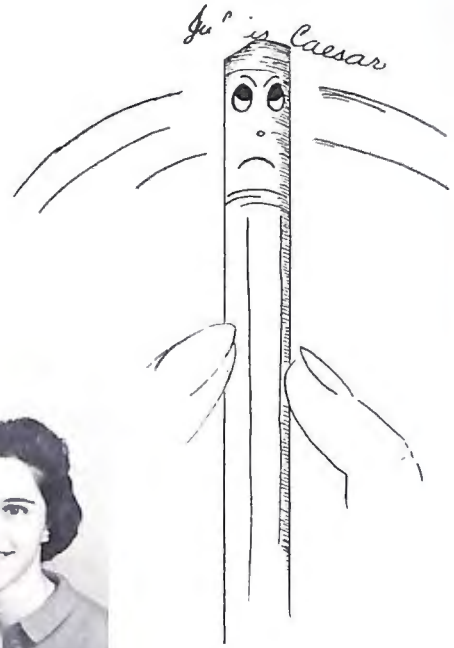

Home Economics enables each student participant to find his or her place at home, in school, or as a member of the community. Here one learns the art of cookery, homemaking and study of human relations in an indirect manner.

Although these are two of our one teacher departments, they are often displayed to visitors because of the attention paid to acute details in their planning. The quality not the quantity in this case has given invaluable aid and advice to all students.

The primary purpose of this department is to prepare students for a creative and responsible place in this democratic way of life. Realizing the importance of communications, the subjects taught under the title "Language Arts" are presented in an intriguing and varying manner.

Three Language Arts classes were offered at Northside this year: the newly added Directed Study, Drama, and the various classes of English. Directed Study was firstly used as an experiment showing and attempting to aid the students to cultivate better study habits. Drama has given students an outlet for talents in public speaking and acting. English classes for every grade was carried on with nine teachers in this field, as this is a required subject all through high school and is stressed greatly.

Directly this department places before Northside students a variety of challenges which correspond to real-life situations, in order to prepare us for the world which lies beyond.

Fine Arts include the electives—Band—Chorus—Art, which a student may take as an outlet for any talent they might possess in one of those particular fields. Although they are electives, students who enroll are expected to work earnestly to fulfill the job required of them upon entrance in that class. Goals are set high and most students accept the challenge and reach them.

Exhibits of art work may be seen in the display cases often, as quality work is to have recognition. Concerts and assemblies have helped NHS to recognize such fine organizations of musical ability.

PHYSICAL and HEALTH EDUCATION

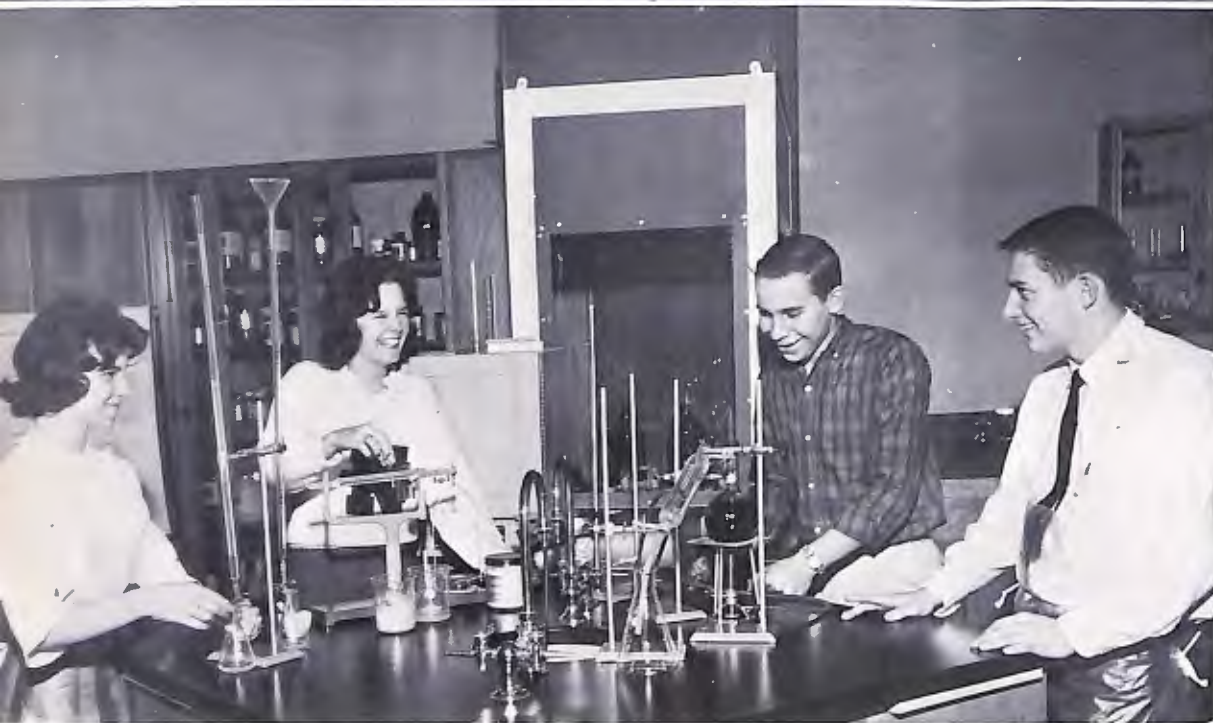

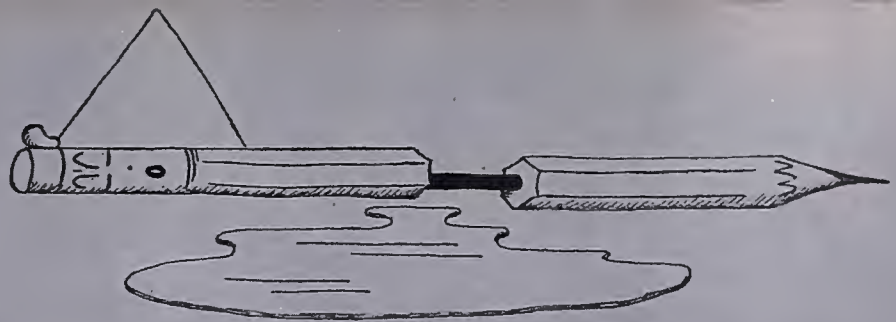

Particular attention is paid to the Physical fitness phase of education at Northside. Classes concentrated of the stimulation of the body as well as mind, as the boys and girls alternated days of class room to gym.

Addition to the Physical class of interest the students are those of a completed track and special room for weight lifting, while the girls being more reserved concerned themselves with various ball games and tumbling.

Realizing the continuous need to strengthen the growing body and mind, this subject is the center of school life at Northside.

SCIENCE

In this "New Frontier" of space explorations, a thorough knowledge of science is more important to an individual than it has ever been before. Northside, realizing this to be true, has paid particular attention to the science courses taught this year. Studies in three major fields were offered: General Science, Biology, and the newly added Chemistry.

NHS is noted with having a scientific student body, as they brought top honors to her for participation in local and regional science fairs. One particularly gifted student Audrey Doyle represented Northside in the nation wide Science Fair held in Seattle, Washington. Such sparks of interest in this field acknowledge to the instructors the gratitude of the students for the many extra hours of work and planning which go to make the study of nature and its forms fascinating.

The Mathematics department of Northside offered much to students this year as the rising need for advanced teaching required. Algebra II was taught for the first time this year and offered to those Juniors qualified for the course. Under the guidance of carefully selected instructors, students discover the fundamentals of such maths as: Higher Arithmetic, Algebra I, Plane Geometry, and now Algebra II. Formulas are studied: it is found that " $x - y = xy$ " means more than a mere equation.

These courses are offered to help students to gain the fundamentals of reasoning and to discover the pleasing as well as the practical values of Mathematics.

The challenge was all theirs in Latin III class—George Curry, Alvin Early, Martha McNeil, and Jane Schultz, Miss Cathey, their able instructor.

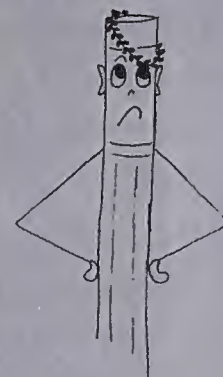

Northside offered classes in three foreign language fields this year—Spanish, French, and Latin; as the growing need for these subjects required such an advance. Studies in any of the three fields was centered around the development of one's skill in application and reasoning ability in translating well. The student not only learned to translate, but received some insight on the background and customs of the people who spoke the language studied.

Advances in these particular courses were also made with the addition of French II, Latin III, and Spanish I.

The French and Latin Clubs were open to students cultivating further language interests outside of class.

BUSINESS EDUCATION

It is the primary purpose of the Business Education department to develop skills, attitudes, and understandings that are essentials for the success in direction of day-to-day business operations.

As the growing need required new teachers and more classes, so were they added to the business education forces at Northside. This year three Typing I classes, two Shorthand I classes, two Typing II classes, one Bookkeeping class, and two General Business classes were offered as a part of the business curriculum.

Students are faced with near office experiences so that when training is ended and the time for them to take their part in the business world draws near they might have a better understanding of methods and devices used in office work.

SOCIAL STUDIES

The Social Studies program at Northside shows the student that the world about him is a place in which he lives and works, and seeks to get him to assume responsibility for making it a better place for himself and others.

NHS offered three different courses as a part of Social Studies this year: World Geography, World History, and United States and Virginia History. In each of these subjects problems which arose during the growth of our nation and other nations were discussed and thought upon intently.

Experiments in "team teaching" were used as a concentrated study stimulated students to cultivate thinking habits and actions which may bring reform and a lasting world peace.

Throughout the year at Northside every student can recall the many fine lunches prepared for us by the Cafeterial Staff. This staff was headed by Mrs. Turner and every day, rain or shine, one could see Mrs. Taylor, the cashier take up our 35¢. These ladies worked diligently to prepare for us a variety in our lunches and one could be sure that a wholesome and well-balanced meal was served. Again many thanks to this staff who served us well.

With all of my graphite heart, I request and urge each student of Northside High to participate in the activities available within our school. At least one "hobby" should be selected by every person and ridden to the highest summit possible. There are many possible choices and a wide selection can mean much to the attainments of the individual.

The types of activities Northside offers are: Clubs, Organizations and various opportunities on our newspaper, magazine and annual staffs. Each unit is provided with an advisor, and bi-weekly meetings are scheduled to formulate plans and conduct the necessary business pertaining to the activities offered to you.

I realize that this fact should give stronger incentive ambitious. No ambitious I may your hand and the adage, "the more you put into something, the more you receive from it", from me.

MAIN STAFF TRAINEES

The North Star staff have worked earnestly and diligently on the unique theme "The Diary". Each member will remember the long hours spent on Tuesday night with SCRIBBLE P. SCRABBLE.

The annual staff conducted many campaigns to build financial funds. Such campaigns were selling yarn-dolls at our local football games. In November, we engaged ourselves with the project of selling candy.

Then during our basketball season, we sold green pennants bearing the name of Northside High School.

We — the staff — presented "Stairway to the Stars", at which we announced the seven finalist of the "Miss North Star Contest".

To educate and to get a better understanding of how the yearbook should be composed, we sent three of our staff members to the SIPA Convention at Washington and Lee University in April.

The purpose of The North Star this year is to publish the yearbook recording all school events at Northside High.

The Student Cooperative Association completed many activities this year. We have as our purposes: (1) to develop in our school the kind of students who are worthy citizens, (2) to improve student-faculty relations, (3) to help provide a wholesome school environment, (4) to assist in a program of recreation and social activities, (5) to promote good sportsmanship in all phases of activity.

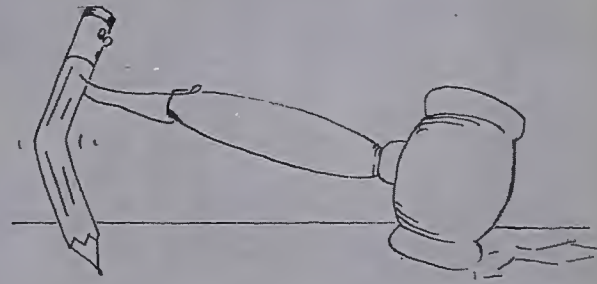

We sponsored the collection of food, toys, clothes, for the white baskets at Christmas. We sponsored "Pep Week" December 4 to 8. The program included an assembly, Green and White Day, Be Kind to Teacher's Day, Be Kind to Student's Day, Clean-Up Day, and a pep rally. Contests ran through the week of which several prizes were given in money for the best essay, or poster contests. Also, we placed a suggestion box in the office for helpful ideas to improve our school. One of our big events was the "Sweet-heart Dance" in February.

As a result of controlling conflicts of activities, the Inter-Club Council was formed to cooperate with the SCA in its school activities.

Outcome of the SCA organization are members of the INTER-CLUB COUNCIL: L. Lockrow, L. Hillman, L. Wertz, K. Middleton, J. Arthur, B. Himes, C. Flora, L. Sherman, D. Sweeney, W. Michie, J. Barnett.

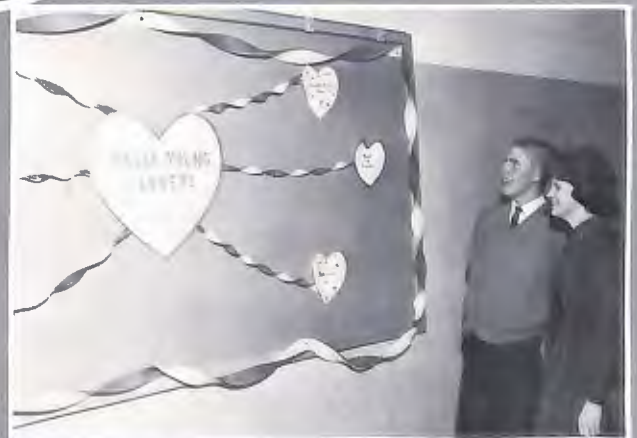

The SCA praised the bulletin board made by members of the cheerleading squad. This was made to promote more school spirit.

Donald Mundy portrayed the "average" NHS student in a skit presented during PEP WEEK.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club—La Massue de Francais is in its second year of organization. We had organized to further the interest in the French classes. We have as our objectives to create a continuing interest in understanding a foreign language, to promote a more profound understanding of the French language, to receive a general knowledge of the French customs, and government. All students must maintain a "C" average in French to be a member of La Massue de Francais.

SODALITAS LATINA

The SODALITAS LATINA in its second year has been full of fun. Toga Day on November 17, began the Roman year for the club members. Club members wore attire common to that of the Romans. Tired and exhausted, the members climbed Tinker Mountain the following day. They ate lunch on the outing and a program was given.

The main event, the Roman Banquet, was held on February 1. After a month of slaving for the older members, the plebians were taken into the club. Both the entertainment and the food were furnished by plebians. The Roman attire offset the evening in a truly Roman style.

We held an "old fashioned southern ball" which carried a memory of the events of the past and made a new spirit for the future.

We would like to pay honor to the provincials, those members who have previously taken Latin but are no longer in the Latin classes. Patricians are members who are taking second year Latin, and plebians are first year Latin students. We give recognition for their hard work.

OFFICERS: Planning music for the Roman Banquet are Rosemary Hash, Patrician Consul; Brenda Brown, Provincial Consul; Patty Blankenship, Praetor; Bill Sanford, Plebian Consul; Jerry Barnett, Pontifex Maximus; Herman Bolster, Mary Van Lear, Censor; Martha McNeil, Dedile.

Our FBLA chapter was officially installed by the chapter from our neighboring school of Andrew Lewis this fall. We had regular meetings which were scheduled in the club periods.

Some of our activities included a "Beat-nick Hop" in the fall, which was very successful. Several of our members entered the various contests at the regional meeting at Radford College, we were pleased to have Paula Larson elected president of the region and Joyce Lancaster, corresponding secretary. We rated SUPERIOR on our bulletin board entry in this meeting.

Members of our club operate the school bookstore, which is valuable experience for members. We were guests of several business organizations for field trips and we sold our services as typist for teachers. We think our formal dance in May was very successful.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

The Future Homemakers of America is a strong organization based on the promotion of responsibility in the future American home.

Purposes of the F. H. A. include the promotion of an appreciation of the joys and satisfactions of homemaking. The importance of worthy home membership is greatly emphasized, and the democracy in home and community life is encouraged to be an important part in modern homemaking. Work for better home and family life for the entire family is put into affect by promoting international good will within the hearts and minds of young people in the club. Creative leadership is developed in the home and community by responsibility and fuller encouragement of homes for modern times. The club stresses the importance of wholesome individual and group recreation. Further interest in home economics is an important part of the club's purposes and reason for a stronger home life.

The organization of the KEY CLUB has been very active at NHS this year. Our first year we accomplished many things. Among them were the project of planting shrubbery around the school, participating in the community birthday calendar and we published the first school directory.

Some of our purposes are to develop initiative and leadership, to provide experience in learning and working together, to serve our school and community, to prepare for useful citizenship, to cooperate with our school principal.

Our organization is one devoted to presenting to the students and faculty the events of interest to the student body. We are proud of our issues of the first newspapers at Northside.

We learn many things through copy and working on the staff. With each issue we strive for new ideas. The newspapers were well received by the student body.

Ken Middleton was editor-in-chief and Carolyn Moomaw, business manager. The staff was divided into two sections, business and reporters. Jeanne Bayse headed advertising and Mildred Moore, circulation.

CLUB

The purposes of the CREATIVE WRITING CLUB are to provide members the opportunity to create and express themselves through written compositions and to stimulate the interest for fellow students in developing their creative talents. This year we published our first magazine, "As You Like It" which proved successful in the eyes of the student body, this included prose and poetry in the best form.

We also entered a booklet in the state forensics contest.

OFFICERS clean up after meeting: Duane Ingram, Vice-President; Betty Gunter, Reporter; Larry Hillman, President; Bettie Thomas, Secretary; and Thomas Carr, Treasurer.

The members of the club have been separated according to their major interests into three main groups: the Plant and Animal Group, headed by Bettie Thomas; the Ham Radio Group, headed by Robert Kelley; and the Astronomy Group, headed by Jane Crump. These groups had their meeting after school every two weeks. Once a month, however, all the Discoverers had a meeting together during the school club period.

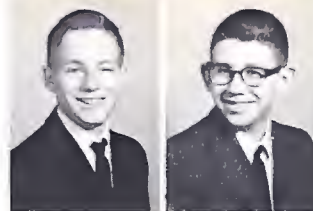

The program for each monthly meeting was presented by one of the three club groups. For example, in December several members of the Astronomy Group brought their telescopes to school and demonstrated them to the other club members. Also several students gave short talks on the history of Astronomy, the probable origin of the planets, etc. The Ham Radio Group had a ham receiver set up at school for about six weeks, which was used quite a lot during lunch time and after school.

The major spring project for the Discoverers was the sponsorship of the Viking Science Fair. This year's fair was held on March 2.

In the co-curricular realm at NHS comes the Viking Band, which brought many honors to the school this term. New uniforms gave the individual band members a feeling of pride as they participated in the Southeastern Band Festival, Harvest and Shrine Bowls, plus the local parades to show their marching skill. Then concert season approached with various performances and competition, as in the District Six Band Festival, where they received an excellent rating.

The band added much to the football games with a half-time show whenever possible.

For those students interested in less formal appearance, a dance band was formed from the Senior members.

This organization has worked hard to achieve the best and are still heading upward. The band gives up a fine showing of that never faltering "vim, vip and vitality."

The Northside Concert Choir was proud to have a new member. This was Scribbly P. Scrabble.

I think the choir should be commended for the things they go through. Our director, Guy Briggs, makes us do all kinds of exercise. He makes us hold our nose and sing and to top it all, he makes us sing ma-mi-ma-mi-ma. If you could hear us you would think we were homesick.

Of course, I know a lot about music as all pencils do. I know that warm-up exercises are necessary in making an excellent choir.

Some of my pencil pals told me that they got a 4 rating at the District Festival. This was our first time in competition with other choirs. I was unable to attend because of laryngitis. All of the pencils were very proud of the All-State members.

I was very pleased with the way the members and pencils worked hard to get their choir robes. They are a beautiful green. Man! I sure look good in mine.

As I said a few hours ago, I know a lot about music. What I really know is that these kids and Guy Briggs put a great deal of effort in making our music perfect.

Projection club is a service organization formed because of the need of student assistance in helping the schedule of the projection equipment supplied where it is needed in the various classroom activities. We learned to operate among others, the 16mm projector, overhead projectors, slide and film strip projectors. We have all new equipment and feel especially fortunate in having this equipment at NHS.

We checked each morning the request list in the office and supplied equipment throughout the school day. Many of us learned to operate the more technical equipment on the stage and overhead projection room. Members were assigned responsibilities to the stage set up for assemblies and drama productions.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

The Varsity Cheerleaders are chosen by tryouts in the spring and must maintain a "C" average.

Striving to promote and enhance better school spirit are eight vivacious girls known as the Varsity Cheerleaders. Under the capable and ever enthusiastic leadership of head cheerleader, Carolyn Moomaw, the cheerleaders followed our Vikings from victories on the home court to less promising situations.

During the summer vacation these loyal eight sold 6000 doughnuts to finance colorful new uniforms from Jean Lee Originals in Indiana. They also spent long hours learning new cheer, polishing old ones, and synchronizing their motions.

After the regular school sessions began everyone looked forward to the Friday pep rallies and amusing skits presented by the cheerleaders.

The squad this year was out front at all times leading the student body in cheers and putting life into the stands. All totaled, the cheerleaders travelled approximately 1000 miles to out-of-town games, but it was all worthwhile for our team gave them much to cheer about.

which we are committed, or our faith as Christians. Our activities are connected with YWCA. At Christmas our officers participated in the "Hanging of the Greens" Christmas program. We plan to take advantage of all activities after we have familiarized ourselves with our clubs.

herman don't you just love this ferris wheel

I, [Name], [Address], record these important features in my memories. . . .
This year started off with the inauguration of President Kennedy — primary. With his inauguration we were faced with an important task — "only the physically fit will survive."
As you remember the great songs of '61? Time of them are: "Will you still love Me tomorrow?" "The Skellern" "Amara and Sue" "Rise" "Epodus" "Fortune and Fickler" "Runaway" "All Shimmer" "Quarter to Three" — Gary (U.S.A.) Bonds.
One morning, that morning woke to find a great change. . . . They were imprisoned in a wall of brick and barred-wire. Thus they could not pass between the two vectors as they had done before.
Plans for getting an American into space were now underway (one of my relatives was very important in this action. . . . What could they have done without him?) Alan Shepard was picked as the first American to make the trip. He suffered no ill effects and many questions and other data were obtained. But Major Glenn was most important as he was our first man in space — circling the earth three times.
Adolf Eichmann was tried for his many crimes and found guilty of each one.
I was very gratified to be on the committee for picking the first top nation: Butterfield & Spentz. . . . One morning the United States was able to trade a Russian spy for Francis Gary Powers who was to spend ten years in a Russian prison.
Two very old boys to the United States were Sam Rayburn and Big Sam Hammabagold.
The conclusion the world brought to my memories. There is one more thing that was very important to the Northside states. Governor Albert A. Harrison and a group of legislators stopped at Northside for a short break.

Socially, I record these happenings:

During this past year at Northside, I attended many of the hops. These hops were sponsored by different clubs and organizations throughout the school. I saw such popular disc-jockeys as Ron Sunline and Fred Freeland, who acted as masters-of-ceremonies, making more enjoyment for all who attended.

All of our hops were held in the spacious cafeteria, usually following a football or basketball game. I noticed that these hops would add a conclusion to those special days that we remember of Northside.

The dances I attended also played a big part in recreation. The Christmas Dance held at Northside was a highlight for December. This dance was sponsored by our Viking band, and held in the school cafeteria. I helped decorate for the dance with Christmas colors.

In February, Northside was again the center of lovely gowns and well-dressed boys attending the "Sweetheart Dance." I scribbly — give credit to the Student Cooperative Association for such a fine job on this special occasion.

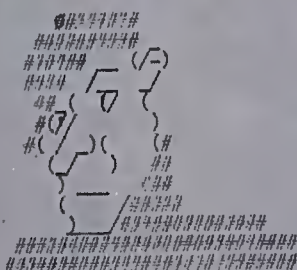

The semi-conclusion of the Miss North Star Contest was the dance, "Stairway to the Stars." I understand this dance was assembled for the purpose of announcing the seven finalists of the contest. The glittering stars that hung from the ceiling, the whirling skirts, the patter of dancing feet, and the enchanting musical sound produced by the Diva's band, gave each a feeling of enchantment as the hands of the clock reached midnight. We — that includes me — scribbly spent many hours on this dance, and just like the other dances, it was a successful one.

Remember without me, Scribbly, you just couldn't organize any hops, dances, or any recreations of any kind. Without your hard moving me, this wouldn't be possible either. So, I want to thank you for putting the ideas in my head.

SPECIAL

The life of a pencil is much too short, but as short as it is, it is easy to remember many things. One of the things that sticks in my "lead" the most is the MISS NORTH STAR CONTEST. I was privileged enough to be used to count the ballots. It was very tempting to give out the top secret information on this feature before the publishing of my memoirs. As I recall, this was the second MISS NORTH STAR CONTEST to be conducted and held in esteem as a permanent feature in THE NORTH STAR.

The honors of nominations were first conducted in the homerooms of the tenth and eleventh grades. A maximum of three girls were chosen from each homeroom. A bulletin board was put up in the front wing of the building with a picture and name of each nominee so that the student body could more easily decide on their votes. This was thought to be a fairer method of conducting the contest because all of the girls were not known to every student. A week after the bulletin board was constructed all homerooms voted on their seven final choices.

Our finalists, the top seven girls were secretly tapped and Mr. Bill Setzer had the honor of announcing the winners at the yearbook dance — Stairway to the Stars. These finalists, escorted by their dates, were: Carolyn Moomaw and Chuck Wosaba; Sarah Wohlford and Doug Pence; Corbie Lou Craig and Bill Routt; Diana Coffindaffer and Jerry Lee; Pat Gravely and Mike Rieley; Gretchen Phipps and Junior Kerr; Mary Van Lear and Melvin Williams. These beautiful girls were escorted to their place of honor and remained there during the floor show given in their honor.

This year, members of the North Star staff were privileged to go to Charlotte, N. C., to meet this year's celebrity. The staff saw him in a stage production of Roger's and Hammerstein's "Carousel," for which he is very famous. This year's celebrity, Mr. John Raitt, has chosen as MISS NORTH STAR, 1962, MISS GRETCHEN PHIPPS.

SNOW QUEEN

Northside's SNOW QUEEN for 1961 was Jean Mitchell, a 5 foot, 4 inch, hazel-eyed, 16-year-old blonde.

Jean, a junior, was elected from a group of six girls, who were voted on by the student body in an election Friday, November 3. These six young ladies were picked from about thirty-five home room representatives of the school by the SCA.

Pat Hall, an eighth grader, was runner-up. The other contestants were Pat Gravely, Gretchen Phipps, Mary Van Lear and Connie Flora.

Jean represented Northside in the contest in which Phyllis Gibson, Breckinridge Junior High School, was selected Snow Queen to reign over the annual Roanoke Christmas parade. The parade took place in Roanoke Saturday, November 25. In the final contest Jean was competing against girls from other Roanoke City and Roanoke County schools.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Melvin Williams is acting as a guinea pig for a science demonstrator in one of the many educational assembly programs.

Many happy occasions, such as the Christmas dance, pictured here created many fond memories of school activities.

SNOW QUEEN CANDIDATES: M. Van Lear, G. Phipps, P. Hall, J. Mitchell, C. Flora, and P. Gravely are shown here before a class as they are introduced before voting.

Sally Minnich brought honor to Northside when she won first place in the senior girls biological division in the Roanoke County Science Fair and also a trophy for the best science project.

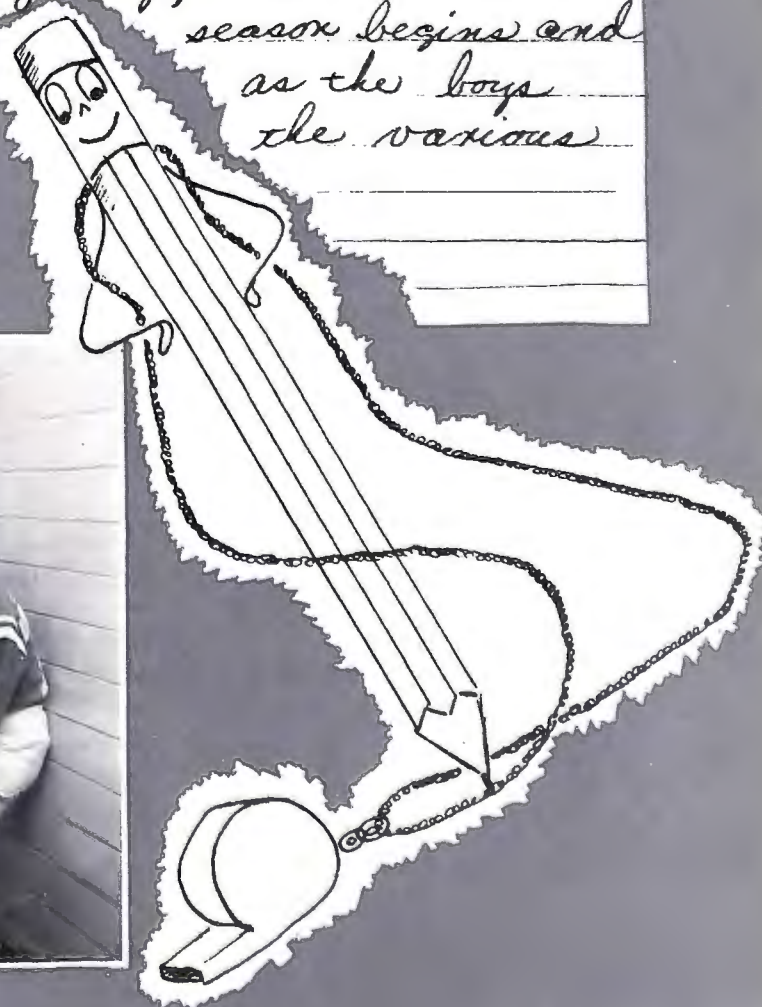

Athletics plays an important role in the making of Northside just as well as do scholastics. Many long, strenuous hours of practice and vigorous conditioning go into the making of a team, be it in football, basketball, or track. In these three fields the Vikings upheld their name with losses, wins, and that all-time winner sportsmanship and team work.

Football begins in August with a conditioning program which leads up to the fundamentals, and play-making. Then the coaches choose from those better qualified in supporting a football team, the boys who are to carry the Viking name.

Following football season comes the "roundball game" basketball. Tryouts consist of no more than a week, or less than two days, by this time the coach or coaches have formed an opinion as to who has the ability and is more able to play the game.

With the approach of spring, activities are taken to the outdoors. Track season begins and ends with mostly running, as the boys prepare themselves for the various divisions.

Football Members: R. Meadow (T), D. Sutherland (T), D. Murray (G), G. Plunkett (G), J. Stanley (G), P. Catron (C), P. Terry (T), G. Hutchinson (HB), F. King (C), T. Carr (Mgr), M. Helvey (FB), P. Swink (Mgr), R. Cun-

UP AND OVER—James River's Roger Newcombe (with ball) appeared to be jumping over Northside's Mike Helvey (11) as the latter stops him on the 21-yard line following a gain of 12 yards.

FOOTBALL SEASON

Jessie Perdue of Northside goes over for PAT as Valley Player hangs on Jersey.

Herman Bolster leaps high to snare pass as Valley's Dwight Byrd tries to defeat.

After a bad start, the Vikings won 3 out of their last 4 games, numerous players were out of action with injuries ranging from a broken arm to a bruised thumb. The team didn't quit, however, and came back strongly near the finish of the season.

The scores of the games were:

Northside	6	Fort Chiswell	14	Northside	34	Rockbridge	6
Northside	7	Roanoke Catholic	26	Northside	40	Craigsville	6
Northside	13	Rural Retreat	0	Northside	0	James River	6
Northside	0	Fries	18	Northside	13	Valley	0

This comes out to 113 points scored by Northside to 66 scored by their opponents. The average score per game was 14.1 for Northside to 8.3 for the opposition.

Of course, Mike Duffy had his biggest season this year. The small, fast sophomore halfback led the team in rushing and scoring. He ended up with 60 points for the season, putting him in fifth place in the City-County and second in the District 6 scoring race. Duffy scored three touchdowns in each of two games, an accomplishment of which not many players can boast.

Coach Hal Johnston appraised his team's performance this year by commenting, "Our boys kept hitting hard all year. Injuries hurt us, but the team kept trying. I can honestly say we have improved a lot from last year. We will have to still improve a lot, however, for next year."

Both of our fine teams deserve applause this year. Thanks to a fine coaching staff of Coaches Johnston, Isbell, Passan, and Musselman, and the boys' own determination both had fine seasons. I (Scribbly) think for our second year of football we have improved greatly, and will continue to do so in the future.

Practice sessions consists of many limbering exercises.

Every young man who tackles the football bug must begin with hard work and determination. The season begins early with rigid exercises, planned plays and competition for positions. Every player seeks the job which he considers himself most apt to fill well. Then the training program begins with concentrated practice on difficult plays. As the actual game season approaches, each player enters with skill and that desire to win which will enable him to reach the game goal of bringing honors to the Viking name. These boys work toward the day when they will join their Viking brothers on the Varsity squad.

Following football season comes the "round-ball" game . . . basketball. Tryouts consist of no more than a week, or less than two days; by this time the coach or coaches has formed an opinion as to who has the ability and is more able to play the game.

Basketball, like football consist of exercises, such as running, push-ups, jumping jacks, and duck walks. This usually lasts for a week, then the boys go into practicing plays against different defenses. Plays aren't the only important things, for perfecting a defense to stop an offense of another team is just as significant. Usually they have a scrimmage before game time to seek the weaknesses and strengths, so as to find which faze needs the most concentration.

This year pictures the Vikings with their first full season of varsity competition, and although our team had no seniors and no height, they brought to Northside second place honors in District Six. As well as two different sportsmanship awards: the Roanoke County Christmas Tournament, and the Civitan Club trophy.

From the coach, Mr. Don Musselman, comes a description of his first string players: he refers to Mike Helvey as a Floor General; Dean Sutherland as "Big Man"; Richard Spencer, he calls a Horse . . . on and off the Boards; Jesse Perdue as a sharp-shooting, fast breakman; Roger Fore as a tricky, ball-hawking driver; and substitute J. D. Via as a clutch player, when the going is rough.

Not only this group of boys but the entire team composed one of the finest ever to be assembled at NHS and commands the respect of the school, and the community . . . yes, mighty Vikings, we'll back you the entire way.

JR. VARSITY BASKETBALL

The Junior Varsity basketball team is composed of lower classmen who are aspiring to membership on the Senior Varsity team next season. The team had a few chosen members of its team joining the Varsity Squad toward the end of the season to gain experience for the coming year.

The boys' hustle and desire to win was very evident from the beginning of the season. By seeing action on the court the boys gained valuable experience which will make them better athletes, better sports, and better citizens.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

By training in the freshman year these students become better prepared for chances on the varsity team. Some of these trainees are Trammel, Sutherland, Roberts, Harris and Trout.

I, S.P.S. recorded as I did for all the other teams, the winning season of the Freshman basketball team. As this vigorous team fought and played their hardest at the various schools (Andrew Lewis, Northside, Cave Spring, and William Byrd) I got backstrains and a chewed up wooden body from the tension caused in their games. But through the coaching and leadership of Mr. Pussan, our team came through the season with eleven wins and three losses. A great help to the team were Ray Schilling and Billy Himes who served as managers—taking care of the team's equipment and its new uniforms which they wished they had last year.

With all these factors, our team which consisted of eleven boys, went on to win the Roanoke County Championship of the Freshman League.

With the approach of spring, activities are taken to the outdoors. Track season begins as boys "come out" to show strength and skill. As with most other sports activities track begins and ends with mostly running. Then the boys prepare themselves for the various divisions . . . hurdles, high-jump, broad jump, shot-put, pole vault, discus throw, and the various relays and dashes.

Northside added many new divisions this season as additions were made to our track facilities. The head coach, Mr. Ralph Isabell, instructed his boys to concentrate on victory honestly for Northside. The team worked hard to defend its undefeated record made the previous year and wought to carry this out through their first meet with Bedford, as NHS won $75\frac{1}{2}$ to Bedford's 42. This is the first of many victory cheers to the track team.

The mile run is exciting to watch—here Paul Lugar is in the lead at the Cave Spring Track Meet. Paul was also excellent in the broad jump.

Ronnie Taylor—best at hurdle jumps.

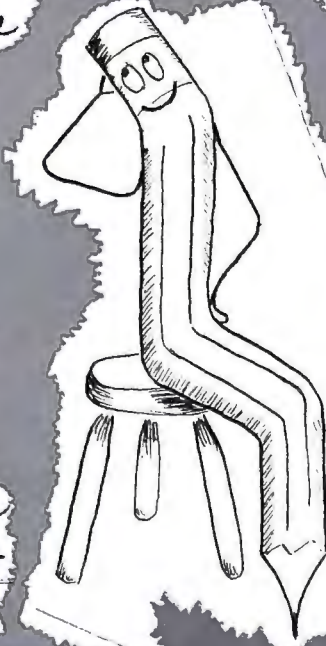

"Up and over" is demonstrated by Jesse Perdue in the hurdle jump.

Rob Rieley, Jesse Perdue, Paul Lugar, Mike Duffy on the lineup—brought NHS many honors on our track.

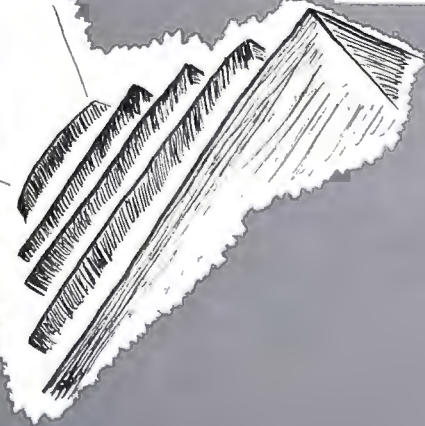

I individual faces recall the many friends I, scribbly P. Scrabble, made during the course of my school year. As I ponder over 1961-'62, many pages of school life are relived in my somewhat dulled mind. Teachers became individuals to which I became especially attached... behind the sort of attachment. Students helped me to fulfill my purpose in Northside's curriculum... those endless notes and tests which almost took the lead out of me.

Now I side to N.H.S., things friendships school day. One all that can be those precious classes. And the secret notes... I had a part them! School has most of which while glancing over faces of my best remember the fun such as the renewed made during the would never guess told a friend in three minutes between endless realm of secret nothing, why in all of its fun moments I recall individual year.

THE MOON... and beyond!

Bright, new horizons await today's students . . . new technologies . . . new medicines . . . even the moon and whatever lies beyond.

How far today's students go in this space age depends partly on their imagination but primarily on their training. Conquering new horizons will demand more of today's graduates — more knowledge, more skills, more training and more specialization.

Our Free Enterprise system, with its high living standards, gives everyone an opportunity to "shoot for the moon" in any field. Whether or not our target is reached depends on how well trained we are to launch ourselves.

With school behind you . . .
what's ahead?

College, perhaps? Wonderful! A job? Wonderful, too, if it's the right one—with opportunities to progress and learn as well as earn. There are many such jobs at C&P, waiting for girls like you. In a telephone job, you not only start with good pay but are specially trained to make more. Raises and advancements are frequent. Surroundings are pleasant—people are friendly—and your work is never dull. Why not make your first job a telephone job—one that can lead to a happy, rewarding career?

As I leave — these are . . .

Among my favorite scenes.

P.S.

Dear Diary,

As I write my last words, I feel a "little lead" tear trickle down my wooden body. Please don't be sad. I tell myself—think of all you've left Northside and all she has indented in you. I guess it's so . . . there are so many good things I've gained this year. The North Star has helped me give NHS a remembrance of myself—every page tells the story of my life; how I entered in September—all shiny, tall and brand new; now here I am in June—short and worn, awaiting the annual staff to discard me. Well the time is here, I must go . . . remember me, everyone.
